

CHICAGO STRIKERS CAPTURE RUNAWAY STEERS AND QUICKLY REPLENISH THEIR LARDERS

The Stolen Animals Disappear From Sight as If Swallowed Up.

President Donnelly Says the Strike Breakers Are a Hard Crowd.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Packing house employees and hungry strikers vied with each other in a steer hunt that extended throughout the night, following the riot precipitated by the appearance of eleven runaway steers from Morris & Co.'s plant in the district west of the stock yards last evening. Today the carcasses of four were accounted for. Little beyond the hoofs and horns remained to tell the story, and there was an ample beef supply in many a home to which such a luxury has long been a stranger.

The fate of the remainder of the herd is still in doubt, as only two have been rounded up and driven back to the yards. Scouting for the remainder of both the big packing firms and the hungry throng that battled with the police secured the prizes south and west of the yards all night, and when the latter located its prey, the creature was slain and disappeared as though by magic. The herd was valued at upwards of $1000.

Recording Secretary Shanahan of the Packing House "Treasures" union declared today that in his opinion it would be necessary to call out on strike all teamsters connected with deliveries to or from retail markets in Chicago. He said he believed this would have to be done to win the strike.

President Donnelly and Vice President John Florschutz of the Butchers' National organization made a tour of the stock yards.

"I passed an hour mingling with the throng of non-union men preparing to enter upon their day's work," President Donnelly said. "They are a hard crowd, and we have nothing to fear from them as permanent factors of the yards. The majority are negroes, and some of the types I saw suggested a Southern convict camp. The white men are nearly all Greeks."

President Donnelly announced that labor leaders will be sent tomorrow to Kansas City, St. Paul and St. Joseph, to report local conditions to the strikers there. Donnelly will himself go to East St. Louis and then to Indianapolis, where he will meet President Mitchell of the miners, and expects to receive financial support.

Nat C. Murray, of the government bureau of agriculture, who is gathering statistics at the yards, disposed of the story of Victor H. Metcalf's presence in Chicago as an indication of a government intervention by declaring that Mr. Metcalf simply passed through Chicago yesterday without visiting the yards or any other point save the two passenger stations necessitated by his trip.

PEOPLE'S PARTY CANDIDATES ARE NOTIFIED OF NOMINATION

The Exercises Occur at the Cooper Union New York.

Notification Speech Made By Judge Williams of Indiana.

New York, Aug. 19.—Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, the People's party candidate for president, and Thomas E. Tibbles, of Nebraska, the candidate for vice president, were formally notified of their nomination here yesterday at Cooper union.

The big hall was crowded when at 8 o'clock the two candidates, accompanied by Alfred G. Boulton, of Brooklyn, chairman of the meeting, appeared on the platform. There was much cheering.

Chairman Boulton at once introduced

BATTLE AT SEA

St. Petersburg, Aug. 19.—Emperor Nicholas has received a dispatch from Vice Admiral Alexey, dated at Vladivostok, Aug. 17, saying that the Russian fleet, under the command of Admiral Rozhanskiy, had defeated the Japanese fleet, under the command of Admiral Togo, in a battle fought on the night of August 14 and 15.

"At dawn on Aug. 14, the Russian, Gromobol and Rurik had arrived forty-two miles from and parallel with Fusan and thirty miles from the northern light-house of Tsu Island, when to the westward I saw a Japanese squadron of four armored cruisers, six miles to the north traveling parallel with our course. This squadron consisted of four vessels of the Iwate type, and was putting on full speed."

"I took a course to the northward with a view to attacking the open rear, but the enemy, who was of superior speed, turned immediately and took the same course. I was therefore obliged to engage in battle, which commenced at 5 o'clock in the morning with a distance of sixty cables between the two squadrons. (A cable length is 200 yards.)"

"In the struggle to the north we saw a second-class cruiser of the Naniwa type coming up to join the enemy."

"At a convenient opportunity we rapidly turned to the right, intending to approach the Korean coast by the strait, crossing our speed to 17 knots we seemed to have an opportunity of succeeding, but the enemy now observed our intention and directed his course toward us for the purpose of blocking our path."

"Hardly five minutes passed before the Rurik led the ranks and signaled that her steering gear was disabled. I replied 'steer with the engines,' and continued on my former course."

"Seeing that all of the Japanese cruisers were concentrating their fire on the Rurik, all my subsequent maneuvering was exclusively with the object of enabling the Rurik to repair her damaged rudder. I attracted to myself the enemy's fire in order to cover the Rurik."

"The Rurik held the signal 'can not steer.' Some maneuvering in the front line gave the Rurik a chance of going in the direction of the Korean coast, and

THOMAS E. WATSON,
Candidate of People's Party for President.

Judge Samuel W. Williams, of Indiana, who made the speech of notification to the candidates of their selection.

When Mr. Watson arose to speak the cheering continued nearly four minutes. Chairman Boulton introduced him in half a dozen words, simply referring to him as the candidate of the People's party."

"At 9:30 the Rurik began to lag behind considerably and again turned her bows toward the shore, at the same time fighting against the two second class cruisers which had joined the enemy's squadron. The Rurik soon afterwards began to get out of sight."

"Vice Admiral Kamimura, with four armored cruisers, kept steadily oncoming us in such manner as to keep us from assisting the Rurik."

"While the Rurik continued fighting we continued our efforts to attract the enemy further north. In the hope that the Rurik would manage to dispose of her two comparatively weaker opponents and that after repelling the damage to her rudder she would be able to reach Vladivostok independently."

"Shortly before 10 o'clock the enemy's fire was the most terrific of the battle. It was our general acknowledgment that the whole Japanese squadron left us after the most deadly fight, which had lasted five hours."

"The Rurik had sustained eleven holes at her waterline and the Gromobol had six. Both cruisers lost more than half their officers and the losses among the men totaled 35 per cent."

"It appeared impossible to renew the battle or to return to the Rurik, which was now thirty miles to the south. Taking advantage of the calm, we steamed our engines and quickly commenced to repair the breaches in our vessels so as to enable us to proceed to our homes."

"Capt. Berlinsky, of the Rurik, was killed and several of his officers were wounded. On board the Gromobol, two lieutenants were killed and other officers were wounded. It is estimated that 135 men killed and 300 wounded. Capt. Berlinsky was buried at sea."

"The report of the Rurik's victory, as transmitted by the report, convinced a plan of the largest courage and self-sacrifice of those who took part in an unequal fight against the superior forces of the Japanese."

U. S. MAKES DEMAND UPON VENEZUELA

Minister Bowen Requests the Return of Asphalt Lake to Owners.

Port of Spain, Island of Trinidad, Aug. 19.—Advices were received today from Caracas, saying that the American minister, Mr. Bowen, in the name of the United States, has requested Venezuela to remove Mr. Carnock, the receiver appointed to take charge of the property of the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company, and to return the asphalt lake to the American company.

FIERCE FOREST FIRES RAGE IN NORTHWEST

People in the Town of Michael, B. C., Ready to Flee From Homes.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 19.—Forest fires are still burning in East Kootenai. At Fernie the coal mines are filled with smoke. The flames are drawing closer to Michael and threatening to sweep the whole town. Preparations were made to leave town and all unvalued treasures were buried in holes, in yards, while buildings were deluged with water. The wind has now shifted away from town, but should it change the worst may be expected. Trains are ready to take away the inhabitants.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 19.—Fires are still raging in the great forests of Washington. Going incalculable damage. The situation is so serious that a detachment of the Vancouver bar racks has been sent to the scene.

HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER FOR SELLING POISON BY MISTAKE

St. Louis, Aug. 19.—The coroner's jury which has been investigating the death of Mrs. Jennie Helms, of New York, who died in a hotel after taking a dose of what she supposed was cream of tartar, returned a verdict today of manslaughter against Charles M. Farthing, the drug clerk, who sold the preparation to Mrs. Helms's husband. The jury also recommended that F. L. Right, proprietor of the drug store, be held for allowing an unlicensed drug clerk to sell drugs.

Business men were very anxious to see the verdict of the jury. Mrs. Helms died from the effects of tartar emetic poisoning. Farthing has been arrested on the charge of manslaughter. The body of the police since Mrs. Helms's death.

VETERANS ARE SIGHT SEEING

Various Excursions Arranged in Honor of the G. A. R.

Boston, Aug. 19.—The chief events of the encampment week being over, many of the veterans of the G. A. R. have left for home. There was, however, still a large contingent remaining in the city to take part today in various excursions arranged in their honor and which will continue throughout the week.

"The veterans of the G. A. R. are planned for today by the Daughters of Veterans and the Sons of Veterans, who are holding a social gathering at the Brookline Democratic club and Kings county Democratic club. It is expected there will be about 60 men in the party."

"The veterans do not expect to address the delegation. The Brooklyn party is coming principally to meet the candidate. The visitors will be entertained on the grounds and lawn at Rosemont and there will be no formalities whatever."

SHOT BY ENRAGED FATHER. Bloomington, Ill., Doctor Lies at Death's Door.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 19.—Dr. Samuel F. Chapin is at death's door at his home in Saybrook from a bullet wound inflicted last night by George F. Wilkinson, aged 70, who was lying in wait for him. Wilkinson was brought to this city early this morning and placed in the county jail. He refused to discuss the shooting further than to say that a daughter of his had been living at Dr. Chapin's home and that the doctor had abused her.

JUMPS INTO RIVER TO AVOID WORKHOUSE.

St. Louis, Aug. 19.—M. C. Bennett, of Des Moines, Iowa, was drowned in the Mississippi river here, after having leaped into the stream to escape the police. He was a member of the Democratic national convention, having been found in an upper corridor of one of the hotels and was unable to explain his presence to the police. He claimed to be an insurance man.

DAVIS LEADS THE GERMAN. White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Aug. 19.—Senator Davis last night led one of the largest German given here this season. He left here this morning for Elkins, accompanied by Perry Belmont and other friends.

Destroyers Enter the Harbor, and Meeting an Unknown Steamer, Take Possession of Vessel.

According to Reports of Last Few Days' Fighting at Port Arthur, the Japs Sacrificed 20,000 Men.

St. Petersburg Receives Dispatch That Five Battleships and the Pallada Are In Port Arthur.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The state department has received a cablegram from Chefoo, dated today, the substance of which is as follows: "This morning seven Japanese destroyers entered the harbor and met an unknown steamer entering, which they captured. Two Japanese cruisers are outside the harbor."

Textually the dispatch is as follows: "This morning seven Japanese destroyers entered Chefoo harbor. Opposite the entrance they met an unknown steamer entering and took possession of her. There are two cruisers outside."

The dispatch is so worded as to leave in doubt one of the most important points connected with the seizure, namely, the exact spot at which it took place, and whether without or within the three-mile limit. Naval officers familiar with the harbor of Chefoo state that there are two entrances from opposite directions, and it is inferred from the above dispatch that the Japanese squadron approached through one of these entrances to find the unknown steamer referred to coming through the other entrance. The impression here is that consequently the seizure took place within the Chinese territory. The incident is regarded as an evidence of the determination of the Japanese naval officers to disregard the terms of the treaty in question of Chinese neutrality. Coupled with the reported refusal of the government to release the Ryushien, also seized in the Chefoo harbor, it is thought that the seizure indicates that the type of the Otrivni had been some quarters of the navy there is the right of seizure in the international code at Shanghai, they will not hesitate to attack and cut out any Russian ships that lie in Chefoo harbor, providing they are not dismantled to the satisfaction of the Japanese naval officers.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 19.—Later in the day the admiralty received official information that Vice Admiral Prince Otkomsky's five battleships, and the protected cruiser Pallada, are at Port Arthur. The telegram received here from the Russian consul at Chefoo does not say whether the vessels are damaged, and makes no reference to the report from Tokyo that a submarine of the type of the Otrivni had been sunk off the Liaot promontory, owing to having collided with a mine.

RUSSIANS IN DESPAIR. Their Latest Calamities Have a Crushing Effect.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 19.—A feeling almost akin to despair reigns in the most tried Russian admiralty. The official report of Vice Admiral Skrydlov, coming on the heels of the known losses sustained by the Port Arthur squadron in its desperate sortie of August 10, and from anxiety over the fate of the warships still unaccounted for, not only confirming the sinking of the Russian battleships, but also the capture of the Russian cruisers, has a crushing effect on the morale of the navy. The Japanese loss at the taking of Port Arthur, and the capture of the Russian battleships, is a disaster of the first magnitude. The Japanese have penetrated the abandoned Chinese arsenal on the north of Shoshu Yung at 0:30 a. m. Aug. 16, under a flag of truce, and delivered to him the emperor's offer to remove non-combatants to a place of safety. The tender included women and children under 15 years of age, priests, diplomats and officers of neutral powers.

UNDER FLAG OF TRUCE Representative of Mikado De- livered Offer to Russians.

Tokio, Aug. 19.—Major Yamoka, representing the Japanese forces besieging Port Arthur, met the Russian chief of the garrison staff about 600 yards north of Shoshu Yung at 0:30 a. m. Aug. 16, under a flag of truce, and delivered to him the emperor's offer to remove non-combatants to a place of safety. The tender included women and children under 15 years of age, priests, diplomats and officers of neutral powers.

The conditions of the answer required that on Aug. 17 at 10 o'clock the non-combatants should advance under a flag of truce. At 2 o'clock, Aug. 17, a detachment of Japanese infantry would accept their delivery at the conference point and convey them to Dairen, together with a limited amount of baggage, the examination of which would be optional. Non-combatants were forbidden to bring books, papers, maps, documents and articles relating to the war. The Russians were required to answer either yes or no and they were not allowed to alter the Japanese conditions. The emperor of Germany has cabled a request that the Japanese direct Commander Hopman and Lieut. Gilgenheim, the German attaches at Port Arthur, to withdraw in accordance with the Japanese offer. Field Marshal Yamagata advised the commander of the besieging force, and the emperor of Japan, that the Japanese delivered to the Russian chief of staff at a conference held yesterday.

DRILLING CHINESE. Japanese Have 50,000 In Vicinity of Nankin.

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—William Martin, United States consul at Nankin, China, who has just arrived here from the Orient on the steamer Siberia, is quoted in an interview in the Examiner this morning to the effect that immense bodies of Chinese troops are now drilling in the central portion of the kingdom under the direction of Japanese officers well versed in the art of modern warfare. The soldiers have been supplied with the Mauser type of rifle and the most up-to-date machine guns obtainable are now being purchased for their use. In the vicinity of Nankin alone the Japanese are about 50,000 soldiers drilling constantly. During his absence from Nankin, Mr. Martin's post has been filled by Consul General Cheslie, whose station is at Mukden, but who has been obliged to withdraw because of the war which is centering about that city.

THINKS MATTER SERIOUS. Russian Ambassador Comments on Ryushien Affair.

New York, Aug. 19.—In an interview with a Herald correspondent, telegraphed from Bar Harbor, Maine, Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, discusses at length the Ryushien affair. That would be a calamity, instead of being closed, he said, just opened, and in an international affair it is regarded by the ambassador as far more serious than any problem which has been before the world since the adjustment of the Boxer troubles.

"I regard the matter in such a serious light," he said, "because it is a fair way to terminate suddenly and finally the international agreement for the maintenance of the neutrality of China. That would be a calamity, because of the dangers with which it would threaten not only China, but every nation that is interested in China."

A few incidents of similar character, the ambassador believed, might possibly force a war upon China, and present the entire matter stands where it did before Secretary Hay sent his note to the powers on the subject of China's integrity and neutrality being respected by the combatants.

CHERISHED PLAN Of uniting Russian Fleets Now Considered Hopeless.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 19.—Detailed reports of the injuries sustained by the Gromobol and Russia naturally are withheld, but no doubt exists that they are serious enough to require docking. The cherished plan of the admiralty of uniting the two Russian war squadrons, to await the coming of the Baltic fleet, seems now almost hopeless as the fighting strength of the Port Arthur squadron has been greatly reduced, and there is no longer any possibility of aid from the Vladivostok squadron. Nevertheless, the admiralty expects the battleships, if they reach Port Arthur, to rally forth again, even to certain destruction, but the whereabouts of the battleship division and the protected cruisers Diana and Pallada are not considered here to be absolutely established. Weight of opinion continues to correspond with the former reports that the warships are back at Port Arthur, but some of the officials at the admiralty cling to the hope that they escaped.

RUSSIA'S PROTEST Has Not Been Presented to Japan Yet.

Paris, Aug. 19.—The French minister at Tokio has not yet communicated to the foreign office the text of Russia's protest against the cutting off of the torpedo boat destroyer Ryushien at Chefoo. The transmission of which has been delayed owing to Foreign Minister Delcasse's absence. The matter is not regarded as serious, international complications not being anticipated. It is expected Japan will claim she had the right to ascertain whether the vessel was armed, and, finding she was not entirely so, the Japanese commander got into a dispute with the Russian commander, thus precipitating a conflict. Russia will dispute the facts and the matter will hang over until the peace settlement.

RUSSIAN UNBOAT SINKS. Torpedo Boat Struck a Mine and Sank off Laoti promontory, the extreme southern point of the Kwang Tung peninsula, on which Port Arthur is situated, at 8 o'clock on Thursday night.

The Otrivni is an armored gunboat of 1500 tons displacement, launched in 1894 and carries one 9-inch gun, one 6-inch gun and ten 3-inch guns. She has two torpedo tubes, has a speed of fifteen knots and carries a crew of 142 men.

A FORTUNE MISSED

By Sam Small Because He Did Not Keep Engagement.

Evangelistic Singer's Suspicious Illness Disgusts Wealthy Donor.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Sam Small, song writer and singer, who became famous through his association in evangelistic work with Sam Jones, has carelessly let $25,000 slip through his fingers as a result of his associating too strenuously with politicians who are fond of places where colored beverages flow.

Theophilus Noel, a wealthy manufacturer, had a check for the fortune ready for Mr. Small, waited three days after the time of the engagement, had been used for the preacher-evangelist to show up, became impatient and suspicious concerning the real reason why, and tore the valuable paper into tiny little bits.

Years ago Sam Small's name became known, coupled with that of Sam Jones, in every home in the country. He wrote songs and sang them, while Jones preached. They made a team that resulted in the making of money. Jones held spellbound the big audiences that greeted them everywhere, while Sam unlocked the gates to their souls and hearts with his sweet singing. The singular, forcible, unorthodox, dialect exhorting of the one, and the soul-stirring voice of the other made converts by the hundreds.

One night, in the rear of the great hall, sat a fine young man. His name was Theophilus Noel, bright and of good parentage, this man, yet less than 20 years of age, had recklessly let go of what money had been left him, and took up a roving life. The early Christian teachings of his mother began to be forgotten, and as he wandered in body so did he wander in soul. Long ago he had left the straight and narrow path, and that night, for the first time, he got a glimpse of it again.

Next night, in front of the great hall, sat a lone young man—Theophilus Noel.
He was coming nearer the light, and when Sam Small sang one of his most touching compositions, tears streamed down the young man's face. He came forward with others, and he was given a right of way in the path his mother had first led him.

That was the turning point in Noel's life. He settled down, engaged in hard work, and climbed up. That song had gone deep into the young man's soul, and it changed his life from one of reckless, aimless roving to one of wealth and great success.

Years passed by, and the wonderful work of Jones and Small continued.
Then their hold on the public began to wane. The music of faith and purity that had flowed from the soul of Sam Small seemed to have a more shallow origin. His magnetism began to wane.

Sam Jones noticed this and he began to study it out. One night Sam Small could not come to the meeting—his singing went by default. Sick, was the message that came from his room. Afterwards Jones shook his head and muttered "Drunk!"

Finally, Small became so unreliable that Jones found it necessary to sever the combination. Then shocking stories began to leak out about Sam Small, Suits were brought against him—even criminal prosecutions. Police stations and jails he visited perforce, it is said, and a Cuban prison became his temporary home.

Then, lately, a charitable man, overcome with pity, picked the fallen one up and put him back in the pulpit. The old songs were put back in his mouth, but they had lost their charm. They could not come forth long at a time.
Every little while an engagement was cancelled, with the announcement that Mr. Small was ill.

Lately, however, Small has had several prosperous engagements with "Chautauques." He came from Wisconsin on his way to Aurora, but when he struck Chicago and met some of the "live ones" about political headquarters, he suddenly took ill, and has been confined to his room in the Mc-Coy hotel nearly a week.

In his office in a big manufacturing building, Mr. Noel read his morning paper. He read about Mr. Small's illness and financial hard luck. There being nothing in the article to arouse suspicion, Mr. Noel's heart melted, and he recalled the days when his tide was turned by this man, the now ill of his and heart, who was now ill in and need.

"I'll give him a nice little start," said he, and he wrote out a personal check for $25,000. Then he sent for Mr. Small to call at his office the following day—last Saturday. S. L. Stryker, Mr.
Small's manager, replied that the reverend gentleman would not doubt be well enough to keep the engagement.

All afternoon Mr. Noel sat in his office, but Mr. Small did not appear. All day Monday and till late Tuesday afternoon Mr. Noel waited. Then he sent an agent to inquire as to the real nature of Mr. Small's illness. When the agent returned, Mr. Noel became indignant and tore up the check. Deep down into the waste paper basket were cast the fragments of the evangelistic singer's prospective fortune.

"Tell Sam Small that I want never to see his face again," said Mr. Noel to Mr. Stryker. "I have tried to in a small way repay him for the great good he once did me, when he most needed it, and this is what I get for my pains.
If he had left his political acquaintances, avoided their sociability and come to me I think his future would look much better. The deal is off."

"I am thoroughly disgusted with the turn things have taken," said Small's manager. "I cease to manage Mr. Small tonight. Several pulpit appointments secured at great cost have been neglected."

"To Aurora and Petoskey we had to send telegrams of apology on account of his health."

In his bed at the hotel last night Sam Small lay, partly dressed, talking with friends, and treating the kindly offer of Mr. Noel lightly. "There's the campaign stump," he said. "There's money in that!"

WANDERER'S DOWNY BED

Lost Woman Was Sheltered By Great White Tent.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 19.—"I had a downy bed and God spread a great white tent over me to keep off the heat."

These were the words of Mrs. M. J.
Embery, the old lady who had been missing from Lexington, Tenn., since June 20, and was found lying by the side of the road—eighteen miles north of the city by L. B. Williams, gravel inspector for Shelby county. She has been taken back to her home.

The old lady was last heard of in Court square at 11 o'clock in the morning and must have walked the eighteen miles before being found, when she made her bed by the side of the pile, four miles from Lexington on the Illinois Central railroad.

For a woman 70 years old her feat is a remarkable one. She spent the night exposed to the night air, without wraps, cover or bed.

When Williams approached her and asked her who she was, she frankly told him that she was Mrs. Embery, of Lexington, but denied that she was lost. When asked if she did not get cold she said that God had spread a snow-white canvas over her and made her a downy bed, the softest she had ever seen. At the police station she told wonderful stories about the Christian car on which she was riding about over the country, and of the great white tent under which she was permitted by God to sleep every night.

MORGAN'S MEN

Survivors of Famous Cavalry Division Have Held Reunion.

Once More Lived In the Old Songs and Stories.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 19.—On Aug. 17 and 18, near Carlisle, Ky., were camped a small host of warriors bent on peaceful comradeship and the renewing of bonds that have held for many years. There were between 250 and 300 men clad in civilian garb and bearing no outward signs to indicate that they are the survivors of one of the most dreaded martial organizations that ever wore uniform, and whose names bore wild alarm and terror a little less than 20 years ago when they were one of the most formidable parts of the Confederate army.

Morgan's men they were called then, and there are men and women in Ohio who will shiver ominously at the name, for these veterans have a place in history as the remnants of the greatest cavalry commands of all times, and one that was wont to harry their foes and the supporters of their foes after a manner most strenuous, consistent and sincere.
Each year the survivors, who are within radius that makes it possible for them to come to the meeting place, gather and sing round the penitential camp fire songs and tell the old camp yarns that recall the days of faded but not uniforms taken by force of arms from the enemy, or of uniforms at all; of much fighting and hard riding, little rest and no luxury. They make it a point of pride to come to their reunions without uniforms or military show. The officers who preside are not commanders and vice commanders, but bear the titles of civilian officials, such as president and vice president, and the sentiment being of peace and good fellowship.

Six miles from Carlisle is a small settlement in a beautifully wooded spot, where an annual Methodist conference is held. Here have been built a number of small but habitable cabins, and it is in these quarters that the veterans of Morgan's command hold their reunions. This is not the fixed meeting place. That is left open, but the reunion of last year was held there and that of this year will also be held there.

The veterans gathered on Aug. 17 and broke camp this morning, Aug. 19. The two days and nights were spent in informal reunion. There were addresses by a number of distinguished leaders, and no end of old memories and reminiscences of the days of the command that grew from Morgan's squadron to Morgan's brigade, and Morgan's brigade to Morgan's division.

Gen. Basil W. Duke is the president of the organization and the chief presiding officer. He is a Col. James B. Bowles, Judge Michael Sutcliffe and Maj. O. S. Tomp.

Morgan's command began with three companies known as Morgan's squadron, and ended with ten regiments known to the world as Morgan's division.

Gen. Morgan was the commander, and after the command had become a division of the first brigade was commanded by Col. (later Brig. Gen.) Basil
W. Duke, and the second brigade by Col.
(later Brig. Gen.) Adam R. Johnson. This was the personnel of the general officers at the time of the famous Ohio raid.

The command was then made up of the Second, Third, Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Fourteenth Kentucky cavalry regiments, C. S. Duke, the Ninth Tennessee cavalry.
The colonels who commanded these regiments were: John H. Morgan, Basil W. Duke, James B. Bowles, D. Howard Smith, Warren S. Grigsby, Jerry S. Duke, Cleo-Coleman, W. C. P. Breckinridge, Adam R. Johnson, Robert W. Martin, John Chenault, Joseph E. Tucker, R. C. Morgan and W. M. Ward.

One of the features of the annual reunion of Morgan's men is its historical aspect. Even the military chronicles and the folk lore phases of the command's adventures are discussed and things that made the atmosphere of its war life and kept alive memory. Among the most interesting of these minor notes of the raiders' life is that struck in the camp switch and which became a fixture in the command's daily routine of camp and march.

Among these songs was one of hybrid origin, which dealt with the striking of one Billy Patterson. As the song was not a fixed quantity, but a constantly changing story to which any word information was added, it was a sort of diary of the army.

GIRL ROBS HER GRANDMOTHER

Of $700 to Spend For New Dresses and Candy.

Jola, Kan., Aug. 19.—Love for finery and the other luxuries dear to the feminine heart and the easy accessibility of $700 in attractive-looking 20-dollar gold pieces, proved the undoing of a pretty little 16-year-old girl, who has returned home in disgrace at the discovery of her

Somerville, Tenn., Aug. 19.—About half way between Somerville and Bolivar, on the farm of the late Dr. Morrow, there has recently appeared a strange phenomenon.

Sounds which have been differently described seem to emanate from the earth over a space of 6 or 8 feet. Their regularity and audibility have caused great excitement to come—some through curiosity and others with the purpose of solving the mystery.

The old negro who has the ground leased first heard these underground noises last April, and as they resembled the howl of a young bull, he at once began search therefor. Upon leaving the spot the sound would cease and begin again when he returned. Knowing the superstition of his race, and how difficult it would be to get him, he refrained from telling anyone except his "ole woman" until the crew was laid by.

Nearly every one has a theory that, to his own mind, if not to others, fully explains the subterranean sounds. While our scientific men are disposed to dismiss Fayette county's wonder with a wave of the hand and nod of the head and talk about spring waters and natural gas, etc., there are quite a lot of gentlemen who have visited the place who have a theory and solution of their own.

The negroes tell of a foul murder committed near this identical spot twelve years ago, and the young brute who committed the crime has never been apprehended. Some of the old negroes tell of a crowd of slaves who were taken to the ground where the sound is heard, and secreted a number of slaves he had stolen and was waiting for an opportunity for their removal when he himself was captured and they died from starvation in their underground abode. These wild, canny tales of the happenings of the past in this immediate vicinity have stirred the negroes to such a pitch that unless some visible explanation soon appears that will explain these unearthly groans, a great many will frequent night meetings and poultry yards less often after sundown.

Piles Can Be Cured

By Internal Treatment

Without the Aid of Narcotics or the Knife
You who suffer with piles know what a glorious boon it would be to you to beabsolutely and painlessly cured. You know from actual experience that salves, ointments and other local applications do not cure. You may get relief, but you keep on suffering.

There is a cause for every human ill. Remove the cause and you cure the complaint.
Piles have two distinct causes: First, congestion of the liver; second, constipation resulting from poor digestion.

Dr. Perrin's Pile Specific

The Internal Remedy

absolutely removes these causes by increasing the flow of digestive juices in the stomach, and relieving the congestion of the liver. It is a tonic for the entire bowel system and helps each particular member of this system to work easily and naturally.

You simply take a teaspoonful of this positive, internal remedy three times a day before each meal. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely free from opium, cocaine or other narcotics. It is not a palliative or temporary remedy; it produces a positive, radical and lasting cure.

Dr. Perrin's Pile Specific is sold under an Absolute Guarantee

to cure any case of blind, bleeding, itching or internal piles, no matter how chronic or aggravated it may be.
Out of over 10,000 cases there are only three on record where a positive cure has not been made.

Dr. Perrin's Pile Specific can be procured of any reliable druggist, and an individual who has used it for years should use only two $1.00 bottles of the remedy without receiving positive benefit.

Read, after having spent several months in Iowa. A man who shared in the easily-gotten spoils, after being compelled to return $50 of it which he had in his possession, has left town. Neither of the two are likely to return to Iowa.

Some months ago there came to Iowa to stay with her grandmother a girl of 16.
The girl was pretty and ladylike. At the house place she traded some complaints because she thought that the young men employed there tried to flirt with her. She informed the proprietor that she was not that sort of a girl. The grandmothers of the girl are two of the most estimable citizens of Iowa.

At the home of the grandmother boarded a young man who entreated to her safe keeping, as he did not want to put it in the bank. Together with $100 of her own the lady put in a sumptuous safe place. There was no occasion to handle the money and it was not looked at from week's end to week's end.

The pretty little girl came to receive letters from her parents. She read these letters to her grandmother. In each one of these the mother expressed the hope that the girl was having a good time, and to be sure of it, she included, so the letters stated, a considerable sum of money. These letters, with their remittances, came frequently.

The girl bought all manner of pretty things to wear. She did not forget to be generous to her grandmother.

But the grandmother began to grow suspicious, worried that the girl's money and made inquiries as to how much money they were sending her. The girl never registered so no one but the grandmother herself could get it from the postoffice. The girl's mother had a card, however, and this she tore up.

The more however the grandmother happened in there. The letter was given to her. It contained the information that no money was being sent the girl.

An inspection of the place of safe keeping showed that the pile of 20-dollar gold pieces amounted to $700. The girl was missing. She was so clearly caught in the net that a full confession of having taken the money, and told of the various ways in which she had spent part of it.

The confession, which was soiled out, contained information that a certain man had $200 of the money that she had given him. The man came here months ago. He had been a frequent visitor at the home to see the girl. Somehow the grandmother learned that the man is married. The visits were brought to an abrupt stop. But he had ingratiated himself with the girl until she divided her money with him.

MUST CARRY DEER HEAD.

Bemidji Taxidermist Wins Suit Against Railroad.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 19.—Henry Buenher, the taxidermist of Bemidji, has won his suit against the Northern Pacific, in which the game laws of the state were more or less involved. The case was entitled Bemidji Taxidermist vs. The Northern Pacific Railroad Company, but Buenher was the man behind the prosecution.

It seems that Schneider had a permit to shoot deer in Itasca county and attempted to ship a deer head from Northome to Bemidji. The railroad company refused to carry the deer head, on the grounds that the state game laws prohibited handling game out of season.

Mandamus proceedings were started to compel the shipment of the head, and the court sustained the claims of the plaintiff in the action, holding that the deer head was private property and that shipment must be made as requested, making a distinction between the head and the carcass of the deer.

SSS FOR THE BLOOD

The best known and most popular blood purifier and tonic on the market to-day is S. S. S.

There is hardly a man, woman or child in America who has not heard of "S. S. S. for the blood." It is a standard remedy and specific for all blood troubles and an unequalled spring tonic and appetizer.

S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable, the herbs and roots of which it is composed being selected for their alterative and tonic properties, making it the ideal remedy for all blood and skin diseases, as it not only purifies and invigorates the blood, but at the same time tones up the general

For Chronic Sores and Ulcers, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Blood Poison, Malaria, Anemia, Eczema, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Acne, and such other diseases as are due to a polluted or impoverished condition of the blood, nothing acts so promptly and effectually as S. S. S. It counteracts and eradicates the germs and poisons; cleanses the system of all unhealthy accumulations, and soon restores the patient to health. If you need medical advice write us about your case, and your letter will receive prompt attention from our physicians, for which no charge is made.

TO EXHUME BODY

Man Found Near Boulevard May Yet Be Identified.

Man Arrives Here Believing It May Be Charles Pavilka.

A murder mystery may yet develop from the case of the unidentified man found lying dead on the hill top a week ago Sunday, and whose body was buried at Park Hill cemetery last week.

An Austrian employed at the Brooks camp, about twenty-three miles north of Duluth, came to the city yesterday to find his cousin, Charles Pavilka, whom he said had been missing for the past two weeks. Pavilka came to Duluth with another Austrian, who was on his way to his old home, for the purpose of making some purchases of clothing. He was believed to have had a considerable sum of money on his person at the time, and nothing has been seen or heard of him since.

His cousin believes that Pavilka has met with foul play while in the city, and when he heard of the finding of the unknown body thought that it might be that of his missing cousin. The description given by the undertakers tallied with that of Pavilka, although his cousin was not able to identify the effects.

The body of the unknown will be disinterred this afternoon by the coroner and the police officials to give the Austrian an opportunity to identify the remains if possible. The disinterment was due to take place at 3 o'clock at Park Hill cemetery.

The coroner and some of the police officers disagree as to the manner in which the man met his death.

Coroner Boyer holds the belief that the man met with foul play, and is convinced that it is a clear case of suicide, whoever the man may have been.

Some of the policemen believe that there was some foul play connected with it and think that the man was shot by some unknown person for purposes of robbery.

Should the unknown man be identified as Charles Pavilka, it may be necessary to send him to Austria to locate his companion, and ascertain whether or not he knows anything of the manner in which Pavilka met his death.

Should the body prove to be that of Pavilka it will strengthen the theory held by some of the police officers that the man met with foul play, as no money was found in his pockets but fifteen cents when the body was discovered, and he was known to have a considerable sum when he left to come to Duluth.

SUICIDE PREVENTED.
The startling announcement that a preventive of suicide had been discovered will interest many. A new system, or dependency invariably precedes suicide and something has been found that will prevent that condition which makes suicide likely. At the Electric Bitters, it being a great tonic and nerve builder, it strengthens the nerves and builds up the system. It is also a great Stomach, Liver and Kidney regulator. Only 50c. WEST DULUTH

The district convention of the Degree of Honor is in session this afternoon at Gilley's hall, with a large attendance of delegates and members. This district includes Hibbing, Two Harbors and Cloquet, with five Duluth lodges. Among those present are officers holding high positions in the state order. With these are included Mrs. Anna C. Nelson, of Morris, Minn., grand chief of the order; Mrs. B. Olson, of St. Paul, grand recorder; and Mrs. L. H. Manter, of Winona, past grand chief, and formerly a resident of West Duluth. Mrs. Manter officiated at the organization of the West Duluth lodge, and is probably the most popular member of the state order, locally, at least.

This afternoon's meeting is a business one. Mrs. W. B. Ingles, chief of honor in the West Duluth lodge, is scheduled to make a few remarks of welcome. Besides the responses there will probably be other addresses. Miss Ursula Joerns opens the convention with a piano selection from German opera. Each lodge represented will read a paper written by one of its members, on subjects of interest to this particular occasion, and this evening, musical and literary program will be rendered. Among those taking part this evening will be Miss Eva Sawyer and Miss Effie Brotherton, Miss Brandegee, teacher of music in the school for the blind at Faribault, Miss Kenny, Mrs. Schooner and the Misses Davis, all of whom will sing. Master Clarence Flaher, Miss Francis Kern and Miss Georgiana Ross will render selections on the piano.

A PLEASANT PARTY.
Mrs. D. E. Constock and Mrs. J. D. Wright, 501 Central avenue, entertained the ladies of Welcome hive on Wednesday afternoon in honor of the 15th birthday of their mother, Mrs. J. O. Hyatt. Delicious refreshments were served. Beautiful bouquets of sweet peas made up the table decorations, while pansies and white asters were used in the reception rooms. Among those present were Mesdames H. M. Bonesteele, Boyle, McKeen, Cameron, Kauppi, Olson, Lee, E. Buchanan and Rafman, the last two being from Superior.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.
The funeral of Florence Menke, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Menke, 6112 Cody street, who died Wednesday, was held at 2 o'clock from the residence. Interment was at Oneota cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Erickson, 902 Fifty-seventh avenue west, returned yesterday from a three-weeks' trip to the St. Louis exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Carey, of Fifty-sixth avenue west, have returned from Quebec and St. Anne, Can.

The captains of the Longshoremen and Merrill & Ring sawmill baseball teams held a meeting last evening, but came to no agreement as to the game which it is proposed to play Sunday. Manager Leech of the Longshoremen charges the mill men with being afraid to play his aggregation of all stars, which won the first game between the two. He says this is true in face of the fact that the mill men have several old league men in their ranks.

A delightful surprise party was given by a party of friends to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ransbottom, at their home on sixty-third avenue west, last evening. Dancing was numbered among the amusements of the evening, and dainty refreshments were served.

Justice J. B. Flack yesterday married two couples. The first, Miss Blanche Pierce and A. P. Donley, were from Superior, while the other, two, Miss Carrie Wright and Co. Seefeld, are residents of St. Louis county.

John Cashin is ill at his home on fifty-seventh avenue west. The W. H. Rickhoff company have established a small sawmill at New Duluth, to be run in connection with their box factory at that place. The mill will have a capacity of about 10,000 feet of lumber in a day of ten hours. It is designed principally for the use of farmers and settlers throughout the county who wish to bring in their own timber to be sawed.

CHANCES ARE GROWING LESS

Senator Hoar Holding His Own But Fails to Gain.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 18.—Senator Hoar's condition showed a slight improvement today. He passed a comfortable night, according to his physicians, and was resting quietly at 5 o'clock this morning.

Later Gen. Rockwood Hoar gave out the following statement regarding the condition of his father: "The senator has had a comfortable night and is holding his own, though he is weak. This, however, is due to a trouble with his left lung, which caused his prostration at the end of last week. This, however, is a little, and if it can be controlled, and he can retain his strength for the next two days there will be ground for hope."

Dr. Warren B. Gilman, one of the attending physicians, said: "Yesterday certain symptoms in Senator Hoar's condition that have caused alarm were somewhat removed. Still the senator is in a very weak state, and it is indeed uncertain whether he will be able to rally."

At noon today Rockwood Hoar issued the following bulletin: "The senator is asleep and has had a fairly comfortable day. He is holding his own. Senator Hoar is suffering. It is believed, from congestion of the left lung, due to impaired heart action, and the belief is general that chances for his recovery are less than they were early this morning."

THANK THE ROAD

Business Men Send Resolutions to Missabe Road Officials.

Trip a Delightful One and Proves of Keen Interest.

Resolutions of thanks for the trip, appreciation of the courtesy shown by the officials and of commendation for the enterprise, were passed by the public affairs committee of the Commercial club and other business men who were guests of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern company, yesterday on the initial trip of its new observation car. The resolutions were drawn up and signed while the company was en route from Hibbing to Duluth and were forwarded to the management of the railway company.

The local people participating in the ride to Hibbing and return yesterday were well pleased with the trip, especially so on account of the splendid new observation car which the railway company has installed in its range service. Many words of admiration and appreciation of its comfort and convenience were heard on the return of the party.

Nothing was left undone by the officials of the road for the pleasure of their guests. B. Hanson, general passenger and freight agent; C. V. Kleewetter, chief clerk and traveling auditor, and H. L. Dresser, chief engineer, were the officials in attendance. Through arrangements made by the management of the road, the Miller of the New England hotel and cafe served luncheon on the train.

When the train reached Hibbing the observation car was backed down in the vicinity of the Burt mine while the Duluthians were given a fine opportunity of seeing striping work for an open mine. The brief stay in the city was also taken advantage of for a procession over the principal streets, the Duluth contingent forming quite a procession.

Nothing was left undone by the Duluth business men on the character of the country, between this lake and Hibbing and to many was brought home the suggestion that St. Louis county has still some fine agricultural lands to be opened and which will eventually help to increase the business prosperity of the city. Surprise was expressed by some of the business men over the large number of new farms that have been started along the line of the road in the past year.

Following are the resolutions adopted together with the names of those who took the trip:

"En Route, Aug. 15, 1904.—To the management of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company:

"Those of the Duluth affairs committee of the Commercial club and other business men of Duluth who were fortunate enough to take advantage of your generous invitation to be your guests on the occasion of the initial trip of your new observation car, Thursday, Aug. 12, 1904, desire to place on record their appreciation of your courtesy and hospitality, and to that end, here undersign their names. By so doing we commend the public spirit which prompted and the business sagacity which actuated you in adding to your equipment the splendid accommodation known as the observation car."

"The growing importance of our allies, the range towns, renders it imperative that we should by every means make our method of communication more convenient and comfortable, and we see in your new venture a step in that direction."

"We recognize in your prompt efforts to act on the suggestion of the public affairs committee a desire to consult the interests of the business and traveling public which we predict will result in our mutual benefit, not only we of Duluth, and the range, but the visitors and strangers."

"We must acknowledge the untiring efforts of the officials of your road who accompanied us on the trip to make it pleasant, comfortable and one not soon to be forgotten."

"Thanking you for this and the many other evidences of your good will towards the people of Duluth and the ranges, we are, yours respectfully,

THE GREAT SHOW

Barnum & Bailey's Great Aggregation Eagerly Awaited.

Magnificent Pageant to Be Presented Before the People.

Barnum & Bailey's "Greatest Show on Earth" exhibits here tomorrow, and that means a lively day, not only for the army of circus men, but also for the curious thousands who always find enjoyment in watching the interesting sights incident to a big show. Even the small boy who could not be lured to remain away, realizes that there are a hundred and one things of absorbing interest to be seen on this exhibition grounds, and he will be out in force to do honor to the occasion.

The show comes from Superior and will reach Duluth at an early hour. There will be no delay in introducing the five long trains of cars used for transporting the paraphernalia, and as rapidly as possible the tents will be erected and the exhibition city placed in readiness for the arrival of the great show.

This parade of the way promises something exceptionally clever and brilliant in the line of professional stunts and acrobatics. It is arranged in sections and is especially noticeable from the fact that everything is new from beginning to end. Twenty-nine boats, costing on an average of $5,000 each, are utilized in this wonderful street exhibition. Hundreds of gorgeously caparisoned horses, three herds of elephants, twenty camels and dromedaries, and nearly a thousand men, women and children participate in the pageant.

The following brief index is more eloquent in telling the story of this wonderful and costly pageant than anything that can be written of it, and will also be found of great service to many who may wish to know just what the all-around show represents, as well as indicating the characters typical of the wearers of the floats and costumes.

AMERICA. Blue and gold. Group with America on Buffalo, surrounded by Canada, Columbia, Aztec, Pioneer, etc. Living figures of Indian, Canadian, American, Georgian, Mexican, Cowboy Driver and Scout. Outriders. Six American Scouts in khaki.

TWO HEMISPHERES. Pure gold. Turtles both hemispheres. Continents in life-size, animals of all kinds, Eagles and Elephants with uplifted trunks. Coast of America, Great Britain, Germany, Austria, Belgium, Italy, Chili, Argentine Republic, Brazil, Mexico, Canada and the United States. Drawn by forty horses.

GOLDEN AGE OF CHIVALRY. Green and gold. In form of glaucous two-headed dragon with droning noises, fauns, plumed knights, Captive Maidens on back and knights Templars on sleds. Driver Medical Sergeant with six knights as Outriders.

FAIRY TALES. Red and gold. Groups and Living Figures representing Nursery Rhymes, Peas in Boots, Humpty Dumpty, Jack the Giant-Killer, Fairy Queen, Sleeping Beauty, Prince Charming, Beauty and the Beast, White Rabbit and the White Elephant, Aladdin and the Lamp, The Outfit, etc. Six Herods, and representatives of "Heads" and "Tails" Fairy Tales.

PUNNY FOLKS. Green and gold. All sorts of Comiques and Grotesques. Jack-in-the-Box standing in a group of Gnomes, Clowns, Grinches, Frazzles, etc. Outriders of American Soldiers. Dromedaries with Asiatic riders. Caravan of twenty-eight Elephants. Scene with Howdahs and Pretty Girls. Four-horse Roman Chariots, with four charioteers. Gentlemen Hippodromists and jockeys, lady performers and race riders. Open dens of Wild Beasts. Huge Golden Carved Cages of Wild Animals. Comed features, clown, acrobats, team of Four Harnessed Zebras. Military bands, etc., etc. Steam caissons.

OUR COUNTRY. Blue and gold. Shields of all States. Uncle Sam driver. Mar of Liberty guarded by Roosevelt and McKinley. Figures of Washington with Grant, Lincoln and Garfield. American Soldiers. Outriders of American Soldiers. Dromedaries with Asiatic riders. Caravan of twenty-eight Elephants. Scene with Howdahs and Pretty Girls. Four-horse Roman Chariots, with four charioteers. Gentlemen Hippodromists and jockeys, lady performers and race riders. Open dens of Wild Beasts. Huge Golden Carved Cages of Wild Animals. Comed features, clown, acrobats, team of Four Harnessed Zebras. Military bands, etc., etc. Steam caissons.

THE MONARCH. The monarch of the parade will leave the exhibition grounds opposite the fair grounds on Third street, about half past nine o'clock, and pass on Third street to Twenty-ninth avenue west, to Second street, to Twenty-first street to Superior street, west to Twenty-first avenue, to First street, to Second avenue west, to Superior street, west to Twenty-ninth avenue to Third street to grounds.

The two performances which are to be given in this city will be complete in every way. The first is at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the last one at 8 p.m. The program is an exceptionally varied one.

Particular attention has been given to aerial displays. The Imperial Viennese troupe of high air gymnasts numbers ten exceptionally clever men and women from the Austrian capital. The Siegfried-Silhou troupe of acrobats is a French importation. The Clarksons, who created a sensation at Madison Square Garden, by their remarkable double and twisting somersaults in mid-air, are among the greatest artists that England has ever sent to America. London also sends Miss Rose Wentworth, an exceptionally gifted equestrian, and a long list of other talented performers.

The best of the acrobats, and there are nearly a dozen troupes with the show, come from Germany. Among the most notable are the Florenz and Gruntha troupes of gymnasts, who perform almost incredible feats of acrobaticism with a grace and skill that instantly wins favor with the public.

The display of "high-school" horses has also attracted a great deal of attention. This department of the show presents Herr Herzog, famous rider and manager of the famous "Havard" stable, and his team, Mafalda Von Korb, Miss Minnie, and many others. These horses, who are an entire school of keeping horses and ponies.

The comedy part of the show is given under the management and direction of the famous clown, Spider Johnson. Having the amount allowed at one time. As this was considerably less than Mrs. Hartman had been used to taking it became necessary to watch her very closely. From helping herself to more than a man, who remained with his wife, had occasion to leave the room for a few moments and these few moments proved fatal to his wife, for in his absence she possessed herself of the bottle containing the morphine and drank its entire contents. She lived but a few hours afterwards.

ESCANABA. After passing a worthless check on one firm of merchants and leaving a board bill of $18 at one of the local hotels, attempting to pass checks on several firms at Escanaba, William A. VanDusen, who claimed to be a traveling salesman, has escaped and a warrant has been issued for his arrest on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses. For several days the officers have been searching for VanDusen, but it has been learned that he was from Escanaba to Rapid River, where he succeeded in passing several worthless checks on merchants of that town, and it is now thought that he has gone to Canada. VanDusen arrived in Escanaba some time ago and represented himself as salesman for a soap manufacturing concern. He was well dressed and when he called at Kratz's store, bought goods to the amount of $30 and gave a check in payment, nothing was thought of the matter until the check was presented at the First National bank, on which it was drawn, and it was learned that he had no account there.

IRON MOUNTAIN. Rev. G. J. Childs, rector of Holy Trinity church at Iron Mountain during the past four or five years, has received a call from the church at Lakota, S. D., with assurance of a comfortable increase in salary. Mr. Childs now has the call under advisement. His relations at Iron Mountain have been of the most pleasant nature and his congregation is most united, and for these reasons he is loathe to leave for a new field.

GRAND MARAIS. Considerable excitement has been caused at Grand Marais by the mysterious disappearance of William Cairns, a well known resident, who has been missing for almost a fortnight. Cairns disappeared from his camp, where he was cutting hay, about six miles up the shore from town, and search parties have found no trace of him. It is believed that he became ill, started for town, became confused and wandered in to the woods. He is aged about 33 and is married.

Sault Ste. Marie. A number of the labor organizations of the Sault have adopted resolutions favoring the granting of a gas franchise to Francis H. Clarke, and urging the aldermen to vote in favor of such action. The resolutions relate that Mr. Clarke has always been a friend to union labor, paying the highest going wages, and if given an opportunity he will again be of much benefit to the laboring classes of the Sault. The resolutions will be presented to the council at its next meeting.

SECOND SAM PARKS

Has Been Placed Under Arrest in Gotham.

New York, Aug. 18.—Philip Weissmer, known among labor leaders as "Diamond Phil," head of the Building Trades' alliance, whose dictatorship the employers allege is as absolute as that of the late Sam Parks, and who is held responsible for the strikes and lockouts which are tying up construction work in this city, is under arrest on the charge of extortion.

The arrest was brought about by Charles L. Edlitz, president of the Building Trades Employers' association, the man who set the machinery going that finally caused the downfall and conviction of Sam Parks.

Weissmer was held in $1500 bail for further examination. The contractors who caused the arrest say that there will be developments in this case that will eclipse the high-handed methods of Parks and his clique.

DOINGS IN MICHIGAN

Monominee. Charles Erickson was arrested at Nathan, Mich., on a charge of murdering his brother-in-law. Erickson was arrested on Oct. 1, 1903. He brought a slander suit against the father of the murdered man's wife at the last term of circuit court, but lost his case. Erickson, who followed a clue of a bloody thumb mark in a notebook and gained, the name of a "Puddin' Head Wilson," made the arrest and brought the man down here to the county jail for safe keeping. A Pinkerton detective has been on the case for two months. The evidence is only circumstantial.

Gladstone. Mrs. James Hartman, of Miss Agnes Miller, of Chicago, speaks to young women about dangers of the Menstrual Period—how to avoid pain and suffering and remove the cause by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"To Young Women:—I suffered for six years with dysmenorrhea (painful periods) so much so that I dreaded every month, as I knew it meant three or four days of intense pain. The doctor said this was due to an inflamed condition of the uterine appendages caused by repeated and neglected colds.

"If young girls only realized how dangerous it is to take cold at this critical time, much suffering would be spared them. Thank God for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that was the only medicine which helped me any. Within three weeks after I started to take it, I noticed a marked improvement in my general health, and at the time of my next monthly period the pain had diminished considerably. I kept up the treatment, and was cured a month later. I am like another person since. I am in perfect health, my eyes are brighter, I have added 12 pounds to my weight, my color is good, and I feel light and happy."—Miss AGNES MILLER, 25 Potomac Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The monthly sickness reflects the condition of a woman's health. Anything unusual at that time should have prompt and proper attention. Fifty thousand letters from women prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regulates menstruation and makes those periods painless.

READ WHAT MISS LINDBECK SAYS:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has greatly benefited me. I will tell you how I suffered. My trouble was painful menstruation. I felt as each month went by that I was getting worse. I had severe bearing-down pains in my back and abdomen.

"A friend advised me to try Mrs. Pinkham's medicine. I did so and am now free from all pain during my periods."—JESSIE C. LINDBECK, 1201 6th Street, Rockford, Ill.

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN.

Remember, every woman is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about her symptoms she does not understand. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass., her advice is free and cheerfully given to every ailing woman who asks for it. Her advice has restored to health more than one hundred thousand women. Why don't you try it, my sick sisters?

SOCIETY STARTLED.

Dubouque Doctor's Charges Against Beautiful Wife.

Des Moines, Aug. 18.—That his wife sat up until the wee small hours of the morning and smoked cigarettes in the presence of her small children; that she used his money to buy costly provisions for her less-prosperous relatives; that she was so cruel to his mother that she later refused to visit him and that she insisted upon using his horse and carriage when he most needed it to make calls, are a few of the allegations contained in the petition for a divorce filed by Dr. G. Allen Staples, of Dubouque, that have thrown society into a state of consternation.

Dr. Staples has long been one of the four or five leading practitioners in the Iowa city, and both he and his beautiful wife have been among the leaders of the "exclusive" society of Dubouque. The friends of both have imagined that their domestic life was one continuous round of happiness and hundreds of husbands and wives whose lives have been the least bit tinged with differences have cast envious eyes as a result of the seeming happy existence the Staples were living.

Mrs. Staples recently departed for Canada, where it was understood she would pay a visit of a month or more. Society bade adieu with numerous tears and receptions and awaited her return and the resumption of her blissful life; but the petition was filed and now the gay set does naught but gasp and exclaim.

The report has just come from Canada that Mrs. Staples denies everything and will return to her home city on the first train to begin the preparation of a counter claim in which she will make equally startling charges and will cause society to again throw up its hands.

Saving one's money by not doing necessary advertising in conducting business, is like saving it by starving to death.

GOING ON STAGE

Is Mrs. Woodend, Wife of Broker Who Squandered Fortune.

Says She Really Needs the Thirty Dollars a Week.

New York, Aug. 19.—To hear a woman like Mrs. Jane Woodend say "I need the thirty" (meaning dollars); to hear her say it as she sits in her splendid West Seventy-first street home, the last relic of the riches that were hers and her husband's until they ran through their fortune like water through a sieve; to hear her get down to dollars and cents, as it were with the memory still fresh of those recent days when this couple lived in extravagant luxury, when her advent at a horse show was like the appearance of a foreign princess at a fete, attended as she was by a retinue of servants and holding tiers of boxes for the entertainment of her friends; to hear a woman, handsome, accomplished and still surrounded by the superficial signs of wealth; to hear, it may be repeated, such a woman say "I need the thirty" was like getting down to first principles.

And that's just where the beautiful young wife of the bankrupt Dr. W. T. Woodend has got. There isn't any of the dignity of the foot-light-favored girl in her going on the stage to play a small part in "Checkers" for $20 a week. She needs the thirty!

"Do you really need the thirty?" asked a reporter.

"Oh," she sighed, looking about her, casting a loving eye on a few choice Parian marbles, potted plants and heavy silver plate. The gurgling of running water in the conservatory, the dining room reached her ears. An immaculate white poodle fondled in her arms and pawed a pink silk evening gown.

"I need the thirty," said Mrs. Woodend, as if counting the words. "That is $20 a month, is it not? I am not a financier. The doctor is, but I think that is what it will amount to by this month. That much money will pay the grocer, the butcher, the coal man, the gas company and keep my dog. Coal costs $7 a ton. Oh, I know. That would allow us to use seventeen tons of coal a month, and winter is coming."

"Then your sole object is to help the doctor?"

"Yes, that and—oh, I do want to be an actress. I studied elocution under a Vassar college teacher and was highly complimented. I also tried amateur theatricals, and my friends were pleased to say that the spark of genius was within me. I am not a comedian. I think my meter is the emotional, but Mr. La Shelle says that the funniest people are most serious and funeral looking. The parts that appeal to me are such as the Countess Zichy in 'Diplomacy.' How I love that!"

"The woman with a past?" suggested the reporter.

"Yes, past, present and future," came the ready reply. She expressed a fondness for the leading role in "Mrs. Dane's Defense."

"I hope for the best. My present engagement is to play every night. I do not intend to go on the road with the company, and really the part is a small one. All I do is to play such and go to tea races and bet on Silver Dollar. I really don't know why the role is in the cast."

"What is the name of this sportily inclined woman in the play?"

"Mrs. Woodend's life pursued. 'Now, isn't it funny? I have quite forgotten it. Oh, let me think. Yes, it's Clara Esmond, isn't it? The success at this I hope to be able to get a good part in some other company later on. All I do is to play such and go to tea races and bet on Silver Dollar. I really don't know why the role is in the cast."

"It's cheaper than paying rent," she said. "And she's more comfortable, even though we have only two servants in the place of the seven who were in the house."

We had to get rid of the horses, for they are so expensive. But I have my dogs, my alligators, my snake, my chipmunk. I keep them in the back yard. Indeed, I am very fond of animals. I am a member of the Blue-Awee society, whose primal law is that no dogs should ever be killed."

When the question of wardrobe was mentioned Mrs. Woodend's face broke into rare smiles of genuine pleasure. "I have a wardrobe," she said, "that will fit any twentieth century part. No possible trouble can ensue in the matter of clothes."

The doctor-financier's wife is tall, slim, well-figured, and her beauty as well as her style has never been questioned. In addition to fine clothes she has some family jewels which will help to illumine the old academy. As "Checkers" is a play in which the horse figures, Mrs. Woodend will be in her element.

"Oh! If I could only drive a four in the show," she said. "There's nothing I'd like to do better on earth. I once won a $300 cup in Chicago driving a four. Wouldn't it be just lovely to come on the stage that way?"

HAY WAGON

Used as Bridal Chariot For Iowa Couple.

Sioux City, Io., Aug. 18.—Good instruction can be had at Salix, this county, on the subject of how to receive a bride and groom upon their return home. None of the barbarous treatment which is usually administered to the groom in most places applied to the bride. The bride was dignified and crowning event and enthroned the happy pair as befits them. As "Checkers" is a play in which the horse figures, Mrs. Woodend will be in her element.

The couple arrived Friday evening and a float elaborately decorated awaited them. The float consisted of a large hayrack, prettily arranged with green boughs, so as to nearly entirely cover the vehicle, and in the center was placed a seat trimmed with pale blue cloth. The couple mounted into the vehicle by means of a stepladder

EAGLE CLOTHING HOUSE

ARE CLOSING OUT THEIR ENTIRE STOCK

Great quantities of standard merchandise have been marked down, without regard to cost or previous selling price, to effect quick and complete clearance. The occasion forces a sacrifice of profit.

Dave Casmir has purchased a new, up-to-date stock for fall and desires to put in new fixtures as soon as possible. But first this entire spring stock must be cleared. Nothing but prices that talk will move such quantities of goods in the time allotted. The consequence is opportunities for economical buying that are not likely to be duplicated in a lifetime. Throngs of satisfied customers throughout the house since this sale began have testified to the extraordinary values offered in this sale. And every day until these goods are sold will be great bargain days.

LAKE MICHIGAN SITE

For the Naval Training Station Is Probable.

Washington, Aug. 18.—The commission appointed by President Roosevelt to investigate and make a report as to the most available site on the great lakes as a location for the proposed naval training station will complete its report by Sept. 1. At least one of the naval board of which the late Admiral Taylor was chairman. Five sites on the southern portion of the lake, in which Lake Huron, Ill., was given first choice, and Racine, Wis., second choice, were named by the original board as possessing advantages superior to all others suggested.

The new commission, composed of Capt. Reeder and two civilians, spent several weeks on the lakes, visiting Michigan, Superior and Erie. The data before them are voluminous, consisting of elaborate notes taken by the commission, and citizens interested in particular sites, etc. It will take a number of days to compile this data in readable form, and shortly thereafter the report of the commission will be submitted to the president. The sum of $25,000 is available for traveling expenses, and when the president's selection is made, steps will be taken looking to the purchase of land and the construction of buildings.

ROW OVER FUNDS

And Probable Widening of Breach Between Republican Factions.

Chairman Conde Hamlin Demands $6000 From Old Committee.

St. Paul, Aug. 18.—What gives promise of a big row within the Republican party in Minnesota and a widening of the breach that already exists between the Dunn and Collins factions is in prospect when the present state central committee calls upon the committee of two years ago for a settlement and the turning over of the new committee of the effects of the old one.

Officers of the present committee and other prominent Dunn men are sponsors for the statement that something more than $6000 in cash remained in the possession of the old committee at the close of the campaign two years ago, after all outstanding obligations had been paid. Chairman Conde Hamlin, who is at the head of the committee this year, will make a demand upon the former committee for this money, and if it is not paid an investigation will be made with a view of ascertaining whether there was a balance, how large it was, and what has become of it.

Officers of the committee which had charge of the campaign fund two years ago declared last night that there was no balance, and that there was nothing whatever to turn over to the present committee. Judge Robert Jamison, private secretary to Governor Van Sant, was chairman of the committee two years ago, and W. C. Masterman, of Stillwater, was treasurer. Each denies that the old committee finished the campaign with a balance.

Dar F. Reese, former clerk of the supreme court, a prominent attorney of St. Paul and a Dunn man, declares Judge Jamison told him that there was a balance of more than $6000, and the officers of the present state committee have been under the impression that the old committee had a snug balance to turn over to the new committee at the proper time.

"I met Judge Jamison two or three days after the election two years ago," said Mr. Reese yesterday, "and he told me there was more than $6000 in the committee treasury. He said all bills and expenses of the campaign had been paid, and his account was unused. At the time I complimented Judge Jamison upon the economical manner in which he had conducted the campaign."

"When asked last night regarding the statement made by Mr. Reese, Judge Jamison made no attempt to hide his anger. He referred to the statement as a lie, and said emphatically that the present state central committee that were not at all complimentary."

is charged to me by Mr. Reese," said Judge Jamison. "There was no money left in the campaign fund of two years ago and there is not a cent to turn over to the new committee. All I have to say is, let these hyenas run their own committee; we haven't anything to turn over to them."

W. C. Masterman, of Stillwater, treasurer of the old committee, said there was not a dollar left in the treasury after the campaign expenses had been paid. He had no money to turn over to the new committee and was not worrying about any investigation that might be made.

At the headquarters of the present state central committee in St. Paul, however, the statements made by the former chairman and secretary are not satisfactory and there are visible indications of a merry row before the matter is settled.

That there is already a strained feeling between the old and new committees, the result of the recent bitter fight between the Dunn and Collins forces, is evident from the attitude of the old committee. Not a record of any kind has been turned over to the present committee, which will prove a serious handicap to Chairman Hamlin and his co-workers. The new committee has also been compelled to supply its own furniture, although the old committee headquarters were well furnished. Where this furniture has disappeared to no one seems to know.

Just what will be the outcome of the trouble which has been started is problematical, but the present committee will endeavor to find out what became of the supposed surplus of $6000. At committee headquarters yesterday it was remarked that possibly some of this surplus had been used in the speakership contest two years ago.

FRENZY VS. ARGUMENT.

Under the heading "A Wabbling War Whopper," the Red Wing Republican says:

Here is the Democratic war-war, as wooed by The Duluth Herald: "Down with protection at home and abroad. If you do not wish to incur the risks involved in visiting other countries, you are at liberty to remain at home."

Such rabid hatred of the policy of Blaine and Roosevelt would deny protection even to our citizens abroad. That is the patriotism of Democracy's opponents; that is the keynote to Cleveland's rule of three: Rum, Riot and Rebellion.

"It is the duty of any nation," continues this hybrid American from his straddling location on the border line, "to demand reparation for injuries sustained by its citizens in foreign lands"—there is no mention, you will note, of prevention of injuries or protection of persons—"but it is hardly the duty nor the right of any nation to send warships around the world to keep the peace in other nations"—and he might have added what must be understood from the foregoing: "If Duluth or Nebraska, let them go abroad and be hanged at any pirate's pleasure. It isn't this editor's funeral." No, it isn't our contemporary's funeral, but that un-American, unpatriotic policy is the funeral of the Democratic party, which went the way of all weak and incoherent things with Cleveland's last administration.

It will be noticed that notwithstanding the length of this frenzied fling, the Republican failed to inform us what comment it would make in case a foreign warship should land marines on United States soil in order to protect its citizens from threatened injury by American citizens.

It will be remembered that some years ago, when a number of citizens of Italy were shot down by a mob in the South, the Italian government was satisfied to demand reparation, which was made. Should a British subject be killed in such manner in any part of American territory the British government would be compelled to take like procedure. If it attempted to land marines to protect one or more of its citizens who were threatened by death, say in Porto Rico or the Philippines for instance, it would find a bad muss on its hands immediately. If the United States respects interference from outside powers, why should not smaller nations do likewise?

When the person or property of an American citizen is injured in another country and when this country demands and enforces reparation and punitive damages it would seem to be doing all that it should rightfully do and all that it can reasonably be expected to do in the way of protecting its citizens in foreign lands. Anything further than that would be unwarranted and unjust interference with the internal affairs of other nations. It would not be tolerated by the United States and it should not be tolerated by our citizens if the officials of the government attempt it on other nations. What is sauce for the goose ought to be sauce for the gander, even if the gander is much stronger and more powerful.

The Herald again asserts that the American idea, as upheld and maintained by the executives of this nation for a hundred years, is far superior to the Roosevelt idea. If the position of The Herald is morally or fundamentally wrong in this regard, it is altogether probable that the Red Wing editor would have used more argument and less frenzied hysterics in his reply, and would not have attempted to misrepresent the position of this paper by putting in quotation things it did not say and sentiments it did not express.

SHOULD BE IMPEACHED.

It appears to be quite popular in Colorado for officials to set up their private opinions as superior to the laws. John I. Mullins, who is judge of the state district court at Denver, is reported to have made this statement from the bench:

"In private life I never was a party to the killing of a man or a human being. I shall never be a judicial party to such a killing. The state has no right to take a life. Capital punishment in Colorado has not deterred the commission of crime. Murders have increased. Influential persons escape the gallows."

"A man having no right to take his own life, surely the state cannot take that life from him under the guise of the law. I will do as my conscience prompts me in this matter. I am opposed to capital punishment. While a judge of the district court I shall never impose such a penalty upon a defendant. If a person is found guilty of murder in the first degree and the jury fixes the penalty at death, I shall disregard that verdict if need be. The state does not give life; it cannot take life. It is contrary to reason and contrary to morals."

While there are many people who fully agree with Judge Mullins in his opinion that the state has no right to take a human life, there are few who will assent that as a judge on the bench he has any justification in disregarding and setting aside the laws of the state. He and all men who believe as he does should strive to alter the laws so that the state shall not be empowered to take human life. He is right in asserting that capital punishment has not deterred the commission of crime. It never has and it never will. Neither will the whipping post stop wife-beating nor even lessen it. But he is entirely wrong in setting up his private opinion as superior to the laws of the state and using his official position to defeat the will of the majority.

Judge Mullins ought to resign from the bench. If he does not he ought to be impeached. He could be convicted on his own testimony. But before such action is taken example should first be made of the governor of the state and those members of the supreme court who uphold him and his minions in overriding the law and the constitution. It must be that there is something in the air of Colorado that breeds contempt for law in the minds of its inhabitants.

CURIOUS BUT HUMAN.

A Michigan exchange, commenting on the fact that Gen. Cronje is supposed to be unwilling exhibiting himself at the World's fair because he needs the money, asserts:

"Paul Kruger died possessed of an estate valued at from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000. The source whence this great fortune was derived is unknown—merely guessed at."

Speaking of Cronje the exchange continues: "His lands and property he lost in a devastating war. It is pretty late to begin all over again. So he has chosen this way to provide for his old age. Curious, is it not, the diverse fortunes of these two men and comrades. Curious that Kruger, with all his wealth, should have held out no helping hand to Cronje!"

It is more curious that people should so generally believe an untruth circulated by the British government concerning the wealth of Paul Kruger in order to create a prejudice against him.

There were thousands of Boer patriots who suffered greater hardships than Gen. Cronje in their war for liberty. Curious that President Kruger did not divide his private fortune to the last cent with all of them.

There are thousands of subjects of Great Britain actually suffering for lack of food. Curious that it should appropriate millions of dollars for the support of a royal aristocracy while so many are hungry.

Gen. Washington was considered the richest man in America in his time. Many colonial patriots were ruined financially and physically by the war of the revolution. Curious that Washington did not divide his fortune with these.

There are thousands of Americans actually suffering today for the necessities of life while others roll in wealth that they are unable to use. Curious that this suffering should be permitted and not a helping hand be extended.

Curious? Maybe. But it is the way of the world.

THE FIELD SURVEY

Vice Presidential Candidate Davis also says he considers the gold standard irrevocably established. The managers of the campaign must fear that somebody will think that if the Democratic party is successful an effort will be made to monkey with the money standard. If anybody does possess such a fear it is an idle one.

A New York man has built a large apartment house especially designed for the accommodation of families. He offers a month's rent free to the parents of every baby born in the house, two months' for twins and three to six months' for triplets. Now, who will say that the world is not growing better? It would be a grand thing for babies if all could be sheltered in houses especially designed for their comfort and the promotion of their health.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon is quoted as saying: "The Democratic party always makes me think of alcohol. It kills everything alive and preserves everything dead." And yet "Uncle Joe" seems to be pretty well preserved.

Is another cherished American institution to be trampled in the mire? The Pennsylvania railroad proposes to detrone the train boy, or "peanut butter," and dispense with his services entirely.

The sultan of Turkey has promised again. But in the matter of keeping his promises he employs all the arts of the American politician.

The Brooklyn Eagle is now disposed to think that some Italians in that city are bad even if they do not belong to labor unions.

The woman who offered a quarter to a street car conductor as reward for returning her pocket-book offered encouragement to the next conductor who finds a pocketbook to keep it. Truly is this woman a believer in the theory that virtue is its own reward.

The Southern way of settling the negro problem is the same method that the devil pursues in settling the human race question. The fires of hell burn a little brighter every time a human being is burned at the stake.

Those people who are in the habit of carrying money in their mouths and permitting their children to do so, should read thoughtfully these questions by the Philadelphia Inquirer: "Do you ever put money in your mouth? Do you ever take the nickel for carfare between your teeth while you replace the glove you removed to search for the nickel? Did it ever occur to you what goes on your mouth with the nickel? Where has the nickel wandered since it came from the mint? Imagine its journeys and perhaps you won't care to thrust it between your teeth or to hold it in your lips for even the fraction of a second. Who else has held it in his mouth? In whose pocket has it been rescued by a sharp-eyed youngster, and who lost it there?"

TALKS WITH THE STATE PRESS

The Sank Center Herald says that no woman ever sued her husband for divorce because he staid at home nights. But a woman recently left her husband because he always agreed with her. There is no telling what the next one may do.

The interior department is running another lottery scheme at Devil's Lake. Just why the government has the right to engage in that which is unlawful for a citizen to promote, is not clear. It is probably upon the principle that "might makes right."

The Le Sueur Sentinel makes this comment and it is an expression frequently heard. It should be remembered, however, that there is no evil in a lottery where every contestant has an equal show of winning, and where the prize is equal or greater than the total investment. Those people who criticize the government's land lotteries would find it difficult to point out a fairer plan of distributing Indian reservation lands.

The prophet of the Christian Herald has it all figured out. He says:

You need not be surprised any day to hear of the fall of Port Arthur or the capture of Kuro-patkin's army by the Japs. The Russians cannot escape either event, and it's only a matter of time, and a short time at that. That will end the war.

But for some unaccountable reason, the Russians continue to fight.

Says the Virginian, of Virginia, Minn.:

The Democratic candidate for president, Judge Alton B. Parker, has tendered his resignation as chief justice of the court of appeals of New York. Let's see, wasn't there a Minnesota man who resigned a judgeship to run for office not so very long ago?

Yes; Judge Morris. And we know the Virginian would not say a word to injure his feelings.

The Anoka Union comes out in a special state fair edition with twice its usual number of pages well filled with advertising. Brother Peace knows how to hustle if he is a poor politician. That his Republican soul is already being consumed with regret is made evident by this colloquy:

It's a hard proposition to turn Minnesota over to the opposition, and when the Republican voter gets in the election booth—all by his lonesome—it will take a strong will to fall to put a cross after the names of the Republican candidates, although he may hate himself for doing so, when he comes out in the open again.

"The people should see that the 4 per cent railroad tax carries this fall. Slick way to lower your taxes," says the Anoka Union. But unless the people see it that freight rates are not advanced, what they gain in reduced taxation they will lose in higher freight rates. It is a poor plan to save at the spigot and loose at the bung-hole.

If you don't know you ought to know

That New York has a population of 3,437,000 people, and has 10,832 saloons; Chicago, 1,698,000 people, and has 4,600 saloons; Philadelphia, 1,294,000 people, and has 1,709 saloons; St. Louis, 575,000 people, and has 1,000 saloons; Boston, with 501,000 people, has 799 saloons; Baltimore, 308,000 people, to 1,038 saloons; Cleveland, 381,000 people, and 1,888 saloons; San Francisco, 343,000 people, and 3,007 saloons; Washington, 278,000 people, and 513 saloons; Manila, 229,000 people, and 129 saloons. In the last city there are really but 10,000 foreigners for whose benefit these saloons exist, so that the ratio of saloons is really higher there than anywhere else.

That there are 9,201,531 negroes in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico, more negroes than can be found anywhere else in the world except in Africa. They constitute one-fifth of our city population and a seventh of our country population. The increase during the last decade was 18 per cent. There is a slight excess of females. The death rate among them is approximately 30 per cent while that of the whites is 17 per cent. Four million of the negroes in the United States are engaged in gainful occupations.

That for the year ending June 30, 1904, there were 28,822 miles of railway track in operation, an increase of nearly 10,000 miles during the year. There were 43,871 locomotives in operation, an increase of 2,646 over last year. We also had 1,753,390 cars of all descriptions, an increase of 113,000 during the year. The number of persons on the payrolls of the railways of the United States on June 30 last was 1,314,537, an increase of 123,000 during the year. The amount of wages and salaries paid was $757,321,415. The par value of railway capital outstanding was $1,459,999,238, or a capitalization of $63,186 per mile. The number of passengers carried was 604,891,000, an increase of 45,000,000, and the number of tons of freight carried was 1,304,394,323, which exceeded the tonnage of the preceding year by 104,000,000 tons. The average revenue per passenger per mile was 2.006 cents, while the average revenue per ton per mile was 0.763 cents, both substantial increases over last year. The average cost of running a train one mile appears to have increased between 8 and 9 cents, the ratio of operating expenses to earnings, 66.16 per cent, is also an increase. The gross earnings of the railways of the United States for the year were $1,900,346,997, being $174,000,000 greater than previous years, while the operating expenses were $1,257,336,832, or $141,299,000 more than last year.

That the increase of wheat and oats production is not at all keeping pace with our increase in population. The wheat acreage this year is actually smaller than in any one of the three preceding years. The cause of this shortage and our ultimate dearth of food products is clearly seen when we note that the increase in our population of towns and cities is at the rate of 49 per cent per decade, while the increase of the rest of the United States, the farming districts, is but 14 per cent in a decade. The gradual crowding of the cities and the impossibility to secure labor on the farm are conditions that confront us and that will not down. We need farmers, not doctors, nor lawyers, nor gentlemen of leisure.

HOTEL GOSSIP

P. Paulson, of the Minneapolis firm of Paulson & Larson, one of the largest railroad contracting concerns in the Northwest, was a guest of the St. Louis yesterday. Mr. Paulson, until yesterday had not been in Duluth for some time and he came here for the purpose of securing men for a large railroad contract which he has in Wisconsin.

"We are building an extension of the Northwestern line into the hardwood country at Laona, Wisconsin," said Mr. Paulson, "and need between 200 or 400 men for the work right away. I find that men are hard to get, and that reason came here personally to confer with Mr. Richards, of the National Employment company, to see if we could get men for free transportation for all those we hire. Thus far we have been signing a few every day, but not nearly the number that we should have."

"We want the men for road work and are paying from 10 to 15 cents per cubic yard, the soil being sandy and gravelly. We have men who are earning, without any great effort from us, to be paid at the station work. The station men are those who, as a rule, are hired by the railroad company and who are skilled to a certain degree in their line of work. Many of the large contractors and subcontractors that could name in the Northwest got their men from the station work. We find one of these men who find one that is familiar, almost as an engineer, and he is a good worker. We find one of these men who find one that is familiar, almost as an engineer, and he is a good worker. We find one of these men who find one that is familiar, almost as an engineer, and he is a good worker."

"Some idea of the labor situation can be gained when I tell you that it is almost impossible to get men to go eastward now, even when we are offering free fare and good wages."

Hulet C. Merritt and family, formerly of Duluth, for the past eight years residents of Pasadena, Cal., are in Duluth and stopping at the Grand Hotel. Merritt says the trip is for both business and pleasure and that they expect to return to California tomorrow.

"In all the eight years that I have resided in Pasadena, Cal., I have never seen a warmer weather here than we are experiencing now. I did here in Duluth."

"We frequently see Duluth friends and acquaintances in Pasadena, but Duluthians seem to like our own summer climate the best. It is as good this year as in previous seasons and the ship out from 20,000 to 30,000 bushels of oranges and lemons."

Harry Shandling, a well known young business man from the range, who is registered in stores in Eveleth and Virginia, arrived from Eveleth, Minn., yesterday. Mr. Shandling is on his way for a two week visit to the St. Louis exposition and left on one of the late trains for a few days' stopover at the Twin Cities.

"Business is picking up right along at Eveleth and Virginia," said Mr. Shandling, "since the labor troubles have been settled and the men are working again. We are looking for a big business boom along through the fall and believe that after election week, which the men dislike, we will have a boom in the range towns. There is not so much an exodus of men from the range towns as there used to be. The men who have established a residence in the range towns are sticking there even though the wages are not as good as in the city, as much money as they should. It is the floating population that has been leaving for other places."

W. C. Gray, formerly in business in this city, now in the undertaking business at Virginia, Va., is registered at the St. Louis. Mr. Gray reports the general business prospects at Virginia as much brighter than they were a few weeks or months ago.

W. J. Power, proprietor and manager of the Power theater at Hibbing, was in the city last evening, a guest of the Spaulding. Mr. Power has returned from a trip in the copper country with Manager A. Marshall of the Lyceum theater in this city, and the Grand in Superior.

Isaac Baker, a well known Chicago lumberman, was among the afternoon arrivals at the Spaulding yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Chaffar, Mrs. George Hibbard, the Misses Chaffar and Miss Grace Bekman, made up a Marquette, Mich. party, which arrived at the Spaulding yesterday.

Col. F. W. Page, of Mexico, one of the head officials in the United Mexican Mining and Smelting company, is a guest of A. Ingalsbee at the St. Louis.

William O'Brien, the St. Paul lumberman, arrived at the St. Louis with his family this morning. Mr. O'Brien and the children came up the lakes on the Great Northern. They returned to St. Paul this afternoon.

Henry Hughes, a prominent Grand Rapids, Minn., business man, was in the city yesterday, a guest of the St. Louis.

TO SUE RAILROADS FOR OVERCHARGES

Knudsen-Ferguson Fruit Company Will Carry Fight Further.

Syllabus of Findings of Interstate Commerce Commission.

With the findings of the interstate commerce commission, relative to the transportation and refrigeration charges on fruit shipped to Duluth from points on the Pere Marquette and Michigan Central roads, as a basis on which to work, the Knudsen-Ferguson company, the Duluth commission concern, expects to begin immediately suits against railroad companies to recover from them large amounts which have been paid out for refrigerator car service during the past three or four years.

These actions will be the outcome of a fight that Mr. Ferguson started some time ago against the monopoly of the refrigerator car service alleged to have been attempted by the Armour car lines, with the view of driving the independent produce commission firms out of business.

The cases, it is claimed, will attract the attention of produce commission men all over the country, for if the local firm can recover through the state court the several thousands of dollars that it has spent for refrigerator cars, over and above the regular transportation charges, suits against the railroads will probably be started up all over the country, involving millions of dollars.

The hearing that was held by the interstate commerce commission in Chicago, early in June, at the instigation of E. M. Ferguson, through his attorney, R. S. Powell, of this city, affected two Michigan lines handling fruit coming to this city, and was started in the nature of a test case.

The Armour car lines, which have a contract with the railroads to furnish the refrigerator cars, claimed to be without the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission, so the commission company has pushed its action directly against the railroads making the contracts.

The trouble was over the increased freight rates and the additional charges tacked on for refrigeration within the past few years, which, it is claimed, have so greatly increased the cost of transportation of fruit as to make serious inroads into the profits and, in some cases, caused a direct loss to the commission houses.

The interstate commerce commission has also given notice, as a result of the investigation already held, that some time later in the fall, at a date which it will set, another hearing is to be had at which all the private car lines operating over the country will be investigated.

The syllabus of the findings of the commission, which has been forwarded to Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Powell, shows that the commission held with them on all of the important points claimed by the company.

It is held that when railroads engaged as common carriers once engage to transport fruit in refrigerator cars, as the business warrants, they are expected to keep right on furnishing cars of that class for shippers. It is held, also, that while the railroad companies may enter into contract to provide refrigerator cars by purchase or lease they may make contracts with one company to the exclusion of others, but the commission does not hold that the other contracting company may be a private corporation in the same line of business as that of the interest desirous of using the cars.

The duty of the railroads to furnish the cars, the commission says, does not arise out of their liability under the interstate commerce act, but under common law liability, for the reason that the style of the cars may be changed from year to year, hence redress for failure to furnish the cars must be had through the courts.

Another point held by the commission is that the cost of refrigeration is a part of the cost of the transportation charge. Thus far the charges have been kept separate and the refrigeration charge schedule has never been filed with the commission. The total charges, the commission says, must be reasonable.

It is held by the interstate commerce commission that the railroad companies, by making the exclusive contracts for refrigerator cars, have imposed exorbitant charges on the shippers for transportation charges.

The syllabus of the findings of the commission is as follows:

"It is the duty of the respondent railroad companies engaged as common carriers in transporting fruit from points in Michigan to furnish refrigerator cars for their common law liability, not under the act to regulate commerce, but under the common law, and to redress for failure to fulfill it must be sought in the courts."

"The respondent railroad companies may provide refrigerator cars by purchase or by lease, and if the latter plan is adopted they may make contracts with one company which exclude the use of cars owned by other companies.

"It is the duty of the respondent railroad companies, by making the exclusive contracts for refrigerator cars, to furnish for the refrigeration of fruit, and to redress for failure to fulfill it must be sought in the courts."

lished and adhered to exactly as all other charges for transportation are published and observed. The same consideration of justice and public policy which requires this in case of the freight rate duty to the charge for refrigeration.

The respondent railroad companies entered into contracts with the respondent, the Armour car lines, to furnish them with refrigerator cars for use in the transportation of fruit from points in Michigan to Duluth, and there is no objection to such transportation. Under the contracts the use of other cars in that business is prohibited and the service of refrigeration is performed exclusively by the Armour car lines company.

The railroad companies formerly furnished refrigeration without any charge in addition to the freight rate, and they subsequently made a charge for refrigeration, making these exclusive contracts in effect the same as the common law liability of the Armour car lines company.

Acting under the contracts the Armour car lines company exacts charges for the refrigeration service which greatly exceed those formerly made to cover the cost of using the cars in the transportation of fruit. The charges range from 50 to 150 per cent above those made prior to the contracts by the Armour car lines company itself. The total cost of transportation to the shipper has been thereby greatly increased.

It is held that the railroad companies, by making these exclusive contracts in effect upon shippers exorbitant charges for refrigeration, are in violation of the common law liability of the Armour car lines company itself. The total cost of transportation to the shipper has been thereby greatly increased.

he compelled to provide their own equipment. The facts before us call for no expression of opinion on that subject, and none is attempted.

"Undoubtedly the public interest would be best served if the carrier published and maintained the charges for refrigeration either by this car load or by the hundred pounds as it does its rates of freight."

"It was said Armour & Company are extensive dealers in fruits and vegetables, and that the control of the cars in which the goods are transported might work to the serious disadvantage of competitors. The testimony in this case shows that Armour & Company buy apples but not other fruits in Michigan, and there is nothing to indicate any prejudice to any growing out of that fact. This record calls, therefore, for no discussion of that subject, and the matter is referred to mere merely to make plain that no opinion has been expressed upon that phase of the private car question, which may come to be one of vital importance."

"This being a general investigation, it is decided to leave the matter open during the present shipping season. If, by the first of next October, these refrigerator charges have not been re-adjusted, the commission will take further action in the matter, either by proceeding by or by some new proceeding. We strongly feel that the present charges in the cost of refrigeration for the transportation of these Michigan fruits, are excessive."

Commenting upon the findings, Mr. Ferguson says:

"We agree with Commissioner Prouty in his first contention, and it has been the opinion of our attorney, Roger S. Powell, from the outset, that it is the common carrier's duty to furnish cars, but that such duty arises out of their common law liability and not under the act to regulate commerce. Taking this view of it, we have already proceeded with the preparation of a complaint for the first action in the courts, in which we shall attempt to recover charges illegally assessed against our shipments, by Armour & Co., who compete with the common carriers to enforce collections. This action, however, is in no wise prejudicial to the first action in the case before the interstate commerce commission. It is a separate and distinct action, and the facts developed in the case before the interstate commerce commission will form a strong basis for our future action in the courts, which action is induced on account of our strong convictions that these charges are illegal and not under the act to regulate commerce, but under the common law."

"The papers are now ready, and will probably be served today, in our first action against one of the Michigan roads. This action will be followed by similar suits against various other roads, who have been engaged in this practice for a greater length of time, when the amounts sought to recover will be large. Our action will no doubt induce similar actions in various parts of the country as dealers in all other markets in the United States have a like cause for complaint."

"We accomplished fully as much as we expected to in our hearing before the commission. We succeeded in bringing the secret contracts to light, and produced witnesses from whose testimony and, in fact, through the testimony of the representatives of respondent roads and car line representatives, from which it is deducible all the inequities that we had alleged to the commission existed under the present practice."

"Commissioner Prouty, in writing his opinion, makes plain that the question of Armour & Co. enjoying these exclusive contracts, while at the same time being extensively engaged in merchandising the commodities transported in their cars, is a question that may become of the most vital importance. This feature of the case as to the duty of the carrier to furnish such cars will doubtless have to be thrashed out in the courts."

"To Attorney Roger S. Powell," Mr. Ferguson continued, "is due a large amount of the success thus far attained, and it is his suggestion that the commission acted on behalf of the government. Mr. Powell has taken a deep interest in this case, on account of its bold conspiracy features and the enormity of the plan."

Mr. Powell states that during his experience as an attorney, he has never known of a more pernicious scheme to rob the public has never been brought to his attention.

DECLINE IN PRODUCTION
Of Salt In the United States During Last Year.

Washington, Aug. 19.—(Special to The Herald).—Professor Edmund Otis Hovey has made an interesting report to the Geological Survey on the production of salt in the United States, showing where the salt which seasons our daily bread came from during the year of 1903.

Prof. Hovey in his report states that the reported production of salt in the United States during 1903 amounted to 15,969,000 barrels (of 200 pounds), valued at $5,256,983, as compared with 23,442,231 barrels, valued at $5,686,656 in 1902, a decline of 32 per cent.

The chief salt producing states are New York and Michigan, and the combined output from these two states in recent years has amounted to from two-thirds to three-fourths of the total production of the United States. The four leading salt producing states during 1903 were New York, 3,100,648 barrels (43.1 per cent); Michigan, 4,297,542 barrels (26.6 per cent); Ohio, 2,738,859 barrels (17.1 per cent); and Kansas, 1,555,934 barrels (9.8 per cent).

These four states contributed 88.6 per cent of the total quantity of salt produced in the country during the year. The reported production of Michigan is 4,231,239 barrels less than in 1902, many firms having closed their plants or gone out of business during 1903.

Aside from the salt producing states above mentioned five other states of the United States contribute quite a large amount of salt to the market. In 1903 Utah supplied the country with 1,200,000 barrels, valued at $181,710; California, 629,701 barrels, valued at $187,547; Louisiana, 564,098 barrels, valued at $175,333; West Virginia with 242,296 barrels, valued at $35,757. Other states of the country produce salt in limited quantities and in the report of Prof. Hovey are not enumerated by name, being merely grouped. The states produced during the year of 1903, 15,969,000 barrels, valued at $5,256,983.

LUCKY OIL STRIKE
Has Been Made By a Texas Girl.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 19.—Miss Allene Kelley of Oak Cliff, the fashionable residence of Dallas, who has been appointed one of the judges of the Texas building at the World's fair, and will serve there the first week in October, is in a way to get rich as an oil well owner and operator.

Some time since, while visiting in Harlingen, Miss. Kelley was driven out to the new town called Oil City. She at once became interested in the oil field at that place. She selected a spot of ground, to the immense amusement of her companions, and announced that she was going to have an oil well of her own. The joke was considered to have reached a capital climax when she arranged for the purchase of one acre of land, and she then then lost no time in negotiating with drilling machine men, finally awarding a contract to one of them to drill a well. The well was bored last week. It is considered one of the finest in Clay county. It is 325 feet deep. The oil rose more than 100 feet in a few hours.

Miss Kelley has contracted for all the oil she can furnish at 31 per barrel, or more than $25 per day for pin money.

Miss Kelley was present when the well was brought in and personally supervised its completion. She has another machine at work drilling a second well and has acquired other holdings in the oil field. She says that she has only made a beginning, and modestly insists that it all came of striking when the iron was hot.

TAKEN WITH CRAMPS.
Wm. Kimball, a member of the bridge gang working near Littleport, was taken suddenly ill Thursday night with cramps and died of cholera. His case was so severe that he had to have the members of the crew wait upon him and Mr. Gifford was called and consulted. He told them he had a medicine in the form of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he thought would help him out and accordingly several doses were administered with the result that the fever was able to be around next day. The incident speaks quite highly of Mr. Gifford's medicines.—Elkader Iowa, Arcus.

This remedy never fails. Keep it in your home—it may save life. For sale by all druggists.

A STRANGE CASE

Philadelphia Society Is Shocked By a Young Girl's Marriage.
Bride Is Only Thirteen and Groom Is Thirty-Two.

Philadelphia, Aug. 19.—Remarkable and pathetic is the case of childish infatuation resulting in the secret marriage of a 13-year-old girl to a man more than twice her age, the facts of which have just leaked out with a shock to prominent society circles of this city. The man, after failing to win the hand in marriage of a well-known society young woman, one of the most beautiful and charming belles of Philadelphia, turned his attention secretly to her little sister, the youngest of nine children, won her childish heart and fancy so securely that nothing but death can cause her to give him up, and managed to have the ceremony performed, making false affidavits as to the age of the bride.

The man, Louis D. Watkins, has a profitable business in New York as a designer of women's gowns. He is said to have seen much of the world and to have led a merry pace, which fact, principally, caused him to lose in his suit for his child-bride's oldest sister. He is 32 years of age, but, with a Vandike beard, looks to be nearer 40.

The girl's small, round, childish face and dress, that gave her the appearance of one scarcely past 12 years of age. Since the fact of their marriage has become known, however, Watkins shaved off his beard and had his wife don long dresses and wear her hair done up in womanly fashion, in order to excite less comment over the apparent difference in their ages.

The mother, failing in her endeavors to have Watkins surrender her daughter to her, and her daughter ignoring her entreaties to return home, is at a loss as to proper action. She could easily have Watkins arrested, but this she declines to do for the reason that he is the sole support of a widowed mother. Thus, her consideration for the man's aged mother alone prevents having her youngest child returned to her own roof.

Louis Watkins had for many years been considered a friend of the family of Philander W. Smith, living at 2525 North Fifth street. He became devoted to the eldest daughter, Miss Louise Smith, but finally their associations came to an end. Watkins still called, however, on "friendly visits" to the family and he took particular interest in the little girl, Ethel. She became very fond of him, but nothing was thought of it, as he had frequently brought her candy when he called on Louise.

of the city was made, and yesterday Mrs. Smith went to New York and called at the home of Watkins' mother, where she found the newly married couple.

Returning today, Mrs. Smith said: "Between my sobbing I begged Ethel to come back with me. She said she would stay or die, and it pained me to see how indifferent my baby girl was to the pleadings of her mother and how infuriated she is with my father. She is very childish, without a thought of responsibility, and seemed to trust all that I had a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Watkins. She came over to me, put her little arms around my neck, and said, 'Mamma, don't arrest dear Louis; arrest me, if anybody, but don't harm Louis'."

According to the child's story told to her mother she and Watkins were married six weeks ago by Rev. John A. Goodfellow, rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of the Good Shepherd, in East Cumberland street. Mr. Goodfellow is now out of the city on vacation. The girl said she had told the rector that she was 18.

His son, who is a lawyer, said Mrs. Smith. "He is our pastor and he has known him from childhood. The whole Goodfellow family was interested in Ethel's art work and Mrs. Goodfellow proposed that she should try this coming fall for a fellowship in the same art school which Mrs. Goodfellow's daughter attends."

Mrs. Smith believes that the couple were married in New York, although they might have been married in Atlantic City, the Smiths having spent much time there this summer. Watkins is said to have remarked recently to Mrs. Fullaway, a friend of the family at Atlantic City, that, failing to get one of the beautiful Smith girls, he would "land" another. She thought he had reference to the second oldest.

Watkins, however, says he has loved Ethel since she was a baby; that when she grew older and gave promise of being a beautiful woman, he made up his mind he would some day marry her. She had spent some months in his home with his mother, in New York, to pursue her studies in art. She is a beautiful girl and has remarkable artistic talent. Some of her drawings and sketches are remarkably clever.

Mrs. Smith is in a quandary as to what to do, and is waiting for advice from her husband, who will be detained in the south on business for some time.

ARKANSAS' TREASURY
Has More Money Than Ever Before in History.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 19.—Sheriff Fred Schader of Pulaski county has made his final statement with the state for taxes of 1903, paying in a balance of $11,225.35. With the receipt of this amount, the total amount of cash in the state treasury was the largest ever known in the history of the state—$1,762,345.35. The largest amount was about $1,755,000 on August 7, 1903. There are still five counties which have not yet made final settlement with the state. They are Sebastian, Scott, Sharp, Logan and Randolph, and it is expected that the receipt of these counties will aggregate about $500,000.

The deposit of $11,225.35 made by Sheriff Schader yesterday was the balance due the state from Pulaski county. Sheriff Schader had already paid the state $25,100 on liquor license and $267.55 on sixteenth section land, making the total collections for the year 1903, $115,843.55. The increase in collections for 1903 over those of 1902 was $51,653.54.

FELL FROM TRAIN.
Female Government Clerk
Meets Sudden Death.

Philadelphia, Aug. 19.—Mrs. Isabella Frazier Leopold, a cousin of United States Senator McComas, of Maryland, and daughter of the late State Senator Frazier, fell from a vestibule coach on the Atlantic City division of the Reading railway. The accident occurred at Magnolia, N. J. Mrs. Leopold, in her fall, struck a signal pole. Her skull was crushed and both arms and legs were broken.

Mrs. Leopold, who was 45 years of age, had been in the employ of the government for a number of years. She was secretary to Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith during his administration and was also employed by the national Republican campaign committee under Charles A. Dick. She was a sufferer from heart disease and owing to ill health was transferred about two years ago from the post-office department at Washington to the registry department of the post-office here. Her daughter, who lived here with her, is at present on her vacation.

Mrs. Leopold went to Atlantic City last Monday and was returning home when the accident occurred.

ALFRED KNAPP ELECTROCUTED
Murderer of Five Women Executed In the Beath Chair.

Columbus, Aug. 19.—Alfred A. Knapp, convicted of the murder of his wife, Hannah Goddard Knapp, and who confessed to five murders, was electrocuted in the annex at the Ohio state penitentiary a few minutes after midnight. Knapp, who weakened when he found his last hope for life gone and expressed a fear that he would have to be carried to the chair, regained his nerve and met his fate with little show of fear or emotion. The electrocution was performed without a hitch, the first shock being applied at 12:02, the second a minute later, and at 12:09 he was pronounced dead.

Alfred Knapp, although convicted and electrocuted for the murder of his third wife Anna G. Knapp, confessed to having committed five murders, all of his victims being women.

Knapp was born at Greensburg, Ind., in 1862 and for twenty years lived on a farm. On Feb. 24, 1903, Mrs. Edward King, of Cummins, near Cincinnati, notified the Hamilton police that Knapp's wife was missing and that he had married Anna Gamble at Indianapolis. Knapp was arrested there on April 25, 1903. He was sent to Hamilton in the belief that the charge against him was bigamy. Once in the Hamilton jail he was openly charged with the murder of his wife. At first he stoutly denied it, though claiming to know she was dead. He was asked for an explanation by Mayor Bosch, and finally admitted killing his wife and said he packed her body in a dry goods box and threw it into the Big Miami river. Subsequently he made a written confession naming four other bodies. The body was discovered in the Ohio below Cincinnati and was identified by the clothing and a ring upon one of the fingers. Knapp speedily was tried, found guilty and sentenced to be electrocuted.

MISSING BOY IS RETURNED
Young Italian, Supposed to Have Been Kidnaped, Found.

New York, Aug. 19.—Antonio Mannino, the 10-year-old Brooklyn boy, who was thought to have been kidnapped by members of the Italian Black Hand society, was found at 12:10 o'clock this morning in Columbia street, three blocks from his home. He was found by his uncle, Salvatore Mannino. When the boy's parents saw the lad brought home by his uncle his father fainting and remained unconscious for some time. Mrs. Mannino became hysterical.

Salvatore Mannino immediately notified the police of the Amity street station, and Antonio was taken to the station and closely questioned. He said that ever since he had been taken away he had lived in a large house, the location of which he did not know.

"There was a lady there," he said, "and she had a baby named Judy, and she lived on the top floor. Every night she came down and she had whistles. The house where they lived seemed to be in the country."

The rest of the boy's story was not clear and in several particulars he contradicted himself. At one time he said that two men brought him from the thirty-ninth street ferry, in Brooklyn, to the place where he was found, and left him there. At another time he said that the men left him at the ferry and he found his way home alone. He was clean and looked as if he had received the best of treatment. After long questioning the police concluded that some time last night two men took the boy from the house where he had been kept to the One Hundred and Sixteenth street elevated station, in Manhattan, brought him down town and crossed in the Thirty-ninth street ferry to Brooklyn. They were not able to gain from his story any information as to who the men were that brought him home, or who took him to the house where he was kept, and finally the boy was sent back to his parents.

IN GLOOMY WEATHER
Golfers Continue Elimination Play at Exmoor.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Survivors in the Western golf championship at the Exmoor Country club today found gloomy weather and heavy golfing conditions when they began the elimination play in the third round. A cold east rain that had been falling during the night continued all morning. Former National Champion Louis N. James, having been eliminated from the contest by his defeat yesterday at the hands of "Red" Sawyer and George Clingan, Fay Ingalls, Harvard champion, was the only out-of-town golfer left in the tournament as the result of the play in the second round.

COMES TO AMERICA.
Archbishop of Canterbury Leaves on the Celtic.

London, Aug. 18.—The archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Davidson, and Mrs. Davidson, accompanied by two chaplains, were bidden farewell at the railroad station here today by a large number of friends on the steamer Celtic, which sails for New York from Liverpool today.

It appears that the special permission of King Edward had to be obtained before the archbishop could accept the invitation to visit the United States. Secretary Henry White, representing the United States embassy, was among those who bade farewell to the primate, who is the first occupant of that position who ever crossed the Atlantic.

MANAGER OF CARNEGIE AID

Frank N. Wilmot, Visitor In Duluth—Speaks of Aid Fund.

Frank N. Wilmot, of Pittsburgh, Pa., arrived in Duluth this morning on one of the steel corporation boats, after a trip up the lakes. As manager of the Andrew Carnegie Aid and Hero fund, he has acquired practically a national reputation, and the duties of his office are very extensive.

Mr. Wilmot says that the aid fund has now on the rolls 50,000 men who are entitled to its benefits. These are all men employed in the Carnegie companies, the Oliver Twist and the Pittsburgh Steamship companies being included. Men employed in companies merged with these, what Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea does, 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. Ask your druggist.

NATIONAL BANK

Officers Cannot Serve as Presidential Electors.

Milwaukee, Aug. 19.—Three of the national electors selected in both of the Wisconsin state conventions of Wisconsin probably will be obliged to withdraw because of their connection with national banks. The electors are George Boyer, president of the Oconto National bank, H. A. Bright, vice president of the National bank at Black River Falls, and M. D. Keith, a director of the new National bank recently established at Cranville.

It is intimated that the La Follette state central committee will hold a meeting soon to nominate new electors. The anti-La Follette committee, it is said, will await the action of the supreme court in the ticket suit before making any move.

Chairman Cortelyou has prepared a letter, which he is sending to national committees, calling attention to the fact that national bank directors cannot serve, and this also will cover the Wisconsin case.

NO SPRING WATER

For Christening of the Battleship Connecticut.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Believing that a bottle of champagne shattered on the prow of a warship will impair neither its fighting qualities nor the morale of the nation, Acting Secretary Darling, of the navy, has denied the petitions of the Connecticut Enthusiasts and temperance unions that the battleship Connecticut, soon to be launched at the New York navy yard, be christened only with spring water.

Mr. Darling, in his reply to the petitions, says: "If the youth of this country are misled, it is not by the ceremony of breaking wine upon the iron prow of a battleship, but because they follow false prophets, and it such use of wine is questionable and otherwise offensive to many, it is because of evil to him who evil thinks."

O'BRIEN IS RE-ELECTED MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT.

Cork, Ireland, Aug. 19.—William O'Brien today was re-elected member of parliament for the city of Cork. It is not known whether he will accept but the local excitement over the United States election every effort to induce Mr. O'Brien to return to parliament.

Mr. O'Brien, in November, 1903, resigned his seat in parliament for Cork City and as a member of the governing body of the United Irish league, owing to differences of opinion with members of the Nationalist party.

WAS DEPORTED THREE TIMES

German Boy Got Into the United States at Last.

Adrian, Mich., Aug. 19.—Henry Seeling, a young German youth 19 years of age, and fresh from the fatherland, was in the city yesterday on route to Chicago, where has an uncle living. The boy had walked all the way from Port Huron and intended to continue his journey on foot to Chicago, but some Adrian Germans, after hearing his story, gave him transportation to Chicago.

Rather than serve three years in the Kaiser's army, he ran away from his home at Dulsburg, near the Rhine, and landed in Canada. At Montreal he went broke and was forced to pawn his rings and extra clothing. The last thing he parted with was his revolver, for he had been led to believe that over here wild beasts and Indians ran about at random.

A landed unemployed, he made his way to Port Huron from Sarnia, but having no visible means of support the immigrant officers returned him to Canada. Being determined to come to the United States he decided to swim across the St. Clair river. He did the trick three times, he says, and was detected each time and sent back to Canada, but the fourth time he landed unmolested.

He says the soldiers in the Kaiser's army are treated so badly that between 50 and 600 boys take the same course pursued by him each year to keep out of the service. He was anxious to complete a course in dentistry and did not want to give it up to serve three years in the army.

WORK AMONG NEGROES.

Lutherans Are Accomplishing Considerable In South.

Winona, Minn., Aug. 19.—(Special to The Herald).—This morning's session of the Evangelical Synodical conference of North America was given over to further discussion of the paper by Rev. J. Harders, of Milwaukee, on church communion.

A report presented by Rev. B. K. Kitchmar, of St. Louis, on mission work among negroes of the South, showed considerable work being accomplished along this line. There are twenty-four missions in Louisiana, North Carolina, Virginia and Illinois and all show evidence of growth. Two preparatory schools have been established, one at Concord, N. C., and the other at New Orleans, to train colored young people for mission work among their own race and it is hoped to arrange to extend this work beyond the preparatory courses. For several years past an unknown gentleman has called on the conference treasurer, Professor A. C. Burdett, at St. Louis, and contributed $500 towards this mission work, making only the simple statement that it was a thank offering.

PANAMA RAILROAD

Occupies the Attention of President and Cabinet.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The principal feature of the cabinet meeting today was the discussion of a report Secretary Taft upon the result of his investigation into the contract between the Panama Railroad company and the Pacific Mail Steamship company. The secretary found that although the government possessed 40-75 stock of the company, which stock is now in his possession, it probably would be impossible to effect a change in the directorate of the railroad company before next April, when the annual meeting occurs. The directorate showed no disposition to terminate the contract with the steamship company, which is alleged to be discriminatory, although the contract itself is terminable upon six months' notice.

SONS OF VETERANS

Elect William Dustin of Illinois as President.

Boston, Aug. 19.—At the annual convention of the National Sons of Veterans today, William E. Dustin, of Dwight, Ill., was elected commander-in-chief by acclamation. The following officers also were chosen by acclamation:

Senior vice commander-in-chief, Geo. S. Gels, San Francisco; Junior vice commander-in-chief, M. D. Friedman, Birmingham, Ala.; Quartermaster general, Fred E. Bolton, Boston.

It was voted to hold the next convention at Gettysburg, Pa.

SIX PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM CAMDEN, N. J., JAIL.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 19.—In a jail delivery in the Camden county jail today six prisoners escaped from the institution and are still at large. The bars in the front window were filed off and all the prisoners would have made their escape had it not been for a "trust" who gave the alarm.

A general alarm has been sent to the Philadelphia police and the authorities of this city have every available policeman searching for the escaped men.

BANKER SPALDING IS RELEASED FROM PRISON.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Charles W. Spalding, the former banker who was convicted and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment for embezzlement, was today discharged from the penitentiary by Judge Thayer. The order of the court discharging the ex-banker from custody was based upon a technicality in the original indictment.

Mrs. Spalding, wife of the prisoner, was in court when the order was read and an affecting scene was witnessed. She had already served seven years.

NORWEGIAN LUTHERANS MEETING AT RED WING.

St. Paul, Aug. 19.—A special to the Dispatch from Red Wing says: The ministerial conference of the Norwegian Lutheran synod of America, including the United States and Canada, is in session at the Ladies' Lutheran seminary in this city. The officers of the conference are: President, Rev. O. P. Vangness, of St. Paul; Secretary, Rev. G. Smid, of Roland, Iowa.

The opening exercises were conducted by Rev. S. M. Scarvie, of Waterville, Iowa.

Candidates for the ministry: O. J. Preus, T. A. Johnson, W. E. Wulfsberg, and H. Hjermstadt were admitted to the conference, also Rev. J. R. Bauman, of this city. Professor H. G. Stubb, D.D., of Luther seminary, St. Paul, read a very interesting paper on "The Analogy of Faith."

Rev. J. Bale, of Glenwood, Minn., conducted the devotional exercises. Matters relating to home missions were discussed during the forenoon. The conference will be in session until Wednesday of next week.

CONGRESSMAN BEDE TO SPEAK IN MAINE.

New York, Aug. 19.—Senator Scott, manager of the speakers' bureau of the Republican committee, has arranged with former Senator Thurston, of Nebraska, to make several speeches in New York and New Jersey, and to spend several weeks in Virginia. J. Adam Bede, of Minnesota, will go to Maine.

In Old Kentucky.

Tonight and Saturday matinee and night.

TWO KILLED BY TRAIN. Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Aug. 19.—Michael Callahan and John Markham of Van Horne were killed by a Chicago & Northwestern train today at a grade crossing, near Blairstown.

TO MEET AT NEW ORLEANS.

Louisville, Aug. 19.—The supreme lodge Knights of Pythias today voted 99 to 41, to hold the next biennial camp at New Orleans.

INSPECTS WORK

Eric Canal Engineer Here to See Government Pier Work.

Anxious to Study Concrete That Is Laid Under Water.

William Barker Landreth, resident engineer of New York state canals and secretary of the board of consulting engineers for the new Erie canal, was in the city today, the guest of Clarence Coleman, of the government engineering corps. Mr. Coleman took Mr. Barker over to the Superior entry this afternoon to give him a chance to inspect the concrete work which is being done on the piers there.

Mr. Landreth's visit here is for the purpose of obtaining data in regard to the durability of concrete laid under water. The board of consulting engineers of the new Erie canal wishes to build the walls of the new canal of concrete. They are opposed in this idea by the labor unions of New York, who wish the work done with cut stone, as that would furnish more work.

Mr. Landreth is on a tour of the country visiting every place where any concrete work is being done by the government. He wishes to discover the value of concrete under water and its resistance to weather, ice, etc. This place is the chief point of his trip as the work here is the largest of the kind in the country and the weather conditions here are such as to give the concrete a very good test. Mr. Landreth came here on the recommendation of Gen. O. H. Smith, division engineer for the Northwestern division.

If the work on the Erie canal is done with concrete, the government is laying out millions of cubic yards of material. In connection with the statement of the time and money involved, the interest in this work, Capt. Potter received a letter a short time ago which is another proof of the statement. The letter is from H. W. Marshall, assistant government engineer at Vicksburg, who makes inquiries in regard to the work here and especially in regard to the mixer. There is a large amount of concrete work to be done in the Vicksburg district and the engineers are figuring on installing a mixer similar to the one used at the Superior entry.

THE STAGE.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"In Old Kentucky," also Saturday afternoon and evening.

"SWEET CLOVER."

CAST: Abigail Holcomb... Clara Tapscott; Jack Hamilton... J. M. Moss; John Masson... Robert Robinson; Eldridge Grosvenor... James Maurice Sullivan; Lois Holcomb... Sydney W. Donalds; Jerome Holcomb... Otis B. Thayer; John Masson... Helen Rayome; Jennie... Helen Rayome; James... Helen Rayome.

The two women are somewhat alike as Lois and both may regard such a statement as being of the most complimentary nature.

One of Miss Bondhill's greatest attractions is her beautiful voice. This, coupled with her magnetic personality, unusual talent, grace, and general attractiveness of face and figure, combine to make a combination which is pretty certain to develop into a star in the theatrical firmament before many years have passed. She appeared at her best in the first act, "Sweet Clover" from In Old Kentucky. Applause came frequent and hearty all through the play, but it was as the pure and innocent country maid on her father's farm, that her efforts met with the greatest measure of appreciation.

Otis B. Thayer, as Jerome Holcomb, the lovable old farmer, father of Lois, has appeared in Duluth before, and last night, as on previous occasions, gave the impression of an honest, affectionate and altogether likable and homesome of the play.

John Maurice Sullivan gave a quiet and masterful interpretation of the part of Eldridge Grosvenor, Lois's husband, and appeared to fine advantage throughout the performance. He was earnest and sincere in his work.

Members of the audience were pleased to see Clara Tapscott, who made quite a hit in Duluth recently with the Elliott-Courtesy company. Last night she handled the character of Aunt Abigail Holcomb in a purely delightful manner. She was without too much of the "fizz" and feather of the usual stage character of this sort, and answered all the requirements of a spinster aunt such as a person would like to have.

Robert Robinson and John Masson, in his old, scarecrow act, was a productive of much amusement, and went through with the part in a very creditable manner. Sydney W. Donalds appeared as Albert Slade, and gave a thoroughly satisfactory interpretation of the part. Grace Berkeley made a winsome Sunny Andrews, and Miss Leo Morant did well as Mrs. Emmet, the society woman. J. M. Moss was pleasing as Jack Hamilton.

"IN OLD KENTUCKY." Tonight "In Old Kentucky" will be at the Lyceum, and also tomorrow afternoon and evening. This play has been running for about twelve years.

The Fire, Smoke and Water Sale is Still Going on at the Duluth Consignment Store.

The remains of the N. P. stock that was damaged by smoke and water will be put on sale tomorrow at our store. Last Saturday, when we first opened our sale, our store was so packed full with goods that we were unable to place the entire stock in our store, and had to store some of the goods away. Now, after having such a big rush as we had all the week, has made us lots of room in our store and we have placed all the balance of the stock on sale for Saturday. This lot of goods is much better than the first lot was. The merchandise that we offer for tomorrow is not damaged enough to be noticed, and it will go at the same prices as before, and some prices will be still lower.

Remember, this is no wind talk or scheming sale!

If you had visited our store during this week you must have seen the large crowds and the big business we have done since we opened our sale—and do you think that we could get all this business if it was not for these low prices that we are offering? There is not another store in the Northwest that can offer such bargains in merchandise as we do.

And this is the way we get the business:

but has lost none of his power to please.

There is a human interest in the play which may be in a measure responsible for its hold upon the public, and it is always presented by an excellent acting company. The exciting horse race has long been acknowledged the most realistic episode of this description ever shown on the stage. The frolicsome pickaninnies have frequently been imitated in other productions but never with the degree of success achieved in this play. Their remarkably life-like scene exactly fits the atmosphere of "In Old Kentucky."

CANNOT FIND ESTATE.

Startling Discovery Connected With La Crosse Man's Death.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 19.—Florent Kraal, who was killed by a Burlington train, had over $200 on his person and left an estate of $20,000, but has no relatives in this country. W. J. Hickel has been appointed administrator, but the starting discovery has been made that he cannot locate the estate.

Expecting to find a large amount of money or securities in Kraal's trunk, where he boarded, the administrator was surprised to find nothing but one $1 bill in an old coat. Mystery surrounds the disappearance of the remainder of the property. It is believed that Kraal hid the money.

The theory is now advanced that Kraal may have been killed and his body laid upon the railroad tracks that his remains might be mutilated and the evidence of the crime obliterated. Among keys found on his person is one flat key which no lock has been found. Locks to all other keys have been located, and it is thought the key is that to a chest in which the missing money has been hidden.

LAW EVADED.

By the State Land Board of Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 19.—Expert Owen of the Baltimore Surety company, who is conducting an examination of State Treasurer Kemp's books, has discovered another alleged instance of the looseness with which the affairs of the office have been administered.

Last September the state land commissioner transferred from the state normal school fund to the state drainage fund the sum of $500.

The law provided that if there is no available money in the drainage fund the land commissioner may borrow money from any unexpended trust funds in the treasury and pay it back from the receipts from the drainage fund, but as the state land legislation of the last four years virtually cut off all receipts from the state drainage fund, Expert Owen wanted to know how this loan of $500 was to be made.

After a hasty consultation the land commissioner retransferred the $500, with interest amounting to $28.11, from the drainage fund to the normal school fund.

Card of Thanks.

I wish through the columns of your paper to thank the many who so kindly assisted me and comforted my wife during her long sickness. I also thank all who came to my aid after her death and at the funeral, especially members of the Bethesda Lutheran church and Carpenters' union No. 361.

BULL MARKET GETS FRESH START

Belief That If England Takes Fright, Prices Will Soar.

Duluth Board of Trade, Aug. 19.—The Manitoba crop calamity fear which got a thorough start yesterday has its effect today in a bulge of from 6c to 7c in Northwestern markets and big advances in the other markets. The stories that now come from there would lead to the belief that the North Dakota experience is to be repeated there. C. H. Spencer, the well-known St. Louis wheat man, is up there now and today wired:

"I traveled about 100 miles in daylight. Evidently something is wrong with the wheat, which is being lost in the crop, but I cannot tell how badly it is damaged from a further inspection. The entire Northwest is in a state of panic over their crop outlook. I would not think of selling any of my wheat. If Europe takes fright, it will likely go to $1.50 a bushel in short order. The situation here is not so serious. The Manitoba damage reports, admitted today that damage had appeared, but were not prepared to say as to the extent."

This state of affairs coming from Manitoba has started a new and feverish speculation in general that England is likely to get excited for this time. It is proved that the wheat crop in that country is not so good as usual. The situation there is such that section unable to give anywhere near as much as usual.

The Liverpool market was up heavily today, advancing 1/2d. London was not so strong, closing 1/2d. The wheat market in the Northwest, which will not tend to add the condition of wheat in harvest also adds to the disturbing factors.

The markets opened in the Northwest, which led the advance about 2c higher, weakened a trifle and then bulged higher. The close was 1 1/2c higher, the Northwest, but not far from it.

September wheat in the Duluth market closed 1/2c higher, in Minneapolis 1/2c higher, in Chicago 1/2c higher, and in New York 1/2c higher. The Duluth market was up 1/2c, the Minneapolis market was up 1/2c, the Chicago market was up 1/2c, and the New York market was up 1/2c.

The Duluth market was up 1/2c, the Minneapolis market was up 1/2c, the Chicago market was up 1/2c, and the New York market was up 1/2c.

back to $1.05, with December back to $1.07. Satisfied longs caused the lack of a higher price, but the reverse was only temporary. Another important bull wave took September back to $1.05, and the close was strong at $1.05, a net gain of 3/4c. The September advanced to $1.11, and closed strong with a net gain of 4 cents, to $1.15.

The bullish influence of generous rains in the corn belt was in a large measure offset by strength in the wheat pit. September corn was steady at 54c, but declined under local long and commission house selling to 53 1/2c. December was weak at a decline of 1/4c to 52 1/2c. Initial sales being at 52 1/2c to 53c, future 53 1/2c. A good shipping demand helped to absorb the offerings and to prevent a sharp break in price. Local receipts were 183 cars, with 22 of contract grade.

Corn weakened under further selling pressure to 52 1/2c for September, and 53c for October. Wheat strength imparted a temporarily firmer tone and September rallied to 54c and December to 53 1/2c. The market became heavy during the last hour and the close was 53 1/2c for September down one cent at 53c and December at 52 1/2c.

Local traders in provisions favored the northwest, and the buying gave strength to the entire list, which strength was also helped by a bullish hog market. September pork sold at 11 1/2c, and ribs at 10 1/2c. Lard was in 7 1/2c, and ribs were 7 1/2c to 7 3/4c.

IMMENSE CROWD

Sioux City Excursion Brings Twenty Coaches and Ten Sleepers.

Between Sixteen and Seventeen Hundred People
—Stay to Sunday.

Two loaded trains, comprising in all twenty coaches and ten sleepers, arrived over the Great Northern road today from Sioux City, Sioux Falls and other points in Iowa and Southern Minnesota, as far north as Marshall, bearing between 1600 and 1700 visitors.

It was the original intention of the railroad company to run the excursion in three sections, but these were consolidated into two sections near the lower end of the route.

The first section, carrying about 800 people, arrived in Duluth shortly after 12 o'clock this morning. It was scheduled to arrive at 9:20 a. m., but the crowd and various delays made the train late. The last section, bearing over 900 people, did not arrive until late in the afternoon.

Some of the people got off the train at Superior, but the greater part of the excursionists came right on through to Duluth, and as soon as they got through the Duluth depot sheds began scattering over the city.

The excursion drew largely from the farming communities in Iowa and Southern Minnesota, and to the farmers and their families the lake and the harbor are never coming items of interest. Almost the first rush of the visitors, after locating lodging places and the restaurants, was for the harbor boat to secure steamer rides on the bay and lake.

The excursion was run in charge of Fred Hills, the traveling passenger agent in the Iowa territory, and according to Mr. Hills, the run to Duluth was made without accident or special incident, the visitors anticipating a fine time while here away from the heat and dust of the inland towns.

The excursion will return Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

TOOK SEVEN CREWS.

That Number Needed For Barnum & Bailey Show.

It took seven of the Northern Pacific train crews to bring the Barnum & Bailey circus from Ashland to Superior, last evening. The big circuses travel by their own cars and all of these if taken together would form a train almost too widely for the roads to handle. The customary plan for the railway companies over whose lines the circus travels is to send out its own engines and train crews to pull the big show from one place to another, the train being split up into sections small enough to handle with safety and dispatch.

CONGRESSMAN HERE.

Head of Committee on Agriculture Is a Visitor.

Congressman J. H. Wadsworth, of Genesee, N. Y., accompanied by Mrs. Wadsworth and daughter, arrived in the city on the steamer Timonist this morning on their way for a visit at Yellowstone Park.

Congressman Wadsworth is chairman of the House committee on agriculture, one of the most important committees in congress and while here paid a visit to the local weather bureau office at the hill-top. The weather bureau over the con-

NEW CASES BROUGHT.

State Bank at Chisholm Is Sued.

George E. Scott this morning began suit in the district court, through his attorneys, Baldwin, Baldwin & Daucier, against the State Bank of Chisholm. In the complaint it is stated that Scott last April purchased at different times five bills of exchange issued by the Namekin Lumber company. These bills amounted in all to $4912. Scott later endorsed them to one H. D. Teglavney but never turned them over to him. The complaint goes on to state that in some way unknown to the plaintiff, the State Bank of Chisholm got hold of these bills and presented them to the Namekin Lumber company by whom they were paid in full and that Scott never got anything out of them. He is now suing to recover the amount of the bills, with interest.

Thomas F. Hart, of Dunkirk, Ind., has begun suit against the De Velda Drug company to recover the sum of $27.10, which sum it is claimed is due for goods furnished the De Velda company by Mr. Hart.

Another candidate for county commissioner from the Sixth district has filed with the county auditor, J. W. Ryan, of Hibbing, who wishes the Republican nomination.

Excursionists

Go to Two Harbors Sunday on Str.
EASTON—4 hours ride 50c. Leave 10 a. m., arrive Duluth 2:30 p. m.

Do Not Credit It.

Members of the naval reserve do not think that the report in the morning paper from Washington, saying that a training ship will not be sent to Duluth is correct. Their belief is based upon the fact that Gray A. Eaton received a letter a couple of days ago, saying that it had been settled that the Fort was found seaworthy, it would be ordered to Duluth.

No Salaries Delinquent.

Manager Courtney of the Elliott-Courtney company reported it was reported yesterday morning had to close its run at the Lyceum because of a strike on the part of the actors' back salaries being delinquent, says that such is not the case, but that the Lyceum is running alone is due to the determination of the management to close its season here. He says that the company will go on the road again in September, and that five of those that have been playing here this summer will be with it.

John Milton, leading man of the company left yesterday morning, and it is understood that some of the other members of the old company will leave very shortly for other positions. Members of the company who asked relative to the salary matter claim that they understand the management is in a position to settle in full with them.

Tonight and Saturday matinee and night.

CONSIDERABLE ORE

Has Been Sold During the Past Week.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 18.—The Iron Trade Review says: A considerable tonnage of ore has been sold during the past week. No unsold ore is being shipped and the space on lower lake docks is limited. Hence furnaces realize the necessity of providing for their requirements and are showing more disposition to buy. Prices are being pretty well maintained, as there is a general disposition among merchant ore firms not to go below recent quotations, which are $8 to $2.25 for old range Bessemer and $2.75 to $2.80 for Mesaba Bessemer, while non-Bessemer sell at $2.50 to $2.70 for old range and $2.25 to $2.35 for Mesaba. The freight rate from the head of the lakes has settled to 65 cents after being 70 cents for many weeks. The rates from Marquette and Escanaba remain at 60 and 50 cents, respectively.

CROWDS INCREASE.

Registration at Devils Lake
Much Larger.

St. Paul, Aug. 19.—A special to the Dispatch from Devils Lake, N. D., says: The largest crowd which has been in the city since the registration for the Fort Totten reservation lands began, came today on several excursion trains. Yesterday's total registration was 688 names. It is expected that today's registration will exceed that figure. There is no disorder.

GETS INTO FINALS

R. D. Bissonnette Defeats
Ralph Davis in Tennis Tournament.

Fierce Match of Five Sets
—Three Are Now Left.

In a fierce five set match, played on the Endion tennis courts at noon today, R. D. Bissonnette of Superior defeated Ralph Davis of Duluth, and went into the finals for the championship of the heads of the lakes, against the winner of the Hopkins-Kennedy match.

The match was one of the most closely contested of the tournament, not excepting even the Finch-Hopkins match played Wednesday. As the match was in the semi-final round, three sets out of five were necessary to decide it, and it went the limit. Both players were in fine form and the contest was a pretty one to watch. It was rendered more interesting by the difference in the style of play of the two men. Bissonnette plays almost entirely on the back lines, seldom going to the net, and relying chiefly on his swift Lawford stroke to win him his points. Davis on the other hand tries constantly for a net position and endeavors to "kill" the ball by a hard volley.

The first set this afternoon went to Bissonnette by the score of 6-3. Davis rallied in the second set and won out by the score of 6-4. Bissonnette took the third by the score of 6-3, and once again Davis evened matters up by taking the fourth set 4-6. With two sets apiece it was anybody's match at the opening of the fifth. Bissonnette was holding the pace a little better than his opponent, however, and he kept constantly on the aggressive, passing Davis at the net and scoring on well-placed drives. He had the set well in hand from the start and won by the same score as in the former two sets taken earlier. Added Protection for Zeigler Miners.
Zeigler, Ill., Aug. 19.—A rapid fire gun from the north blockhouse here has been placed in a steel condola, manned by four gunners, doubly armed with revolvers and magazine rifles has been added to a company of twenty-five Zeigler guards and sent out as escort to right-hand trainmen who passed to and through Christopher without sufficient protection. The train returned twenty-six non-union miners. The train met with no armed opposition.

DIES FROM INJURIES.
Detroit, Aug. 19.—John Howell, a race track messenger, whose home was at 27 Louis street, Buffalo, died in St. Mary's hospital here today from internal hemorrhage, due to a laceration of the liver, received in a fall from a swift running automobile. Howell was thrown from the machine as its driver made a sharp turn from Woodward into Gratiot avenue. Howell is a brother of Jockey Howell, now riding at St. Louis.

Mat Carr, chairman of the allied trades conference board, set in motion today another rumor of pending peace negotiations by declaring a mysterious third party was engaged in an effort to bring about a conference between the strike leaders and the packers. This was denied by the packers and also by other strike leaders.

Word was received by the local police department this morning that J. P. Meyer, a former resident of Duluth, had been killed in an accident at Iron Mountain, Mich.

The letter was accompanied by a request to locate, if possible, any relatives or friends of Meyer living in Duluth. Meyer was formerly employed as a special policeman here, and later by the Duluth-Superior Traction company. He lived at the Saratoga hotel, and is known to have had relatives in the city, although the police have been unable to locate them.

No details of the accident were given.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—A meeting has been called for tonight of thirty of the leading labor leaders of Chicago. Most of the men called together represent unions which are not affected by the strike. Great secrecy is maintained as to the meaning of the meeting. It is estimated that the leaders contemplate some movement which will bring affairs to a halt. It is even being suggested that they contemplate nothing short of a general strike. Some of the leaders, however, denied that this

SENSATION IS PROMISED WHEN BUTCHERS PLAY THEIR TRUMP CARD IN FIGHT WITH PACKERS

Donnelly Says Federation's Report Will Be Most Astounding.
Mayor Orders Fire Escapes On Lodging Packing Houses.
Packers Will Contest Report of the Corporation Counsel.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—"I see no peace in sight except on condition that the packers surrender and on unconditional terms. When the people see the report of last night's meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor they will be astounded. We have a trump card to play, and it has been drawn from the deck," so said President Donnelly of the Butchers' union today while he was directing his assistants to go to other cities, and while he himself was preparing to go to St. Louis to meet Vice President Schmidt, whom Donnelly will send to Kansas City to look after the labor situation there. He shared the action of Mayor Harrison in casting the strike breakers from the housing rooms in the packing plants recent quicker success to the strikers.

On the subject of action by the Federation of Labor, Donnelly was silent. He simply declared the report would prove a sensation.

"A national election is coming on," said Donnelly. "The labor vote is too powerful to be ignored. As soon as I have seen Schmidt in Kansas City I shall go to Indianapolis. While I am away I expect to make several speeches."

The mayor's action in declaring the packers shall no longer have their strike breakers in the packing houses has received a boost from Donnelly. "The packers will have no trouble getting the strikers out of the city," he said. "We will help them do it if they need any aid, and will see that they are not hurt. But as sure as the sun rises the strike breakers will not be able to get back to their places of work."

Packers affected by Corporation Counsel Tolman's opinion holding that thousands of employees lodged in the stockyards must find accommodations elsewhere, called a meeting today at Swift & Co. to determine what action to take. It was hinted before the meeting that attempts to abolish the living quarters in the packing plants would be contested, recourse being had to the courts if necessary. The packers declared that they were canvassing the situation that they would contend that Tolman was mistaken in the premises and that the temporary placing of beds in the plants does not change the character of the buildings any more. The packing of a chicken in a private home would cause evolution of a residence to a slaughter house.

Allen Patch, a colored strike breaker, was found unconscious in the stockyards today with his head and right eye badly hurt. He was suffering from a fracture of the skull. The police took him to a hospital.

MUST COMPLY WITH LAW.

Mayor Orders Packers to Erect Fire Escapes.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Corporation Counsel Tolman has given to Mayor Harrison an opinion declaring the packers at the stockyards have no legal right to house men in their packing houses.

The opinion was given in response to the request of the mayor, who was asked by the Chicago Federation of Labor that the packers were boarding men contrary to law.

The opinion of Corporation Counsel Tolman declares that the packers are not violating any provision of the ordinance regulating lodging houses for the reason that they are not letting lodgings for hire. The opinion does hold, however, that the regulations calling for fire escapes and exits in the buildings where large numbers of people are housed, have not been complied with and suggests that the packers be given a period of three days to commence the alterations in their buildings or to find new quarters for the men.

The mayor, after receiving the opinion, sent it to Chief of Police O'Neill with instructions to see that the packers obeyed the law.

George F. Holden, the head of the striking packing house teamsters, was found not guilty of disorderly conduct yesterday afternoon by a jury in the court of Justice Quinn. Police Inspector Hunt preferred charges against Holden for carrying a teamster, who was hauling a load of meat to take it back to the place where he procured it.

PENNA EXPRESS TRAIN WRECKED BY LANDSLIDE.

CLOUDBURST DROWNS SEVERAL IN ARIZONA

Seven Persons Are Now Known to Be Dead and Probably Others.

Railroad Tracks Washed Out and Telegraph Wires All Down.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 20.—Seven lives at least were lost in the flood that swept through the town of Globe, Ariz., and surrounding country. The known dead are: M. N. MITCHELL, MRS. M. N. MITCHELL, O. D. WILSON, CHARLES SIMS, JOHN EPELY, MISS HURD, MISS MOODY. According to report of the courier who brought the news of the disaster to Bowie others were drowned besides those named in the foregoing list, but their names are not yet known. The Globe Valley, Globe & Northern railroad tracks were washed out for a distance of three-quarters of a mile. Telegraphic communication is interrupted and it has been impossible to learn full details of the disaster.

Globe is located in a broad valley that slopes down to Pinal creek, which crosses the main street of the town. The flood was caused by a cloudburst at Pima, above Globe on Pinal creek.

PANAMA GRABS MORE LAND FROM COLOMBIA

Great Excitement at Bogota Over Action of the New Republic.

New York, Aug. 20.—Private advice received here from Buena Ventura, Colombia, are to the effect, says the Times, that the government of Panama has stationed a military garrison at Nugal, a city of influence of the Atrato and San Juan rivers. If this news is correct, the Panama republic has assumed formal possession of a wide strip of the Colombian department of Cauca, which according to a map of greater Colombia, issued in 1890, at Caracas, was originally the southern extremity of the old department of Panama. It contains a large Bay City, Mich., was married yesterday to Martha Nah Shank, who according to Indian ceremony has been his wife for the past forty years. Bah We Tuk Yesh owns considerable property. He is 70 years old and his wife is 55. With death near, he wished to insure his wife's possession of his goods and chattels. Although the couple were married, the legal ceremony was necessary because the law does not recognize a common law marriage between Indians. It is told that the original Indian marriage was the greatest event of the times among the Indians.

utterances, James Bah We Tuk Yesh, chief of the remnants of the Chipewyan tribe which still live north of Bay City, Mich., was married yesterday to Martha Nah Shank, who according to Indian ceremony has been his wife for the past forty years. Bah We Tuk Yesh owns considerable property. He is 70 years old and his wife is 55. With death near, he wished to insure his wife's possession of his goods and chattels. Kalspelt, Aug. 20.—Forest fires still rage in this county and there are fires in all directions from one to three miles wide. The country to the east of Lake Blaine is all burned over, and the mountain side, when the smoke clears up, will look like a barren waste. The fires near Marlen, east of here, have been doing much damage, and many cattlemen and ranchers living in that vicinity have been kept busy fighting the flames in order to protect their homes.

Seattle, Aug. 20.—Five serious fires are raging in this county. The fires are destroying all the snow sheds, from the Iron Range Employees Swamp the Car Service Temporarily.

Beginning at 9:20 o'clock this morning the street railway management began a 10-minute service with its cars from Lester Park into the city, and at 10:30 o'clock the West DuPont cars which had formerly turned back to Third avenue east began running clear through to the East End. This gave three times the service to and from Lester Park that was had from that part of the city on the Fourth of July, when the cars ran every thirty minutes, and gave a 5-minute schedule to the East End all day.

Notice was received by General Manager Warren from Secretary George M. Thompson of the Duluth & Iron Range Employees' association, that the annual picnic of the association would be held at Lester Park today.

Mr. Thompson said there would be two trains to the park over the Iron Range road, each carrying from 500 to 600 passengers, the first arriving at 10 o'clock, and the second at 12 o'clock. He said that as some of the crowd desired to see the circus parade, it would be a convenient thing to have a car schedule from Lester Park to the city and back.

Mr. Warren made arrangements for a 10-minute service, beginning shortly after 9 o'clock, as the parades are usually held at 11 o'clock.

The first section of the excursion trains arrived at Lester Park a few minutes after 9 o'clock, and instead of 200 to 300 people, it brought between 800 and 900 people.

CUTS THROAT WITH A CHEESE KNIFE

A. W. Koors, Commission Man, Makes Unsuccessful Attempt at Suicide.

Partially Severs Windpipe But Does Not Cut Deep Enough.

A. W. Koors, of the commission firm of Russell & Koors, attempted to commit suicide this morning by cutting his throat. The attempt was made about 11 o'clock in the grocery store of J. S. Pinski, 727 East Second street. The instrument used was a large kitchen knife, which was used in the store for cutting cheese, etc.

Mr. Koors was taken at once to St. Luke's hospital. Dr. Stewart, who attended him, said that the cut would not prove fatal, although the man bled considerably. He cut a gash about three inches long in the front of his neck, cutting into the windpipe, but not severing it. No arteries or blood vessels were cut. The doctor said that the man appeared as though he had either been drinking or taking drugs, as he seemed very stupid. He would not answer any questions, but was in a condition to do so if he wished.

Mr. Koors resides at 516 East Fifth street. The only motive that can be assigned for the deed is that of ill health. Mr. Koors was not in the best of health and had been troubled with rheumatism for some time. He is a man about 35 years of age.

FAMILIES RENDERED HOMELESS BY FIRES

Many Miles of Territory Devastated In the Dry Northwest.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 20.—Twelve adults and twenty-three children are homeless as a result of what is thought to be the incendiary fire which has burned over Fourth Plain, five miles east of Vancouver, Wash., for two days.

The fire was controlled, though not put out, after it had devastated an area of five by three miles, through the exertions of the United States troops at Vancouver barracks, who fought the fire in three relays of fifty men night and day. It is asserted that the fire was started out of spite, and one man is under arrest charged with the crime.

Kalspelt, Aug. 20.—Forest fires still rage in this county and there are fires in all directions from one to three miles wide. The country to the east of Lake Blaine is all burned over, and the mountain side, when the smoke clears up, will look like a barren waste. The fires near Marlen, east of here, have been doing much damage, and many cattlemen and ranchers living in that vicinity have been kept busy fighting the flames in order to protect their homes.

Seattle, Aug. 20.—Five serious fires are raging in this county. The fires are destroying all the snow sheds, from

CROWDS AT LESTER PARK

The Iron Range Employees Swamp the Car Service Temporarily.

Beginning at 9:20 o'clock this morning the street railway management began a 10-minute service with its cars from Lester Park into the city, and at 10:30 o'clock the West DuPont cars which had formerly turned back to Third avenue east began running clear through to the East End. This gave three times the service to and from Lester Park that was had from that part of the city on the Fourth of July, when the cars ran every thirty minutes, and gave a 5-minute schedule to the East End all day.

Notice was received by General Manager Warren from Secretary George M. Thompson of the Duluth & Iron Range Employees' association, that the annual picnic of the association would be held at Lester Park today.

Mr. Thompson said there would be two trains to the park over the Iron Range road, each carrying from 500 to 600 passengers, the first arriving at 10 o'clock, and the second at 12 o'clock. He said that as some of the crowd desired to see the circus parade, it would be a convenient thing to have a car schedule from Lester Park to the city and back.

Mr. Warren made arrangements for a 10-minute service, beginning shortly after 9 o'clock, as the parades are usually held at 11 o'clock.

The first section of the excursion trains arrived at Lester Park a few minutes after 9 o'clock, and instead of 200 to 300 people, it brought between 800 and 900 people.

Determined Attack on Fortress Itself, Begins in Early Morning.

Battle Rages Along Entire Line and Is Regarded as Final Test.

Japanese Troops Occupy Anshan-shan; the Russians Retreating.

Chefoo, Aug. 20.—There is a rumor current here, the source of which cannot be learned, that the Japanese have been repulsed at Port Arthur.

Chefoo, Aug. 20.—M. Injuin, the Japanese consul general at Tien Tsin, who arrived here today, on the British steamer Pechili, and who had a conversation with the commander of a Japanese torpedo boat, which overhauled the steamer off Liact promontory last night, says that today's battle, which began at daybreak, is directed against the fortress itself. It is taking place along the entire line, and it is Japan's supreme effort, to which the Russian battles were only preliminary contests.

He added: "I firmly believe that you can safely say that Port Arthur will soon be in our hands. One after the other of the outer defenses have been taken, and when the latter had completed their preparations for the grand assault, Gen. Stoessel was asked to surrender. He refused. Now comes the final test."

Tokio, Aug. 20.—The Japanese troops occupied Anshan-shan yesterday and the Russians have retreated toward Mukden.

WHEN OCCASION DEMANDS, Garrison at Port Arthur Can Assume Offensive.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 20.—The report from Chefoo that the Russians have driven the Japanese out of the position at Pailichwang (Pailung Chang?) where they had been bombarding the fortress of Port Arthur, was received with considerable gratification at the war office, where it was regarded as evidence that the defenders are strong enough to take the offensive when the occasion demands. For this reason the war office is not inclined to credit the reports that the Japanese have captured forts "No. 3" and "No. 4," just beyond Nagoush hill, five miles north of Port Arthur. It is admitted that the possession of these forts would render the situation of the besiegers desperate, and that the capture of the forts would be a great advantage to the Japanese. The war office is not inclined to admit this, although this is not admitted. This report reflects the desperate character of the Japanese attacks, which continued practically without intermission for forty hours.

Gen. Stoessel's reports of Aug. 14 and 15, are expected at any hour. According to private information coming from Port Arthur by way of Chefoo, when the Japanese sent in the flag of truce Friday, they conveyed a message to both the general commanding the fortress and the admiral commanding the fleet.

According to the admiral's information the battleship Retzian was the most unlucky ship in the harbor before the sortie of Aug. 10. Out of 153 shells entering the town, five struck the Retzian, wounding her captain and three other officers. She was also the only ship hit when the Japanese fired over Liact mountain, the extreme southern part of the Chefoo peninsula during the earlier stage of the operations.

All the military operations in Manchuria have, it is asserted here, been stopped by the rains. Telegrams to the war office describe the terrific effects of the torrential downpours. Many bridges have been swept away, and even traffic on the railroad is temporarily suspended. During this heavy weather, Gen. Kuropatkin has been busy inspecting the defenses of Anshan-shan, and the Japanese have been busy inspecting the defenses of Port Arthur.

The defense which the Russians have suffered only seem to increase Russia's determination to hurry reinforcements to the front. The imperial ukase published today, ordering the mobilization of forty-five additional divisions, calls to the colors the reserves of about one-tenth of European Russia. Considerably over half the first-class reserves of European Russia have now been called out and practically all the reserves in Siberia.

It would appear that the last news from the front had not been made public when the above dispatch was filed after it was announced from Tokio that the Japanese troops had occupied Anshan-shan. Anshan-shan is situated midway between Hai Cheng and Liao Yang. The latter is defended by a RUSSIAN DEFEATS. Seem to Increase Determination to Win War.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 20.—The Official Messenger announces the mobilization of the reserves in four districts of the Poltava government, one in the Samara government, four in the Saratov government, two in the Simbirsk government, one in the Perm government, two in the St. Petersburg government, three in the Novgorod government, three in the Pskov, one in the Volynia government, seven in the Archangel government and seven in the Arhangelsk-Nova government.

fortified semi-circle of positions, enabling the Russian forces to be concentrated easily and moved along inside of the lines. The other main Russian position in the semi-circle referred to was Anping, about half way to Liao Yang and about twenty miles southeastward of Sihkaiken, twenty-four miles southeast of Liao Yang. It was pointed out in a recent dispatch from Liao Yang that the main Russian position would be stronger when they retired from Anshan-shan.

SOUNDS OF FIRING
Rendered Conversation Difficult on Passenger Steamer.
Chefoo, Aug. 20.—The steamer Pechili just arrived here was overhauled and boarded by a Japanese destroyer and five torpedo boats six miles off Liao Tien Shan last night. An officer from the destroyer stayed on board for forty minutes conferring with the Japanese consul at Newchwang, who was a passenger on the Chefoo. The sounds of firing were heard occasionally that conversation was difficult. The Japanese explained that they were engaged in shelling the Russian positions preparing for an assault today toward daybreak. When the Pechili was permitted to proceed on her course the firing was at its heaviest and it was believed to indicate the imminence of a general assault.

PRaise FROM CZAR.
Sends Message to the Port Arthur Garrison.
St. Petersburg, Aug. 20.—The emperor has sent a message to the garrison at Port Arthur, as follows: "I direct you to congratulate in my name and on behalf of the whole of Russia, the troops, sailors and inhabitants of Port Arthur on the successes gained in the fighting of July 26, 27 and 28. I am fully convinced of the absolute readiness to uphold the glory of our arms by their unbounded bravery. I warmly thank all. 'May the most high God bless their heroic deeds which entailed so heavy sacrifices, and may he protect the fortress of Port Arthur from the attacks of the enemy.'"

SUMMONS RESERVE OFFICERS.
St. Petersburg, Aug. 20.—The emperor has issued a ukase summoning to the colors, all the reserve officers throughout the empire.

LANDS GERMAN ATTACHE.
Tientsin, Aug. 20.—The Japanese protected cruiser Yaechama has just anchored here from the coast of Korea. The German military attaché who was at Port Arthur. The major left the fortress in a junk, at the emperor's orders. The Japanese cruiser picked him up 30 miles out, and it is reported, confiscated his papers. Mrs. de Hoffmann's personal baggage was left on the junk.

The correspondent of the Associated Press was received on board the Yaechama by Capt. Dishiama. The latter, however, was not disposed to talk of the war beyond saying that the Japanese had been successful in the recent fights off Port Arthur. He further declared that the Japanese expected to have the Russian warships now at Port Arthur in their hands in a day or two. The Yaechama left here at 6:30 p. m.

MISSING CRUISERS HEARD FROM.
London, Aug. 20.—A dispatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg says news has reached the admiralty there to the effect that the missing Russian cruiser Novik has arrived at Korsakovsk, a port of the island of Sakhalin, and that the Russian cruiser Diana, concerning whose fate there had been much anxiety, has been seen off Hong Kong.

Mukden, Aug. 20.—Confirmation has been received here of the report that the Russian cruiser Novik has entered the harbor of Korsakovsk, island of Sakhalin, and it is announced that the Russian cruiser Diana, recently sighted off Hong Kong, has arrived at Saigon, capital of French Indo-China.

FREIGHT RATE WAR Inaugurated By Milwaukee Railroad on Sugar.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—A sugar rate war has been declared by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, which announces reductions in the tariffs from Chicago, West and Northwest, amounting to 15 and 22 cents. The reduced rates are effective immediately.

The war was started because some of the Southwestern lines are said to have refused to abide by the adjustment made several months ago, when the rate from New Orleans to Missouri river points was made 20 cents. A combination, through Memphis, of 32 cents from New Orleans to Kansas City was later discovered and not adjusted.

ANOTHER HOPE IS DASHED

Austrian Fails to Recognize Friend When Body Is Disinterred.

The unknown man, believed to have committed suicide, who was buried last week at Park Hill cemetery, was not Charles Pavelska, and the authorities have now no more idea of his identity than when the body was found two weeks ago.

An Austrian came to the city yesterday in search of his cousin, Charles Pavelska, who has been missing for the past two weeks, and in the expectation that the dead man might be found. The man was disinterred yesterday afternoon to examine his features. The man took but one glance at the dead body and declared unhesitatingly that it was not Pavelska. This was the last clue the police possessed as to the man's identity, and the hope appears to be but little hope of gaining any further information concerning him. Pieces of his clothing have been kept by the police in the hope that some person may yet appear and recognize them.

THE STAGE. TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"In Old Kentucky."

Frank Layson, George Kennedy, Colonel Sandusky Doolittle, Horace Holton, Scott Higgins, Joe Lorey, Scott Higgins, Sam, Charles Randall, Caesar, John Powell, Wm. Pennell, Madeline, Marie Callahan, Barbara Holton, Mary Holmes, Althea, May Anderson, and C. T. Day's pretty play, appears to be a regular attraction with the theater-going public. On its production at the Lyceum last evening it was greeted by what was probably the largest audience of the summer. Few vacant seats were left in the house, and the raising of the curtain was the first act.

The play was never in more capable hands than at the present time, and the stage settings and general atmosphere of realism and naturalism were never more effective or pronounced. The production of an altogether satisfactory drama, as everybody must know by this time, for who would not love "In Old Kentucky?" No matter how many times a person has seen the play, he is bound to be found among those present at its ever fresh appearance, and this will probably be true as long as the play is in the hands of the Lyceum. The high standard of the piece is maintained, and the Lyceum will be at the same, the score or more of jolly fellows who have been so successful in their previous work. George Mitchell, as Horace Holton, the villain, made himself a most successful character, and he needs but a little stretch of the imagination to believe him to be the real thing. The beautiful and charming Barbara Holton, as Holton's daughter, and Miss Anderson as Althea Layson, took good care of the parts assigned them. Tonight the play will be repeated.

Stage Employees' Picnic.

The eleventh annual picnic of the stage employees of Duluth and Superior will be held tomorrow at Zenith Park. This is an event which each year seems to grow in interest and meet with greater popular approval. Good music and dancing and a ball game between the Young Men's club of Superior, and West Duluth will be features of the day's attractions. Four big scoops have been engaged to run every fifteen minutes to the grounds from the city, and sixty-foot cars will first take the pleasure seekers. A big day is promised.

A Thorough Training.

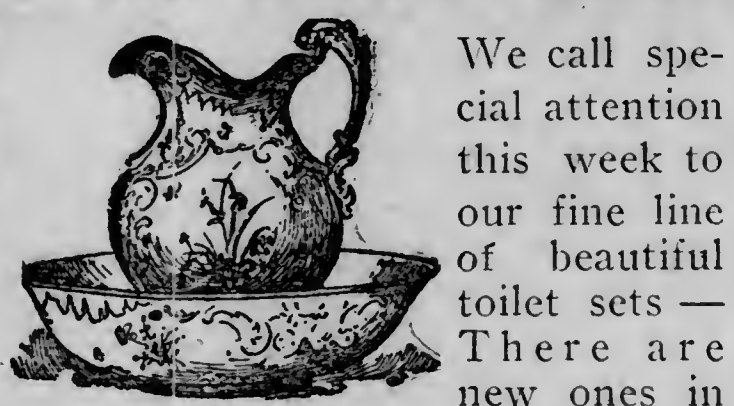

In this issue of The Herald appears a full page announcement of the Fall opening of the Duluth Business University, an institution which each year is recognized more generally for the thoroughness of the instruction it affords in a practical business training. Each year the school has added some new and practical feature to its regular course until today it occupies a prominent place among the foremost business universities of the country. A zest is added to the instruction by the fact that it is given in a building which is completely equipped with the latest in modern teaching methods.

about all the distinction Gardner will require, and if he succeeds in humbling the hitherto invincible negro, the fact that he fought several pounds above the scale will not detract from the brilliancy of the achievement.

It isn't easy to think up a fight that promises better than the Herrera-Nelson affair. Nelson has shown himself to be a lad who can stand all kinds of wear and tear without flinching or slumping, while the wiry, wiry of the Herrera wallops is potent enough to keep him in a bout alive from the starting bell to the decision.

As a durable, aggressive fighter, with punching power that tells, Nelson stands head and shoulders above most men of his weight. As a finisher Herrera is in a class by himself. He may stagger around, but he is dangerous as long as his feet keep their grip on the floor.

The Dave Barry-Twin Sullivan match is also a Los Angeles fixture, and one that should stand out well from the standpoint of entertainment. Sullivan, who has had them on occasionally with Jack Munroe while training, has impressed the daily visitors very favorably, and it is felt that he will make things lively for the fighting Irishman. Twin has a long reach and a free delivery. He piles in overhead swings that are difficult to block, and he wiggles and dips in such a way that he is a hard man to counter.

Sullivan is probably the hardest man Barry has as yet tackled. But Dave is always at home with hard men. He has ever with him a brace of gnarled ears, tributes to the smashing prowess of bygone opponents, and it is a byword that he is never at his best until he has been thoroughly warmed up by the other fellow's punches. The contest takes place on Aug. 28, and it should be a treat for the Los Angeles scrap patrons.

BURNS DEFEATS KELLY.
Tacoma, Aug. 20.—Tommy Burns, of Chicago, has defeated Cyclone Kelly, of San Francisco, here in the fourth round of what was to have been a twenty-round fight, with a right to the heart. Kelly had to be assisted to his dressing room, while Burns was unscathed.

Matchmaker Grogan, of the San Francisco Athletic club, announced that his September attraction will be Joe Gans and Jimmy Collins. It is a match with a class to it—one which, if properly handled and husbanded, would awaken lashing interest.

The weight named is 135 pounds at 3 o'clock. This places the participants well outside the pale of the lightweight division, but as matches are arranged nowadays it makes very little difference. The charm of the thing is that a white-skinned boy has at last been found who is willing to meet the dusky terror Gans in a fair stand-up battle on Gans' terms.

Mrs. Annie Harpole, 401 Hoyt Street, Portland, Ore., State Secretary Daughters of Liberty, writes:

"For over eight years I suffered with intense pains in the abdomen and pelvic organs. Through a neglected cold I contracted a severe catarrh which went through my system and finally settled in the bladder, causing great pain. My husband spent hundreds of dollars on doctors and medicines without obtaining relief for me. I finally decided that I would try Pe-ru-na, as a friend recommended it so highly. I am pleased to say that relief came to me shortly after I began taking it and at the end of three months I was in perfect health. I also took Pe-ru-na before and after my baby came, and quickly restored my health and strength."

MRS. ANNIE HARPOLE.

Life Was a Burden Until Miss Harris Tried Pe-ru-na.

Miss Annette Harris, 401 Hoyt Street, Portland, Ore., writes:

"Now that I have regained my health and strength I am only too glad to tell what cured me. I was a sufferer for years, and although I tried many doctors and medicines, nothing seemed to help me. I was a burden to myself and to those around me. I was unable to stand on my feet for any length of time. After taking one bottle I felt very much improved. I kept on taking it until I had taken nine bottles and then considered myself cured. I can now do my work with ease, can walk as well as I ever could, and I sleep the night through, while before I could not sleep longer than an hour at a time. I am thankful to Pe-ru-na for my health."

Miss Annette Harris.

Is a Success.

It seems established as these facts are that anyone should need to profit by them.

WOMAN MUST PROVE Her Marriage to Get Her Husband's Fortune.

Pittsburg, Aug. 20.—A beautiful woman, known in her younger days as Julia Ryan, of Cleveland, now Mrs. George Fleming, of Pittsburg, is confronted with a hard legal proposition. Fleming, who was one of the leading citizens of the city, died last night, leaving a large estate. His will provided that his wife should receive the estate only if she could prove that she was his wife. The case is now before the court.

Mrs. Fleming declares that she was married to the man now dead in Providence, R. I., several years ago, and that she can prove it. She says she can also prove that Fleming introduced her as his wife. A rather spicy fight is expected, as the estate is large and all parties prominent.

NEW LAW LAW Working Wonders Among the Peasantry in Ireland.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Francis J. Kilkenny, secretary to the comptroller of the currency, a native of Ireland, has just returned after two months in the Emerald Isle.

"I was greatly impressed with the improvement of conditions in Ireland since I was there ten years ago," said Mr. Kilkenny. "The new land law is working wonders. Wages for farm hands have doubled. They are two shillings a day where they were but a shilling ten years ago. Every one seems contented and happy."

SOCIETY BELIE Sacrifices Luxuries to Live in Sweetheart's Cabin.

Logansport, Ind., Aug. 8.—Voluntarily cutting all ties with the outside world, Miss Nettie Rivers, once a Kokomo society belle, finds nothing to regret, and declines to return to what she terms the "mockery of civilization."

Her identity was established by her own admission, although Kokomo relatives refused to believe that she was living. She is indignant at being introduced into her solitude, brought about by the publication of her whereabouts. Miss Rivers is living in a cabin, by the name of "Sweetheart's Cabin," on a farm near Logansport.

DESTRUCTIVE STORM Winnipeg, Minn., Aug. 20.—Reports of a destructive storm have been received from Pierson and Moosomin, but for nothing has been heard from the intervening country, seven miles wide. At Moosomin, Archie Lettner, a well known farmer, was killed by lightning while working with a team. The same bolt killed the team.

For violence and intensity the storm surpassed anything before seen in this neighborhood. It is impossible to say at present the extent of the damage to standing crops in this district. Lightning struck at Lytleton, causing a fire which totally destroyed the following houses and stores:

R. McLean, general store; Henry Brothers, hardware; M. Bird, hardware; Brothers, Brothers, general store; and James Murphy, implements. The loss will run into the thousands. A very heavy thunder storm accompanied by hail poured over Melita. Crops suffered considerable damage and barley in stock will be destroyed.

The house of the manager of the Union bank here, situated several miles north of town, was struck by lightning and was almost totally wrecked.

GUARDSMEN KILLED. Athens, O., Aug. 20.—Regular army soldiers sent to members of a cavalry troop connected with the United States Camp Armistice near this city, yesterday. All six soldiers were killed. The guardsmen who were killed were Corporal Charles Clark, whose home is at Athens, O., and who was a machinist by occupation.

All Respectable.

"Are there any members of the nobility living in your city?" asked an English judge of a lady who was on the witness stand. "No," was the reply; "they are all respectable people."

Severe Wind Wipes Out William E. McEwen to Two Lives Near St. Louis.

Great Damage to Property In Path of the Storm.

St. Louis, Aug. 20.—A tornado of small proportions, but of extreme fury swept down upon the residence portion of North St. Louis yesterday, resulting in the death of one person, injury to probably fifty, and damage to property at $100,000.

Dead: JOHN ELLINGTON.

Partial list of injured: Jacob Harnest, shoulder dislocated; William H. Linahan, cut; J. H. Parson, badly cut; Gardwyn Powinski, seriously burned by electric wire; C. James, broken leg; D. Howe, leg broken; Louis Mullin, leg broken; William Elger, bruised; W. H. Langan, cut and bruised; T. A. Summers, bruised; W. Fricke, scalp wound; William York, leg broken; six employees in Niedringhaus rolling mill, not seriously injured.

A shower passed over St. Louis earlier in the day, but there had been no rain in North St. Louis. The sky had cleared and the atmosphere had become very dry.

The tornado then jumped to about the middle of the river, where it encountered a fence which was blown down, but was not struck. Leaving the ferry the tornado moved on to the east, where it struck the Illinois shore near Madison, where it demolished several dwellings, the Lederkratz hotel and blew down a portion of the Madison cooper works, killing John Schneider, a cooper.

Damage was done also to buildings in Venice and Granite City and a number of persons were injured.

So quickly did the tornado sweep through North St. Louis that it was impossible to see it. It was heard as a series of whirring noises, and the wind, which was heard on all sides as the whirl, struck the population ran about the streets. Not a telephone pole or trolley pole was left standing along the route.

LET EVERY MAN AFFLICTED WITH VARICOCELE

ADVANTAGE OF MY METHOD OF CURING VARICOCELE.

My treatment is absolutely painless and devoid of danger; no anaesthetic is given.

The cure is permanent. I have treated thousands of the most aggravated cases without a single failure or recurrence.

You are under the care of a reliable specialist, that is acknowledged authority in the treatment of men, and whose superior method of treatment is nowhere else obtainable in America.

You are not subjected to the dangerous experiments of antiquated treatments which you are liable to receive at the hands of incompetent and inexperienced doctors. Varicocele is a very serious and delicate disease, and necessarily requires skilled, expert treatment. I am treating many cases daily, and have gained a national reputation as being successful in the treatment of Varicocele and its results—Nervous Debility and Lost Health.

I Also Cure to Stay Cured

Stricture, Contagious Blood Poison, Nervous Debility

and all reflex complications and weaknesses of men. To these maladies alone I have earnestly devoted the best years of my life. Physicians having stubborn cases to treat are cordially invited to consult with me. I make no charge for private consultation and give to each patient a legal contract in writing, backed by abundant capital, to hold for my promise. Is it not worth your while to investigate a cure that has made life anew to multitudes?

STRICTURE.

It matters not how long you have suffered from Stricture or how many different doctors have disappointed you. I will cure you just as certain as you come to me for treatment. I will master it or it will master me. My treatment is entirely original, new and perfectly harmless. It completely dissolves the stricture and permanently removes every obstruction of the urinary passage. It stops every unnatural discharge, always all inflammation, reduces the prostate and when enlarged cleanses the bladder and kidneys, invigorates the vital organs and restores health and soundness to every part of the body affected by the disease.

BLOOD POISON.

Specific Blood Poison was for ages supposed to be incurable. This ancient idea still exists in the minds of many physicians, who continue to savorate their patients with potash, mercury and other dangerous mineral mixtures, which, instead of forcing the disease out of the system, drives it deeper in, where it festers and corrupts the blood, and again in the form of some frightful skin, blood or bone disease. I cure Specific Blood Poison to stay cured forever. I challenge the medical world for a case in any stage that I cannot positively cure, never to return, in from six to ninety days. My treatment for this disease is endorsed by the best physicians of America and Europe. It is purely vegetable in composition and perfectly harmless in effect.

NERVO-VITAL DEBILITY.

Men, many of you are now reaping the result of your former folly. Your manhood is falling and you will soon be lost unless you do something for yourself. There is no time to lose. Impotency, like all vital diseases, is never on the standstill. With it you can make no compromise. Either you must master it or it will master you. My treatment is entirely original, new and perfectly harmless. It completely dissolves the stricture and permanently removes every obstruction of the urinary passage. It stops every unnatural discharge, always all inflammation, reduces the prostate and when enlarged cleanses the bladder and kidneys, invigorates the vital organs and restores health and soundness to every part of the body affected by the disease.

ASSOCIATE DISEASES.

In curing a disease of any kind I never fail to remove all reflex complications. If it is Stricture, I will master it or it will master me. My treatment is entirely original, new and perfectly harmless. It completely dissolves the stricture and permanently removes every obstruction of the urinary passage. It stops every unnatural discharge, always all inflammation, reduces the prostate and when enlarged cleanses the bladder and kidneys, invigorates the vital organs and restores health and soundness to every part of the body affected by the disease.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Most cases can be treated successfully at home. One personal visit is preferred, but if it is impossible or inconvenient for you to call at my office, write me a full and unreserved history of your case, plainly stating your symptoms. Physicians having stubborn cases to treat are cordially invited to consult with me. I make no charge for private consultation and give to each patient a legal contract in writing, backed by abundant capital, to hold for my promise. Address all communications to

Over 100 men have been sent to the harvest fields and more than double that number given employment elsewhere. It has been suggested that the bureau should have a large sign across the sidewalk in front of it, so that it may be the most easily seen. The bureau, as situated, is nearly a block east of all the pay bureaus, and the average laboring man is apt to find it unless he is seeking for it especially. A big per cent of them do not know there is such a thing as a free bureau in existence in Duluth, and so go to the pay bureaus without giving it a call.

At the last regular meeting of the Duluth Typographical union W. J. Ferguson was elected vice president of the union. The following board of trustees were also elected: C. W. Nelson, E. Richardson and C. Boerner. The printing trade was reported to be decidedly quiet just now.

F. W. Ferguson has been re-elected as business agent of the machinists' lodge of Duluth, and is similar to the one in Minneapolis. The local machinists' union are now voting on a proposition to unite the Western union into one mammoth district. It is said the local members of the union do not take kindly to the idea.

E. S. Kromroy, business agent of the Painters' union, is spending a month on his homestead near McGregor, Minn.

At its last regular meeting it was reported that the Cigarmakers' union netted $15 from the annual picnic.

A special meeting of the Proctor Machinists' union this week the following officers were installed: President, W. F. Earhart; vice president, Mr. McGinn; secretary, J. H. Edwards. The union accepted the invitation of the Superior lodge to take part in the Superior Labor day parade.

It is expected that State Labor Commissioner O'Donnell will be in Duluth next week for the purpose of starting an active inspection campaign in this district.

SUES STANDARD OIL CO. Ohio Man Says It Has Ruined His Business.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 20.—George Rice of Marietta, Ohio, commenced suit in the United States circuit court yesterday for $20,000 damages against the Standard Oil company for the alleged ruin of his oil business by the defendant company. Rice claims that the Standard Oil company compelled railroads to charge his customers exorbitant rates and that the company opened grocery stores to break down his competition, and in other ways succeeded in taking away from him four thousand customers, an oil refining plant worth $50,000 and a refining plant worth $50,000 a year.

The suit is brought under the interstate commerce act of 1886, and is similar to one entered in the court of chancery in New Jersey in which the Standard Oil company was compelled to return to the plaintiff the actual amount of $100,000.

Pleasure Party in Indiana Struck by Train.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 20.—A carriage in which were four young people returning from a dance at a summer resort hotel just across the Ohio state line, was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train last night. Three of the occupants were instantly killed, and one seriously injured.

The dead: THAS S. SHEERER, 32; JOHN MOORE, 22; MISS MARIE HALL, 25. The injured: Miss Bertha Hill, 25. The mangled bodies and the injured girl were picked up by the train crew and carried to New Paris, Ohio, from where they were returned to their homes.

Miss Bertha Hill, the injured girl, was removed to a hospital and is still unconscious.

No details of the accident are known. It is said that the curtains of the buggy protecting the occupants from a driving rain, prevented the driver from seeing the approaching train.

EMPLOYEES PICNIC

Duluth & Iron Range Railroad Annual Outing
In Progress.
Great Number of Employees Spending Day at Lester Park.

The annual picnic of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad company's employees, held at Lester Park, today, drew from "Two Harbors" and the neighboring towns on that road a crowd estimated in the neighborhood of 100 to 200 people. The fact that there is a circus in the city today was probably one of the causes of the increased attendance for as soon as the excursion trains arrived at the park the people commenced to flock into the city on street cars to see the parade and attend the afternoon performance of the circus.

The annual picnic of the Duluth & Iron Range employees are events that are looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure and they never fail to bring about a good time. Despite the fact that so many came in the afternoon the park was thronged with people this morning and afternoon.

The arrangements were all looked after by a committee with George M. Thompson as secretary and there was not a single hitch in the day's festivities.

From 12 o'clock to 1:30 o'clock the employees brought down by the picnicers were put away where they would do the most good and later in the afternoon the athletic games began. Dancing in the pavilion throughout the day was looked after by the young people, while others explored the park clear back up the river. The weather conditions were about perfect and the picnic was claimed to be one of the most successful yet given.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Increasing Interest To Know What Democrats Will Do About County Offices.

Jack Miles' Entry Into Republican Shrievalty Fight Complicates Matters—Martin Hughes of Hibbing Talked of For County Attorney --- List of Nominations for Primaries.

With the time within which candidates for nominations must file their declarations only ten days distant, not a Democrat filing for office in St. Louis county as yet, there is a growing interest to know what the Democrats are going to do. Some have suspected that the Democrats might get their names on ballot by petition rather than by nomination at the primary election. This, however, does not seem to be the program that is desired. The Democrats expect to have a ticket in the field, and while they may not have candidates for every office, the ticket will be pretty nearly a full one.

The convention that will be held here Monday and for which primaries are to be held this evening, will bring matters to a head. The Democrats will only select delegates to the state convention, but it will serve to bring together the delegates of the county and to permit consultation with reference to the county ticket. After that gathering something more definite to the county ticket will be available.

Running for office in St. Louis county would seem to be a pretty hopeless proposition for Democrats when the history of the past dozen or fifteen years is reviewed, but the Democrats seem to think that they have a good reason for hope, in spite of the fact that it is a presidential year. They point to the fact that the miners are working fewer men, and that the men on many portions of the ranges are dissatisfied and will be less ready to vote for a Republican than they were a few years ago. The Democrats believe that the heads of the mines know what is best for them to do, in some localities where there are now only scores.

It is quite certain that Charles G. Miller will again try for the office of sheriff. Mr. Miller came very close to winning two years ago, and with the prestige of that fine run, and his added acquaintance, should put up an even hand this year.

Alex Fraser, it is said, would like to run for sheriff as an independent candidate. That, however, he is not ready to do, but it is not likely that he will make that work. He has always been a Republican.

The entrance of Jack Miles into the fight for the Republican nomination has given that contest a new interest. When the announcement was first made the tendency of the seasoned politicians was to make a strong feeling of commiserating sympathy for the young man, but they are now beginning to take note of the other candidates and are beginning to make new estimates, and see which one is to be hurt worst. It is of course, to be seen what he can develop in the way of strength outside of the city, but he is certainly making something of a stir in it.

The Democrats, or many of them, are anxious to get Martin Hughes of Hibbing, to run for county attorney. He is a bright young attorney whom they would like to make a fine official. In the Republican ranks the fight for county attorney is being made by John M. McClintock, who is one of the prettiest new in progress. Each is marshalling every force for the contest, and is making a most thorough canvass.

The Democrats will undoubtedly make an effort to place a strong ticket in the field in the fifth legislative district. There is probably no place to be filled at the coming election for which they stand a better show than in the fifth district. The representatives from that district, three in number, are John M. McClintock, who is a Democrat, and John M. McClintock, who is a Republican. The city of Towler is a natural Republican, and McClintock, as a rule will not have a very large vote this year.

Charles T. Randall, former chief of police, today filed his affidavit with the auditor, announcing his desire to be nominated by the Republicans in this district. He is in opposition to that of Capt. J. R. Randall and Andrew Miller. He says that he has for some time been in the party in the district that would like to have him become a candidate, and that if he is confident they are, he will get the nomination.

The last day for filing nominations for the primary elections is only a little over a week away. One Democratic name has been received by the county auditor. This is Ole Berg, of 317 Twenty-second avenue west, who wishes the nomination for commissioner from the Third district.

In addition to this one Democrat there are thirty-two Republican names filed, as follows:

LEGISLATIVE.
Fourth district: George J. Malory, of Duluth; C. O. Nelson, of Duluth; John Saari, of the village of Seara.

Fifth district: John R. Randall, of Duluth; Andrew Miller, of Duluth; Ray T. Lewis, of Duluth.

COUNTY TICKET.
Sheriff: John T. Armstrong, of Duluth; Jack Miles, of Duluth; W. J. Bates, of Duluth.

Auditor: Odin Halden, of Duluth. County attorney: John M. McClintock, of Duluth; John H. Norton, of Duluth.

Aberdeen—A sensational robbery occurred Thursday night when burglars entered the house of C. H. Anderson, general agent of the Heileman Brewing company, taking $100 in cash, diamonds, watches and jewels. Entrance was gained through a pantry window.

The robbers entered a room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, took Anderson's trousers from within two feet of the head of his bed, searched them and opened the dresser drawers. The inmates of the house were not disturbed in the least. The robbers made their escape without leaving any clues, and are evidently professionals. Among the articles taken were two diamonds valued at $700.

Much dissatisfaction exists among the stockholders of the Farmers' elevator company at Bath. The first year the company was in business it handled 67,000 bushels of grain, valued at $34,000, and reaped a fair profit. The second year the amount of grain handled reached 60,000 bushels, and the year's business was also reported to the stockholders as being conducted at a profit.

The last year the company handled 130,000 bushels of grain, worth $55,000. It is alleged that at a meeting of the stockholders held a month ago, they were informed that the year's business had been transacted at a net profit of 1 cent on every bushel of grain handled. It now develops, according to the latest reports, that there is a shortage of something over $500. It is understood the elevator building will be sold and the company will go out of business.

A man under the influence of liquor hunted up Justice W. O. Jones and informed him that he was a deserter from the United States army. He gave his name as John H. Feighner, and told the justice he enlisted in August, 1903, for three years, being assigned to Company L, Sixth infantry, but deserted within a month, while intoxicated.

August Siebrecht, formerly postmaster at Le Beau, but now a resident of Bowdle, was brought before J. E. Adams, federal court commissioner, who committed him to jail for safekeeping. Some time since Siebrecht was arrested on the charge of having embezzled government money while postmaster, and was placed under a bond of $500 for his appearance in federal court. For some reason his bondsmen became uneasy, and surrendered him to the authorities.

Sturgis—Some fifteen soldiers of the Sixth cavalry, Fort Meade, said to be of F troop, had trouble with some of

NORTH DAKOTA.

Mandan—Charles Rambo, a ranchman living south of Mandan, was shot in the lung in an altercation with James Markham. The trouble was over some hay land. Rambo attacked Markham with a loaded whip and, after warning him, Markham drew his revolver. Rambo told the state's attorney that he alone was to blame, so there will probably be no prosecution. He will probably recover.

Minot—E. B. Goss was nominated for judge of the eighth judicial district by the Republican convention in this city to succeed Judge Palsa, who was appointed two years ago by Governor White. Ward county supported Alfred Baisdel, of Minot, but when it was seen he could not be nominated, turned to Goss.

Judge Palsa was the Murphy candidate and at no time had a chance of being nominated. He may run independently, in which case there will probably be a Murphy county ticket in the field, making a three-cornered race with the result somewhat in doubt, but favorable for the regular Republican ticket.

The feeling in the Murphy faction over the nomination of Goss is very bitter, but his nomination brings Baisdel, Williams and McHenry counties into harmony.

Saving one's money by not doing necessary work, is like saving it to death.

Eight-Year-Old Escanaba Boy Drowned While Rowing.

Escanaba—While rowing in a small boat near Washington island, a nearby summer resort, Raymond Smith, the eight-year-old son of County Clerk A. P. Smith, of Escanaba, fell overboard and was drowned. With the boy was a younger brother, whose cries of fright attracted several people from the shore.

Grand Marais—Harry Smith, of the telephone branch of the United States life saving service, who is overhauling the government line between Grand Marais and Duluth point, has installed a station near Perry's landing, at a point about half way between Grand Marais and Duluth. This station will be left open and accessible at all times to the public, but is not to be used in case of sickness or accident, in which personal aid is required. In case of a vessel in distress, it is to be used for the purpose of notifying the life saving stations at Grand Marais and Duluth. In case a vessel should be flying a distress signal at that point, not in sight of either of the above named stations.

Centennial Mill With One Head Treating 500 Tons Daily.

Additional Furnace Being Installed at the Quincy Smelter.

Houghton, Mich., Aug. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Centennial mill is treating nearly 500 tons of rock per diem, with a single head. The other two heads are being remodeled and will be put in shape for use later, but it is not probable that the Centennial can do more than feed two heads to advantage for some months to come. The old Arcadian mill, bought by the Centennial, was a good property in most respects, but was cursed with very bad foundations, and it has been necessary to put new underpinning beneath part of the structure. An additional furnace is being installed at the Quincy smelter. This plant, in addition to treating its own material, is caring for the mineral from the Franklin, Centennial and Michigan mines. Eastern prospectors of early dividends from Franklin have again removed the date for the first disbursement of profits into a somewhat uncertain portion of the future. As a matter of fact, there is to the Franklin company, barring a little scrambling at the old Franklin mine, an exceedingly lean proposition, and had it not been handled in the most economical manner by Superintendent Hosking, assessments would have been in order long ago. As it is, the property seems to be earning a little money, but the margin is still too narrow to talk about dividends, and in any but the most capable hands, the mine would eat up assessments rapidly. The Phoenix mill, which suspended work for a few days owing to shortage of water, is again running, but the dam is only partly filled and no water is running over the apron. As heavy fall rains will be due in a few weeks, it is hoped there will be no further stoppages from lack of wash-water. The Milwaukee-Triple Federal triple alliance seems to have struck a snag, or else, has been out into some subterfuge, to avoid the coming of the better copper market generally anticipated for next winter. A recent discovery of a small but rich vein of ore in the Higgins property, at Bisbee, Arizona, is encouraging local shareholders. The Calumet & Hecla has some ore, and is to be made into a mining company. The Wolverine & Arizona, perhaps the most promising of all the copper circles outside of the Bonanza Circle, in Bisbee, continues to show ground of encouraging appearance, but the copper is lacking. The Saginaw Development company has a capital of $1,000,000, and is showing a fair showing of carbonate of good grade. The owners are mainly old-time Michigan mine lumbermen, with persistence and cash, and should be able to make a mine there. The Lake Superior & Arizona, in the Globe district, has recently received good returns from a carload of carbonate ore shipped to the El Paso smelter. The section of the Lake Superior & Arizona continues to show about as high an average grade of any of the rock as has ever been taken out of any opening in the Lake district. The prospects of the Lake Superior & Arizona have been improved several hundred per cent by the opening of the new shaft, where the copper is so rich that there is no possible opportunity for the most pessimistic to term the showing otherwise than exceptionally rich. The Superior Copper company's exploration on section 15, between the Lake Superior & Arizona, is showing stamp rock and small barrel work in the company's hands. Every indication points to this as the northern extension of the Lake Superior & Arizona, and the prospects for making a mine are growing better with each week's work performed. The Calumet & Hecla has two diamond drills boring the lands of the company lying west of the Tammarack. These lands, formerly known as the Gardner, Standard and Calumet & Hecla tracts, are now owned entirely by the corporation. The borings are being made in search of a conglomerate rock, rich in copper, the location of which is unknown, but supposed to be on or near the tract in question. The two diamond drills of the Calumet & Hecla on the Kearsarge mine are making good progress and are showing stamp rock of value above normal, in which considerable native silver occurs. No shaft is to have a cement collar to hold back the water, which is uncommonly heavy at that point. The proposed new engine house of the Centennial will not be erected until next year, as the season is growing late for the beginning of important new construction work. An extension to the boilerhouse of the Centennial mill is to be built at once, as reserve power is needed. The extra capacity of the mill will be added to the boilerhouse and new boilers purchased for the Centennial mill. At the Champion mill a number of changes are in progress and the efficiency of the plant will be materially improved when the completion of betterment now under way has been brought to a close. The cheapest copper now being produced in the Lake district is coming from the Wolverine mine, which made a new low record of 58 cents for net cost of copper for the fiscal year ending June 30 last. The lowest cost copper ever made in the Lake district was the product of the Quincy for 1904, made at an average cost of 57 cents per pound. The Wolverine is now carrying at the rate of nearly 40 per share per annum, but it is paying dividends at the rate of only 15 per share yearly. The practical completion of the work of retreating No. 2 shaft of the Tammarack will enable that mine to furnish a full quota of rock to its mill. The crash in No. 2 shaft was of a serious nature, and the retreating of the shaft was vitally necessary. The new hoist and new compressor at No. 2 shaft will soon increase the productive capacity of that opening very largely, and during 1905 the Tammarack, barring unusually hard luck of a sort not now to be foreseen, should be able to keep its stamps occupied to their fullest capacity. The prospects are that the Osceola Consolidated will make about 250,000 pounds of refined copper this year, a much larger product than ever secured before. The yield of copper in the rock from both the North and South Kearsarge mines remains satisfactory, and the cost per pound of ingot copper secured will compare favorably with those of the other unexploited mines of the district, giving the company very handsome net earnings for the year. The Osceola is now in third place as producer in this district, the Calumet & Hecla coming first and the Wolverine second. Following the Osceola are the Quincy and Tammarack in the order named, with Mohawk and Wolverine not very far behind the Tammarack. The Mesnard shaft of the Quincy is showing great variety in the ground opened, which ranges from very good to very poor, and back again. With the bettering of this shaft and its connection with the other workings of the mine, it will be possible to develop more rapidly and to better advantage in the levels tributary to No. 8. One head at the Atlantic mill has been overhauled, and will probably give improved service. The Atlantic mill is no nine years of age, and in that time considerable changes in milling practice have been brought about. Many of the modern devices for regrounding ruggings and saving fine copper from the tailings have been introduced at the Atlantic, and while the mill cannot be held up as a model, owing to its being rather old in certain details, it is a highly efficient plant, and is managed in a manner that carries the deserved earnings of visiting mill men. In other words, it has a good

PROFICIENCY!

"Our Work":—Fitting Young Men and Women to Discharge the Duties and Responsibilities of a Business Life With Ease and Comfort.

Our Declaration of Educational Principles.

We submit for your serious consideration the following declaration of educational principles:

First—That proficiency is the highest ideal.

Second—That the mastery of a single branch is far better than the smattering of many.

Third—That in this commercial age, a business education should be the first knowledge because of its practical use and supreme importance.

Every child born into this world has some special talent or natural gift, and if this talent is cultivated and properly directed the possessor becomes noted in his or her sphere. But, few, very few, learn what their talent is. This is why there are so few noted people in the world. It also accounts for there being so much discontent and unrest; for so many people who are dissatisfied with their business or calling in life. Being unable to find out what they are naturally fitted for, they change from one kind of work to another and constantly shift their locations, drifting here, there and all over the country. You may find as much difficulty in learning what you are best fitted for as the countless thousands of people had before you. But there is one consolation—it is a fact that a person can learn anything who goes about it with pluck and determination. This has been demonstrated and proven in hundreds of thousands of instances. What others have done you can do. Your luck, be it good or bad, depends entirely upon the intelligent or lack of intelligent direction of your efforts. There is no question about this. If your training in business has been ample, then your knowledge is an insurance against failure. You must succeed. No one can take any advantage of you, while you have every advantage in each business transaction. You can now see the force and effect of "Our Work."

J. P. SIMON,
President and Manager.

The necessity of a business education must be apparent to all. Parents, in their efforts to better the condition of their children by better equipping them, are fully impressed with the fact that in this day and age one is paid for what they know, rather than for what they do. This has stimulated a renewed effort on the part of the parent to give the child every possible advantage, and it has also kindled a new ambition on the part of the child to gain knowledge. Not general knowledge but specific, the learning of some particular thing and learning it well—becoming proficient. Realizing that the business college is an open door to success for 97 per cent of young men and women who enter with pluck and determination to thoroughly master the branches chosen, accounts for the immense attendance of commercial schools all over this country, with a predominance in numbers of young women, for no other avenue offers so many opportunities to young women as do commercial colleges. From the college they step into good paying positions, that enables them to dress nicely, move in the best society, live at ease, and be perfectly independent. And the demand for young men and women with business training—especially full course, finished students—far exceeds the supply all over this country. There is scarcely a day but what this college is in receipt of letters from business men, in all lines, wanting proficient business help, and faster than the school can turn them out positions are offered. The high standard of fitness of this school's students is widely known all over this Northwest, is why no graduates of the "New Era" need want for work one minute.

SECRET ROMANCE

St. Louis, Aug. 19.—An unexplained romance, a mysterious suitor and a legacy of $3000 are features in the life of Miss Caroline Bergman, of St. Charles, for whom anxious relatives and the police of two cities are searching high and low.

The girl was last seen by anyone who knew her near the observation wheel at the World's fair last Friday afternoon.

She was with several friends and left them, saying she was going to the wheel, intimating that she was to meet somebody there. Whether she did there no one to say, and right at this point is where the plot thickens.

She has not been home since last Friday.

In a satchel which she had was found a note addressed to Harry Leer. It stated that she was going home and might never see him again. The girl's mother, Mrs. Minnie Bergman, fears that this note may have been left behind as a ruse, and that in reality her daughter eloped with him.

And there is where the mystery comes in for no one has yet been found who knows the man with the doesn't that-remind-you-of-Newport name.

Another feature of the case discredits Mrs. Bergman is the fact that her daughter, who is now past 17, will inherit $3000 from her father's estate when she is 18 years of age, and she cannot bear to think of having that money spent by a son-in-law with whose personality she is unfamiliar.

Caroline Bergman is a blonde five feet five inches in height and weighs 125 pounds. At the time she disappeared she wore a white shirtwaist with black dots, a black skirt and a green hat trimmed with cream-colored lace.

DULUTH BUSINESS UNIVERSITY

ANNUAL OPENING FOR DAY AND EVENING CLASSES, TUESDAY, SEPT. 6.

College Office Open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Each Week Day Until the Opening.

Location: 105--107 W. Superior St., Third Floor

A Large Attendance Assured.

The fourteenth annual opening, Tuesday, Sept. 6th, promises a larger enrollment of students than the school has ever had at any previous opening. The applications already received from Duluth, Superior and surrounding towns and villages would seem to warrant over 100 students on opening day.

The Best Date to Begin.

All intending to enter should, if possible, begin on Tuesday, Sept. 6th, the date of the annual opening of the college. This is the beginning of the school year, and the classification and programme of studies are particularly arranged for those who enter then.

Courses to Take and Time Required.

All should, if possible, complete both the commercial and stenographic courses. The time required to do so depends upon the previous education and application of the student, the average time being six months in each department. The demand for those who complete both courses is always greater and the salaries paid better than for those who complete but one course.

Students May Take Any Branch or Branches From One or More Courses.

The student may take the commercial, stenographic, English or penmanship course, a combined course or any branch or branches he wishes from one or more of the courses. We frequently enroll students who wish to take one or two branches only, as typewriting alone or shorthand and typewriting. We are always able to give such students plenty of individual attention and their progress is rapid.

A Practical Training.

The success of graduates of this school is proof of the practical value of the training received. As a result of such training and the influence of this school over 2000 young men and women are today holding remunerative clerical positions throughout the Northwest. When so many young people of only ordinary attainments can, after a course at this school, procure such positions and give entire satisfaction to their employers, it certainly proves that the methods of this school are correct and its courses practical.

How We Teach Bookkeeping.

Bookkeeping is taught at our school in a most thorough and exhaustive manner. The instruction is entirely individual. After the student completes the theory work, which comprises sets in Retailing, Wholesaling, Jobbing, Commission, Lumbering, Rail-roading, Manufacturing and Banking and passes the required examinations, he is then admitted to the Actual Business Department. In this department he is required to perform every conceivable kind of business transaction and to make the proper entries in the books which are used to suit the nature of the business engaged in, and properly and neatly post the same.

The best evidence to be had of the suitability of this course to the requirements of actual office practice is the fact that graduates on leaving our college accept positions as bookkeepers with firms engaged in almost all lines of business, and fill them to the entire satisfaction of their employers.

English Department.

The work here may be taken as a preparatory course to any of the other departments, or as a special course by those who have not had early educational advantages. As the instruction given is individual, or private, if desired, the student need suffer no embarrassment whatever, as no one but the teacher and himself need know his standing in any branch.

Examinations.

Weekly written examinations are held in all departments of the school throughout the entire term, and the standing of students in subjects examined, recorded. Parents or guardians may call at any time and examine these records, if they wish.

Final examinations are held in all branches at the end of the term, when those who obtain the required percentages are awarded diplomas.

Social Callers.

We refuse to call students from recitations to meet social callers, or to chat over the "phone," and it is only in urgent cases that students will be disturbed during school hours.

Regularity and Punctuality.

The student should be in the school-room at fifteen minutes before 9 each a. m. and fifteen minutes before 1:30 each p. m., and spend the full a. m. and full p. m. session there during the five school days of the week if he wishes to keep up his interest and make satisfactory progress.

No matter who is to blame, we cannot fully recommend any student of this school who has not been regular and punctual in attendance.

Courses of Instruction.

Commercial Course: Bookkeeping, single and double entry; Commercial Arithmetic, Commercial Law, Grammar and Composition, Business Penmanship, Actual Business Practice, Business Correspondence, Rapid Calculation and Spelling.

Shorthand and Typewriting Course: Stenography, Typewriting, Penmanship, Grammar and Composition, Spelling, Business Correspondence, Business Forms, Rapid Calculation, Mimeographing, Letter Press Copying and Indexing.

English Course: Arithmetic, Grammar, Reading, Writing, Spelling, Composition and Business Letter Writing.

Penmanship Course: Plain, Rapid Business Writing and Box Marking.

Hours of Session—Day School.

School is in session from 9 until 12 a. m. and from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. on all week days except Saturdays and legal holidays. The school rooms are open from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. on all school days, thus giving students who wish opportunities to study therein before and after hours of session.

Hours of Session—Evening School.

Evening School is in session from 7 until 9 on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of each week. The rooms are open in the evening at 6 for those who wish to study before the evening session begins.

A Boon To Our Young People.

There is probably no factor in the community that does more to improve the condition of its young men and women than does the well-equipped, reliable business college. A commercial training is not only useful but necessary to those who would succeed in business in this day of keen competition.

Our Teachers.

Each teacher in our school has had a normal training and from eight to fifteen years' experience in the profession. Each is a specialist in his department and the best that money can procure. Although we could employ so-called teachers for one half of what we pay our present staff, we could not, with such teachers, run our school as we are now doing on the highest plane known to the modern business college.

Penmanship Course.

Four excellent penmen and teachers have charge of the writing classes. Forearm movement and a plain, rapid, Spencerian style is taught. Students of all departments of the college have writing lessons every day. Private lessons are given, if desired, at any hour during day or evening session. No accomplishment is of greater value to anyone than a good handwriting. All may acquire it. During many years' experience with thousands of students in our penmanship classes, we have not yet found one who could not, by giving it the necessary time and study, acquire a good handwriting. You can, if you will.

Health of Pupils.

We consider the health of our students of first importance, and have provided them with well furnished, well ventilated, well lighted, well heated, cheerful, healthful apartments. Three janitors are employed, who keep the rooms spotlessly clean and neat at all times. There is a well-appointed restaurant in the college building, where students may get warm luncheon at reasonable rates.

WANTED, by a number of good, reliable young men and women, who will enroll at the opening, places, in desirable families, to work mornings, evenings and Saturdays, for room and board. Persons desiring the services of such young people, kindly apply to the college at once.

WANTED, at moderate rates, room and board for about forty young men and women who will enroll on Tuesday, Sept. 6. Apply at once at the college office.

The Cheap School a Dear School.

You will probably attend a business college but once, and your future success will depend largely on the character and quality of the school you attend. The school that can give you the best possible preparation for business is none too good, and unless a school has the facilities and equipment for so doing, it is not worthy of your consideration, no matter how low its rates may be. Those who are launched from the cheap, so-called business college, and find themselves unable to do what the business world requires of them, realize that they have paid dearly, indeed, for the training received, no matter what the price may have been.

Are You a Competent Stenographer?

If you can write shorthand at 100 words a minute, read your notes like print, are a good typewritist, a good penman, can compose a good business letter, rapid and accurate in figures, have a knowledge of business forms, business papers and business methods, understand the mechanism and care of the typewriter, know how to use the letter press and mimeograph, are honest and industrious, you may be considered a competent and desirable stenographer. The time required to reach this standard depends upon the student. Some require six months, others longer. If there is any place where the student can be brought up to the required standard in the shortest possible time that spot is the Duluth Business University.

Why Don't Young Men Study Stenography?

This question is asked us every day by business men who apply to us for young men stenographers. As a rule we have not more than one young man for every three positions that are offered. The other two are usually filled by persons from outside the city. Duluth young men could have these positions if they would prepare for them. There is no more promising field for the ambitious young man today than that opened him through the medium of shorthand. There is no way that a young man can in so short a time, grasp the details of the inside workings of a business and thus make himself valuable to his employer as through being its stenographer. The ambitious young man often finds his way up the ladder and achieves success which, without the aid of shorthand, would have been impossible. We also ask, "Why don't young men study stenography?"

How We Teach Shorthand.

Three enthusiastic teachers have charge of this department. The student's work is carefully planned each day by the teacher, and every minute of his time is utilized to his best advantage.

Thorough and systematic class drill in phonetic spelling, and in the construction of shorthand outlines, as well as every possible individual assistance is given the student throughout the entire theory period. The work is so simplified by the teacher, and the student so encouraged, that such a thing as failure is unknown to a shorthand student of this institution. Throughout the dictation period the student is given all kinds of business letters, legal forms, depositions, specifications, etc.

Our teachers write shorthand like copper-plate, and in turn require the greatest accuracy from the student in the formation of all characters, which accounts for the speed in shorthand writing acquired by our students, also their ability to read their notes like print.

The fact is, we understand our business, know the requirements of successful teaching, are alive to the situation, and do the work—hence the results.

Typewriting.

We have an exceptionally well-equipped typewriting department. It is supplied with thirty new typewriters—Remingtons, Smith Premiers, Underwoods and Olivers—tabulators, mimeograph and letter press, all of which are kept clean and in splendid working order. We teach the touch method only, which consists in operating the machine without looking at hands or keys. This is the easy, natural way to typewrite, and with the same practice the student can acquire greater speed, and do better work than with the old method. Throughout the term, students are taught how to use the letter-press and mimeograph, and receive thorough drill on the mechanism and care of the typewriter.

Idlers.

We have no room for them in our school, and when we find that our efforts to interest the student in his studies are useless, we require him to quit the school. It is better for the student, and better for the school, as he does not take value for his money, and his influence is harmful.

or less. Everything seemed fine. But the pastor could not issue a license until he had read the papers and was "written" in the churchbooks of Stockholm. So he had to get out of the city and he knew that red tape was strong point with the state church. But the girl father was not sacker. Everything was mustered. The pastor said he must not get there later than two o'clock in the afternoon, to be blessed the following Sunday. The last minute, at a sudden, the pastor was obliged to wait until six o'clock in the evening. Another hunt was made and another hunt was made. A woman from sister's things.

It was planned, sailing after the ship. The pastor had to persuade the man to give his own bride a "dot" of 600 crowns. He had brought a lot of money. The man had not

The first time he met her was when one of the Russians for the first time brought his mother-in-law to be, he the girl, who was a well built woman with a stately, true to her peasant customs, were not and simple clothes through. So again the architect was called in. It was Sunday and he closed. He found one mentally open and after an hour's work or more, said yes, but appropriately de- bailed, of course, wedding dinner- table, for her own and her sister's to- senau.

Simple Frocks for Summer Days

BY MIRIAM SPIER.

None of the summer materials is more beautiful than the fairly like gauzes and nets, which may be procured in exquisite colorings and designs. In some examples, huge roses in pink, yellow or red are scattered over a creamy ground, or the ground is in a paler or a deeper shade of the color of the rose; bursting buds and green leaves give distinction to another sample, and in still others, tiny blossoms. In pale colorings are gracefully clustered in wreath or garland effects, seemingly secured by a ribbon in a harmonizing tone. The solid color nets and very fine sheer mulls are frequently made up over flowered silks, and the effect of the floral pattern through the meshes of the net is charming. These frocks are lavishly trimmed with flounces and frills, many of them lace edging; and ribbons also enter largely into their ornamentation. For the summer fete or dance, there is no more desirable mode than one of these cool and airy creations of net.

Handsome and most effective too, are all costumes for reception or garden fete are the gowns of batiste, white or colored, embroidered or elaborately trimmed with lace. Pale shades in pink, blue and lavender are charming, the solid color being relieved by lace and the coloring in the hat. Although for simpler gowns and even elaborate silk costumes, narrow Valenciennes is exceedingly smart, still the one inch edging can never be so effective as the broad Valenciennes, here and Irish point, no matter in what profusion the narrower lace may be used. Most effective are the gowns of batiste edging and wide Valenciennes used interchangeably. One attractive model had a square cut, collar-less yoke of embroidered batiste with a deep bertha of lace falling almost to the sleeve consisted of a large puff of plain batiste, below which was narrow ruffle of lace and a deep cuff of the embroidered batiste edged with lace. The skirt consisted of alternate rows of lace and batiste embroidery of the finest kind, each row slightly wider than the one above, and the edge of both lace and embroidery forming a finish for the top of the material below. The belt was of black velvet, and about the neck was worn a narrow velvet ribbon; the hat was black, of the flat sailor shape, with one long white ostrich plume about the crown. Where black and white is becoming it will be seen, but lighter shades are more in vogue this season.

Another pretty gown made up in the plain batiste had a yoke of wide Valenciennes. There was also a deep pointed bertha of the lace caught up on either side, so as to form a pointed effect just in front and on the sleeves. The yoke, too, was rounded, with decided V at the front, giving here an added dip. Between the bertha and the yoke were two tiny ruchings of batiste, and just in front a low knot of narrow blue satin ribbon, the ends coming slightly below the top of the broad girde. Below the end of the bertha the sleeves had two puffs of the material separated by only one row of shirring. Below these narrow, full puffs was a puff of lace of the same width, the sleeves being finished at the elbow with a full of the lace. The skirt was put on the band in full pleats and some few inches below the hips was added a band of broad lace, finished on each side with two small ruchings like those used between the bertha and the yoke. Just in front, about five inches apart, were two of the four loop ribbon bows, the ends hanging well down below the foot of the lace. These ends were caught in two or three loops and bows. Besides the two on the front of the skirt, there were two more of these bows on each side, the side knots being on the lower end of the lace, instead of the top, as in front and back. Just above the hem was another row of this broad lace insertion. The girde was of wide blue ribbon. The parasol was blue and the hat was white straw trimmed with lilacs and blue ribbon. The long ribbon streamers tied under the chin in pokebonnet style.

To accompany the most charmingly beautiful summer gowns, there are so many hundreds of attractive and elaborate hats to be seen everywhere that it is almost impossible to decide what shape and style is most becoming, and really the only way out of the difficulty is to get as many hats as the pocket-book will permit, and in this way only will it be possible to have a hat to suit every occasion. If it is not possible to purchase many, no matter how smart and fresh the dress may be, if the hat is shabby and faded the whole costume will immediately look dowdy. Then again, when a small income has to be consulted, it is far easier to get one smart and becoming hat that is perhaps rather expensive than to get a collection of cheap hats of poor materials. Here, as everywhere, it is quality, not quantity, that counts. It is well to decide definitely beforehand what will be the best color to procure—one that will go best with many light costumes—and then find one that is attractive and becoming. White is always a safe shade and will look well with all light colors. Next to this pale green is extremely pretty, and this year particularly, is very fashionable, and if there be many white flowered muslins in the wardrobe this shade will be found most satisfactory, as green blends in so well with all light colors.

Of all the creations of the milliners' art there is none more charming than the dainty lingerie hat made in simple "baby" shape out of the finest of lace or embroidery, with a large bow of ribbon as its only trimming. Even the heavier embroidery are brought into service in fashioning these picturesque models, which are very becoming worn with a muslin or dainty dress. These hats have a girlish effect, and to be successful they should be worn only by the youthful, and with dainty frocks. A novel hat of the lingerie type is of embroidered pongee. The full Tam O'Shanter crown is made of the all-over embroidery, while the brim is formed of a ruffle of the embroidered edging. Cream white batiste, finely plaited, forms the brim facing. Around the crown and on the brim are small bunches of cherries and green leaves, and at the back, falling over the brim, are red ribbon velvet loops and ends. This idea is very smart, carried out with black velvet ribbon, a band of the ribbon encircling the crown instead of the cherries. Gold braid and a gold cord, with tassled ends, is another suggestion for trimming this hat.

In Simple Lawns and Lace Trimmed Linens.

Where Blue and Green Combine

The Coat Costume In Embroidered Batiste.

White linen etamine has concentric rings of turquoise blue and a peacock green, respectively, embroidered at close intervals, and this color green is extremely pretty, and this year particularly, is very fashionable, and if there be many white flowered muslins in the wardrobe this shade will be found most satisfactory, as green blends in so well with all light colors.

Coat costumes appear in the sheerest of fabrics, and it is no uncommon thing to find sheer lawns, batistes, linons, etc., garnished with cloth. The Parisian creation is in embroidered batiste with the favorite button design. The coat is of the loose box order, with a fancy collar and flowing sleeve cuff of a sulphur yellow, touched up with tiny ruchings of valenciennes. The skirt is full, shirred to the waistband, and at knee depth a very full flounce of a different design is introduced. This is trimmed similarly to the coat with sulphur yellow cotton cloth and valenciennes ruchings. Little straps of flexible gold braids are introduced at intervals in the slashings of the cloth.

OF LINEN AND LACE

Of Linen and Lace.

There is no wane or diminution to the popularity of the shirtwaist suit; and in linen with hand-made appliques it is both serviceable and stylish. The illustration is in hand-made Russian crash, with tenebrife wheels wrought into medallion form and handworked fagoting. The blouse is fashioned with long shoulder seams, to which back and fronts are applied in tucks. The line is cut away beneath the medallions and panel designs are simulated in the fagoting. The skirt is tucked to about the knee, where the tucks are released, applied medallions and fagoting forming the trimming scheme, as on the waist.

Simplicity On White Net.

For an all-around utility frock the white nets are about as suitable and as satisfactory as can be had. In the design pictured several novel points of fashion are displayed. The sleeve is a particularly good one. There is a foundation sleeve of regulation cut in the net, and over this the outer sleeve is shirred to form a puff over the back seam. The collar and shallow yoke are of blue lawn strips shaped and held together by fancy fagoting stitches. The blouse puffs but slightly in front, and is drawn snug at the back into the ribbon girde. The skirt is shirred to the band and large medallions of imitation guipure are connected by folds of satin ribbon. Two deep tucks head the hem, and the drop skirt has a shallow band of pinches half-inch inserted in the velvet-bound hem to hold out the full folds of the net at the correct "flow."

The Extreme Of The Lingerie Hat.

The extreme of the lingerie mode is pictured in the hat of English embroidery, which in this instance is fashioned upon a featherbone frame, so that it may be plucked into the tub when soiled and come forth looking like new. The crown is of tulle lined with white Valenciennes edge whipped on each tuck, and the brim is covered on the outside with the English embroidery and faced beneath with frills of coin spot Valenciennes to meet the drooping edge of the upper brim. There is a narrow band with ribbon, and a fluffy bunch of yellow California poppies are tucked in under the brim. Needless to say these are to be removed when the hat makes its periodical visits to the cleansing tub of the laundress.

Picturesque Toilets For Summer Conquests.

Whether it is with leafy boughs and velvety lawns as a background, or with the plainer settings of the racetrack or hotel veranda, the toilettes prepared for the summer conquests are picturesque beyond denial. After tentative trials of Louis XVI. and Directoire models, Dame Fashion is contented, at last, with the Louis XVI. inspiration for her motive. So, gathered skirts, pointed bodices, de-more fchus and picture hats of the Trianon order are making up coquetish ensembles. Of all styles these are the best suited to summer, since gathers and shirrs and dainty manipulations are never perfectly expressed excepting in airy and supple fabrics.

Late winter and the first days of the nominal spring saw great uncertainty in the sartorial world as to the direction

the present dictum will hold only through the warm months. But for those months Louis XVI. styles are established by all the magnates that decide the matter of feminine dress—world-famed dressmakers, stars of the stage, beauties who display the acme of fashion at the French racetracks and elegantes who disport themselves at lawn parties and veranda o'clocks.

Light materials seem naturally to be the order of the day, and one sees everywhere vaporous, filmy tissues enveloping the sylve figure of the fashionable woman. Linon, always acceptable in summer and always delightful to wear, is quite as popular as during the past seasons, but has more decoration than ever. It is cut in bias piece with entreeux of lace with tucks, and arranged in all conceivable models. Broderie Anglaise, so soft and so amenable to slapping the patterns of the moment, makes some delicious costumes for the summer. It is employed more and more for blouses which call for no other adornment. It fashions whole frocks, too, a century of silk and a stock of the same being all that is necessary to give variety to the ensemble.

The lins, from the simple morning frocks to the lace and embroidery decked carriage gowns, are among the most satisfactory toilettes of the summer. In a blue linen seen recently there were a number of pretty touches. A deep yoke collar was finished with two pretty lapels. These, as well as the deep turned-back cuffs, were of white pique, embroidered with red dots. The girde was of white pique. Small bows of red satin decorated the lace vest. The sleeves' frills were of white linen. With this toilet were worn shiny black leather pumps and blue stockings embroidered with red dots. The hat was a lingerie affair of lace, trimmed with mull. Another particularly pretty frock was of embroidered Swiss in green and white. The skirt was full, gathered into the waistband. The blouse was very full, and was gathered both into waistband and yoke. The yoke was of tucked white lawn. A ribbon of embroidered lawn added a touch of quaintness. This was finished with embroidered tabs, and the girde was of green silk.

A noticeable feature in the fashions of the moment is the vogue of the wide girde, which is made to retain its shape by the assistance of the featherbone. The pretty crushed ribbon belt, with its handsome gold, silver or enameled buckle and slide at the back is pretty to accompany the summer gown. The belt of gold braid in a loosely woven pattern is another attractive device, while the greatest novelty is that showing peacock feathers in all their iridescent hues embroidered on a silk or satin ground, or, perhaps, in the form of a lined ribbon with the design stamped on it; a pin or buckle fastens the belt. There are any number of odd-shaped buckles, some having the slide for the buckle, and others for the buckle. The popularity of "iride belts" increases, and these are procurable in a variety of materials—silk, suede, silk, satin and linen—and are usually severely plain, with the exception of the buckle and possibly a novel arrangement of buttons, preferably gilt or gun metal, at the back, where the girde sometimes widens, or it is cut in some fancy shape.

Linen etamine is a popular material for the smart shirtwaist costume. It combines coolness, lightness of weight and softness, and it possesses admirable wearing qualities, since it does not shrink, as do other linens. Also, it lends itself to the fashionable cross-stitch embroidery, which any clever woman can readily accomplish herself. A well-made shirtwaist dress of linen etamine, muslin or some other tub material might be said to be an absolute necessity for any woman who is living near the city, and occasionally comes to town for a day's shopping or for some matter of business. These women will not find one shirtwaist dress enough, and they had best be provided with some few linens of dark muslin costumes for this purpose. Silk is smart, and can be made up so as to be deliciously cool; but for hard, every-day wear one wants a gown that can be washed as often as desired. A dark blue muslin gown made simply, but at the same time kept attractive and becoming, is a great comfort in midsummer. This gown must be kept simple, in spite of all that the modiste will say to the contrary, for it is intended to be a really useful wash dress. As white is to be so much worn on all costumes—and a bit of white at the throat will greatly add to the charm of any dark gown—an excellent plan is to have the yoke made on a well-fitted sleeveless guimpe. No lining will then be necessary to the dress, and this white collar and yoke can be washed as often as desired. Naturally the light will sell far more readily than the dark material, and it is not a bad plan to have two guimpes made for one gown. This guimpe may be of lace or of fine tucked or shirred batiste. This is, of course, merely the yoke, as the guimpe lined in the thinnest lawn, fitted tightly, but not boned, and made to fasten at the back. Other yokes are of Valenciennes, stitched together or joined by narrow bands of batiste. Again, there may be a row of Valenciennes entreeux, or Valenciennes edging. The waist is cut so as to show this yoke, either V-shaped, rounded or square. There may be the same as the yoke and made so as to be easily taken out, washed and stitched on again.

Important Change In Dress Making.

Because of the almost exclusive reign of the extremely lightweight fabrics, such as the French figured muslins and the semisilk lawns which have, within the past two seasons, increased by leaps and bounds, the art of dressmaking for summer costumes has been practically rebuilt on new lines. The old manner of making up fine lawns never included a lining or foundation. To line a summer lawn or muslin costume five, or even four, years ago would have seemed ridiculous. Now, however, no really swell summer wear is made except the material is built upon a tight-fitting foundation, usually of silk, or long cloth.

To get the best results the lining for the blouse should be made separate, as this will permit the lining to be laundered separately, and it can be given a good body with a stiff starch, and so produce a much better set to the entire costume. The lining can be caught at the shoulder seams and the waist with a few hasty stitches by the ladies' maid or by the wearer herself when the attendant is lacking. As too much starch is not fashionable in the softer muslins and mousselines de sole or louisines, this method of laundering is of every importance to remember and practice.

The newest shaped skirt for these summer gowns is in three pieces, with a five-piece foundation and three-flounced. The skirt should be cut into two fronts, with extra width for the sides, and the entire back is cut in one piece, the skirt having a left side closing in plain, which is lost under the ruffles, a dozen in number, which circles the hips from half a yard to a foot away to the knees. The flounces range from three yards in circumference for the upper one to four yards for the lowest, which gives the swell outspreading skirt that is the very mark of fashion at this time in Paris and London.

THE LATEST HAPPENINGS IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

FOOTBALL TEAM

Strength Will Depend on Enforcement of a Particular Rule.
Chance For Formation of a Strong Eleven Is Excellent.

The kind of football team produced by the Duluth Central high school this fall depends largely upon whether or not the authorities intend to enforce the rule requiring all members of the team to be in attendance at school for the last six weeks of the previous term unless they have entered as freshmen.

The rule is not enforced at any of the other high schools in this part of the country or by any of the colleges, but it has been in effect at the Duluth high school, and if enforced this year will play havoc with the team.

Swan, one of the best ends that ever played on the team, and Gallagher, the crack quarterback of last year's eleven, are both considering the advisability of returning to school this fall. They were not in attendance at the close of last year, and would not therefore be eligible to the team if the rule were enforced.

Miller, who was a student at the school two years ago, also intends to return this year and will doubtless make a position on the line if allowed to play.

Should Gallagher be allowed to play the team will have the same back field as last year. McDevitt, the full back, and Parker and Moore, the halves, are all intending to return. All of the men are heavier and stronger than last year, and have an extra year's experience at the game, and the team behind the line will be fully twenty-five per cent stronger, should Gallagher be back. Furl will also be eligible for substitute quarter and will probably make the position if Gallagher fails to show up.

On the line, Michael, Crasswell, Crammer and probably Oppel will again be eligible for positions, and there should be little trouble in filling the other three vacancies, especially if Swan and Miller are allowed to play.

Charles Moore, the half back, is captain of this year's eleven, and Charles McLennan, the manager.

The players are all jubilant over the fact that Coach Crasswell has decided to take charge of the team again this season. He laid the foundations for a fast team last year, and with the material in sight this season should be able to put an eleven into the field that will give the Duluth team a run for the championship. All of the candidates for the team are commencing preliminary work, punting and running to get into shape, and they will be ready to commence regular practice as soon as school opens.

SCIENCE OF CURVE BALL.

Things About Twirling Pitchers Do Not Know.

Writers who discourse on modern progress tell us about the astonishing advances in bacteriology, in surgery, in pathology, in the application of scientific knowledge to electricity and a score of other things, but the ordinary baseball crank of this city is not in the least interested in the fact that the curve ball is only thirty-three years since the subject of baseball curves was first discovered, says the Philadelphia Post. In the light of the fact that the curve ball is only thirty-three years old, it is not surprising that the curve ball is not as well understood as it should be.

The curve of the baseball is now no longer open to doubt, but the question with the scientific inquirer is: Why does it curve? And this question the scientific inquirer is unable to answer. The pitcher in the field tells us that the ball curves because of the spin which is given to it by the hand of the pitcher. The curve is not a straight line, but a curve, and the ball actually curves over the board and over the spot, or even further around a string suspended over the end of that straight line back of the board.

QUALITIES TO WIN

Games Are Skill, Nerve, Head Work and Staying Powers.

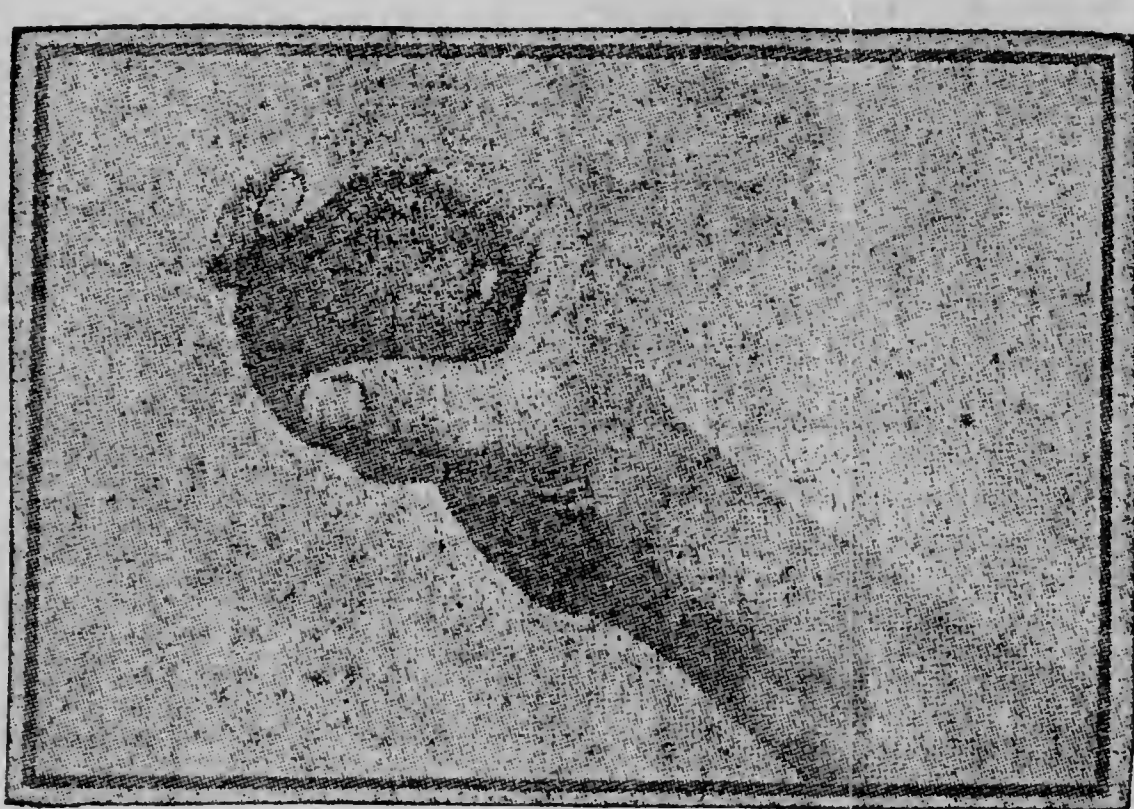

All Great Teams Developed From Ground Up, Says Murnane.

Discussing the qualities necessary to win in baseball, "Tim" Murnane says: Winning a baseball championship takes skill, nerve, headwork and staying powers. A team of skilled players will never win without attention to combinations, the nerve to stand reverses, and the temperament to obey orders and work as a happy family.

Getting out all there is in the man is the highest attainment a manager can hope for, and often second class players will beat out a fine string of players as the result of clever handling of the talent on hand.

Time has shown that the pick of the profession will seldom play well together, as each man refuses to yield to make the combination necessary to success, and all feel as competent to handle the ship as the man in charge.

All of the great teams of the past were developed from the ground up, mostly the work of some one man, as a board of directors never was known to make a success out of the playing end of baseball. It is the old story of two many cooks spoiling the broth.

This is the way to hold the ball to hand out a slow one. With the ball grasped firmly in the hand, it is impossible to throw a speedy one.

WILL TACKLE THE STARS

Younger Oarsmen to Go Against Big Eight Next Saturday.

Next Saturday the young and aspiring oarsmen of the Duluth Boat club will be given an opportunity to show their speed again in the regular crew. Ever since the race at Madison some of the less experienced oarsmen in the club have been "playing for" the eight, and have been practicing on the lake in the harbor. The first crew has been practicing on the lake in the harbor. The first crew has been practicing on the lake in the harbor.

GIANTS FAVOR SERIES.

The Players Insist on Championship Games.

New York, Aug. 20.—It is quite possible that the two winning teams of the National and American leagues will play a post-season series for the championship of the world, in spite of the fact that Manager McGraw, whose New York Nationals seem to have the pennant in that league cinched, refuses to allow his team to meet the champions of the American league.

The players of the Giants, however, have refused to go on the tour around the world, which they assert was proposed by McGraw as an excuse for not playing the American league pennant winners, and they further state that the matter has been carefully talked over by the various New York players, and at the end of the season they will play the American league champions in spite of McGraw and Brush.

The local players refuse to allow the personal spite of the owner and manager of the giants to keep them from making at least $2000 apiece, which is a series which the American league players would undoubtedly net them.

While none of the other members of the giants have spoken their opinions in the matter, it is well known that there are dissensions in the team on account of McGraw and Brush's stand in regard to a clash with the Americans for a world's series.

FOUR HAVE CHANCE

Quartet of Teams Still In Race For Northern Championship.
Two From Duluth, and Bemidji and Hibbing Teams.

The amateur baseball championship of Northern Minnesota now lies between four teams, and by a week from tomorrow the team with the best claim to the title will probably be known.

The teams are the Big Duluths, the Duluth Fashions, the Hibbing team and the fast bunch from Bemidji. There are other teams through the state that are pushing the leaders close, such as Cloquet, Virginia, Two Harbors, Evelev and some of the other local teams, but there is little doubt but that these four teams have the best records of any in this neck of the woods.

The Big Duluth team will go to Hibbing this afternoon for two games with the nine from that city tomorrow. Lovell will pitch one of the games and McDougall will probably pitch the other. Freeman, the former Superior Northern league pitcher, will twirl for Hibbing. The losing team tomorrow can be counted out of the race for the amateur championship.

A week from tomorrow the Big Duluth team and the Duluth Fashions will come together for the city championship, and another of the four nines will be counted out of the race. The Bemidji team will then probably be invited to come to Duluth and play the winner to decide the matter.

The First National bank team and the F. A. Patrick nine will play one of the regular Commercial league games this afternoon on the league grounds. The Patrick team now has a cinch on the Commercial league pennant.

The Millers will go to Two Harbors this afternoon for a game with the Two Harbors nine tomorrow. The Millers have been strengthened during the past week and should put up a good fight against the men from the range town.

Tomorrow afternoon on the Superior league grounds the leaders of the Duluth Commercial league will meet the Evening Telegram team, the leaders in the Superior city league.

The third game between the Duluth and Superior teams appears to be hanging in the air. Both teams appear to be willing to rest on their laurels rather than risk the third and deciding contest, but it is still possible that the game will be pulled off before the season ends. The great difficulty appears to be to decide upon the grounds. Each team is anxious to play on its home grounds, and neither is willing to give in to the other.

PENNANT CINCHED

By New York Club In the National Baseball League.

The Race In the American League Continues Very Close.

In the National league the pennant race seems to be all over. New York, though there is still a remote chance of beating McGraw's aggregation out of first place, seems to have the flag cinched. It will require a decided slump on the part of the Gothamites to help some other team into the lead, and that slump, which has been predicted ever since the New Yorks took command, has not been tapped as yet. Baseball men the country over agree that McGraw's team has a cinch on the pennant, and it is hard to see how it can be otherwise.

Just now it has resolved itself into a fight for second place honors, and the winners of that position are as hard to pick as it is possible to imagine. The favorite, however, seems to be the Chicago team, which has a cinch on the pennant, and it is hard to see how it can be otherwise.

KANSAS JUDGE SAYS

Baseball Is Not a Game of Cards.

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 20.—As long as the Missouri Valley league teams play Sunday games of baseball here that do not resemble cock fighting, horse racing or games of cards, the minions of the law will sit idly by. But whenever the great American sport takes on the appearance of a pinche game, a chicken fight or a steppichase the ball players will be arrested under the law which was thought to prohibit baseball on Sunday in this town.

This is the legitimate deduction from Judge Hazen's opinion in discharging "Doc" Schrant, Topeka's first baseman, in his trial for violating the law by playing ball on Sunday. Says the law: "Every person who shall be convicted of horse racing, cock fighting or playing games of cards or game of any kind on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, shall be fined not exceeding $50."

The defense contended that when general words follow particular ones they are to be construed as applicable only to things of a like nature. "Now," continued Schrant's lawyer, "a Topeka ball game does not resemble a game of cards. It is true that both use diamonds, but there the similarity stops. Leave out the horseshoe cover and the horse play, and the resemblance to a horse race ends. I challenge counsel for the plaintiff to produce the similarity between a game of ball and a chicken fight."

Counsel for the plaintiff could not rise to the emergency and Topeka's Satis will play ball at home Sundays as long as they observe the legal limitations.

VIRGINIA'S FAST BASEBALL TEAM

Back row, reading from left—Godfrey, pitcher; St. Cyr, right field; Griggs, pitcher; Patterson, manager; Pratt, first base; Donnelly, catcher; Meehan, short stop. Front row—Johnson, third base; Cuppernall, second base; Fritz Matheson, mascot; Bryan, left field; Harrington, center field.

The Virginia baseball team is one of the fastest amateur teams in the northern part of the state. It has won eleven out of twelve games played this season, losing to the fast-Hibbing semi-professional nine. Another game will be played with Hibbing in the near future and the Virginia men hope to turn the tables on their rivals.

THE FINAL FIGHT

KENNEDY BEATS HOPKINS

Kennedy Defeats Hopkins at Tennis, Placing Him in Finals.

Will Play Ray Bissonnette—Tournament Has Been Success.

The tennis championship of the head of the lakes will be decided this afternoon, weather permitting, when Ray D. Bissonnette and Loren Kennedy will meet together in the final round of the open tournament of the Endless Tennis club. Yesterday was a disastrous day for Davis and Hopkins. After Bissonnette had sprung a surprise on Davis by winning three out of five sets at noon, Kennedy defeated Hopkins in three straight sets of the prettiest kind of tennis in the afternoon.

The score does not tell a truthful tale, the game being a much closer contest than would appear. It was marked by hard driving, good playing, and sharp rallies. Kennedy was the victor in the first set, 6-4, and in the second, 6-2. Hopkins fought hard for every point at all stages of the match, but Kennedy was the more powerful player, and he won the third set, 6-2. Kennedy is playing in the best form he has shown this year.

Kennedy took the three sets by the score of 6-4, 6-2 and 6-2. The results of yesterday's games leave Bissonnette and Kennedy pitted against each other in the final. Bissonnette has been playing a remarkably strong game during the past week. He is probably more subject to "off days" than any man on the courts and at times falls down badly as in his match with Davis in the club tournament. It is now known he will give Kennedy the hardest kind of a run this afternoon. The side of the fact that Kennedy is playing in the best form he has shown this year.

GARDNER A COMING CHAMPION

Chicago, Aug. 20.—As was expected Eddie Grady has been agreed upon to referee the coming heavy-weight championship battle between Jim Jeffries and Jack Munroe, and Harry Polk, Munroe's manager, must have been given a strong argument to accept him. Harry has been loud in his denunciation of Grady ever since the Jimmie Britt-Young Corbett fight, and has time and again stated that under no consideration would he stand for him. In fact, he went so far as to say there would be no fight if Jeffries and the club management insisted upon Eddie. Even now, reports say, he is backing Grady, but that being taken as a "hot-me-down" grain of salt. With the reference question settled, all the forlorn hopes of the fight are now in the hands of the referee.

The question, however, is unanswerable, as students of the game have but a meager line on Munroe's fighting abilities. A past record shows two winning fights with Ed Limerick and Peter Maloney, respectively. His contest with Tom Sharkey was a draw. Still, in the opinion of the majority of the spectators, Jack had the better of it. His showing against Tom Sharkey is not so good as it is, which, by the way, secured him the present match. There are men who think so far as both Fitzsimmons and Limerick, victims of the champion, trimmed Sharkey more decisively than he did. This much, however, is in Munroe's favor. Munroe has over met, and if he can fight a lick and tears in to do or die in a hurry, he will be a good match for Jack. A time at least for the champion. Should he be able to pay off his debts, he is opening or try to fight over his championship aspirations will be snuffed in a hurry.

"Battling" Nelson, who battled his way into the first ranks of the one-hundred-and-thirty-pounders within the last few months, failed to make a sale of his Brit to him to a match, and to keep his muscles from becoming rusty, agreed to take on Aurelia Herrera as an opponent. Nelson's decisive victory over "Spider" Walsh, Martin Campbell and Eddie Limerick brought him right in the spot light. He was thought well in the game he would make strenuous efforts to make with the Brit or Young Corbett for the top prize. It is now thought that his match with Herrera, therefore, came as a surprise. A winner who has the hard hitting Mexican will not add much to his reputation. This because Herrera, although a crack fighter, has not yet been defeated by men supposedly not as good as he. Nelson has a good record. He has won a match with a man who is a good fighter. He has won a match with a man who is a good fighter. He has won a match with a man who is a good fighter.

The match was a good one. Nelson has a good record. He has won a match with a man who is a good fighter. He has won a match with a man who is a good fighter. HOW TO PLAY HOCKEY

Of the many games which are played in the United States, hockey is without doubt the fastest and most exhilarating. For this reason those who wish to excel as players must first be trained to keep the puck in the center of the ice. The first question a novice will ask is: How can I become a hockey player? The answer is simple. First, you must have a good stick. Second, you must have a good puck. Third, you must have a good team. Fourth, you must have a good coach. Fifth, you must have a good arena. Sixth, you must have a good referee. Seventh, you must have a good crowd. Eighth, you must have a good game. Ninth, you must have a good win. Tenth, you must have a good loss.

DEBATE IN LABOR

Between Samuel Gompers and Daniel Davenport

Next Week. Subject of the Debate Will Be the "Closed Shop."

Washington, Aug. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Probably the most important debate on labor subjects that will be had during the presidential campaign will be that between Samuel Gompers, at this city, and Daniel Davenport, of Bridgeport, Conn., before the Washington County Agricultural society, at Fort Edward, N. Y., Aug. 23 and 24. The subject of the debate will be the "closed shop," which is the uppermost topic in labor circles, and over which the long struggle between the manufacturers on the one hand and the labor unions on the other, is now approaching its climax. Messrs. Gompers and Davenport not only rank among the best speakers that could be put forth by the respective sides, but they are also the most prominent identified with the issue. Mr. Gompers, as head of the American Federation of Labor, necessarily stands as the embodiment of the principal of the "closed shop." For years this has been the great object of the labor unions consolidated to form the American Federation of Labor—to force all laboring men to join the union by preventing their employment in shops where union labor is not employed. The Federation has consistently and persistently maintained the attitude that a shop must be either "union" or "scab," and if "union," it must be "closed."

Mr. Gompers really believes in the "closed shop" as a matter of doubt, for so sagacious a man as he is undoubtedly is, can scarcely fail to read the signs of the times, which unmistakably point to the "open shop." President Roosevelt, in the case of the trouble at the government printing office, spoke for the "open shop" in terms not to be misunderstood, and the unanimity with which his utterances were applauded by the masses of the people. What is the right course for the government should be to encourage the "open shop" in all cases, and it is reasonable to presume that the public, which endorsed the action of President Roosevelt in the case cited, will also endorse that of private individuals who contend for the same principle.

However, Mr. Gompers, as the head of the American Federation of Labor, is bound to do his utmost to stem the tide in favor of the "open shop," and in the coming debate he will doubtless present all the arguments in his long experience, his great natural ability, his oratorical talents and the political acumen which made him one of the great labor organizers, and which has maintained him in that position, to enable him to skillfully ward off any attempt to introduce the "open shop" into a plausible defense of the attitude of union labor toward the "closed shop."

It will be well matched in Mr. Davenport, who is the executive agent of the American Anti-Boycott association, and recognized as the leading exponent of the employers' side of the question. The Anti-Boycott association is a secret organization of leading manufacturers and merchants with a membership extending into almost every State in the Union. It has been recognized as the most formidable weapon in the hands of the labor unions in seeking to enforce the "closed shop" by the Anti-Boycott association, as its name indicates, was formed for the purpose of maintaining the "open shop" by every legal means. For this purpose the association maintains a corps of men who make a specialty of labor laws and legislation and in pursuance of its ends the association fought the Anti-Injunction bill to a final defeat in session of congress, for it is by means of injunctions that it has defeated the unions wherever it has met them in the courts. Only a few days ago in the Kellogg Switchboard case in Chicago, an appeal against the action of the lower court which decided in favor of the injunctions, was reversed by the association that the "closed shop" was un-American in principle and that an agreement between employers and labor to that end was unconstitutional and an attempt on the part of employees to enforce an agreement of such a nature was "conspiring within the meaning of the law." Should this opinion be sustained, it will be a thing of the past, which explains the great interest which employers and employees alike are taking in the subject and makes the debate between Messrs. Gompers and Davenport, the leaders of the opposing forces, one of unusual importance at this time.

Mr. Davenport is quite as talented an orator as Mr. Gompers and the debate between the two before the various committees of congress must wait for the anti-injunction and national eight-hour bills, attracted much attention throughout the country. Since then Mr. Davenport has met a number of Socialist orators in different cities, who took exception to his charge that the labor unions were socialistic in their tendencies but this is the first time he and Mr. Gompers have met in public debate.

MILES PRAISES JUDGE PARKER

Says Speech Presents Principles of Government in Clear Light.

Esopus, Aug. 20.—Judge Parker has made public a letter from Gen. Nelson A. Miles, retired, congratulating him upon his speech at the notification ceremonies. The letter follows: Dear Sir: I wish to express my appreciation of your most excellent address in accepting the Democratic nomination. It was most comprehensive, deeper and presented in clearer light the most important principles of our government than any speech or state paper produced in many years. I would not erase a line and cheerfully endorse every sentence. It will attract the attention of the thoughtful, patriotic citizens of our country, who are a body of promise and a star of hope to millions in the Orient who are now praying for liberty and the fifty millions of people living under Democratic governments copied after our own. Very truly yours, NELSON A. MILES.

WORTHLESS CHECKS

Issued by Cheese Maker to Pay For Milk.

Shawano, Wis., Aug. 20.—A. C. Worth of Neenah, who operates fifteen cheese factories in Shawano and adjoining counties, was arrested here yesterday on a warrant charging him with issuing checks with intent to defraud, having no funds to back up his preliminary statement. He has been set for Sept. 2. The alleged worthless checks were drawn on a Clytville bank in payment for milk. Worth's factories at Hornsfort, Leona and across the Wisconsin border were attached by farmers and other creditors two weeks ago. A meeting of his creditors was held here last Wednesday, when it was decided to institute criminal proceedings. Worth declined to make any statement.

CHEMIST FATALITY INJURED. Chicago, Aug. 20.—George L. Engle, an amateur chemist, while conducting an experiment yesterday afternoon to make a photographic flashlight powder, brought about his own death by the explosion of a flask containing a mixture of chemicals. He was severely hurt, and destroyed his residence, which he had just purchased, and cost of $2,000. The explosion occurred in the basement of the Engle home, where he has a work room, and forced the floors and roof upward so that the house resembled a dome. The detonation was heard for a mile.

DUN'S WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

Confidence In Trade Improvement Marred By Labor Troubles.

New York, Aug. 20.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Confidence in continued improvement of trade has been somewhat unsettled by sensational events in the wheat market and the lack of harmony between labor and capital. It is becoming evident that estimates of the wheat crop must be reduced, although other agricultural news is much better than usual. A quantity of wheat has been up, but this obvious fact is not appreciated by those dealers who are making large profits for the future trade. Some disappointment is also felt by those who counted upon an early resumption of activity in the mining operations and other industries hampered by labor controversies. Other news of the week has contained much of an encouraging nature in several manufacturing lines there is less idleness machinery, and visiting retail buyers have estimated jobbing trade, especially in dry goods and kindred lines. Railway earnings thus far reported are only in line with what was shown a small gain of 4 per cent, as compared with last year's figures, whereas recent prevailing rates showed more or less loss in comparison with 1903.

General reduction in prices of wire products, averaging about $3 a ton, was announced by a subsidiary company of the United States Steel corporation, and aroused more interest than was warranted, because this public notice of a reduction in prices has been done heretofore privately, owing to rumors widely circulated. It is difficult to estimate how much further this war of rates may be carried, but it is being sufficiently dull to stimulate competition.

Small reductions in prices of cotton goods were made, notably in leading lines of bleached muslins, and these changes in the market have been the tone of other departments of the primary market, although list prices for many lines of goods have not been changed, the general disposition being to wait developments in other lines. Woolens are strong and the volume of business is satisfactory, while even in the line of dry goods, there is evidence of improvement. Staples are now on the market and meeting with a liberal response. Manufacturers report that they have an active season in sight.

Continually the hide market is very firm, but demand is limited, which produces a certain amount of instability. Notwithstanding the extensive changes in the market since the strike began, it is noted that there is considerable accumulation at Western points in order to take advantage of the condition of hides taken off by inexperienced men, and operations of taneries have been further stimulated. Foreign dry hides are strong and fractional advances are quoted. The market for raw hides is quiet, yet the restricted production maintained firmness, and in some cases taners advanced. Footwear factories are receiving few spring orders except for samples, but there is a fair supplementary business for fall delivery.

ARE HEIRS OF A NEGRESS

White Boys Receive $75,000 and Negro Relatives Disinherited.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Mary Alexander Amador, a negress, who died recently, has left a will which cuts off all her negro relatives and bequeathes the whole of her estate, valued at $75,000, to two white young men, Lewis Alexander, 27 years of age, and Joseph Alexander, 24 years of age, whom she had adopted in their infancy and reared until they reached the age of maturity. The woman was educated and became proficient as a linguist. She wrote, spoke and readily understood French, English, Spanish, Italian and Spanish, and was an accomplished musician. She also had an unusual memory for names and faces, and administered her husband's affairs with remarkable success and with him accumulated a fortune.

In addition to the will, leaving all her property to the two boys, their foster mother left four typewritten pages, directing them to open her safe and find there certain valuable papers, which would protect their rights and clear up the mystery that invests their lives. The story of adoption of these two white children by this woman is not unknown to a few members of the legal profession in Washington, and more than one effort has been made by influential persons to induce one of the foster brothers to claim his paternity and make a legal fight for rights that are said to be his. He has been assured that if he should do so he would become heir to one of the handsomest fortunes known from the Potomac to the Rio Grande river and that he would be recognized as a member of a Southern family that has shed lustre upon American history in statecraft, diplomacy and arms. He has been assured further that his mother was of a family no less distinguished than his father's and on the maternal side a large fortune also awaited him. He has been urged to seek his rights in the courts.

The younger of the brothers has never been urged to claim his rights in the courts, it being understood that his parentage would not justify expectation of large wealth.

UR YOUNG FOLKS PAGE

I wonder if you children know of the deep affection felt by our little feathered friends the birds for each other, and sometimes for human beings as well? Possibly the following incidents are worth relating, and may prove interesting to you:

During a severe windstorm the nest of an English sparrow, together with its tiny occupants, was blown from its place in the trellis to the pavement below, all of the fledglings save one perishing. A gentleman, passing, saw the half-dead little sparrow and picked it up, took it home with him and cared for it tenderly. Within a few days the wee birdie was fully recovered and would eat bread moistened with water from his rescuer's hand. The gentleman kept the baby sparrow till its wings and tail were feathered out and could balance it in the air; then he decided to let it go to the home nature intended for it.

During the few weeks that the bird had been an inmate of the gentleman's home the two had become mutually attached to each other. The little fellow was allowed to go at liberty about the house and would sit contentedly by the hour on the forefinger of the gentleman's left hand while he wrote with his right. And when the gentleman would leave the apartment his new roommate would hop about excitedly and chirp most lustily, never ceasing till the gentleman returned. Then it would hop joyfully to meet him, allowing itself to be picked up and perched on the great finger. There it was happy, and left off clamoring.

Occasionally the sparrow would hide away under a table or bookcase, and if its human friend, passing, saw the companionship he would whistle softly and tap the floor with his finger as a summons, and immediately the bird would hop to him in response. And there were always some crumbs or insects as a reward for its quick obedience.

But the day arrived when the gentleman thought it best to part with the little sparrow, whom he had named Dodo, and he took it on his finger and went to the outskirts of the town, where there was a fine grove. He says that Dodo seemed to feel there was to be a lasting separation, for the little fellow nestled down lovingly in his palm and could not be induced to fly away, although each day previously he had been in the habit of flying from the same hand into the branches of a climbing rosebush to feast on insects.

But on this day when Dodo was to be given his home in the woods and allowed to make friends among his kind his demonstration of affection for his giant friend was most touching, for after vainly attempting to make him fly away the gentleman was obliged to put him on the branch of a hedge plant, and as he walked hurriedly away he could hear lonely little Dodo uttering his chirp of sad remonstrance at being thus abandoned. The other instance, I have in mind of birds' affection, in this case for another feathered fellow, is chronicled by a noted naturalist, who has made this subject a study. His words are quoted here:

"For three years I have kept an English song thrush and a grouse partridge together in an aviary along with other birds. From the first the partridge evinced a strong admiration, which developed into love, for the thrush. It would sit all day long at the thrush's feet, drinking in every note that the thrush uttered, and the affection was proof against all ill treatment, for although the thrush would constantly chase it away and peck it until its feathers flew thick, it would always come back and sit enraptured by the side of the scornful object of its choice. Finally it has taken to singing to itself, in gentle undertones, a song in which all the thrush's notes, especially the characteristic and beautiful chordlike strains, are distinctly recognizable."

Two New Elements.

The discovery of two new elements by an American chemist, Prof. Charles Baskerville, of the University of North Carolina, is an event of considerable importance. If the discovery is correct, it is the work of this scientist, as there is every reason to expect. The discovery was made in the course of an extended investigation on thorium, an element originally discovered by Berzelius, and which, in the form of an oxide, is an important constituent of the mantle of the Westrich incandescent gaslight. Thorium is a radioactive substance of large atomic weight, and the same properties are also possessed by the new elements which the names carotolum and berzelium have been assigned by Professor Baskerville, the former in honor of the State of North Carolina and the latter for the famous Swedish chemist. Samples have been submitted to Sir William Crookes, the veteran British authority in chemistry, and he will endeavor to verify Baskerville's work. "Why don't you run, you naughty clock. Instead of standing still? I want to know the time of day." Thus pouted little Nell.

But the clock was dumb and would not speak; So Nell grabbed up the key And thrust it into the winding-hole. "Ah, ha, Miss Clock, we'll see. And with such lusty wind with all my might I bet you'll tell the time tonight."

Thus starting it off at a round, fast pace, Nell heard it strike as she ran to play. "I know who was stupid, the lazy thing. To be silent in the day."

At evening, after the supper was done, Nell's mamma gently said: "It's time for my little girl to bed. To get herself to bed."

"Oh, mamma, dear," begged little Nell, "It's early—let me stay!" But mamma pointed to the clock. Whose hands were running away.

"Why, gracious me—it's almost nine!" And Nell, in going, shook her fist at the naughty little clock. Whose face looked down with a merry smile As it said to her, "Tick-tock."

The King of Bowker's Yard.

From "A BOOK ABOUT BOOKS," By Robert Blatchford

Dubbins was King of Bowker's Yard. All the other boys feared and envied Dubbins, all the girls admired Dubbins, and the word of Dubbins was law.

This was due to Dubbins's personality. Dubbins was a born leader. Dubbins believed in himself. Dubbins knew what was due to himself. Dubbins lived up to himself, and was ready. If needs be, he died up himself also.

Dubbins was beautiful, but brave; tyrannical, but not mean; selfish, but not greedy; cunning, but not deceitful; and much too cocksure of his own superiority to be weakly jealous of the ability of others.

Besides, Dubbins was the oldest boy.

after some "wigglings" and nudgings, into expectant and respectful silence. Dubbins set his cap well back on his head, thrust his hands deep into his pockets, stretched out his legs, and said with proud modesty: "Well, I don't care, but you kids better keep bloomin' quiet, 'cos this 'ere takes a buster!"

The courtiers laid their breath. Emma Rutter did open her mouth, but the eye of Dubbins was upon her, and nothing came out of it. Dubbins spoke again with great solemnity: "This 'ere takes a buster, 'cos it's Gord's truth; if it ain't, I'll be choiced."

The audience cried "Yes."

"Don't scutter," said Dubbins, coolly;

Dubbins coughed and crossed his legs. Sophy Smith said "Oo." Dubbins looked her down.

"They never drinked nothin' but champagne wine," said Dubbins, "an' they washed themselves in milk, an' they ginger pop to clean the steps with. See?"

The court nodded.

"Well, things went on swimmin'." Dubbins continued Dubbins, "until one fine day the king says to the queen, says he, 'look 'ere, ole gol', 'e says, 'house me, 'e says, 'if it ain't time as our kid went to school."

"Right yer are," says the queen; "but none o' these bloomin' coves in our

the biggest boy, the strongest boy, and the naughtiest boy in Bowker's Yard. Therefore he was king of the yard, and none dare say him nay.

But never did the genius of Dubbins unbent himself in a Homeric spirit of recital. Then, indeed, did Dubbins reign, and the hearts of his subjects melt with reverence or envy.

It had been a close, hot day, and it was a hot and stuffy evening. The air of Bowker's Yard was thick and sticky; the odors of Bowker's Yard were "stronger, but not sweeter, than roses."

Dubbins sat upon the top step of the back entrance to the clogger's shop. His faithful people, a dozen children of both sexes and various ages, were grouped upon the steps below him.

"Clara, Bins, demanded order," she said; "Billy, Birtles, shush yer rap; Nancy, give up wiggle. Dubbins is a-goin' to tell us a story."

The crowd of courtiers settled down.

"See nod yer pimple!"

The court maddened their heads with feverish energy.

"Good," said Dubbins. "There were a prince."

Dubbins looked round sternly for signs of doubt.

"There were a prince," he resumed, "an' this 'ere prince ad a father an' a mother. An' they lived in a palace; an' round this palace there were a garden, an' round this garden there were a wall, an' round this wall there were a river, an' this 'ere river were a mile wide an' a mile deep, an' 'that full o' kippers, an' haddock, an' crabs, an' shrimps, as you could easy ha' scooped 'em out with a shovel. See?"

The court nodded.

"They lived in style in the palace," said Dubbins; "they ad meat for every meal, patent leather boots, rings on all their fingers, tall toppers, an' velvet coats with diamond buttons on 'em as big as glass alleys."

schools don't know nothin', an' I votes fur sendin' 'im off to a rial college of Marabudo, where they'll put 'im through up to the nines, an' no schrim-shandin' about it," she says. So they packed the prince's carpet-bag, an' sit 'im on a white elephant, with a flunkie servant, an' a lobby on a horse, an' a bootblack on a pony, an' orp they went with a rattle for furrier parts."

At this point Henrietta Sharples, carried away by the eloquence of the reason, uttered an enthusiastic exclamation of "Good, old Dubbins," and called down upon herself an angry "Shew it" from Clara Bins, and a dignified but gentle "No chinwig," from Dubbins Rex himself.

And that question was settled.

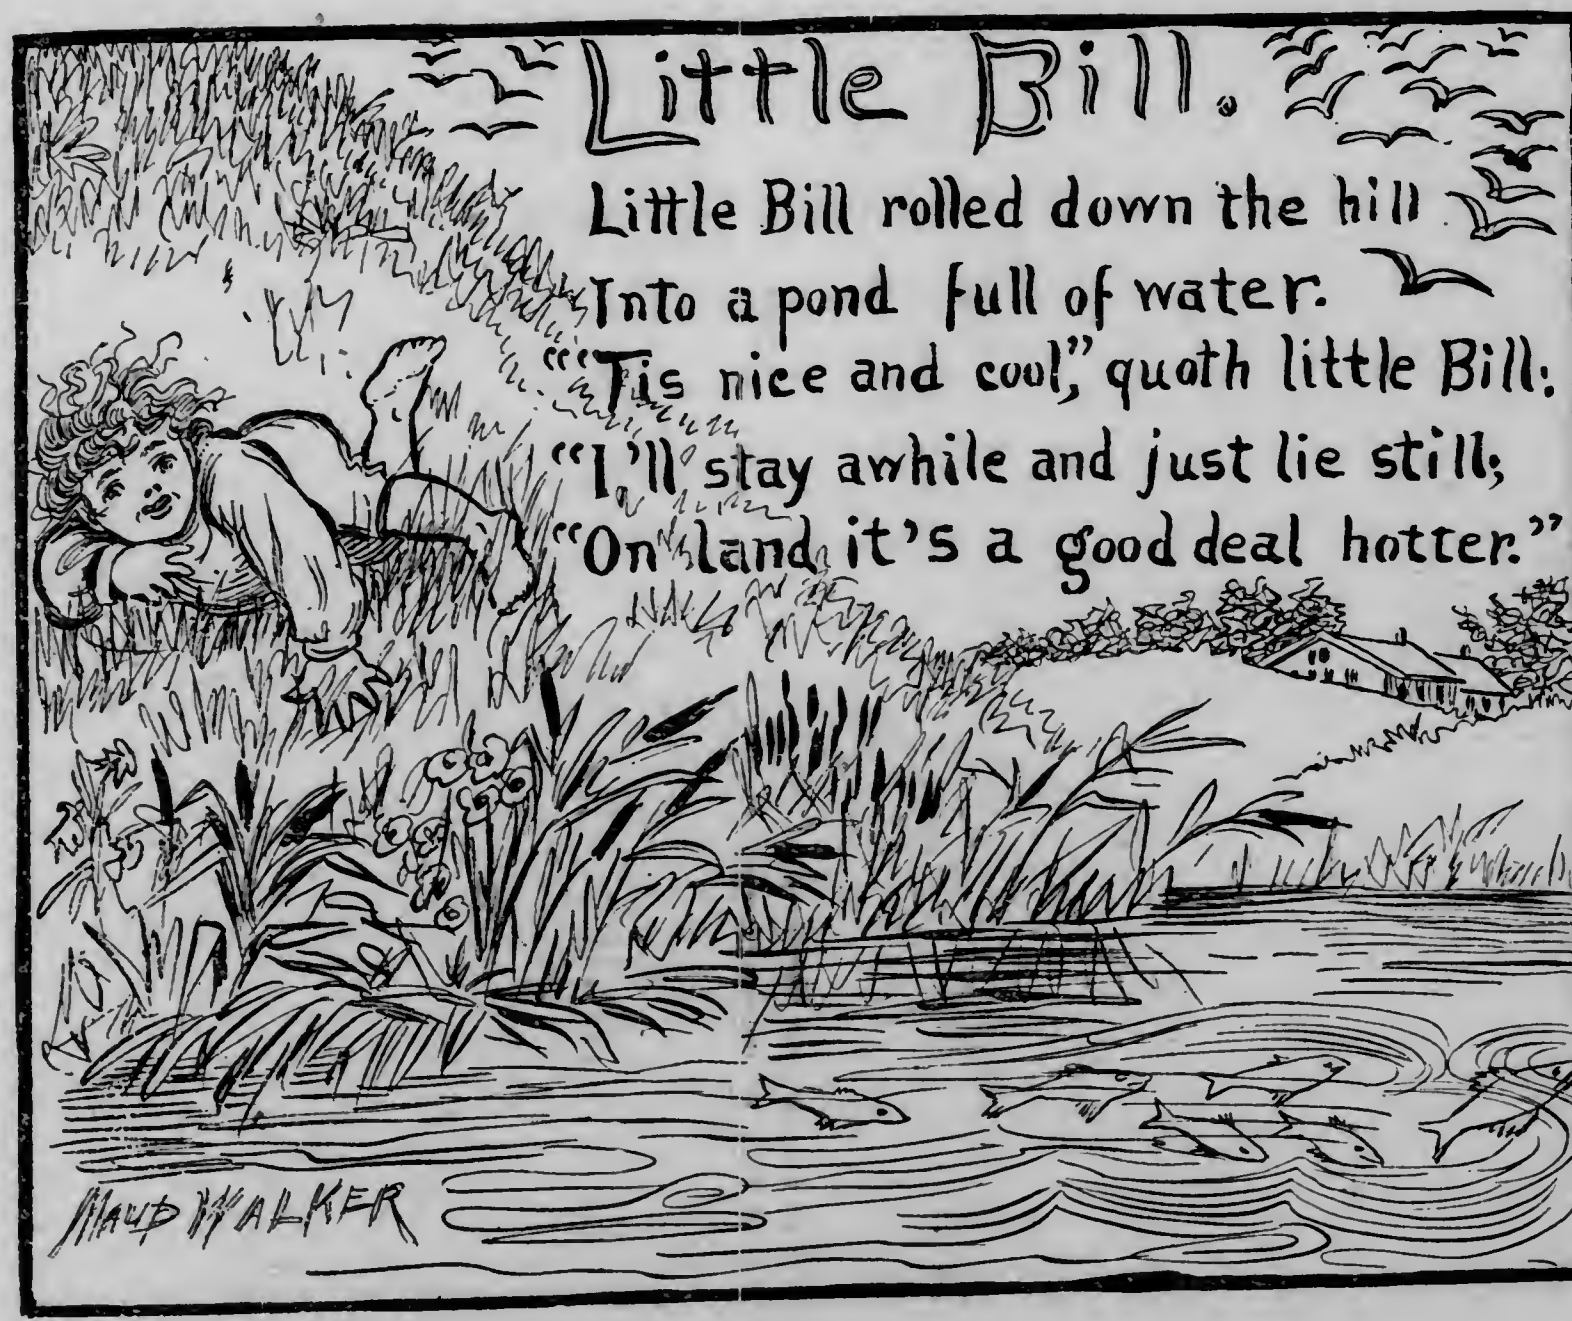

Clarence's four-year-old brother, Billy Blue Eyes, came with them every day. But little in the course of a week they had hallowed a room perhaps six feet square in the bank, had braced it with lumber they had nicked up, and had built a framework over the lake-house and covered it with boughs of trees.

Someone suggested that they ought not to use spades in digging nor nails in building, as the Philippine tribes had neither.

"Yes, they do have both," thundered Clarence, who had blisters on his hands from hammering, and wouldn't stand for any harder work.

all that 'e were a fine feller, an' could lick any boy in his street, easy."

"So they rode on faster and faster, till they came to a forest, an' stopped to pick cokerants an' shoot pigeons to make a pigeon pie. An' while they was a-shootin' pigeons up comed Huggler Muggler, the pirt king o' the forest, an' says 'e, 'Bust me tight, Mr. Prince, if you don't chuck out yer mouidy copper an' come alone o' me an' my men, I'll out with my crooked sword,' 'e says, an' make an 'orrible big ole in yer stummick. An' with that 'e blowed 'is huggler, an'—wallup! up pops the forty thieves."

"So when the prince seed as 'e weren't in it, 'e give best, an' the pirt king collared the elephant, an' the camel, an' the horse an' the pony, an' set orph back to the palls where the prince's father lived, pretendin' fur to be a circus. See?"

The court nodded, and Dubbins, with a cautionary "Nancy, don't wiggle," continued his story.

"Soon as the pirt king was gone, hup jumps the prince, an' draws 'is sword, an' says, says 'e, 'Now, me men, there's only twenty o' these bloomin' thieves left, an' let them lart as wins.' "You, Winkles!"

The court trembled and turned pale. Dubbins glanced out of the tail of his eye in the direction of his happy home. The hall was repeated in a high voice, thin, shrill and strident:

"You, Winkles!"

"Hull-oo!" shouts Dubbins Rex.

"You jes' skip this way, an' fetch yer father's beer, or you'll cop the bloomin' carache, d'ye mind?"

Dubbins rose, shook himself with kingly dignity, and strode off down the yard.

The court dispersed in various directions, all save Nancy—she was left "wiggle."

SHADOW MENAGERIE PUZZLE.

By correctly joining the above parts on a piece of white paper, an American bird will appear.

BY CHARLES LINCOLN PHIFER.

Last summer the Stringtown Kids had an Indian Camp in Walnut Grove. This grove is a 15-acre tract northeast of town, embracing a little valley, an abrupt bank from the brook and a sloping hill. The boys pitched up old carpets and made three teepees of fair size, and during the summer spent many hours very pleasantly in the assumption that they were noble red men of the forest. When school was out this year the kids met to consider whether they should again erect their totent poles at the place of the roving warriors.

Clarence Scoles declared Indians were a back number; that there were few of them left, and they were either "bums" or college graduates. He had been reading about the Indians in the "Herald" and proposed that they should establish an Igorrote and Moro village, and have dog feasts. Clarence had been a great deal of a cine man and a big chief the previous summer, and his word carried much weight with the kids. They held a council of war, smoked the peace pipe, and considered it. They were not sure they knew enough about the Igorrotes and Moros to permeate them; but Clarence hooted at that.

their mothers were doing so much for them in the way of cooking. The mothers were preparing a regular picnic dinner, and meant to surprise the kids by dropping in on them and helping at the dog feast, so the mothers were as busy as could be. This is why Mrs. Scoles did not miss Billy Blue Eyes until nearly a week or so later.

Then she remembered that she had not seen him for two hours.

"Where is that baby?" she asked.

Every room in the house was searched, but no sign of him was to be seen. Clarence hurried to no neighbor after neighbor, only to find that he had not been there.

"Like I said, he has followed that Italian with the hand-organ and monkey," said Mrs. Brown. Clarence went out in search of these worthies.

When Mr. Scoles returned from his work he at once suspected much gypsies, camped at the end of town, had stolen the child. Hearing this, Mrs. Scoles went into hysterics, but he left her under the care of a neighbor and went in search of the marshal.

The two proceeded to the gypsy camp and searched it thoroughly, and though the frightened wanderers declared they had seen nothing of the "poor chavie," the marshal thought best to arrest one of the men, and hold him as a sort of hostage in case they had taken and hid the little one. He also telegraphed the particulars of the kidnapping to the marshals of the nearby towns, so they might be on the lookout for a stray child. The entire village joined in the search. The Scoles' yard was full of sympathetic women.

"What will we use as the dog feast?" inquired Dumpy Richardson.

"Bologna, of course," answered Clarence.

The next afternoon the boys were all on hand, some with spades, some with axes and some with picks. They selected the place where the bluff was highest, and driving stakes in the branch, managed to build a platform about two feet above the water. This was the lake house. But while some said the Moros lived in lake houses, others insisted the Igorrotes dug their houses in the ground. So they decided to have both. By dint of the hardest work they dug into the bank, which, being of a firm, sticky clay formation, caved but little in the course of a week. They had hallowed a room perhaps six feet square in the bank, had braced it with lumber they had nicked up, and had built a framework over the lake-house and covered it with boughs of trees.

Clarence remained away a long time on the search. Not knowing where to look, his feet bore him where he wanted. He realized that he was lost. There, he thought there could be no harm in peeping in. He wouldn't take long. He got down on all fours and entered the cave house. Suddenly his hand touched a body, and his eyes became accustomed to the darkness, he saw it was Billy Blue Eyes. He jumped up and ran outside and whooped for joy. "The lost is found!"

Clarence could shout. Then he entered the cave and took the still sleeping boy in his arms. But finding himself alone, talking and laughing and fairly dancing for joy. The noise and confusion partly aroused Billy Blue Eyes. "Give me another piece of dog," he said, and slept again.

Everybody laughed at this, and in the explanation that followed the whole village learned of the proposed feast.

About 10 the next day the mothers of the kids gathered with them at the lake house to prepare the dog feast. Billy Blue Eyes was dressed in a colorful garment to resemble a little woman. The kids were in all manner of fantastic attires, and were armed in ways that were marvelous in their Igorrote women are the thinnest people.

Clarence's four-year-old brother, Billy Blue Eyes, came with them every day. But little in the course of a week they had hallowed a room perhaps six feet square in the bank, had braced it with lumber they had nicked up, and had built a framework over the lake-house and covered it with boughs of trees.

"Yes, they do have both," thundered Clarence, who had blisters on his hands from hammering, and wouldn't stand for any harder work.

almost like the dwarfs they have in the show."

So it was arranged that Billy Blue Eyes was to be a woman. Clarence proclaimed himself Sultan, and all the other kids became nobles, selecting titles that suited them, because they didn't know what kind of officers the Egyptians really had. Some say was brought down and spread on the floor of the lake house, and over this was spread some matting, and on the floor of the lake house, and natives wave grass mats. Then they brought down each his particular treasure, and arranged a very comfortable lounging place.

All things now being in readiness, they began to arrange for their first dog feast. The mothers of the kids, being humored the pretensions of the kids, so long as they were innocuous, for, as they could be found, so there was baking and "dixing" in more than one home. The kids were jubilant, for their first dog feast promised to be a grand success; and they planned to follow it up with a big head hunt. Head hunting was to be their principal sport.

The day before the first dog feast the kids were all least at home all day long. They didn't rebel, because promiscuously. The mothers spread a cloth on the floor of the lake house, and unpacking many baskets, set forth a menu that, to the boys, seemed marvellous. On a great dish in the center were served big links of bologna, intended to represent the dog feast. The kids put boards across the stream, so that when they stood on them the floor of the lake house served as a table.

Just as they were getting ready to eat there was a tremendous roar of drums and squeal of pipes, and the kids saw nearly the entire town entering Walnut Grove in procession, bearing the baskets of eatables. At the same time their mothers produced from some mysterious place falsefaced mounted on long poles, and handing them to the kids, told the head hunters to take their place at the head of the parade. The kids were all dressed in their gowns, and had a fine picnic, all because the losing of Billy Blue Eyes had stirred the head of sympathy in all.

Thus was the first dog feast of the Stringtown Kids made a much greater affair than anyone had anticipated.

MANY STRIKE BREAKERS FAIL TO RETURN TO STOCK YARDS OWING TO RIOTING

Practically All the Strikers Are Now Doing Picket Duty.

Union Business Agent Is Promptly Arrested By the Police.

Teamsters Said to Have Voted to Adopt Slugging Methods.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Practically every striker at the stock yards was on duty as a picket today. All working under thoroughly organized plans. Each squad has a specific territory and division. A largely increased number of policemen were assigned to the packing house district today by the city of police.

The first person arrested by the police today was Thomas Stroger, business agent for the meat cutters' union, endeavoring to lead a strike, to prevent non-union men from entering the yards. He was charged with disorderly conduct notwithstanding his protests that he was acting entirely within his constitutional rights.

The railway trainmen, who are usually crowded, were only partly filled today, showing a great falling off in the number of strikers. This is considered largely due to the shooting last Saturday night when one man was killed and others badly wounded. It is estimated that fully 1000 strike breakers who went out Saturday night to return to work today but that there were a few new men employed.

Capt. Clancy of the stock yards police station, announced yesterday that a man who had been arrested with a number of others for beating a non-union man employed in the stock yards, had confessed to him that the local union, No. 213 of the Truckmen's union, had unanimously voted to adopt slugging methods in connection with the stock yards strike and that six hundred men of the organization had been ordered to go to the yards today. Clancy said that the men from these squads, according to the confession, were to be sent to the yards from his prisoner, was to drag non-union men from street cars and beat them.

Trucking house teamsters have adopted a resolution charging that the action of the packers and police in the stock yards, and the slugging of strikers, is a violation of the constitution of the United States, and that they will not be bound by any such action. The resolution also charges that the packers, high wages and lawlessness can bring together. Police Inspector Hunt is denounced specifically.

MAY SETTLE DIFFERENCES

New York, Aug. 22.—The Democratic National executive committee conference called to meet here today, with members with the exception of Chairman Sheehan, who is now at Ear Harbor, Me., and John R. McLean, were expected to be present.

Previous to the meeting of the committee, Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, accompanied by Victor J. Dowling, vice president of the committee, and other members of the executive committee, arrived here today. Mr. Murphy and Dowling arrived, Chairman C. G. Meyer, of the state committee and William F. Felt, chief of the bureau of organization of the state committee, came to the national headquarters.

It was understood that the state and Tammany leaders met with the national executive committee for the purpose of trying to settle the differences that exist between the city Democrats known as the Murphy-McCurran faction. Soon after the arrival of Mr. Meyer there was a short conference with Chairman Taggart. Mr. Taggart pointed out to the four New York men and they had a long and earnest conversation, carried on chiefly between Mr. Murphy and Mr. Meyer. Mr. Taggart still maintains that the differences between the New York state and city organizations must be settled before the national committee.

PRESIDENT RESTS Free From Callers at Oyster Bay Home.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 22.—President Roosevelt today enjoyed a period of rest and recreation uninterrupted either by public business or by callers. Taking advantage of the beautiful weather and Mrs. Roosevelt passed the day at the Oyster Bay home. It is the president's intention during his present sojourn here to take much recreation as his public duties will permit. Comparatively few visitors will be received. President Roosevelt is deeply concerned in the situation in the far East, particularly in regard to the position of the neutrality of that part of the world not included in the Russo-Japanese war zone.

The president's full confidence in the seriousness of the complications which may develop at any time in the Orient, all attention bearing upon the situation being communicated promptly to him by the state department. Thus far only the press reports of the situation at Shanghai have been received at the executive offices, no advices having been sent here by the state department. The executive offices were opened for business again today.

FIFTEEN LIVES LOST IN FIERCE TORNAADO

St. Paul, Minneapolis and Surrounding Country Swept By Storm.

Scores Injured and Damage to Property Estimated at Over $3,000,000.

St. Paul, Aug. 22.—Fifteen people were killed in the fierce tornado which overwhelped the Twin Cities and which wrought devastation in other parts of the state Saturday night. The aggregate property loss is conservatively placed at upwards of $3,000,000. Of this amount St. Paul suffered to the extent of about $1,000,000, the damage in Minneapolis and vicinity is estimated at $1,500,000, while in the outside districts it is feared that $500,000 will not cover the damage done to crops and farm property.

Scores of other persons in all districts of the city were injured, many sustained bruises and cuts by falling timbers and glass.

Beginning at a point below Fort Snelling there is the first known evidence of the East St. Paul roundhouse, changed and he is resting easily this morning.

Dr. Warren R. Gilman, in discussing the case today spoke more encouragingly than he has done for several days.

"The senator is still very weak and in a critical condition, but I think he has shown improvement in the last twenty-four hours."

Then the doctor added: "If he continues to take nourishment and if the weather is so sultry tonight that will cause the people of Worcester to be satisfied that the fact that such an accident as Mr. McCormick has met with is not a rare occurrence."

RECOGNITION OF PASSPORTS OF Russian Jews, Naturalized as Americans, Now Under Discussion.

Washington, Aug. 22.—It appears that the representations of the state department to the government of Russia regarding the recognition of American passports issued to naturalized Russian Jews was forwarded to Ambassador McCormick from Washington early last July.

The ambassador has probably been holding it at the embassy awaiting a favorable moment for its presentation. It is surmised that the present is a favorable moment for its presentation, the fact that an incident to the birth of an heir to the Russian throne, the czar is expected to be in a feverish mood and consequently more likely than at any other time to listen to such an appeal as Mr. McCormick has made.

The basis of the ambassador's action is found in what is known as the Goldfogle resolution adopted at the session of the house of representatives. This resolution requested the secretary of state to inform the Russian government that American citizens, Jewish religious faith holding American passports are barred from Russia, and whether the Russian government discriminates between American citizens attempting to visit Russia with American passports, and further, whether the Russian government has made special regulations applying to American citizens, native or naturalized, of Jewish faith, holding American passports.

In his reply to the house, Secretary Hay said emphatically that American Jews are not discriminated against by Russia, nor are they at a greater disadvantage in that country than are the Jews in other countries. The secretary says that if it was otherwise, the state department would immediately protest as to the standing of naturalized citizens in Russia.

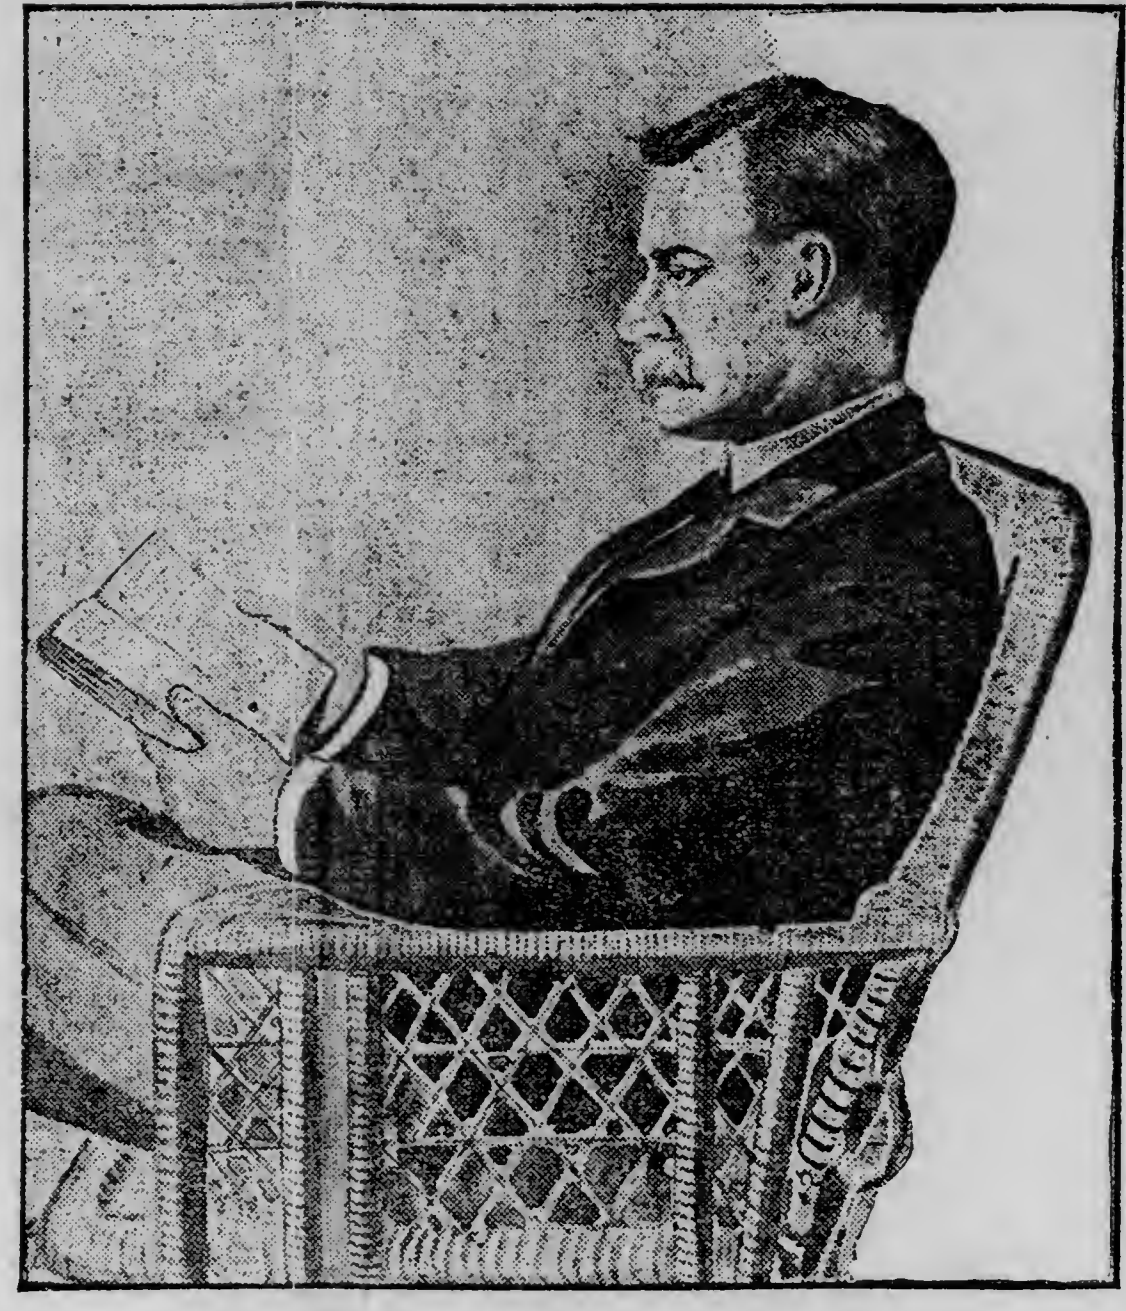

The state department is now sending to all persons of Russian birth who receive passports an unofficial notice showing the conditions of Russian law. It is the conditions of Russian law that are to be affected, in order that they may not incur danger through ignorance. At the same time, the department expressly states that it does not in any degree state its intention of protecting equally naturalized and native-born Americans traveling abroad, nor does the notice indicate the department's strong dissent from the Russian legislation.

HOAR IMPROVING. May Again Be Seen on Floor of Senate.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 22.—The following bulletin concerning the condition of Senator Hoar was issued at 9:45 this morning by his son, Rockwood Hoar:

"The senator passed a fairly comfortable night and took some nourishment. His general condition remains un-

THRILLING STORY OF ENGAGEMENT AT SEA Naval Battle In Korean Straits Full of Unparalleled Incidents.

Vladivostok, Aug. 22.—Thrilling stories of the engagement of the Russian cruisers Rossa and Gromobol with the Japanese are told by the survivors of that awful sea battle.

The death of Lieut. Brash, of the Gromobol, is reported as having been particularly tragic. He was hurled from the bridge of the cruiser by the explosion of a shell. Although mortally wounded, the lieutenant pulled himself together and continued to issue orders and encourage his men until he was removed between decks. A man seriously wounded by the same shell continued doing his duty and did not report to the surgeons for treatment until the next day. The Gromobol and the Rossa present a battered appearance. Their smokestacks showed great rents, while the masts, bridges and ventilators look like sieves and there are marks of shelling everywhere. Guns are dismantled, boats shattered and there are enormous holes in the cruisers' hulls through which a man could easily pass. Many of the cabins were completely wrecked.

Some of the Japanese shells performed queer actions. On the Rossa a shell burst in the gun turret, but the turret itself was not disturbed. Another part of the cruiser the walls burst into a thousand fragments. A fierce fire in which eight men were burned alive, yet an almanac on the wall was not even scorched. The Gromobol's shell entered the ward room and destroyed the furniture, but some clothing on the wall was untouched. It was deadly work on the upper deck where the gunners were without protection and shells striking burst into a thousand fragments, killing and wounding men until the deck became a veritable shambly—strewn with dead and dying and slippery with blood. Not a single gunner protected by casemates lost his life. The value of protective armor was demonstrated whenever projectiles struck the armored portions of the vessels.

There were many deeds of heroism during the five hours battle, but the greatest praise belongs to Captain Dabich, of the Gromobol, who remained at his post on the bridge from the beginning to the end of the fight. When wounded in the back, he persisted in resuming command directly the wound had been dressed, not yielding to the entreaties of his officers, he sought shelter in the conning tower. No sooner had he entered than a shell struck the foot of the tower, glancing upward to the conning tower, killing a lieutenant and the quartermasters, wounding two lieutenants and again wounding Captain Dabich in the head and breast. Not a single man in the tower escaped. There being no one to steer the ship, the captain, severely wounded though he was, dragged himself to the wheel and managed it until another quartermaster had been summoned.

There were many things that the men were depressed by the fact that he had been wounded a second time, the captain insisted, after the second dressing, on being supported along the decks to the casemates, encouraging the sailors, saying, "I am alive, brothers. Go on smashing the Japanese."

When Capt. Andrieff of the Rossa ascertained that only three out of her twenty big guns could be fired, he coolly gave orders to get explosives in readiness to shoot the ship. Capt. Andrieff is usually nervous, but in battle he was as cool as a cucumber. When not giving orders he was cheerfully conversing with the gunners at their stations.

Capt. Berlinski was killed by a splinter which struck him on the head at the outset of the fight.

Lieut. Molais distinguished himself. A shell entered the compartment where he was directing the fire and set fire to the deck on which a number of charges were standing. Then came an eight-inch shell, which scattered the charges and caused a terrific explosion, which threw the men in every direction and hurled Lieut. Molais to the upper deck. Fortunately he fell on a heap of dead bodies and escaped with severe bruises. Dense fire and smoke were then pouring out of the compartment, but Lieut. Molais did not hesitate for a moment. Calling for volunteers, he plunged headlong into the flaming compartment and succeeded in putting out the fire.

Another officer, followed by a number of sailors, brought a hose and played water upon Lieut. Molais and his men while they were removing the unexploded charges, regardless of the fact that they might have exploded at any minute in their hands.

Only one of the dead was brought back—Capt. Berlinski of the Rossa. His remains lay in a coffin near an altar of the Russian chapel, the image of which was smashed. The image, however, miraculously escaped. All the others who were killed were buried at sea. A farewell salute being fired as the bodies were slid over the ship's side.

The seamen of the Rossa and Gromobol who survived are cheerful. They responded to the greetings of Vice Admiral Skrydloff with joyful hurrahs.

On board the Rurik were twenty-four officers, a priest, eighty-seven officers and a large number of sailors.

The wife and daughter of Capt. Troustov and the wives of Engineers Evanes, Sargan and Soultouk, who are here, are half crazed with grief and despair.

Capt. Berlinski, who was wounded in the battle with the Japanese squadron, Aug. 14, was buried last Wednesday in the most impressive military honors. Nearly all the inhabitants of the town attended the funeral. Most of the wounded officers now in the hospital are expected to get well, and of the wounded men the recovery of 312 is now assured.

Vice Admiral Skrydloff has visited the hospital and distributed among the wounded the crosses of St. George.

SIMPLY CARRIED DISPATCHES. Shanghai, Aug. 22.—Recd. Admiral Stirling says that the trip of the American torpedo boat destroyer Chauncey, from Wung Sue to Shanghai yesterday, was to carry dispatches. Her movements had no connection with the arrival of the Japanese torpedo boat destroyer.

CONSULS PREPARE STATEMENT. Shanghai, Aug. 22.—The meeting of the foreign consuls here today resulted in the preparation of a statement of the established facts regarding the Russian warships Askold and Grozovoi. The Russian authorities show a disinclination to reconsider their refusal to comply with China's demand that the two ships leave Shanghai or disarm.

"MISSOURI WEEK" AT THE FAIR. St. Louis, Aug. 22.—This week has been designated as "Missouri week" at the exposition and each day will be replete with special events incident to the occasion.

Heavy Firing Is Heard in the Region of Louisa and Pigeon Bay.

Jap Fleet Bombards City of Korsakovsk on Shakhalin Island.

Taolai of Shanghai Says He Is Unable to Enforce Neutrality.

Che Foo, Aug. 22.—It is asserted in reliable quarters at Port Arthur that the Japanese have received reinforcements of 30,000 men from the north.

The steamer Victoria, which arrived here this evening from Newchwang, reports hearing spasmodically heavy firing at Louisa and Pigeon bays respectively, northwest and west of Port Arthur, between 10 o'clock last night and this morning. The Japanese searchlights playing freely and sky-rockets signaling at 1 o'clock this morning. The ship was too far away to hear or see anything further.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 22.—The emperor has received a report, dated yesterday, from the Russian commandant at Korsakovsk, island of Sakhalin, as follows:

"Since 7 o'clock this morning the enemy has bombarded Korsakovsk. The government houses have been destroyed. One of the enemy's ships approached to within about five miles of the shore and bombarded Korsakovsk, until 8:15, when the vessel turned and disappeared. The damage done to the town was quite considerable. There were no casualties."

Paris, Aug. 22.—The officials here confirm the statement that the taolai of Shanghai has informed the Chinese government that he is unable to enforce the neutrality of the port. In spite of pro-Russian sympathies, serious opinion here considers that Russia's conduct in the difficulty is not justifiable, people holding here that the Askold and Grozovoi should disarm or leave Shanghai.

STUBBORN RESISTANCE Of Stoessel at Port Arthur Excites Admiration.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 22.—The storming of Port Arthur, which the foreign dispatches say is progressing, is riveting all attention. The brave and stubborn resistance which General Stoessel is making is exciting high praise and the war office and public are hoping almost against hope that he will be able to hold out in spite of the heavy odds against him. The latest news that the Japanese are unable to establish a foot hold at Louisa bay and at the most westerly fort of the inner defenses, is considered encouraging.

An official dispatch from Rear Admiral Prince Gromobol by way of Che Foo says that only two officers were killed on board ships which returned to the harbor after the fight of August 10, but this information about the condition of the ships is unsatisfactory, the admiralty explaining that he avoided going into specific details owing to fear that the dispatch might fall into the hands of the Japanese.

News that the Russian fleet has again sailed out is expected at any hour, as Rear Admiral Prince Gromobol's orders are imperative to go out or destroy his ships beyond the possibility of repair before the fortress falls.

The loss of the gallant Novik in a fight against two Japanese cruisers at Korsakovsk, island of Sakhalin, is not yet known. The glass frame of the ship was smashed. The image, however, miraculously escaped. All the others who were killed were buried at sea. A farewell salute being fired as the bodies were slid over the ship's side.

The seamen of the Rossa and Gromobol who survived are cheerful. They responded to the greetings of Vice Admiral Skrydloff with joyful hurrahs.

RUSSIANS NOT CONFIDENT Of Holding Port Arthur Very Much Longer.

Che Foo, Aug. 22.—The Chinese just arrived, who bring the latest information from Port Arthur, were employed by the Russian authorities carrying the dead off the field and also ammunition, which they say is plentiful, confirm the statement that the last promontory was not captured for the reason that the Japanese are unable to move on from the north.

The Japanese main attack has been the heaviest against the Russian center and right, particularly against the center, which is constituted of less hardened troops, and the Japanese have taken up a strong position at Shu Shi Yen. Pigeon bay had been the scene of fighting several days before the final assault had begun. The Japanese never being able to hold for long any territory they might gain. Their attacks were made mostly at night, during foggy days and misty mornings.

The Japanese believe that their superior physical condition will win the battle for them by wearing out the Russian garrison, which is constituted of less hardened troops, down to the point of exhaustion by the persistence of their attack and their refusal to accept a truce.

The temperance of the Russian garrison is doubted and determined. Gen. Stoessel, who is heavy, rides ceaselessly on his chargers, which are showing the strain upon them, although the general changes his mounts frequently.

Both officers and soldiers have grown indifferent to the shells which enter the town frequently. Recently the Chinese theater was hit and a score of people were killed and wounded. One shell exploded in the corner of the Chinese, who tell the story, killing five drunkards.

Civilians are allowed to leave the bombproofs during the lulls in artillery fire, but these intermissions are rare and every one is worn and anxious over the situation. An unusually large proportion of the Russian soldiers are killed and killed, which is particularly owing to their duty and to their recklessness.

While the Russians apparently believe they will hold the Japanese in check, the Russian authorities are not sure that it is not absolute. The Japanese have guns of the latest type and the shells which formed Russian outposts.

CHINESE UNABLE To Protect the Foreign Settlement at Shanghai.

Shanghai, Aug. 22.—The taolai has notified American Consul Goodnow, who is dean of the consular body, that China cannot protect the foreign settlements. He contends that Russia ignores the orders issued by China and China has not the means of making her obey them. Consul Goodnow has called a meeting of the consular body to take joint action for the protection of foreign inhabitants. The Askold has docked adjacent to the warehouses here of the Standard Oil company, which are valued at over $1,000,000. The Standard Oil company has demanded protection for its property from Consul Goodnow.

The dock where the Askold lies is owned by British interests. On one side of this dock is German and Dutch property and on the other side American property.

There are eight American, one German, two British and four French warships here.

NO INSTRUCTIONS Sent to Shanghai Concerning Preservation of Neutrality.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Consul General Goodnow cabled the state department today from Shanghai, telling of the appearance of the Japanese vessel in the harbor there. He made no mention of the reports of the action of the American torpedo boat. The cablegram referred to the valuable American property on the docks near where the

THE DIANA AT SAIGON.

Paris, Aug. 22.—The foreign office confirms the report of the arrival of the Russian cruiser Diana at Saigon, French Indo-China. France, it is announced, will strictly observe the laws of neutrality in the case and it is not anticipated that any difficulties will arise.

Mrs. John Miller was hostess today at a beautiful luncheon at which her guests, Miss Johnson, of Detroit, and Miss Newell, of Kenosha, Wis., were the guests of honor. Miss Newell is the guest of Miss Simmonds. The luncheon was given at the Kitchi Gamiel club. The table was set in the shape of a horseshoe and was extremely beautiful in its decorations of pink and white sweet peas and pink tulips. Pink shaded candles cast a lovely glow over the table. Covers were laid for forty.

A St. Paul paper says of the wedding of Miss Edith H. Crawford, who is well known in Duluth, where she lived for a number of years:

"Miss Edith H. Crawford, of Duluth, Minn., was married at the bride's home on Selby avenue, Thursday evening, in the presence of relatives and intimate friends. Miss Cornelia Crawford, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and E. E. Crawford, the bride's brother, was best man. Miss Cornelia Crawford, the bride's niece, was flower girl. Mr. and Mrs. Mercer will reside in Minneapolis after returning from their wedding trip."

Miss Loretta Jones, of Ishpeming, Mich., was guest of honor at two delightful parties last week. Monday a delightful evening party was given in her honor, and Wednesday a picnic party at Lester Park was given for Miss Jones.

Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Paine will entertain at a pavilion dance, in honor of their daughter, Miss Mary Paine. The affair will be given at the pavilion at Lester Park.

This evening Misses Mabelle and Georgia Clark will entertain at a dancing party at the pavilion at Lester Park.

Miss Leta Phelps left this afternoon for Leland Stanford university, at California, where she will enter her second year of study.

Mrs. E. C. Regill and daughter, Dorothy, have returned from a Western trip.

Mrs. James Burk, of Buffalo, N. Y., is the guest of Mrs. Carl Eiman, of 611 East First street.

Miss Agnes Cowles and Miss Frances Naufts, of Topeka, Kan., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Cowles, of Lakeside.

Mrs. Stevens, of East Superior street, left today for a visit at Minneapolis and St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith, Miss Helen Smith and Mark Smith have gone to Dakota, where they will spend three weeks.

How Automobile Disease Affects London Man.

A few months ago my son could talk quite rationally, but lately he has been smitten with the craze to talk "motorese," says a writer in London. "From first to last, he talks of nothing but automobiles, and he speaks the language beautifully. The language in question consists of nothing else but motor terms, and the person who has caught the disease thinks it is very funny and clever to compare things with motors. "I have no time to waste and some grease," when he wants a towel and some soap. "How are you this morning?" he inquires. "I hope your carburettor is working well. I have no doubt that this may sound very nice to those who are engaged in the trade, but to a man who has no interest whatever in motors, it is out of place. It was against my wish that my son ever entered the motor-car business at all. I had no idea what might happen. If, however, I could have foreseen what would happen, my only boy would not be able to talk this new language so fluently.

Even in love-making he cannot forget motor-cars, for his fiancée came to the poor girl declared that she would not be called a "tomeau" by him or any one else, and that her mother would not allow her to marry him unless he signed the pledge.

Whenever I have reason to chide my son, he tells me to "keep my cylinder cool, or I'll have the head blow off."

If we pass a place of refreshment he will ask whether we shall "fill our tanks." I am getting used to his motorese now, so I know he means refreshment. Then he says "What brand of petrol do you take—Pratt's or Carless Capels?" Another time he asks whether it is not time to "lubricate the bearings."

The other day I mentioned that a friend was down with an attack of fever, and he at once said, "Ah, his radiator is out of order." Thus even illness does not prevent him from talking in this absurd way.

Then, again I was speaking to him of a lady friend of mine, when he interrupted me with, "Oh, you mean that woman with the four horse-power no-throttle-laugh!"

If he sees a smartly dressed, pretty girl, he says: "Ah, a smart light car, nicely upholstered!" It was because of this fond of comparing people with motors that he insulted his mother-in-law to be by calling her a "two-ton lorry with no silence." The lady was so indignant that it took me two hours to persuade her to reinstate him in her good graces. At ten times, if he wants better, he calls out for "some of that thick gear-box grease," although it is good Dorset. If he wants a cup of tea, he asks for some "thin oil," even though I pay two shillings a pound for my tea.

He does not care to speak to anyone who does not possess a car, and he judges one's wealth by the number of cars he keeps. If a man keeps two or three cars, he is considered to be a wealthy man. The climax, however, is reached when a man owns a 40-horse-power racing car. My son then looks upon him as a sort of Chinese joss.

The ambition of my son is to drive a car in the Gordon-Bennett race, and he says when he has done this he will be contented. He feels quite sure that if only he drove one of the cars he would win the trophy.

I have had to pay no less than six guineas for him because he decided to speed limit, and now he wants to buy a motor car for himself. But this state of affairs is going to cease, for I have made up my mind that he must give up the motor-car business and enter a profession where there is less chance of him talking "shep" all day long. If he does this I shall regain the spirits I have lost during the past few months; but if he does not fall in with my idea, I will cast him off, for I must be freed somehow, if he would only slow down!

Reunited.

They kissed, and then they kissed again.

And then they kissed again; and then they cried: "Why, Lou! It's you!"

"Why, Jen! And then they kissed again."

And then—well, then they kissed again. And Jen kissed Lou, and Lou kissed Jen.

Each screamed a little scream; and then, well, then I think they kissed again.

'Twas on the street. I stopped. And I did, well, then they kissed again; stood off, approached, embraced, and then, well, then I think they kissed again.

Oh, they were such good friends! And when I left, I saw them kiss again. And as I went I heard them say: "They had not met since—yesterday."

THE EVENING STORY.

THE "LUCKY BAKER MINE"

By Lily Leighty Berg.

(Copyright, 1904, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)
Well, Lucy, that claim is no good either," and the young miner threw down his pick and shovel by the cabin door where his wife stood waiting for him. "What do you mean now, Jack?" the girl wife tried to be cheerful, but tears almost gathered in her gray eyes and her cheeks flushed through their tan. "Tomorrow Tom and I will go to town for supplies and the next day we will take another look at the shaft which promised so well at first. I still have hopes of that. There, little girl, don't cry. I know it's hard on you, but it's the only way. Either we strike it rich this fall, or we move where I can get work. But I still have hopes of finding it, and then you may start for home the very next morning. Won't that be grand?" Now let's have supper.

Lucy was crying harder by this time, but she hastily dried her tears and tried to choke down her disappointment. This was the third year that she had hoped in vain for a visit to the old home, which she had not left for even a week until she had married "Jack" Baker five years ago. That same year he had taken the gold fever and together they had come across the plains. Luck had been against them so far, yet Lucy had been very patient except when autumn came. Then she showed in every little expression how deeply she was longing for home and friends. Jack saw her tears this evening and knew that they were forerunners of another period of autumnal melancholy, and it gave him renewed determination to strike gold before the long winter set in again.

Lucy's melancholy had indeed come, but in a new form. She felt she must go home or give up trying to live. It would be impossible to be in any longer. In this mood she was ready to do anything that would aid in fulfilling her desire. After her husband had gone to sleep that night, Lucy stole out to walk in the moonlight as was her custom on such times. It was a still, sultry night, and the howl of the wolves further up on the mountain only helped to soothe her troubled feelings and encourage thought. And Lucy thought as she went home before. It was after midnight when she ceased walking back and forth before the mine cabin which was home to her no longer, and tried to sleep, but in vain. A plan which came unbidden into her mind and to her surprise her mind carried it out in such detail that it frightened her. She had never been guilty of a dishonorable act in her life, and she was amazed at the very thought of one. "Get thee behind me, Satan!" she exclaimed inwardly, but the spirit had taken possession and refused to be driven out. By the time she arose to prepare Jack's early breakfast her mind was worked out ready for execution.

Her indifference for Jack's feelings and her own selfishness came to her a moment, when she saw how deeply he took defeat, but when he was out of sight down the mountain path she was again strong enough to begin her well-laid scheme.

Going to a little chest in the corner, Lucy took out a bag of unsifted gold dust, and tying on her sunbonnet, she went out into the yard. Here she picked up a long bar until she came to a number of claims marked "Baker" on rude poles. Lucy faltered for a moment when she felt that they were tombstones for the hopes of many men. She had dominated her actions just then and she moved about until she found the one her husband had mentioned the evening before. She disappeared within the shaft which led to the mine, and Lucy looked in view at intervals in a way that told how busily its owner was working down there just out of sight.

In the course of an hour Lucy appeared again. Her face was flushed and her eyes were bright. She had been at it and her whole appearance was one of excited expectancy. She turned to look at her work, she had just completed and murmured: "They're sure to find it before tomorrow. I'll bet they will. Poor Jack! But he will soon get over it and follow me." Lucy had no change in his wife that night, he said nothing, and he was full of new hope. "Now I'll bet," he cried as the clock on the wall struck nine, "and tomorrow I'll bet it will be the next day, Lucy—" but Lucy had gone out in the kitchen to see about things for breakfast, and incidentally to hide a strange light that came into her eyes.

Jack did not come home to dinner the next day and Lucy wondered. Could they have come across it before now? she asked herself. "It must be, though, ever. Poor Jack!" But down, deep in her heart it wasn't "poor Jack." During the autumnal season she had secretly blamed him for taking her away into the wilderness, blamed him for not getting her money to send her home, and almost blamed him for not finding gold on a

Here her thoughts drifted from mines to the old home. The leaves were turning and the autumnal tints were making themselves sitting on the old bench in the garden, and the haze on the mountain side was that which quivered over the meadow which stretched away before the old favorite rising from the foot of the mountain. Her side there was not vacant and neither did wish to be. She could even hear her voice in the revelry as she had often heard it in those days. Suddenly her eyes started up and she saw a water-jug standing on the table. "What a queer thing!" she thought. "I have never seen a water-jug standing on a table before."

Murphy for the Lucy Baker mine. She had a sudden change of mind. "She's a hummer, and no mistake this time!" Jack thought. "I'll bet she's got it in her excitement followed it with his water-jug. Standing on the table!" "What a queer thing!" she thought. "I have never seen a water-jug standing on a table before."

"The twenty mile ride, for Lucy Baker. Many things troubled her in spite of the fact that she was going home. "She's a hummer, and no mistake this time!" Jack thought. EXPECT NO DECLINE

Lumber Manufacturers
Look For Good Market Next Year.

Lake Superior Mills Well
Sold Up—Prices Firm.

The Lake Superior lumber manufacturers are expressing more and more confidence in the prospect for a fairly good business this fall, followed by a good winter and spring demand. Whatever may be the fate of the crops, it is believed there will be sufficient demand to take care of all the product of the mills. The fact that the Lake Superior manufacturers are pretty well sold up is pointed out as a strong indication that there is nothing in the situation to justify any weakening of the market with respect to prices. Some of the lumbermen, it is said, have been making efforts to stimulate the demand for certain grades by cutting prices, but in general that sort of practice is deprecated by the manufacturers, who claim there is no reason for it.

Some predictions are being made that before next spring it will be necessary to resort to the Upper Mississippi river points for supplementary supplies because the 1904 stock is so well sold up at the head of the lakes. The lumbermen of the Northwest are said to be adopting the policy of holding the balance of their stocks well in hand at firm prices, in conformity with the prospects of demand, which, they say, will not come with a rush, but will be a steady improvement.

The lumbermen have always figured to a certain extent on prosperous crop years to increase the demand for lumber among the farmers, and while the present indications are that the farmer trade is not likely to be heavy this fall, there is still a large amount of building improvement going on in the cities and villages, which is bound to be maintained to the close of the season.

Every week brings buyers to the Duluth market, some of them having remained here several days. Some lumber is being sold right along, and some of the manufacturers are cleaning up in everything connected with their 1904 cut, even to the culs.

Among the sales known to have been made in the past week or ten days are those by the Tower Lumber company, one for 3,000,000 feet and another of 750,000 feet.

Lumber is moving forward by the lakes steadily, but the curtailment of the boat supply in the effort to hold up lake carrier rates is having its effect. The Delong & Chamberlain company, which has been sailing at Nickerson, Minn., for the Seaton-Gilson Lumber company, of Minneapolis, is winding up its operations and in another week will have saved the last log to be put in at Nickerson. The disposition of the mill has not yet been decided on, but it is likely to be dismantled and sent to the localities, where there is more abundant.

The Ashland Lumber company is said to have made a sale and shipped by rail to a Duluth factory 300,000 feet of matched plank.

David Kimball, formerly with the Peyton, Kimball & Barber company in Superior, until it finished its sawing contracts, is now at Duluth, where he is with the Thier River Falls Lumber company, at Thier River Falls, Minn. Mr. Barber was a visitor at the head of the sawmill plant at Tower, where he was a few days ago, coming up from Minneapolis.

A strike of the lumber pilers at the Murray-McCann sawmill, on the Superior bay, caused a shutting down of that plant for about two days. The men, who were getting $2 per day struck for $2.25. The matter was finally compromised at $2.15. The mill gives employment, to about seventy men on both shifts.

It's a Good Time to see what a good staying breakfast can be made with—

Meat

A little Fruit,
A dish of Grape-Nuts and Cream,
Two slices very hard toast,
A cup of Postum Food Coffee.

That's all, and all very easy of digestion and full to the brim with nourishment and strength.

REPEAT FOR LUNCH and then have a meat and vegetable dinner.

We predict for you an increase in physical and mental power.

August Clean-up Sale of Linens and White Goods

Continues for the coming week. The values will be on a still broader margin. Many lots are narrowed down to a few numbers of a kind. These are re-marked and will furnish low price surprises—other lines are still further reduced to make this week a clean-up in earnest. Come and supply your future needs at a remarkable saving.

The August Furniture Sale

The final clean-up with the greatest furniture values of the year commenced today. The opportunity to secure a nice piece of fine furniture at less than the actual cost of making will appeal to all economical people. It's a question of making more room for the new arrivals that prompts us to make such decided cuts during the final week.

HAPPENINGS IN DAKOTAS

Boy Killed By Pulling a Gun Muzzle Towards Him.

SOUTH DAKOTA.
Doland—Roy Dearborn, a boy 15 years old, residing south of town, was accidentally killed while hunting. He was on a buggy and was pulling his gun up, muzzle first, when it was discharged, the entire load entering Dearborn's stomach.

Arllington—Rev. Arnold Lutton, in charge of the Episcopal organization here, has been elected to go to Chicago, where he will become assistant rector of the Church of Our Saviour.

Redfield—A young man who says he is a resident of Oakdale, Kan., was struck by a North-Western freight train and his left foot had to be amputated.

Pierre—A case called in justice court in this city shows the extent to which the children of two families engaged in a quarrel over the possession of a doll. The fire which started in a cattle train just east of this city was set by sparks from the engine, and was discovered in the second and fourth cars back of the engine at about the same time. The train was hurriedly broken up and the burning cars separated from the rest, and the doors broken open to allow the cattle to escape. The stock belonged to "Scotty" Philip and one car was practically a complete loss, the cattle not burned being so badly scorched or injured in jumping out that they are worthless. The cars were thrown off the track and burned to scrap iron.

Fargo—Thomas W. Swift, secretary of the board of education, is dead. He failed to recuperate after a long illness and an operation. He had been secretary of the board fourteen years.

The Fargo city tax levy will be less than last year. The amount of assessable property is larger and a smaller total will be necessary.

Portal—The town is all excitement over the recent burglaries and holdups. Today the stockman who was held up by between the Soo and Canadian Pacific stations here, recognized the man in the person of Fred Green.

Green had been ordered out of town and had crossed to the Canadian side, but was induced to come over by the American side, and a deputy sheriff promptly placed him under arrest. He was not to be taken easily, and slipped out of the deputy's hands and ran across a field. Half the town was after Green when he was finally cornered. With E. Martinson he was arraigned before Judge Matthews, and held for further examination.

ENOUGHNo More Fairs to Be Given in St. Louis County.The Present Management Finds That People Will Give No Support.So far as the present members of the St. Louis County Agricultural Association are concerned there will be no more county fairs here. This has been decided on as a result of the failure of the last fair, and a statement to that effect was made by Secretary S. E. Peachey today.The people will not support the fair, the merchants take no interest in it and it is almost impossible to get exhibitors. The management had solicited out this year's fair with exhibitors, but even with this effort the display was nowhere near what it should be from a county of this size.
The attendance was very poor with the exception of one day, Duluth day, and the public seemed to take almost no interest in the fair. The association has lately spent a large sum on improvements to the grounds which all beholders and the grounds left in their former condition.Although the attendance last Saturday was poor, the races of the final day were the best of the week. The feature of the day was the 100 yard sprint of three records. The most spectacular performance was that of Captain Colburn in the 100 yard sprint. He won the race in 12 1/2 seconds. The other records were set by the same man in the 200 yard sprint and the 400 yard sprint.The other records that went by the board were in the half mile run and the half mile by the lone pacer, Don Blackburn. Blackburn ran the half mile in 2:15, beating the best time of the season by 1/2 second. The 200 yard race was declared off, there being no entries. In the 400 yard race, Evanson took first in two straight heats.DEPORTATION

SCROFULA

Swollen glands, tumors, white swellings, sores, pustular or scaly skin eruptions, flabby muscles, brittle bones, weak digestion, emaciated, ill-nourished bodies, are some of the well-known earmarks of Scrofula. Scrofula is inherited. Parents too closely related by the ties of blood, or tainted with consumption or blood poison, may look for signs of Scrofula in their children. The middle-aged often have it, but children are the chief sufferers. Scrofula breaks down the vital forces. It makes the blood becomes so weak and poor that it does not do its duty. It makes the nourish the body. The remedy in all scrofulous affections must be one that purifies the blood, builds up the weak digestion, increases the appetite and gives new energy and strength to all life's forces. No medicine has won so much fame as a blood purifier as S. S. S., and its tonic effects upon the system are not equalled by any other remedy. It drives out of the circulation all tubercular deposits and morbid matter that cause the glandular swellings, sores, abscesses, tumors and other horrible symptoms that make Scrofula so dreaded and dangerous.Write us fully about your case. Medical advice will cost you nothing.

dence that the storm struck with damaging effect. It came from the southwest and howling in its fury uprooted trees and demolished buildings in its pathway toward St. Paul.It tore off two spans of the high bridge as completely as if they had been unbolts from the rest of the structure and carted away by workmen. There the bridge connected with the high bluffs at West St. Paul and it is 150 feet above the river. This mass of steel was carried to the flats below where flying steel girders and heavy planks fell on several small frame houses of the flat dwellers and crushed them completely. None of the occupants of these houses was hurt, they having seen the storm coming, took refuge in the caves in the hillside, where they were safe.The storm tore along the flats uprooting trees on Harriet island and with a deafening roar and the hiss and splash of the falling sheets of rain it struck this city at the Wabasha street bridge. Here were located at the bridge entrance, on opposite sides of Wabasha street, the Tivoli concert hall and Empire theatre, both of which were fairly crowded with men watching the performance. Both buildings were on the edge of the bluff overlooking the river with sides of the buildings open and were wrecked. The hall force of the tornado struck them.The buildings began to sway and rock and the audience became panic-struck.
The boys ran to the exits, the girls other for the exits. The lights went out and the sheet lightning flashes, one following another with gun-fire rapidly illuminated a scene of pandemonium which was intensified by the crash of glass and the tearing of timbers as the frame structure gave away before the tornado.Sections of the roof were blown through the air and landed east in Third street, a block distant.The tornado cut pathways about a half mile in width and eight miles in length through the business and residence district, leaving ruin and devastation in its track. Fortunately the loss of life was not great, three persons having been killed, but the list of those injured is a long one, in which there are several who are reported to be fatally hurt. The property damage was immense, conservative estimates placing it at between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000. The downtown business district was hit hard, many of the big office and business blocks being completely riddled, and the stocks of wholesale houses seriously overwhelmed by the floods of rain that accompanied the wind.The storm cloud which came from the southwest, first hit the ground on the west side bluffs, near the high bridge. Two spans of this structure, which is of steel, and which crosses the Mississippi river at a height of two hundred feet, were cut out as cleanly as though the wind were a knife, and thrown into the gulch below, crushing in the roofs of a number of small houses situated near the river bank. The storm kept on across the river in an oblique direction, leveling the numerous shade trees on Harriet island, where the St. Paul public baths are situated, but doing little or no damage to the city proper near the Wabasha street bridge. Nearly all the business blocks on Third street, between Wabasha and Sibley streets, distance of five blocks were damaged.Roots were blown off, plate glass windows shattered and huge signs were scattered through the air like feathers.
The Minnesota club, at the corner of Fourth and Cedar streets, was damaged, while the Globe office building, a ten story building, just across the street, escaped with but a few panes of broken glass.The large dormitory of the House of the Good Shepherd, a story frame building, adjacent to the institution, collapsed during the storm, burying under its ruins a number of persons.
It was killed and a score of others were more or less seriously hurt, including one of the sisters of the institution.The destruction of the building caused a panic among the several hundred inmates of the institution, and the time of the collapse of the building, which contained so many human beings, the telephone service to the institution was cut off. A fireman, Chas.
A. B. Ancker, on the first institution of the catastrophe, went to the scene of the destruction of the building and men who had gathered at the scene were pressed into work. After the storm work all who were in the dormitory had been taken out.The dormitory was struck by lightning, which rent a hole in the roof and a gust of wind carried the entire roof away part of it falling into the business street. The top door caved in and carried the first floor and the fifty children to the basement.At the time of the storm there were about 100 persons in the Tivoli theatre.
All but five of the spectators succeeded in escaping from the theatre, the storm striking the building at the rear of the stage or in the barroom at the front of the theatre. All who sought refuge in the barroom, however, were killed. The theatre was struck by lightning, which was just going to dance upon the stage
when the storm struck the theatre.
The fireman, Chas. A. B. Ancker, who was in the barroom, was killed. The theatre was struck by lightning, which was just going to dance upon the stage when the storm struck the theatre.The Pioneer Press building, a thirteen story brick and steel structure, at the corner of Fourth and Robert streets, was literally riddled by the wind and flying debris.The Washington school building, at Lucas and Eighth streets, suffered considerably, almost the entire top story being blown away. St. Mary's Catholic church on Ninth and John streets was unroofed, but the school building across the street escaped. St.
Sigurd's Episcopal church on Eighth street, a frame structure, was levelled to the ground. The storm at this point seems to have lifted slightly, and for several squares the damage done to residence property was of a minor character.The tornado dropped again at Lafayette park, corner of Tenth street and Lafayette avenue, and all of the magnificent elm and other shade trees in this beautiful spot were uprooted or twisted off.From Lafayette park the storm swept up Lafayette avenue to Payne avenue, the principal business street of East St.
Paul, wrecking many business structures and unroofing and otherwise damaging residence property. The Chicago, Minn-apolis, St. Paul & Omaha railroad roadhouse at East St. Paul collapsed injuring one man and doing serious damage to a number of locomotives. Several freight cars in the yards at East St. Paul were damaged about by the fierce gale and their contents spread in all directions. The tower of the fire station at Payne avenue were blown off, striking a man as he passed and inflicting fatal injuries.
The Arlington Hills church, corner of Case and Edgerton streets, was unroofed and partially wrecked. The damage to shade trees throughout the city was of a minor character.
The storm tore up the roof, or swept off the roof of the store at Summit avenue, famous throughout the country as the best retail store in the city. The shrubbery that lined the boulevard was devastated. No considerable damage was ever. Harriet island and the public baths suffered far more from the storm than any other part of the city. During the first hours following the storm, nearly every man and woman in the city comprising the big groves on the island are either torn up by the roots, twisted off at the base or broken off half way up their trunks. The damage to the city buildings at the baths is not very severe, but in the direction of the trees, the island has lost one of its chief attractions, and it will take a generation or longer to replace the beautiful groves which furnish shade for the thousands of visitors on hot days and were a delight to the eye in perspective from eighty points along the river.Underneath the debris of the Tivoli were found when the storm had passed, city was in darkness. The high buildings reaching skyward above the smaller ones on East Third street were shaken to their foundations. The fine large plate glass windows were broken in many places. Skylights were blown out.In the path of the wind stood the long tion of this building about 40 feet long was cut out from the middle and a small

Storm Causes Great Havoc In the Mill City.Minneapolis, Aug. 22.—The worst wind and rain storm in the history of this place occurred here Saturday night about 8:30.
Hundreds of buildings were badly damaged, all their roof wire systems were paralyzed and thousands of beautiful shade trees uprooted. For three minutes the wind blew at the rate of ninety miles an hour and the rain fell in torrents. So far as known two people are dead:
RICHARD HILLSBRICK, Great Northern operator at Minneapolis Junction, killed by electricity.Several persons were injured, but none seriously.The center of the storm seemed to hit the business district at the corner of Nicollet avenue and Sixth street. Here the immense front of the Glass block was shattered and a huge skylight blown off, the rain doing damage to stock that cannot be estimated. All of the stores in this district had windows blown in and all suffered more or less other damage.The street car service was tied up until noon yesterday, trolley wires being down in all parts of the city as the result of falling trees. Many of the fine residence districts of the city suffered much, but the greatest and irreparable damage was done to Minneapolis' beautiful shade trees. Thousands of them were broken off or twisted up by the roots and several streets, celebrated for their beautiful trees, are left bare of foliage and shade.
Hardly a tree is left along Portland and Park avenues, and the entire shade of city is a mass of splintered trunks, falling wire and damaged churches and homes.The storm did great damage at St. Louis Park, a manufacturing suburb situated about six miles from Minneapolis. The loss there is estimated at $80,000. Three people were killed and twenty-five injured. The dead:
ALBERT ODIE, 32 years of age, Six-year-old son of Frank Hedger, and an unknown girl, aged 12.
A special by courier, from Waconia, says that place was visited by a tornado Saturday evening, which devastated the country for miles about and from the meager reports obtainable four people were killed and several injured. The Minneapolis & St. Louis depot was demolished, but several people who had taken refuge there escaped with minor in-

TO SUBSCRIBERS:
It is important when desiring the address of your paper changed, to give both old and new addresses.

MR. MCCLARY ON PARKER.

Representative McCleary, the schoolmaster-statesman from Minnesota, has had his say about Judge Parker's speech. His say does not exhibit any great depth of thought or research. He said simply what any bitter partisan might have said if he desired to avoid facts in order to make a point in favor of his party and its candidates or to make a point derogatory to the opposition.

While some critics of Judge Parker's address have looked upon its references to labor as hostile, Mr. McCleary finds fault in the other direction, which would seem to indicate that Judge Parker had struck the happy mean, which is about right. Said Mr. McCleary:

"There was one thing that surprised me, and that was the unfair, undignified way Judge Parker alluded to the Colorado troubles. He said, without saying so in just so many words, that the president ought to take a hand in the situation out there. He knows very well, as does every other intelligent person in the country, that the president cannot lawfully interfere out there. If he did he would certainly lay himself open to the charge of imperialism and overriding the law that the judge makes against him in another part of his speech. Such a charge as that proves the judge to be a man of much smaller caliber than I thought him to be. It is a piece of very small politics, to say the least."

While Congressman McCleary may not be aware of the fact, there is such a thing as the 14th amendment to the constitution of the United States, and if there is one thing plainer than another in that amendment it is the clause which gives the United States power to prevent any state from depriving citizens of the rights and privileges guaranteed to them by the constitution of the United States. Here is the clause referred to:

"All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state in which they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law; nor deny to any person within the jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

It would seem, therefore, that it is not only the right but the duty of the nation's executive officers to take action in cases of flagrant violations of the provisions of this amendment, as was recently done by the governor of Colorado. Furthermore the president has power under this amendment to suppress lynchings and punish the offenders when it is shown that officials of the state connive with vicious and insane mobs to deprive the black man of his constitutional rights, as was recently the case in Georgia.

Mr. McCleary should study up the laws and the constitution of his country before assuming to criticize the candidate of the Democratic party concerning his utterances. It was not for lack of lawful authority that President Roosevelt declined to take a hand during the reign of mob and military violence in Colorado. It was simply from lack of desire.

THE GRADE CROSSING.

The railroad grade crossing is a source of many fatal accidents and the total number of people killed at these crossings makes up a large proportion of the alarming total of fatal railroad accidents in the United States.

It has been asserted by those who would avert such dangers in future that there are no grade crossings permitted in England. This is a mistake. There are many grade crossings in that country. But wherever there is such a crossing in England, whether in city or country, there are gates erected to protect the public and a man to attend them.

It would be too much to expect of the railroads in this country that they should station a man at every crossing in the country. But it should not be too much to expect of them to provide these safety appliances at grade crossings in cities, villages and city suburbs.

Duluth has many grade crossings that are left entirely unprotected, while at others there is stationed a flag man, but no gates. Where flag men are stationed the danger would not be great if the railroad companies were compelled to obey the ordinances regarding the speed-limit of trains running within the city limits. But the railroad companies do not always obey these ordinances and it is only a matter of time when the news of a distressing accident at one of these crossings is recorded. It seems rather remarkable that there have not been several to record in the past.

WHO OWNS THAT CHALK?

A farmer at Berwick, Me., has just found that he has a fortune stored away in the backwoods, near the head of the Cocheco river, in New Hampshire. He bought two little ponds in the woods there about forty years ago, on the supposition that there was a chalk deposit under them, and then, being told he had been cheated in the deal, forged his investment. Recently someone else found the ponds and the chalk and realized its value, and a company was formed with $500,000 capital and a fortune for the farmer is the result.

This is almost a parallel case to that of the man who bought pine timber on the Mesaba range. He bought the pine at so much per thousand and as the land was considered valueless it was thrown in.

Another man came along and found iron ore under the land. The owner did not even suspect that it was there. Without turning his hand over he received a royalty of $5,000,000 or more on that iron ore. Did he earn it? Did not the people of the United States make him a clean present of that amount?

Who really owns that chalk deposit in Maine? Is it the man who happened to own the land on which it was found or should it really belong to all the people?

If all the minerals under the earth were held in common for the benefit of all the people would there be a Standard Oil monopoly today? Would there be a Steel trust? The state of Minnesota has adopted the communal plan as to minerals found on its lands. Is it wrong? For trying to adopt the same plan in Colorado hundreds of citizens were driven from their homes and banished from the state. This move on the part of the state authorities has been upheld by some of the very best citizens of the country. Public ownership of mines and minerals must be wrong. The state of Minnesota seems to be out of touch with public sentiment. Should it not embrace the first opportunity to give all its minerals away in order to encourage development?

THE REFERENDUM.

How the American Federation of Labor hopes to inaugurate the initiative and referendum principle is shown in Section 1 of a bill that has been prepared for submission to the next session of congress. It reads as follows:

"Whenever seven hundred and fifty thousand (750,000) voters shall present to this house and senate a bill, constitutional amendment, or other form of question as to national policy concerning interstate commerce (that is, concerning railways, telegraphs, telephones, currency or other instrument of interstate commerce) or a corporation or individual whose business it is to operate any of the instruments of interstate commerce) and 2, trial by jury or any modification of the law of injunction; 3, dependencies; 4, hours and conditions of labor; 5, immigration; 6, postal savings bank; 7, direct election of senators, president and vice president of the United States; 8, the civil service, including direct election of fourth-class postmasters; 9, direct nominations; 10, direct initiative and optional referendum, and 11, proportional representation; the petition shall be received and numbered, read twice, referred to a committee for consideration and reported back, together with such amendments, substitute, or recommendation as may be thought desirable. The house, after considering the subject and agreeing with the senate, but without any enacting clause, shall refer to the voters the original bill as initiated, and also such alternative measure or recommendation as shall have been agreed upon, the details as to petition, referendum ballot, and all other steps leading up to and including the announcement of the result to be prescribed by laws of congress and of the several states."

Other sections provide that on a petition of 50,000 voters a law passed by congress shall be submitted to the people for their approval or disapproval. A special election must be held on the petition of 1,000,000 voters. Should this bill become a law the people could not only have what they want in the matter of legislation, but they could have it when they want it. Furthermore officials who honestly desire to carry out the popular will would have a means of knowing definitely what that will is. They would not be obliged to guess at it as they are at present.

R. M. Weyerhaeuser, the well known Clouet lumberman, was registered at the St. Paul hotel yesterday afternoon. He was very anxious to learn whether the storm in the hotel had done any damage to the property. Mr. Weyerhaeuser stated that the Clouet, developing into a severe storm at that point without much delay.

"Not a St. Paul paper to be had in the city," said the news-stand man at the St. Paul hotel yesterday afternoon, in answer to inquiry after yesterday's edition of the paper. The situation was such that the news-stand man was unable to supply the demand for the paper.

After the Saturday evening boats left with their crowds of tourists, and the excursionists from Iowa and the southern states, there was a quietness about the hotel lodges that evening. The excursionists, after two days in Duluth, left at 4 o'clock yesterday morning for their homes.

The Democratic nominee for vice president, although he has undoubtedly seen worse times, does not think that present industrial conditions are anything to brag about. And there are many of his fellow citizens who will agree with him. What prosperity there is is too much one-sided.

If Governor Vardaman of Mississippi keeps up his present "lick" he may count upon getting himself pretty generally and thoroughly disliked by the American people. It might be expected of a man who would cast aspersions upon the character of the mother of the nation's president that he would not hesitate to do things more vile if given the opportunity.

John Sharp Williams' recent address was a little too much of a good thing.

Two circuses in one reason are rather too many for Duluth. Those citizens who were in favor of raising circus licenses to $1000 because of the enormous crowds that attended the Ringling circus on July 4, will probably not be so anxious now that the experience of the Barnum & Bailey show is before them for consideration. It is doubtful if this aggregation cleared a dollar at the head of the lakes. Weather conditions were such that they were compelled to give up their evening entertainment in Superior, while the crowds attending in Duluth were also comparatively small. With better weather they would have made a good profit. As it was, if they came out even they did well.

The St. Paul Commercial club has established in the Union depot in that city, a free bureau of information, to be maintained during the entire state fair week. This bureau is for the purpose of aiding visitors to the city in securing accommodations, reasonable rates, and giving such other information as will aid in securing their comfort and pleasure during their stay at the fair. The bureau is run as a matter of public spirit, without any tax upon the visitors or expense to anyone. Information of accommodations will be given at a range of prices which will meet the financial conditions of every one, and by availing themselves of the free information bureau in the Union depot, Duluth visitors will be able to make an inexpensive visit to the state fair.

Again the people of Duluth have reason to feel thankful that they live outside the cyclone and tornado belt.

What Judge Parker means in his reference to the Philippines is what every real Democrat believes: Since the Philippines cannot safely be annexed to the United States and become an integral part thereof, and since all men are entitled by right to govern themselves, the Filipinos should be permitted to govern themselves as a free and independent nation. With all their faults they can do the job better and more satisfactorily than we can do it for them and besides we can save a whole lot of money and soldiers by attending to our own business instead of minding theirs.

Speaking of the recent fusion in Nebraska, the Verdigre Citizen says: "It isn't a question of principle any more with the Democrats of Nebraska. The only question to be determined is: How the h— are we going to get the offices?" Oh, well, for that matter the same disposition will be noticed at times, in other states and in other parties.

They Protected the Judge. After the jury in a Texas case had listened to the charge of the court and gone to their room to deliberate, the twelve men went right to the point by sending for the judge and asking him to come to the jury box to be convicted on general principles. He's bad as they make him.

As he was about to walk around, a weakened little juror said: "I heard that you sent him up, 'jest soon's he got out of the box." "You must protect the judge," they agreed, and the verdict was "not guilty."

Tomorrow. All red with joy the waiting West, Could it be that which road is best? Cleaving high air with soft breast That must overlook My seat and know if I mistake: I would not let some harbor make Which yesterday forsok.

HOTEL GOSSIP

The tornado which swept over the Twin Cities and vicinity killing several people and doing an immense property damage, was practically the chief topic of conversation in the various hotels here yesterday and last evening. Any news of the situation that could be gathered from railroad men and others, who came up from the storm district yesterday morning or afternoon, was eagerly listened to and the person giving the account was sure to be surrounded by listeners.

Conductor D. F. Powell, of the Great Northern company, and Conductor Dan Hickey, of the Northern Pacific road, who registered at the Spaulding, were eye witnesses to the storm. Mr. Powell returned home with his family when the storm struck. From his windows he could see neighboring houses destroyed and the air full of boards and other debris, but his Dodge coupe, which he was driving, was practically the only one in the block to remain unharmed.

"I would scarcely know St. Paul were you to see it in the condition that it was in last night," said Conductor Hickey, last evening. "The streets are practically impassable, being filled up with wreckage. The houses are in a state of ruin, and the telephone buildings, uprooted shade trees, telephone poles, and telegraph poles, are all twisted and bent over. It was certainly a fearful sight."

"I was at home when the storm struck and from the windows could see the destruction. The houses were blown down, and the streets were filled up with wreckage. It was a terrible sight, and I am glad to be here now."

"The first notice we had of it was the sudden gust of wind. The windows of the dining room. I listened to my room and closed down the shutters. The wind was so strong that the rain was falling in torrents and the water was coming in through the cracks in the windows. It was a terrible sight, and I am glad to be here now."

"After the storm passed I noticed some boys standing out in the street, which was very unusual. The wind was so strong that the current was so strong as to almost knock them down. I saw a man who was knocked down by the wind. He was lying on the pavement with great pain. I saw a man who was knocked down by the wind. He was lying on the pavement with great pain."

A Hypothetical Case. Pittsburgh Dispatch: After discussing the six months' watch which Admiral Togo has kept on the Port Arthur fleet and the final victory with which his persistence was crowned, the subject of a twist to an old proverb is suggested by the following hypothetical case:

"If Admiral Togo had chanced to run over to Nagasaki, Japan, and had been there, the result of his work would have been almost the same, no doubt, and the credit in any event, would have gone to him and not to the second in command."

With regard to this assertion it is pertinent to remark, first, that the question whether the results would have been the same, or more or less, might have been materially affected by the skill, judgment, and daring and persistence with which the second in command directed the attack of the Japanese fleet.

Second, if Admiral Togo had been absent from the fleet, the credit would have been entitled to credit for the preparations and dispositions which were made, and not to the second in command, who was in command during the action.

Third, if Admiral Togo had been absent from the fleet, the credit would have been entitled to credit for the preparations and dispositions which were made, and not to the second in command, who was in command during the action.

Fourth, if Admiral Togo had been absent from the fleet, the credit would have been entitled to credit for the preparations and dispositions which were made, and not to the second in command, who was in command during the action.

Fifth, if Admiral Togo had been absent from the fleet, the credit would have been entitled to credit for the preparations and dispositions which were made, and not to the second in command, who was in command during the action.

Sixth, if Admiral Togo had been absent from the fleet, the credit would have been entitled to credit for the preparations and dispositions which were made, and not to the second in command, who was in command during the action.

Seventh, if Admiral Togo had been absent from the fleet, the credit would have been entitled to credit for the preparations and dispositions which were made, and not to the second in command, who was in command during the action.

Eighth, if Admiral Togo had been absent from the fleet, the credit would have been entitled to credit for the preparations and dispositions which were made, and not to the second in command, who was in command during the action.

Ninth, if Admiral Togo had been absent from the fleet, the credit would have been entitled to credit for the preparations and dispositions which were made, and not to the second in command, who was in command during the action.

Tenth, if Admiral Togo had been absent from the fleet, the credit would have been entitled to credit for the preparations and dispositions which were made, and not to the second in command, who was in command during the action.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Wabasha Herald: Another star chamber session of Democrats in "Dick O'Connell's" office in St. Paul, to select a candidate for the Democrats of Minnesota is all that is needed to estrange a large percentage of the Democratic vote from the party nominee, should he be the one agreed upon at such session.

Bemidji Sentinel: If the only pledge the Duluth News-Tribune asks of its candidates for the legislature is a pledge as to how the member will vote for a United States senator they need not expect to get a very good crowd for the house to represent the head of the lakes district. A girl is different from a soldier. The less powder she uses the more likely she is to win her engagement.

If the sexes were to dance separately, as some reformers advocate, fiddling would soon become a lost art.

A man always hopes his boy will make a greater success of it than he has.

A girl that knows how to do all kinds of housework stands a better show of a happy married life than one who is only accomplished.

No one would go hungry if there wasn't a girl in the world who could play the piano.

If a little girl doesn't love a doll and a little boy a dog, something was out of joint with their parents.

Detroit Free Press: Husband—My, but I wish I had your tongue. Wife—That you could express your- self intelligently? Husband—No, so that I could stop it when I wanted to.

Judge: Assistant—They say the report is to be accepted with reserve. Editor—Certainly. We'll just issue three extras—one giving the report, one confirming it, and one stating that there's no truth whatever in it.

New York Weekly: Domestic—Oh, please, mum, what shall I do? Half the soap is spilt and the borders is at the table.

St. Louis: Slimed! (Slightly)—Empty the box of red pepper into what's left of the world.

Chicago Daily News: Miss Eldredge—I see by the papers that the craze for the antique is dying out. Miss Young—Yes, dear, but I hope for your sake that it will last through leap year, at least.

Brooklyn Eagle: "I think," he said, "that I am now just about even with the world."

"Even with the world?" "Yes, I figure that I have now reached a point where I owe just about as many people as I don't owe."

New York Weekly: Miss Waycup—Shall I invite the Newcomer to my party? Mrs. Waycup—Really, I don't know. Are they in society? Miss Waycup—They must be. They never gossip about anyone who doesn't belong to the 40's.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Wabasha Herald: Another star chamber session of Democrats in "Dick O'Connell's" office in St. Paul, to select a candidate for the Democrats of Minnesota is all that is needed to estrange a large percentage of the Democratic vote from the party nominee, should he be the one agreed upon at such session.

Bemidji Sentinel: If the only pledge the Duluth News-Tribune asks of its candidates for the legislature is a pledge as to how the member will vote for a United States senator they need not expect to get a very good crowd for the house to represent the head of the lakes district. We submit that it would be better to get a set of men who would take up Gen. Andrews' proposition to desert the great wilderness north of Duluth with good roads is far more important. For our share we prefer to have a man who can get his eye on drainage and can cause a ditch to be located, to any other man who only recommends that they vote for Sam Slick or old Polk for a term in the senate.

Minneapolis Tribune: Lynching begins with child ravishers and ends with ordinary criminals. It begins with mercilessly quick hanging and ends with the weakness of law at first; at the last it robs the gallows to feed the fire. As the frightful race downwards and backwards gains momentum, these crazed communities strip themselves of every decent piece of sentiment for their women and fear of corruption of the law. They defy all civilized restraints and do horrors for which the lowest race left on earth would blush. In more than half a century.

ANOTHER DAY

One Game In Tennis Singles and Two In Doubles Remain.

Feather, Dr. Lynam's Yacht, Wins Commercial Club Trophy.

The open tournament of the Endon tennis club, which has been in progress for the past week, will be brought to a close tomorrow afternoon. This afternoon the championship of the head of the lakes and the possession of the handsome trophy now held by the club, of Superior, will be decided, and tomorrow afternoon the finals in doubles will be run off.

Chase has notified the secretary of the Endon club that he does not intend to defend the trophy and the winner of the open singles in the present tournament will therefore be crowned champion. The club members of the Endon club, who will compete in the final this afternoon, to decide the matter. The cup must be won by three consecutive wins before it becomes the property of any player, but after the first time a player has to have to play through the tournament.

FEATHER GETS CUP.

Dr. Lynam's Boat Winner of the Trophy.

Feather, owned by Frank Lynam, captured the Commercial trophy in the Duluth club boat races Saturday. While the finish of the race on the lake, the club had enough points to her credit from previous victories, to take the cup.

For the first time in many years the race was sailed on the lake. Since an accident which happened several years ago during a race on the lake, the club had sailed all of its races on the bay, but the weather was so favorable Saturday afternoon that it was decided to sail the last of the series outside the bay.

The wind was changeable and puffy with the bay breeze, but the boat, when they passed through the Superior entry into the lake they had the benefit of a steady breeze and made good time to the canal.

Captain Holland, in sand, by hugging the shore of the point, secured the benefit of a good breeze, and was the first to cross the line.

Several maintained her lead throughout the remainder of the race, making the run up the lake shore of the point in one hour and twenty-five minutes.

Captain Holland's victory availed him nothing, as he was handicapped by having only two points to his credit in previous races. The final points in the cup races were as follows: Feather, 2; Lynam, 1; and the rest of the club.

BASEBALL ON THE RANGES.

Hibbing and the Big Duluths Break Even.

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 22.—The Hibbing ball team and the Big Duluths broke even yesterday, the visitors winning the first game by a score of 5 to 4 and losing the second, 5 to 2. There were numerous errors on both sides. The scores by innings were:
First game—Hibbing 5, Big Duluth 4.
Second game—Hibbing 5, Big Duluth 2.

VIRGINIA DEFEATED.

Virginia, Aug. 22.—The Mountain Iron team administered the first defeat of the season to the Virginia team Saturday afternoon. Freeman, of Hibbing, formerly of the Superior team, pitched for the visitors and struck out fifteen men. Grady, who was the pitcher for the home team, was effective but struck out seven.

THREE TO FIND A NEW ROAD PLANNED

Police Department Has Trio of Mysterious Disappearances on Hand.

A Baker, a Seventeen-Year-Old Boy and Minneapolis Man.

The police department has three mysterious disappearance cases on its hands at the present time. Charles Collander, a baker living in the Clarendon hotel, has been missing from his rooms for the past two weeks. He left at an early hour on Aug. 7, and has not been seen since. He left a considerable sum in a Chicago bank, a steady position and all of his clothing and effects. The police are making every effort to locate the baker.

The second case is that of Bernard Johnson, a 17-year-old boy, who has been missing from his home at 18 Twelfth avenue for the past two weeks. He was employed as an apprentice by the Duluth Printing and Lithographing company, but was compelled to quit work through illness Wednesday afternoon. He left his home on Friday morning and started out with the intention of reporting for duty. He did not do so, however, and has not been seen or heard of since that time. The parents have reported the case to the police, who are making every effort to locate the boy.

The third case is that of a Minneapolis man, Axel Hansen, aged 50 years, disappeared from his home in that city years ago and is believed to be in Duluth. His father is critically ill in Duluth. His father is critically ill in Duluth. His father is critically ill in Duluth.

WILL LAY THE CORNERSTONE

Interesting Ceremony at St. Jean de Baptiste Church Sunday.

Ceremonies attendant upon the laying of the corner stone of the St. Jean de Baptiste church, now in course of construction, will be held next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The bishop will deliver the principal address and Rev. Father Hartman will speak in French. Rev. D. Guillet, rector of the parish, will be in charge of the ceremony.

The event will be made the more impressive by a large parade, forming at the Cathedral, Second avenue west and Fourth street, and marching to the new church building on Superior street. The parade will be led by the St. Jean de Baptiste band, followed by the St. Jean de Baptiste choir, and the St. Jean de Baptiste society.

The new church building was started a number of years ago, but it was not until recently that the foundation was laid. The building will be a handsome structure, and will be a credit to the St. Jean de Baptiste church.

CAUSES GRAVE APPREHENSION

Sheriff Butchart Ill With Malady That Is Very Serious.

Sheriff W. W. Butchart is dangerously ill and his physician fears the worst. The trouble is said to be diabetes and hope of his recovery has been about given up.

Mr. Butchart returned a short time ago from Colorado, where he was taken ill and has been confined to his bed ever since. A large carbuncle on the back of his neck was lanced several times last week but his condition has not improved.

A consultation of physicians was to be held today, those who participated being Dr. Eklund, Dr. G. W. Butchart, of Hibbing, Dr. Robert Graham and Dr. J. A. McCuen.

Mr. Butchart's condition this morning seemed to be unchanged and no new developments were expected until the physicians had held their consultation.

He will lecture at the University of Notre Dame and also talk to the ladies at the convent of St. Mary's in the Woods, at South Bend. After this itinerary he will go to Washington, as the guest of Mr. O'Connell, rector of the university and deliver a series of historical lectures.

These plans include the immediate construction of a 400-mile cut-off, from Lester, Iowa, to Minot, N. D., and a 100-mile link between the Great Northern terminus in Sioux City, and the Burlington system, at Ashland, Neb., just west of Omaha. These two new lines will give, without further building, a new short line between Kansas City and St. Louis and the Pacific Northwest.

The construction of a line to the Gulf, either from Kansas City or St. Louis, is contemplated as the ultimate completion of a solid Hill property that may carry freight from ocean to ocean upon an independent basis.

Facts that have appeared in evidence of these plans are:
Completed construction of fifty-two miles of road southeast from Minot, N. D.

Construction of forty miles of road northwest from Sioux Falls, S. D., attributed to the Great Northern.
Negotiations for large terminal properties at Sioux City.

Surveys for an announcement of the construction of a line between Kansas City and St. Louis, and the Burlington and the Great Northern at Ashland, Neb.

Purchase of land in Arkansas, attributed to James Hill.
Repeatedly reported purchase of right-of-way by the Burlington for a line from Kansas City to the Gulf.

A large construction gang is now building a line southwest from Minot, South Dakota, fifty-two miles of this road are now ready for the laying of steel. It is stated that rails will be laid into Bismark, South Dakota, a distance of 100 miles, by winter. Next spring the work will be taken up and construction pushed southeast to Bismark. The route of the cut-off as chosen passes through Huron and Aberdeen and Sioux Falls to Lester, Iowa, southeast of Sioux Falls, where it strikes the Great Northern's St. Paul-Sioux City line. At Huron and Aberdeen branches of the Great Northern will be tapped, adding to their usefulness.

The Dakota Central railroad has been quietly building a line northwest from Sioux Falls, and about 40 miles have already been completed. The fact that one of the officials is in the employ of the Great Northern, added to the fact that the line is being built along the route of the Great Northern's St. Paul-Sioux City line, is evidence that it is a Great Northern project. It was first thought to be backed by the Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, but the appearance of engineers for the latter, who began surveying a parallel line, disabused the public. There is practically no question but that the Minot-Lester line is now under construction from both ends.

The building of this line will save 400 miles in distance between Sioux City and St. Louis. The report has been made that the Great Northern will send its steam business from here east as far as Willmar, Minn., and then back west by a circuitous route.

The Burlington now has a route from Omaha to St. Louis only 47 miles longer than the Kansas City route. It is all that is necessary to make a short line owned by Hill to the Northern Pacific coast. This would be fed not only by the Kansas City and St. Louis lines, but by all the branches in the rich territory south of the Missouri river.

The building of the Gulf line, to complete the tidewater-to-tidewater line is further in the future. The report has been made that the Burlington has been buying right-of-way for a Gulf line, the Gulf line to the Twin Cities and the great lakes on the northeast and the North Pacific coast on the northwest.

MUNROE'S TRAINER

Says Jack Figures to Stay the Limit Against Jeff.

Sees a New World's Heavyweight Champion In Sight.

New York, Aug. 22.—In a letter received here Jim Munroe, who is training Jack Munroe for his fight with Jim Jeffries next week, says:

"In the first place, I don't really think that Jeffries will be in first-class condition; that is the big fellow can never get in the shape he has been in for other fights because he is bigger now than he has ever been before in his life. He has not kept himself in shape between fights, and will weigh more in the ring next Friday night than he ever weighed for a fight before. I know he will train hard, but there is so much fat on him no matter how hard he trains he will be carrying too much weight, anyway. There has been no slouching in his respect, and without that necessary speed will be no faster than Jack, who never was a lightning bolt."

"I have been with Munroe for four months now, and, honestly, the improvement he has made is simply wonderful. McCoy, who boxed with him the other day for the first time in six months, could hardly believe him the same man. He has developed footwork, a fine guard and a punch good enough to drop any man in the ring. There has been no slouching in his respect. He has gone about it as hard as a man could, and on the night of the fight will step into the ring in perfect condition."

"I feel confident that the miner will make a great fight, and should brush Jeff harder than Sharkey did. I trained the sailor for Jeffries, too, and although he was a foot shorter, and 40 pounds lighter, gave the champion the hardest fight of his life."

"Here is Munroe, a man 20 pounds heavier than Sharkey and three inches taller, a better boxer and better hitter. Why shouldn't he give Jeff a harder fight than Sharkey did? Jack beat Sharkey easily, and the latter could go 25 rounds with Jeffries, Munroe can go 30."

MARINE NEWS

TRAFFIC IS LIGHTER

Marine Business at Duluth Is Less Than Year Ago.

Conditions Quiet All Along Lakes—Capt. Chamber-

Records at the local office of the Union Towing and Wrecking company show that lake traffic so far this year has been much lighter than usual. There have been neither as many departures or arrivals as last year. This is not entirely to the fact that avigation opened the, for the daily record shows a falling off in the number of boats passing in and out of the local harbor as compared with previous years. Conditions appear to be generally rather quiet all along the coast as far as the boats are concerned. Carrington, D. M. Clemson, 201, Zenith City, Oregon; H. L. Suaw, Niagara, Gratiot City, Michigan; G. W. French, E. M. Peckel, Cramage, G. W. French, E. M. Peckel, Sahara, Siemens, light for ore, Lake Erie; W. Watson, H. B. Hawgood, Saunders, Marlinton, Tenn., light for lumber, Lake Erie; J. H. Shrigley, Mary H. Boyce, light for lumber, Lake Erie; City of Travel, Lake Erie.

H. A. Hawgood, of Cleveland, one of the best known vessel men of the lakes now a guest of the Spaulding. He says since this year is very poor, and that the carrying trade will be a loss for an owner of the vessel. He looks for an improvement after Sept. 15, but says the conditions are not encouraging at present. The boats in the coal carrying trade have to a good business, and there yet remains considerable work to ship. The ore shipments will probably hold up to the end of the season.

FINE IS REDUCED.
The fine of $20 imposed upon Capt. Edwin Chamberlain of the steamer "Union" for a failure to answer passing signals, the steamer "Nequa," has been reduced to $10.

TO KEEP BUSINESS

It is better to know a few things about advertising that are true than a great many things that are not true. Here is one thing that is true and worth remembering: Store advertising should be as full of prices as a society news column is full of names.

The merchant whose store is interesting to himself can make it interesting to others. The merchant whose store bores him will not make his ads very spirited or alluring.

The value of advertising space and the value of an egg are subject to the same rule. A "doubtful" egg, you know, is dear at any price.

A railroad without a time-table or a regular train schedule would attract comment, but would not make much money. But a merchant who advertises only now and then will attract neither comment nor money.

Every merchant who advertises attracts, gradually, a clientele of readers—many of whom have never yet visited his store. When they do visit his store they feel as though they had known him for a long time.

GATES OF A GREAT RESERVOIR ARE BLOWN UP BY DYNAMITE; HUNDREDS OF LIVES IN DANGER

A Most Dastardly Deed Perpetrated at St.
Marys, Ohio.

Fortunately Bulkhead Held and Awful Flood Averted.

Reservoir Is Largest Artificial Body of Water
In World.

St. Marys, O., Aug. 23.—Before day-break the gates at the head of St. Marys reservoir were blown up by dynamite. The report of the explosion was heard for miles. The buildings here were shaken and some windows were broken. Intense excitement prevailed but every precaution has been taken to prevent a flood. There are many who consider the reservoir a menace to surrounding farms.

The attempt was made at 1 o'clock and if it had blown out the entire bulkhead and opened the flood gates hundreds of lives would have been lost, as the waters of Lake St. Marys are high. This bulkhead is the one through which Miami and Erie canal is fed. Although a large amount of dynamite was used the bank was not broken so as to give way and when the citizens were aroused the place was watched. Floodgates are with these in search of the dynamiters but they have no clue on which to go. This reservoir is the largest artificial body of water in the world and this city is lower than the water so that intense excitement exists here. The shock in the morning was followed by a great scare today.

CANNOT COME.

Exigencies of Public Service
Detain Attorney Finlay.

London, Aug. 23.—Exigencies of public service, as he explains in his letter to the St. Louis exhibition commissioners, have necessitated the abandonment of Sir Robert Finlay, the English baronet, who was to represent the English bar at the international conference of jurists at St. Louis. Sir Robert says it is inexpedient that he should be absent from his post. Although it is not specifically mentioned it is accepted as a fact that the questions of international law, which Russia and Great Britain are negotiating, as well as the question of the arbitration of international disputes, require the uninterrupted attention of the attorney general.

HERRICK THANKS TAFT FOR AN INVESTIGATION.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Governor Herrick of Ohio has telegraphed Secretary Taft, thanking him for his prompt action in directing an investigation into the attack on militiamen by regulars at Athens, and asking that the army officers be directed to cooperate with the civil authorities of Ohio in the effort being made to ascertain the facts. The attack on the militia was reported in the Ohio Statehouse on Monday.

PEACE CONFERENCE. Suggestion That One Be Held Next Year.

St. Louis, Aug. 23.—The Republic says today: One of the proposals that will be made by the American group before the inter-parliamentary conference which will be held in the hall of congress at the World's fair next month is that the president of the United States be authorized to call a general peace conference some time next year. It is not the intention of the American group to have this conference alone the line of that at The Hague. They wish to establish a system of arbitration among the countries of the world which will bring about a reduction of the armaments of the powers.

Another proposition that will be made at the conference in St. Louis is that during times of war private property on the high seas, which is not contraband, be held exempt from seizure.

AUCTIONEERS ORGANIZE ASSOCIATION AT ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis, Aug. 23.—Delegates representing 2000 auctioneers in the United States and Canada met here today and organized the International Auctioneers' association. The following officers were elected: President, Hon. T. S. Fisk, Fairmount, Minn.; Secretary, Col. J. B. Queen, Port, Okla.; Treasurer, M. Cunningham, Chicago.

RUSSIAN EXHIBIT OPENED.

St. Louis, Aug. 23.—The Russian section in the art palace, which contains one of the most elaborate displays of the arts at the exposition, was today thrown open to visitors. The Russian section is the work of the Association for Arranging Exhibitions in Russian Towns. The St. Petersburg Society of Artists and the Association of Artists of St. Petersburg have made valuable contributions to this section.

MAY HAVE IMPORTANT BEARING ON STRIKE

Future Action of Teamsters to Be Discussed at Joint Meeting.

Packers Propose to House Their Non-Union Men at Hammond, Ind.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Action that may have an important bearing on the strike is to take place at a meeting of the teamsters' joint council to be held this evening. President Shea of the International organization will be present, and the question of future action of teamsters in relation to the strike will be canvassed. Last Friday and yesterday a committee of leaders among the organized teamsters, headed by John S. Field, president of the Knickerbocker Ice company and former member of the Chicago board of arbitration, visited the stock yards on a tour of inspection. This was due to an effort to induce Mr. Field to act as an intermediary in bringing about some suggestion of peace and his refusal to offer any suggestions until he has made a personal investigation of conditions at the packing houses. The report of the committee that accompanied Mr. Field will be to the joint council on this occasion.

Arguments before Judge Brentano in connection with the injunction asked by the packers to restrain the city from interfering with the housing of workmen of the stock yards were concluded today. Judge Brentano took the matter under advisement and said he would announce his decision tomorrow morning.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Packers began action today to put into effect a scheme to house their non-union employees in the old Hammond plant at Hammond, Ind. In the event of failure to secure an injunction against the city. In any event the Hammond company, which is short of room, will probably put the plan into operation.

UNITED STATES WILL NOT BE DRAWN INTO WAR SITUATION

Oyster Bay, Aug. 23.—President Roosevelt's first conference during his present sojourn at Sagamore Hill was with Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. The president and the senator spent the greater part of today together in the early morning hours they took a horseback ride, the outing affording them an opportunity to discuss matters of importance. Senator Lodge passed some time in the president's library reading a letter of acceptance of the arrangement in final form, was completed.

REMARKABLE ESCAPE OF THE PASSENGERS IN TRAIN WRECK

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 23.—Santa Fe train No. 17, was wrecked this morning shortly after midnight six miles east of Topeka. The entire train with the exception of the engine and rear sleeper were derailed and only four people injured. The accident figures as one of the most remarkable in the history of the road.

The injured were taken to St. J. J. Curry, Express Messenger Buckley, seriously; Lyon Murray, negro tramp, fatally; unknown woman, passenger in day coach, rib broken.

The injured were brought to Topeka.

JAILBIRD PREPARES OWN APPEAL

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 23.—An anomaly in the law has been brought to light in the case of J. M. Leonard, a university graduate and once a county attorney who has been serving an indeterminate sentence for burglary at the state prison. Leonard has prepared his own appeal and has been granted a writ of habeas corpus to release him from confinement under the provisions of the indeterminate sentence law.

Leonard was sent to Jackson in 1894 for ten to fifteen years. Since then a new

PACIFIC FLEET AT FRISCO.
Washington, Aug. 23.—The arrival of the New York, Marblehead, Bennington and Nero, of the Pacific fleet, at San Francisco, has been reported to the navy department. Later the vessels will assemble in Magdalena bay, farther south, for target practice.

The packers assert any interference with their carrying employees to and from Hammond would constitute a violation of the interstate commerce law and would necessitate federal action.

Union pickets have now established a system of espionage extending entirely about the stock yards enclosure. The pickets are established in the yards and have lists of those who come and go to the yards daily. Men are being stopped in the yards and asked to show their permits. The office of Secretary Tracy of the allied trades conference board was thronged today with persons working at the yards demanding permits to avert interference from pickets. The applicants included union printers employed by Armour & Co., employees of the two newspapers published in the yards and a dozen watchmen. All were refused permits.

Jackson Thompson, a member of the track team of the university of Chicago, who has been working for Morris & Co. in the shipping department during his vacation, was then seized and robbed while returning home from work. The family with whom Thompson lodged were warned that he was a strike breaker and that if he was given further accommodations the house would be wrecked. When he appeared he was told he would have to leave. He took his suit case and started. He was then surrounded by three men, who knocked him down and robbed him of a small amount of money. He related his experience to the police and three suspects were arrested. The man who appeared he was told he would have to leave. He took his suit case and started. MRS. MAYBRICK EXPRESSES HER SINCERE THANKS TO HER MANY FRIENDS IN THE UNITED STATES.

New York, Aug. 23.—On board the Red Star liner Vaderland, which arrived today from Antwerp was Mrs. Florence Chandler Maybrick, recently released from prison in England. Mrs. Maybrick was entered on the passenger list as Mrs. Rose Ingham, a name which she took from her great-grandparents. This precaution was not designed to evade official inquiry, but merely to avoid annoying observation on the part of fellow passengers. While she made no secret of her presence on board and appeared frequently about the decks and saloon, very few were aware of her identity. She is accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel V. Hayden, Mr. Hayden is her attorney.

Mrs. Maybrick refused to be interviewed, but gave out the following statement:

"I regret that the state of my health as well as business reasons prevent my talking to my friends of the American press. This day as I should like. To them and to my fellow-countrymen and women, I am deeply indebted for their efforts in my behalf and I take this means of expressing my everlasting gratitude as well as words can, and also to thank them for their congratulations on my release, which I regret I have not been able to accompany me I came over under the protection of Mr. Hayden, my attorney, and his wife. I am assured by my English physician and by Dr. Wilmer, of Washington, D. C., who prescribed for me during the voyage, that quiet and mental rest will in time restore my health."

"It is on the advice of my counsel and my physician that I have traveled incognito. I cannot express the feeling of deep joy and thankfulness with which I return to my native land. At the earliest opportunity I shall visit my birthplace, Mobile, Ala., and also Norfolk, Va., my home during my married life. I now believe as I have always that God will in his own time right the great wrong that I have suffered."

CASS LAKE'S SCHEME TO GET DULUTH LAND

Has Been Reported on By Special Agent of Land Office.

Contents of Report Will Not Be Made Public at Present.

FROM THE HERALD, WASHINGTON, D. C.

Washington, Aug. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The report of the special inspector sent out a month ago by Commissioner Richards of the general land office to investigate the petition of residents of the Cass Lake land district to have certain lands taken out of the jurisdiction of the Duluth land office, has been received at the general land office. The report, however, to the absence of both Commissioner Richards and Secretary Hitchcock, its contents will be held secret until the return of these officers, probably about Sept. 15. The report is now in the hands of the acting commissioner of the land office who, this morning, stated that it had not been considered and least until the return of Commissioner Richards he would lay the entire matter upon the table to wait the return of the chief.

The acting commissioner of the land office today issued a statement of the number of entries, selections and filings made, the area disposed of and the total cash receipts arising from sales of public lands disposed of other than for cash during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904. The total amount of money received was $8,750,856. The total area disposed of was 172,857 acres. In Minnesota there were 11,223 entries covering an average of 1,068,548, for which $577,881 was paid.

GREAT BRITAIN AGAIN DISTURBED BY RUSSIA

Stopping of the Comedian Near South Africa to Be Investigated.

If Reports Are True, an International Episode May Result.

London, Aug. 23.—The foreign office has ordered the British officials at Durban, Natal, to make a complete report of the circumstances connected with the reported examination of the papers of the British steamer Comedian by a Russian auxiliary cruiser off the South African coast. If the report should confirm that the Smolensk was a vessel which made the examination then a vigorous protest will be made through Ambassador Hardinge. In any event if a Russian cruiser actually held up the subject of the incident will be made the subject of representation on the ground that the steamer was so far away from the scene of hostilities that there was not the slightest reason for her stopping.

The most important feature of the incident, however, is the identity of the cruiser. If the Smolensk actually examined the Comedian's papers she, according to British officials, violated the assurances given by the Russian government that neither she nor the Russian navy would be used again as a man of war.

The Russian embassy has not been advised of the examination of the Comedian and is inclined to doubt, it occurred, that the Smolensk was connected with it in view of the fact that it is in the hands of the admiralty at St. Petersburg. So far as official information is concerned the matter is so hazy that it is conceded in both diplomatic circles and at the foreign office that it is desirable to obtain all the facts before formally raising a question which may develop into an important international dispute.

The British authorities declare that if the Smolensk overhauled the Comedian the matter has become of such gravity as to call for determined action on the part of this government. In the case of the steamer Hipsang, sunk by the Russians off Port Arthur, the government officials here say they have no doubt that Russia will pay an indemnity, thereby settling the incident. Representations to this end have already been made by Ambassador Hardinge.

The Russian diplomats regard the proclamation of the governor of Malta, forbidding the granting of coaling privileges to either belligerent fleet proceeding to the scene of war, or to belligerent vessels on their way to positions on the line of route, with the object of intercepting neutral ships on suspicion of carrying contraband, as aimed more at Russia than Japan, the purpose being, they claim, not so much to embarrass the operations of cruisers in search of contraband as to discourage the giving of any assistance by any power to Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet in the event that it starts eastward.

It had been thought in diplomatic circles that France would permit the Russian ships to coal from their own coasts within the shelter of French harbors, but the Russian ambassador at London holds that such hospitality is a violation of neutrality.

The Japanese legation expresses satisfaction at the denial from Washington that the United States torpedo boat destroyer Chauncey had been ordered to interfere with the Japanese operations at Shanghai. The legation added that Japan cannot permit the government of condition at Shanghai to continue much longer.

"Japan," declares the legation, "will not consent to a partial disarmament, as in the case of the Ryshehtel at Chefoo. The Russian ships must either completely disarm or fight."

ARE WITHIN A MILE AND A HALF OF GAL

Another of Inner Chain of Forts Captured After Fierce Fighting.

Chinese Viceroy Refuses to Send Fleet of Warships to Shanghai.

London, Aug. 23.—The Evening News this afternoon published a dispatch from Chefoo today's date announcing that the Japanese captured another fort of the Port Arthur defenses, yesterday, after a tremendous attack.

The Evening News dispatch from Chefoo is simply a repetition of the announcement of the capture of Itochu, or Etseshan, known as "Chain fort." Etseshan fort, according to the maps of Port Arthur available, is almost in the center of the chain of forts, of which it forms one, defending Port Arthur, from which it is only a mile and a half distant. It occupies a commanding position and is possibly only second in importance to the Golden Hill forts.

It was announced from Chefoo, Monday, that the Japanese had swept the Russians from Pigeon bay and had captured the northernmost forts of the western line of inner defenses, though Anzhan fort, about a mile northeast of Etseshan fort, might also be classed as the northernmost forts of the western line of inner defenses at Port Arthur.

Shanghai, Aug. 23.—The viceroy of Nanking has refused the request of Taotai Yuan that a Chinese fleet be dispatched to Shanghai. American Consul General Goodnow declares that he has no intention of interfering beyond protecting American property. Another meeting of the consular body has been called for 3 o'clock this afternoon to further consider the Askold-Grozevol situation.

Tien Tsin, Aug. 23.—Lloyd's Agent at Newchwang reports as follows: The Russians are retaining produce from the interior. Liao Yang is expected to fall shortly. Newchwang and the country under Japanese jurisdiction are progressing wonderfully. The consuls get every assistance from the administrators.

MAY SETTLE TO SIEGE. Japs May Conclude to Starve Out Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 23.—Despite the popular feeling that Port Arthur is doomed, the success with which Lieutenant General Stoessel has been beating off the Japanese assaults and the heavy loss sustained by the besiegers offer considerable encouragement to the war office.

There is a limit beyond which troops cannot go, no matter how gallant, said an officer of the general staff this morning. "A fleet of the army before Port Arthur is a small estimate of the enemy's losses up to date. If the storming operation, which we understand is now progressing, fails to give them a foothold in the ring of inner defenses the Japanese will be compelled by sheer exhaustion to stop and recuperate, while awaiting additional reinforcements, and I personally believe they will abandon the idea of a general assault on the city to regular siege operations. Starving out the garrison is less brilliant but it is quite as effective a way of reducing a fortress. The Japanese purpose in rushing matters has doubtless been to release a section of the southern army and enable it to cooperate with the armies in Manchuria."

CHINESE REPORTS On Siege of Port Arthur Taken With Reserve.

Chefoo, Aug. 23.—According to advices brought here from Port Arthur by a junk, the Japanese were pressing the Russian center along the railroad, and the Russian right in the vicinity of Golden Hill. These advices are brought by Chinese, who departed from Tsingtao, which is one mile from the city, near Golden Hill, between the city and the forts of the Russian right wing. The Chinese declare that the Japanese occupied Tsingtao and penetrated along the railroad to Gen. Stoessel's residence on Aug. 21.

As this report would indicate that Port Arthur has all but fallen, the Japanese expert attached to the local consulate received the information with great reserve. The information is accepted, however, as a confirmation of previous reports that the Russians have been driven from Itzshan, and that the Japanese are very close to the southern forts and the eastern defenses.

THE NATIONAL RIFLE MATCH Competition Is Keen Be- tween Various Teams at Fort Riley.

Fort Riley, Kas., Aug. 23.—Shooting in the national rifle match was resumed today under perfect weather conditions. Competition between the various teams was keen, and a decided increase in the interest displayed. This was the second day of team shooting, the fire being at 800 and 1000 yards, slow fire.

The army infantry team, which led yesterday, which was at 300 and 600 yards, slow fire, and 200 and 500 yards, rapid fire, is considered an especially strong aggregation and it was believed that they would increase their lead today, as the longer ranges are the ones in which the team really excels. Tomorrow will see the last of the team shooting. The contest for the individual matches are commencing to come in rapidly and everything points to a large number of competitors. An idea of the extent of the shoot is given in the fact that 12,000 rounds of ammunition is newly made for the purpose of this shoot, and Captain Jay Hoffer, of the ordnance department from the Springfield, Mass., arsenal is here for the purpose of observing the effect.

Miss Alice M. Smith, of Minneapolis, Minn., tells how woman's monthly suffering may be permanently relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have never before given my endorsement for any medicine, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has added so much to my life and happiness that I feel like making an exception in this case. For two years every month I would have two days of severe pain, and could find no relief, but one day when visiting a friend I ran across Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, she had used it with the best results and advised me to try it. I found that it worked wonders with me; I now experience no pain, and only had to use a few bottles to bring about this wonderful change. I use it occasionally now when I am exceptionally tired or worn out."—Miss Alice M. WHEAT IS LOWER Market Again Suffers a Loss—Wire Service Very Poor.

Frosts Reported In Manitoba—Canadian Pacific Railroad Estimate.

Duluth Board of Trade, Aug. 23.—With almost no wire service it is difficult for grain traders to do business, and so with practically no quotations from Chicago or New York and very few from Minneapolis it was a very quiet day on the Duluth board. The market opened lower and held at a lower level all morning. There were reports of frost in several parts of Manitoba, but even these failed to stimulate the market to any extent. Primary receipts were somewhat less today, and Kansas City reports a sharp falling off, and owing to the fact that farmers will do their fall plowing, rains having put the soil in shape.

The Liverpool market was lower, closing with a loss of 5/8d. London was also lower, and the Canadian Pacific railroad officials and other Canadian interests are claiming that the damage in Manitoba and the Canadian Northwest is being exaggerated. A Montreal dispatch this morning said: "A Canadian Pacific official estimates the wheat yield for Western Canada at 65,000,000 bushels. Three and a half million acres will be harvested this fall. Reports received from 70 out of 80 elevators indicate a damage from frost of 10 to 20 per cent. The estimate of 65,000,000 bushels is the same as made by the bankers association a week ago."

The bulls among the Canadian Pacific railroad nor anyone else can estimate the damage from frost so exactly. It has been discovered within a few days; the extent of its ravages cannot be estimated for some time. The top experts are assuming that its action will be the same as in the portions of American North-west where it has appeared, and that means heavy loss.

The September option in Duluth fell 1/2c, in Chicago 1/2c and in Minneapolis 1/2c. Receipts in Duluth were 26,000 bushels, last year, and at Minneapolis 145,000 bushels, last year. At Duluth, the Northwest of 20 against 40 last year. Chicago receipts were 16,000 bushels, last year, and at Minneapolis 145,000 bushels, last year. Shipments were 11,000 bushels, last year, and at Minneapolis 145,000 bushels, last year.

Trading in wheat in the Duluth market was dull. The September option declined 1/2c, to $1.13 1/2, and the October option declined 1/2c, to $1.13 1/2. It rallied to $1.14 1/2, and then declined to $1.14 1/2 at noon. The close was at $1.14 1/2, and the market was quiet.

Following are the closing prices: Wheat—No. 1, 1904, $1.14 1/2; No. 2, 1904, $1.13 1/2; No. 1, 1905, $1.14 1/2; No. 2, 1905, $1.13 1/2; No. 1, 1906, $1.14 1/2; No. 2, 1906, $1.13 1/2; No. 1, 1907, $1.14 1/2; MURDERED BY "BLACK LAND"

Italian Shot For Betraying Secrets of Gang.

An Assassin Brought From Toronto to Do Deed.

New York, Aug. 24.—Salvatore Bossuto, 18 years old, was shot to death in his father's restaurant in Park street by Carlo Rossati, 35 years old, today because he had disclosed to the police secrets of the alleged "Black Hand."

The father was knocked down and cooked into insensibility by the slayer, who then ran down the street, followed by a great mob. Italians to the number of 1000 later attacked the 124-year-old police station, hurled missiles at the police and prisoner, hurrying two detectives and one policeman.

They would have torn the murderer limb from limb had not the arrival of the reserve police from two station houses who were forced to use clubs and fists and threaten to shoot.

According to the police the murder was deliberately planned by an organized gang and this gang is alleged to have sent to Toronto, for Rossati, who arrived here last night. After his arrival he was seen about Mulberry Bend with the Italians and because of his immense stature, attracted attention.

Bossuto is an enemy of these organized gangs and his son inherited the father's opposition to the lawless element of their countrymen. When not studying music, young Bossuto helped about the restaurant. Several weeks ago he learned that the murderous gang about Mulberry Bend had

RESTRAINS CZAR BESTOWS ROYAL THE CITY FAVOR ON HIS SUBJECTS

From Interfering With the Lodging of Non-
Union Men.

Judge Brentano Grants Injunction Asked By the Packers.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Judge Brentano today issued an injunction restraining the city of Chicago from interfering with the lodging of non-union employees in the packing houses at the stock yards.

The city announced that an appeal would be taken to the appellate court. The injunction was issued in a test case brought by the G. H. Hammond company. Seven additional petitions were at once filed following the decision of the court for an extension of the temporary injunction to all the packing companies within the stock yards, with the exception of the Omaha Packing company.

In the Hammond case, the court found that the bill in controversy is not within the fire limits and cannot therefore be regulated by the fire or building ordinances of the city.

The packers resumed the importation of strike breakers on a large scale today. A special train of seven cars arrived over the Erie. Two carloads of strike breakers were brought in under heavy police guard over the Monon route.

Issues Manifesto on Occasion of Christening of His Son.

Use of the Knout Abolished Throughout the Empire.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—The czar today issued a lengthy manifesto on the occasion of the christening of his heir to the throne. It is introduced by the following message to the people: "By the will of God, we, the czar and autocrat of all the Russias, czar of Poland, grand duke of Finland, etc., announce to our faithful subjects that on this, the day of the christening of our son, the Grand Duke Alexis Nicholasovich, following the promptings of our heart, we turn to our great family of the empire and with the deepest and most heartfelt pleasure, even amidst these times of national struggle and difficulty, bestow upon them some gifts of our royal favor or for their greater enjoyment in their daily lives."

The various benefits bestowed on many classes are then enumerated at length. One of the most important provisions relates to the entire abolition of corporal punishment among the rural classes and its curtailment in the army and navy. The manifesto reminds land purchase areas which affect one of the largest classes of the population throughout the empire and its benefits are also extended to estates in Poland.

The general provisions of the manifesto include all-round reduction in sentences for common law offenses, a general amnesty for political offenses, exemption from military service for the education of the children of officers and soldiers who have been victims of military or political persecution, and such families as need it whose bread winners have fallen in the service of their country.

The sum of $1,500,000 is set apart from the state fund for the benefit of landless people. The czar also decrees that the military and naval courts of honor be abolished, and that the military and naval courts of honor be abolished, and that the military and naval courts of honor be abolished.

Che Foo, Aug. 24.—Information of undoubted authenticity states that the Japanese armored cruisers Nishin and Kasuga have bombarded and silenced the Russian forts east of Golden Hill, at the entrance of Port Arthur.

The forts referred to are probably very close to Forts Tsingtao and Chaochankou, mentioned in these dispatches yesterday and today.

London, Aug. 24.—A telegram from Tokyo to the Japanese legation says the Russian battleship Sebastopol was bombarding the Japanese land positions yesterday from outside the harbor at Port Arthur, when she struck a mine. Besides a list to starboard the battleship's bows were submerged.

Washington, Aug. 24.—The Japanese legation has received the following cablegram from Tokyo: "According to the report of the commander of the torpedo boat destroyer Asashio, the Russian battleship Sebastopol, while bombarding the Japanese position on land from outside the harbor on the 23rd, struck a mine and inclined considerably to starboard, with bows submerged. She was towed inside."

The state department has been advised that the Wai Wu Fu has extended the time for repairing the Russian ships in Shanghai to noon of Aug. 25. The Wai Wu Fu is the Chinese foreign office.

VALUABLE TRADE LOST TO AMERICA

Prince Edward Isle Seeks Best Mar- ket In Great Britain.

Commerce With the United States Killed By Hostile Tariff.

(BY JOHN H. KAFFERTY.)
Charlottetown, P. E. I., Aug. 24.—(Special Correspondence of The Herald.)—Prince Edward Isle, the smallest and youngest of the federated provinces of the Dominion of Canada, is the most densely populated and the richest in proportion to its area. It has 219,000 inhabitants, the most productive land in the world, and upon its singularly beautiful surface live 16,000 industrious, thrifty, and contented people. The school system of the island is said to be the most perfect of any in the Dominion, and the per capita riches in money greater than in any other member of the federation.

Latest of the provinces to merge its destinies with Canada, Prince Edward Island derived most benefit from the free trade with the United States, which it enjoyed previous to 1854. Merchants, farmers, fishermen and shippers have lived and prospered upon the prosperity which free trade gave them. In the liberal campaign fought here until 1887, "unlimited reciprocity" and "continental free trade" were the battle cries of the electorate, but the party which made that the paramount issue in the general election of that year was defeated.

EAGER FOR RECIPROCITY.
"If Prince Edward Isle knew that it could have free trade with the United States it would throw up both hands for it right now," Edward Hughes, a member of the provincial government and a leading merchant of Charlottetown, declares the tendency of the people in this matter. "But careful inquiry develops the fact that it is only a tendency, a wish that is seldom expressed, a hope so long deferred that it seems best forgotten. It would require a positive, sustained and generous initiative on the part of the United States to awaken and rekindle in this island the demand for reciprocity in the same kind for which it clamored patiently and in vain."

TARIFF KILLED RECIPROCITY.
Enactment of a prohibitive tariff by the United States proved a staggering blow to this fair province. Its people believed that they could not survive the loss of the American market. The United States was the natural outlet for their products. To Boston, New York, Portland, and lesser New England wharves went their butter, cheese, poultry, oysters, lobsters, and other products, and the coasters which carried them southward brought back bananas, cotton, grapes, fabrics, hardware, and manufactured things that are not to be had elsewhere. Losing this adjacent market, the islanders strove for a new treaty, but requited both at home and at Washington.

A scare among women strike breakers left the stock yards today proclaiming that they had deserted the packers. Superintendent C. F. Farley, however, asserted that the work of the women has been unsatisfactory and that they were discharged. A scare among women strike breakers left the stock yards today proclaiming that they had deserted the packers. Superintendent C. F. Farley, however, asserted that the work of the women has been unsatisfactory and that they were discharged.

The date of the manifesto, August 11, is the old or Julian style, coinciding with August 24 of the new or Gregorian style.

The newspapers are unanimous in welcoming the abolition of corporal punishment as the most important concession embodied in the manifesto.

The czar says: "It will be hailed as the disappearance of a great evil. No longer will it be possible to stigmatize Russia as the land of the knout."

The Novoe Vremya says the abolition of corporal punishment in the army and navy was only a right and proper recognition of the heroism displayed by the men in the far East.

MUST IGNORE IT. Russia Says Chinese Neutral- ity Is Dead Letter.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—The Novosti today says: Continued violation of neutrality laws in the Chinese ports by the Japanese will compel Russia to regard the Chinese empire, or at least part thereof, as being within the sphere of active hostilities.

China lacks either the power or the inclination to prevent Japanese incursions. The warships of neutral powers idly watch these violations. Therefore, the agreement as to China's neutrality made at the beginning of the war, becomes a dead letter and Russia must ignore it in self defense.

TEAM SHOOTING Ends at Fort Riley After Spirited Contest.

Fort Riley, Kans., Aug. 24.—The shooting at the national range ended today after a spirited contest. Competitors again witnessed several changes in the standing of the teams over the first day's work. The army infantry team dropping to third place and the New York National Guard team taking the lead. New Jersey was in the second place and the marines, by steady, consistent shooting, still held fourth place with the chances of a much better showing today. Maj. Gen. John C. Bates is present, and the shooting consisted of two skirmish runs by each team. New York's lead of seventy over New Jersey almost assured it of the national trophy and the cash prize of $500.

Clothier was slightly the favorite, but expert play was equally divided. Ward won the national tennis championship over Clothier, taking the third set in 7-5.

FRUITLESS EFFORTS To Bring About Adjustment of Sugar Rates.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—New but fruitless efforts have been made by the Western roads to bring about an adjustment of the sugar rate complications. All the Chicago lines have put into effect a 5-cent rate from Chicago to St. Louis, which, added to the cut rate of 5 cents from St. Louis to the Missouri river, makes a tariff from Chicago to Kansas City of 10 cents per 100 pounds, or a cut of 17 cents. There has been trouble over sugar rates for more than a year, owing to competition between the Southern and Eastern sugar interests.

Previous to serving on the judiciary committee, Congressman Jenkins was a member of the rivers and harbors committee and has in the past worked hard for the interests of the local harbor.

"Yes, we have a bad fight on among the Republicans of our state," said Mr. Jenkins, "but we are hopeful that matters will be straightened out satisfactorily by the supreme court. The question that the supreme court will have to decide is an important one and the duty is not a pleasant one for the court."

NEWS CONFIRMED Of the Rapid Advance Made on Port Arthur.

Che Foo, Aug. 24.—A junk which left Liao Tsi yesterday on Aug. 21, has just arrived here. She reports that the Japanese have succeeded in occupying Antschan fort, as well as another fort, probably Eresshan, about a mile south-west of Antschan. The Japanese have the Russians from the parade ground, (which lies about two miles north of the harbor), they have destroyed two forts at Chao Chankou, which is within the eastern fortifications, and they have advanced to a point near Chao Chankou. This news confirms information received here previously and which the local Japanese were not inclined to believe. The junk had been fired at midnight of Aug. 22. Scarcely a building in Port Arthur remains undamaged. The town hall, which was used as a magazine, has been destroyed.

Paris, Aug. 24.—There is reason to believe that a decision is about to be taken providing for the voluntary disarmament of the Russian cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer, Grozovoi, now at Shanghai, and the Russian cruiser Diana, at Saigon. This will be done primarily to avoid international complications, but the Russians consider that this will be offset by the avoidance of the possible capture of the vessels named by the Japanese.

London, Aug. 24.—The British foreign office has not yet been able to establish the identity of the Russian cruiser which recently examined the papers of the British steamer Comedian off the southeast coast of Cape Colony. Telegrams received from the authorities at Lorient confirm the report of the examination of the papers of the Comedian, but the British office has been unable to identify the cruiser. The description given by the commander of the Comedian is that of a Russian cruiser, but it might also be the description of the converted liner Don.

TORNADO DOES GREAT DAMAGE IN ITALY.

New York, Aug. 24.—In the tornado which swept Sorrento, Italy, says a Herald dispatch from this city, the cathedral and monastery of San Paolo almost fell to the ground. One house gave away, burying three persons beneath the ruins. The town presents a spectacle of great desolation. Unroofed houses are on every side. There are broken windows, heaps of plaster and mortar are lying in the streets, while bits of wreckage from the bay were hurled right into the town hall here adding to the general aspect of confusion. The blow lasted only two minutes.

THE EVENING STORY.

A MODERN JUGGERNAUT

By Percy Chamberlain.

(Copyright, 1904, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

It happened so suddenly that the onlookers were paralyzed with the horror at their little hills—Neither sword and shield, nor spear and bow, nor any one sure rule to win against your friends and foes—Let the ten commandments go, and get a little pose!

Make it mental science, or a thought that's labeled new; Advertise it—shoot it till the air around is blue! Socialistic theories are now considered smart.

It's so very easy to take up the work—Talk it at your dinner table; push it everywhere; Never stop the whoop-la that'll make the vulgar stare.

Take it with you everywhere, for that's the thing that goes; Love your neighbor as yourself, but don't forget your pose!

Maybe in society you'd like to cut a shine; Keep before the public, if it's only just a line! Send it to the papers, if you only want to be famous; Accidents are very interesting, don't you know!

Tumble from your motor wagon; give a monkey lunch; Get your name in all the lists with the exclusive bunch; Have it whispered that you really wear hand-painted hose; That's one way to cultivate the truly social pose!

Literature is now quite classy. Write a little book; Make it weird, mysterious; the heroine a snook; Let it whisper that you really cannot understand

When she talks of psychic things and love in Louisiana; Weave in ripping little pipe-dreams; never mind the plot; If it said and symbolistic, unconventional and not; Dedicate it subtly to a "Somebody that Knows"; This is quite the stunner—the literary pose!

You can live quite nicely without money nowadays; Visit friends the whole year through, and work your winning ways; Practice bridge, and learn just when to make your bets; Always bear in mind that only he that hoeketh, gets;

Never drop your chosen hobby; ventilate your fad; Literature—society—religion—have it bad; Really you can manage without character or clothes; But you mustn't try to get along without your pose!

—KATE MASTERSON, in Houston Post.

It all—but not so suddenly that the brawny man who sprang forward to drag the child from the path of the great automobile, and falling did not find time to seize a rock from the roadside and hurl it with unerring aim full at the head of the hasty

So it happened that the cry of horror from the street was echoed in kind from the auto, and while tender hands pulled the little body into the street other friendly hands held the lurching form of the young aristocrat in the auto from pitching out, and the big machine slowed up and stopped under the guidance of one of his friends.

Two athletic young fellows—evidently gentlemen of birth and position—leaped from the vehicle and rushed back with black brows, shouting for the police.

In the auto three young women in costly array swished the blood from the head of their injured comrade with priceless handkerchiefs of lace and silk, still priceless shawls, wraps and lingerie. One pair of dainty hands held the head of the wounded child, while four other dainty hands moved fleetly to staunch the wound. For a moment these young damsels of the rich are much as ordinary women on occasion and are resourceful, instinctive and unafraid.

As the two young athletes rushed back toward the spot from whence came the rock that had wounded their comrade, they saw a man, with wide eyes and foaming lips, striving with all his great strength to break away from the restraining arms of a full dozen earnest men and rush to meet them.

Just then an officer came alone and, at the direction of the two young men from the auto, rushed toward the man arrested. There were deep growls of disapproval among the onlookers, and the mechanic looked down at the well-dressed young man who had been watching the accident stoppage, and said to the officer, in a decisive voice:

"Arrest that man in the automobile. I saw the whole incident and I want to lodge a charge of murder against him. Do you know the man?"

"It is Stephen Hamilton, son of Harlow H. Hamilton."

The name was that of one of the great money kings of the day, and the young man who had been watching the accident looked grave. At this moment the man in the machine raised and half raised himself, said thickly:

"Found the fellow who threw the stone?"

"Yes," replied one of his companions. "He was arrested."

"I'll make an example of him, I'll make an example of the station and get out the proper papers."

A MARITAL TRUCE

Arranged By L. A. Phipps of Pittsburg and His Wife.

Agree to Separate and He Will Pay About $5,000,000.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Accompanied by lawyers and friends, L. A. Phipps, of Pittsburg, and his wife, from whom he has been separated several months, met in Chicago Monday to reach an agreement in their matrimonial difficulties. Their purpose, it is stated, was not to patch up a family truce, but to determine just how many millions stood between them and a peaceful separation, including some agreement under which both could see their children.

It was these children which caused the sensational act, recently of Mr. Phipps when he took them from his wife in New York city and fled with all haste to Denver, where they now are.

Both Mr. Phipps and his wife arrived in Chicago in as much state as secrecy, and the fact was said by both on secrecy. The husband came from Denver and his wife from Pittsburg. It was known that many good moves toward an amicable settlement had been blocked by publicity.

It was this a matter of too much importance to be made the subject of popular comment any longer, was one statement made in a letter that traveled from Denver to Pittsburg.

Mrs. Phipps instructed her attorneys to say that she was not looking for publicity. She was, however, Mr. Phipps' attorneys were informed, that so much was known of the divorce proceedings in Denver.

It was agreed that Chicago was a good place for a secret conference, and also possessed an additional advantage by reason of its central location. To avoid delay, Mrs. Phipps hurried to the Pennsylvania train in which they had come from the East at the Englewood station in the morning.

Flanked by two attorneys, carrying suit cases, followed by a maid with a satchel, and further shielded from the gaze of the Englewood public by a black veil, which extended almost to the shoulders, Mrs. Phipps was in a cab that was waiting for her just at the exit of the station. Then the party was driven toward State street and the vehicle disappeared around a corner.

Mr. Phipps, it was said, was awaiting his wife when she arrived at the meeting place. He was attended also by two attorneys, who had journeyed with him from Denver in a private car, reaching Chicago at 10 o'clock.

The conference, which lasted several hours, is said to have been a "business affair pure and simple," no thought being given to the possibility of a revelation by either side of the principals.

The question at issue, over which there was some debate, and in which Mrs. Phipps is said to have taken as much of a part as her attorneys, was said to be the amount, in a "lump sum," that Mrs. Phipps was to pay, providing his suit for divorce, filed recently in Denver, was not contested.

How the divorce was to be conducted was not learned authoritatively, although it was intimated that Mr. Phipps had shown himself ready to accept of a "rescue" and accede to his wife's demands, made immediately following their separation.

The demands are said to have been a payment of $5,000,000 in cash and the custody of the Phipps children one half of each year.

As counsel in chief for Mrs. Phipps while in Chicago, United States Attorney James S. Young, of Pittsburg, also is said in a dispatch received from the Pennsylvania city to have arranged for her "secret" departure from there by inducing the Pennsylvania railroad to stop one of its fastest trains for her at a suburban station.

According to the dispatch from Pittsburg, Mrs. Phipps entertained friends at dinner Sunday evening and chatted freely of her separation from her husband. Shortly before 9 o'clock she left for her "secret" departure from there by inducing the Pennsylvania railroad to stop one of its fastest trains for her at a suburban station.

Mr. Otto A. Fleissner's WERE SOAKED CATARRH Pe-ru-na Promptly Cured Him.

Mr. Otto A. Fleissner, American Epicurean, late chef at Col. W. F. Cody, (Buffalo Bill), now chef at the Rialto Hotel, Seattle Wash., writes: "Suffered with kidney and bladder trouble until life did not seem worth living. I had tried many medicines but did not get any relief until I took Peruna. It was really wonderful how much better I was after I had used this medicine only a week. I did not expect that it would help me permanently, but as long as it was doing me good I continued to use it. At the end of six months I found, to my relief, that it had rid my system of all poisons, and that I was cured to stay cured. You certainly have a splendid medicine and I gladly endorse it."—Otto A. Fleissner.

Catarrh of the Kidneys a Common Disease—Kidney Trouble Often Fails to Be Regarded as Catarrh by Physicians.

Catarrh of the kidneys is very common indeed. It is a pity that this fact is not better known to the physicians as well as to the people.

People have kidney disease. They take some diuretic, hoping to get better. They avoid drink, eat plain food, and they get no relief. Catarrh of the kidneys is a disease and catarrh are seldom associated in the minds of the people, and, alas, it is not very often associated in the minds of the physicians.

PE-RU-NA CURES CATARRH OF THE KIDNEYS.

For something else, they try this remedy and that remedy. The trouble may be catarrh all the time. A few bottles of Peruna would cure them.

Thousands of Testimonials.

Thousands of testimonials from people who have had kidney disease which had gone beyond the control of the physician are received by Dr. Hartman every year, giving Peruna the whole praise for marvelous cures.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio. All correspondence held strictly confidential.

lisher of the town weekly, the Dallas Post, had married into an agreement by which marriages among the young people will be encouraged. The following appears in this week's issue of the Post:

"Here is a chance that will help you to get the Post a year free. A good brother duly authorized to say the words 'I will unite for life, or until the divorce court cuts the bonds, says he will divvy up with us the fees he recollects from all couples who send to him to marry. Now we will give a year's subscription to each couple who will let him to tie the knot for them. Give a nice write up of the wedding besides.'"

Editor Capwell says the offer is not confined exclusively to young folks.

Another Effort Is to Be Made to Save Rooney.

NORTH DAKOTA.
Fargo—The John Rooney murder case will be taken to the United States supreme court. Formal notice of appeal has just been served by the attorneys for the defense. Rooney killed Harold Sweet, his conviction was easily secured, but prior to his execution the state legislature enacted a law requiring all executions to be held in the state prison instead of in the courts where the crimes were taken. The sentence was under an exp post facto law and the penalty provided now is greater than that in vogue at the time of the commission of the crime. Rooney was a desperate character and had followed the practice of holding up bank laborers.

The case may be heard in October. Governor White has named J. M. S. Miller, of this city, a member of the state board of pharmacy. Since statehood no Fargo druggist has been on the board. Wilber succeeds H. E. White of Jamestown.

A state for warehouses and offices has been secured by the Comptrollers' Oil company. A state agency will be organized to fight the Standard Oil in this state.

Justices Young and Engstrand of the supreme court heard arguments in the case of Attorney Hertz and Joseph of London, to fix the amount of bonds for bail denied by Judge Kneeshaw of the district court. They are charged with the murder of Farmer Stoddard. The court took the matter under advisement.

All go-carts and buggies.

Here's where you can take advantage of our boldness. We sold so many carts and buggies in the spring we thought we could sell double. So we overbought, with the result that we now have on hand 25 of the celebrated "Whitney" go-carts and baby carriages we will sell at a big reduction rather than carry them over the winter.

Mark our words! We will sell them every one, and you will do well to be one of the lucky purchasers, for you can take any buggy or cart in the house, without reserve at—

Belts, bags and jewelry

Four lots, priced as though giving them away.

Come with the rush to the jewelry and leather goods counters. At the special prices now offered the belts, bags and jewelry sets are gifts. You can't afford to do without, when they go as do these.

West Duluth

That the Northern Pacific railway officials were wise in acting on the recommendation of the West Duluth Commercial club and placing extra trains on the line between Duluth and Fond du Lac has been conclusively proven during the last few weeks. Extra service morning and evening was provided for the summer, as a result of the action of the West Duluth Commercial club. This allows campers at Fond du Lac to come to Duluth in the morning and return in the evening, if they so desire, not interfering with the business of the day, and thus adding greatly to the popularity of the pretty St. Louis river summer resort, besides being of convenience to residents of Fond du Lac in enabling them to spend the day in Duluth, returning home late in the afternoon. Every morning and afternoon these trains have their full quota of passengers, and it is said that never before have there been so many people from the city camping in the vicinity of the historic little town up the river.

COURT IS GROWING.

St. James court, No. 614, Catholic Order of Foresters, held a regular meeting last evening at Gilley's hall. Six new members were initiated into the court and a number of new accreditations were received. An invitation to participate in the ceremonies attendant upon the laying of the corner stone of the new St. Jean de Baptiste church was received. A State Chief Ranger Martin was present and congratulated the court upon its steady growth. The state meeting of the order, when over 200 delegates will be initiated, will be held at St. Paul on Sunday, Sept. 4. The Chicago team will be present and exemplify the degree work of the order. A number of the local members are planning on attending the meeting.

DEVERLY EMULATES

Bishop Potter By Opening a Model Saloon.

New York, Aug. 24.—William Stephen Deverly is Bishop Potter's first recruit in the model saloon business. Deverly, descending from the high intellectual plane in which he has been accustomed to revolve, has bestowed his blessing and some capital upon what the irreverent might call a "low station" at Far Rockaway. Like the subway tavern, the seaside help to the weary will not sell drinks to those who have no money with which to buy.

Deverly's model tavern was formerly known as the Rosemore, and Deverly acquired it through foreclosure proceedings. In order that the new enterprise may be properly conducted after the lofty Deverly principle, he has put in charge his nephew, John J. Byrne, and his brother-in-law, Michael Bergen. It is the most pretentious building in the neighborhood. It has been christened "At the Sign of the Pious Saloon."

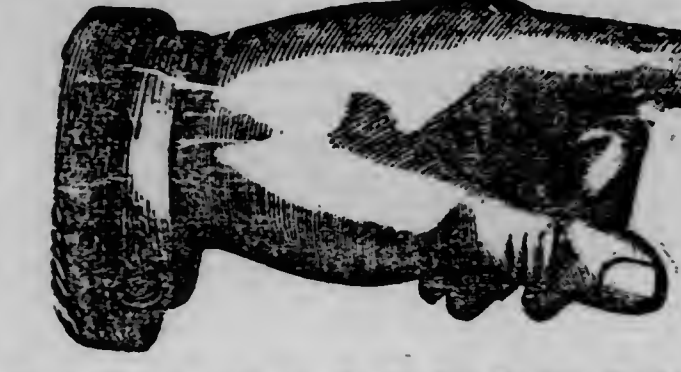

Deverly was seated in front of the new hostelry, yesterday afternoon handing out political views in tabloids of the queen's own English, and advising the bartenders to follow the new Episcopal ruling and decline to sell to persons already intoxicated. A crowd of young fellows walked up and went into the saloon. After they had refreshed themselves by a goodly amount of rounds in the prehistoric way and were coming out, Deverly held them up and delivered the following twelve commandments:

Don't drink.
Don't chew.
Don't smoke.
Don't play the horses.
Go into politics.
Never play any game of chance.
Attend your home church.
Keep away from grafting politicians.
Don't work hard.
Instead of blowing your coin in gin mills blow your best girls to ice cream.

Go to bed early and rise early.
If you have to hurt a friend to make money, lose the money first.

HAULDOWN FLAGS

Ships at Shanghai Disarmed and Placed Out of Commission.

Unpleasant Affair Satisfactorily Settled and Incident Closed.

Paris, Aug. 25.—An official dispatch from Shanghai says the Russian consul has notified the local that the Askold and Grozovoi have been disarmed. The authorities here are awaiting a similar notice from Saigon of the disarmament of the Diana.

The French officials are much relieved at the avoidance of dangerous possibilities at Shanghai.

Shanghai, Aug. 25.—An order was received at 2:30 o'clock last night from the Russian minister at Peking that the Askold and Grozovoi are to be disarmed. Yesterday was a day of considerable anxiety in official circles. It was feared that the Askold and Grozovoi would remain four days longer. Then negotiations were begun for the disarmament of the Askold and Grozovoi. The Russian minister at Peking, but it was absolutely refused by the Chinese government. Thereupon an order came to Shanghai to rush work on the vessels and go out at what seemed certain death next Sunday. The abject distress of the Askold's crew when this news was received, was pitiable. The Russian officials that the Askold's hull could not be repaired by Sunday. More telegraphing to Peking followed and last night the welcome order to disarm was received by the Russian minister at Peking. Under the supervision of the customs authorities representing China, the Askold and Grozovoi will be disarmed tomorrow. The Askold's crew will take their places alongside the Askold and Grozovoi. The Askold's crew will take their places alongside the Askold and Grozovoi. The Askold's crew will take their places alongside the Askold and Grozovoi.

DESTROYERS STRIKE MINES

Attempt to Capture Fort No. 1, Said to Have Cost Japs 10,000 Men.

The City of Dalny Is Said to Be Filled With Wounded Japanese.

Chefoo, Aug. 25.—Russian advisers received here say that the Japanese assaults on Port Arthur, Aug. 21 and 22, were repulsed with tremendous losses. It is added that the attempt of the Japanese to capture Fort No. 1 cost them 10,000 men, and that their attack on Port Etchesan resulted in their losing 3000 men killed or wounded. Port Dalny is said to be filled with wounded men.

The Japanese are hiring laborers here for service on the Liao Tung peninsula. It is reported that the Japanese are obtaining provisions through the port of Wei Hai Wei.

LOSE TWO SHIPS.
Russian Torpedo Boat Destroyers Strike on Mines.

Tokio, Aug. 25.—Two Russian torpedo boat destroyers struck mines at the entrance of Port Arthur last evening. The larger one of the destroyers, a four funneled one, was sunk. The names of the vessels and the number of lives lost are unknown.

ORDERS NOT RECEIVED.
Probable Reason of Smolensk's Continued Activity.

London, Aug. 25.—The Associated Press learns that Ambassador Benckendorff has advised the foreign office here that the cruiser which overhauled the British steamer Comedian off the southeast coast of Cape Colony, August 21, was probably the Smolensk, in which case her action could only be explained on the supposition that the orders telegraphed to the Russian admiral after the Malacca affair failed to reach her commander. The Russian government has proposed to take renewed measures to see that the Smolensk receives orders to cease its examination of neutral shipping. It is expected that before leaving for the south the Sebastopol and Smolensk took on board a large supply of coal, thus enabling them to keep at sea without visiting a port where orders could be delivered.

While the British authorities desire to continue their conciliatory policy they have informed the Russian government that the Smolensk's interference with British shipping must stop and they object strongly to the examination of merchantmen. The Russian government has proposed to take renewed measures to see that the Smolensk receives orders to cease its examination of neutral shipping. It is expected that before leaving for the south the Sebastopol and Smolensk took on board a large supply of coal, thus enabling them to keep at sea without visiting a port where orders could be delivered.

FORMAL PROTEST
Again Made to Russia Concerning Smolensk.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 25.—Great Britain has formally called attention of the Russian government to the renewed activity of the volunteer steamer Smolensk and has asked for explanations. Russia has not yet formally replied, being without official information, but in a general way she has explained what the foreign office suggested to the Associated Press yesterday.

Orders sent to the Smolensk, not to stop any more neutral vessels have not been delivered. The Novoe Vremya commenting on the English newspaper propositions to treat the Russian auxiliary cruisers as pirates asks them not to forget Premier Balfour's remark that the neutrals of today are the belligerents tomorrow and inquires how the British auxiliary cruisers would relish being attacked as pirates.

AWAIT RESULTS
At Port Arthur Before Again Attacking Kuropatkin.

Liao Yang, Aug. 25.—At the Russian headquarters here Gen. Kuropatkin's army is estimated at 100,000 men. Gen. Nodur's force at 70,000, and Gen. Oku's at 40,000. This is exclusive of two divisions of about 30,000 men, moving up on the right bank of the Liao river. It continues to be believed here that the Japanese armies in Manchuria are awaiting the result of the storming of Port Arthur before renewing their movements against the forces of Gen. Kuropatkin.

STOESSEL REPORTS ASSAULT.
St. Petersburg, Aug. 25.—The emperor has received a dispatch from Viceroy Alexieff, dated Aug. 24, saying that Gen. Stoessel reports from Port Arthur, Aug. 18, that at 4:30 in the morning of that day the Japanese began an assault on Uglivol hill and opened a fierce bombardment on the fortifications on the north and east fronts with their batteries on Wolf hills. The Japanese, he adds, are digging trenches in front of Suishin and along the entire Lunke (Tiger) valley.

THE ASIA HELD UP.
London, Aug. 25.—The Anchor line steamer Asia, which sailed August 11, from Liverpool for Calcutta, has arrived at Port Said and reports having been detained two hours while her papers and cargo were examined by the Russian ship Ural. This took place sixty miles west of Cape St. Vincent.

CRUISERS NEAR CANARIES.
Las Palmas, Canary Island, Aug. 25.—Fishermen report that three Russian cruisers are coaling from the German steamer Valeria at Cape Juby, off the south coast of Morocco.

BRITAIN WILL CO-OPERATE.
St. Petersburg, Aug. 25.—Russia has asked for the co-operation of Great Britain in getting orders to the Smolensk. This was gladly agreed to and the British government will try to deliver the instructions through ships from Cape Colony. Russia is seeking to carry out her demand for co-operation with no complications are expected.

BETTING LIGHT
For Jeffries-Munroe Fight on Friday Night.

San Francisco, Aug. 25.—Neither Jeffries nor Munroe will take any more severe odds. They will be permitted to protect themselves in the clinches and breakaways. Jeffries will fight on Friday night at the club, but Munroe is having a special pair made. Referee Graney will not referee any level of sparring thrown into the ring, except by Delaney or McCoy, who are both of the same weight. The referee will count the seconds in unison with the official timekeeper. Betting seems light with odds unchanged.

San Francisco, Aug. 25.—At a conference between Jeffries and Munroe's representatives and Referee Graney, it was decided to fight with Queensberry rules with the added stipulation that they must protect themselves in clinches and breakaways. Of all the battles for the heavyweight championship that have been held in San Francisco, this will be the first that has been conducted under those conditions. Instead of being compelled to punch each other in clinches and breakaways, the two giants will be allowed to punch each other in clinches and breakaways. They will fight, in other words, the same sort of a battle that the little fellows do, and that is the most popular with San Francisco lovers of the game.

IN FAVOR AGAIN.
Honors to Lamsdorff and Witte Considered Significant.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 25.—The list of consoling honors very large, containing plentiful recognition of the army and all departments of state, except the navy, where the honors are practically limited to the appointments of Admiral Jessen and Captain Dabich as imperial aide de camp.

The conferring of the high order of St. Alexander Nevsky on Foreign Minister Lamsdorff and the order of the White Eagle on M. Witte, president of the council of ministers, is regarded as significant and as indicating the complete return to favor of the emperor's conservative counselors.

While there is some popular disappointment with the emperor's mail because it was hardly as broad as expected, the papers unite in praising it and in expressing good wishes for the heir's health and happiness.

ROBBERS STILL AT LARGE.
Paterson, N. J., Aug. 25.—The four highwaymen who held up Dana White, paymaster for the O'Rourke Construction company, and carried off a satchel containing more than $600 yesterday are still at large, but a vigorous pursuit is being made by the police of Paterson and Montclair and posses of citizens.

BANK CLERKS IN SESSION.
St. Louis, Aug. 25.—The second annual convention of the American Institute of bank clerks was called to order today by R. M. Richter, of St. Louis, in the hall of congresses. The day was opened by a banquet by G. W. Garrett, of St. Louis banking fraternity, was responded to by C. E. Smith, of Chicago, Iowa, R. E. Armistead, assistant secretary of the treasury, delivered the principal address of the day.

MILLS WELL PICKETED.
Youngstown, O., Aug. 25.—Amalgamated pickets have been thrown around the upper mill of the American Steel Hoop company and every point leading to the plant is being closely patrolled by the strikers. The contingent of strike breakers received by the company at Pittsburgh $600 yesterday are being housed in the mills.

MORE MONEY FOR CROPS.
New York, Aug. 25.—The sub-treasury announces the telegraphic transfer of another $200,000 to Chicago, presumably for crop movement purposes.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—J. Ogden Armour, having suddenly returned from his vacation in the East, in proceeding to the packing center he drove through a throng of strikers and pickets who were resentfully falling back before an attack by the police. There was no demonstration although he was recognized.

In connection with the unexpected return of J. Ogden Armour to Chicago, reports of another effort to bring about peace negotiations independent of the council's effort were circulated. Strike leaders called a meeting and unusual activity was manifested. Referring to the appointment of a peace committee by the city council, President Donnelly of the striking butchers said today that he would not see the mayor and the council committee before tomorrow. When President Tilden, of Libby, McNeill & Libby packing company, arrived at his office today he found a committee of the council members inviting him to meet that body at 12 o'clock tomorrow. Mr. Tilden, who has been one of the chief spokesmen for the packers, he said that no action would be taken regarding the communication until after the packers had conferred.

Fifty strike-breakers at the plant of Nelson Morris & Co. went on strike today because the company refused to discharge a policeman whom the strike-breakers said had beaten Frank Norcia, one of their number. Last night Norcia was arrested, but not before he had resisted the attempt of the policeman to eject him from the strike-breakers' lodgings at the yards for smoking a pipe in barracks, contrary to the rules which had been issued as a precaution against fire.

General N. W. Sheane, a cattle raiser at Waterman, Minn., who has been declared the cattle raisers of his section were about to appeal to President Roosevelt to intervene to bring the strike to a close. Sheane brought 250 head of cattle to the city today rather than face the loss of feeding them longer after having had them in prime condition. He declared that he sold at a loss of $8 a head, considering their normal value. Others, he said, are losing $10 a head at heavy loss rather than face perils greater losses by shipping. According to Gen. Sheane, the cattle raisers of the Dakotas are in a desperate condition.

"President Roosevelt did so well in settling the cow strike that I should like very much to see him take a hand in this," said he. "Here are millions of people suffering because a few packers and a lot of laborers are at outs. It is an outrage that the public should be made to stand the brunt of it all."

ANOTHER ATTEMPT
To Be Made By City To Settle the Strike.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—The city authorities are to make a second effort to settle the stock yards strike. At a meeting of the city council last night a resolution was passed, empowering Mayor Harrison to appoint a committee of eleven aldermen, who are to make it their business to bring about a settlement. The committee was appointed by the mayor.

Invitations were at once sent to the leaders of the strikers and to representatives of the employers, inviting them to meet the members of the committee.

SPOT ON THE MOON
Now Three Miles Wide In Crater Plato.

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 25.—A telegram has been received here from Professor W. H. Pickering, who at the Lick observatory, Cal., tending to confirm an observation of a spot on the moon made by him last month. He saw a hazy patch in large lunar crater, Plato, which he did not detect before now because of the low light of the moon. The spot is three miles across. Two other tiny craters, and a dark spot on the floor of Plato, previously reported also are announced by Professor Pickering.

RURAL DELIVERY.
Washington, Aug. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—An additional rural delivery service route will be established on Oct. 1 at Rice, Benson county, Minn., the area covered is twenty-seven square miles and the population served, 450.

and that, therefore, it should come to pass. The second and by far the most numerous class shares in the judgment of the first, but is influenced by the sentimental prejudices of the third group, and the latter, whether liberal or conservative in Canadian politics, is deliberately and often openly hostile to the United States, both politically and commercially.

I have said that the middle and most numerous group shares the common policy of reciprocity as expressed by the advocates of that theory and also participates in those imperial or patriotic predilections which gain considerable poignancy and strength from a positive antipathy for the United States, its policies, and its people.

ANTI-AMERICAN FEELING.
No study of Canadian public sentiment with regard to commerce with the United States would be complete at this time without a consideration of the anti-American feeling that exists here. There are many advocates of reciprocity who would be willing to subordinate their dislike for the United States to what seems a wise and progressive national step, but the radical imperialist here would hinder progress than declare for any kind of intimate dealings with the republic to the south of him.

Unfortunately for the cause of Canada, there has been trouble in the province of Misamis, island of Mindanao, where bandits have looted several towns. The native authorities were defeated, and Pablo Mercado and his family were killed. Mercado was accused of being too friendly with the Americans. Three Chinese stores were burned. Four natives were murdered, the first of them being burned alive. Col. Harbord of the constabulary is now on the trail of the bandits.

Manila, Aug. 25.—A detail of native constabulary has been ambushed on the island of Leyte by a superior force of bandits. Capt. H. Barrett of the constabulary was killed in the fighting.

INDIVIDUAL RIFLE SHOOT

A Fast Event Begins at the Fort Riley Grounds.

Fort Riley, Kan., Aug. 25.—What probably is the fastest individual rifle shoot in the history of the United States began today at the national range, where nearly 200 entries and it will take two days to shoot off the match. Firing was at 200, 300 and 600 yards, slow fire, with ten shots at each of four ranges for each competitor. Weather conditions continued favorable.

The presentation of the cash prizes, trophies and medals in the national league shoot which was finished yesterday, was made today by Captain A. C. Macomber. The New York team was given the first prize consisting of the national trophy, which may be held for the year and $500 in cash. Later the teams from Georgia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, District of Columbia left for their homes, although a few members of the Georgia, District of Columbia and Connecticut teams remained to take part in the individual matches.

WAS WELL RECEIVED.
Cardinal Vannutelli Returns From Visit to Ireland.

Rome, Aug. 25.—Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli has returned here from his visit to Ireland, where he represented the pope at the reopening of Armagh cathedral, July 24. He was received in audience by the pope today and made his report. He was given a cut of 23-1-3 per cent from the regular rates, this rate to be effective until Aug. 31. It was believed that the concession was made in order to obtain a lower rate on steel rails, but no cut was made. The concession that manufacturers would continue to enjoy the reduced rate on export business camp, it is said, is a surprise.

STOCKHOLDERS ASSESSED.
Washington, Aug. 25.—The first reports of the First National bank of Grinnell, Iowa, was filed with the comptroller authorities the statement that owing to the large amount of forged paper among the assets, an assessment against the shareholders for their full 100 per cent liability is necessary. This has been levied.

CONFERENCE WITH THE PRESIDENT
Root and Cortelyou Have Extended Conference at Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 25.—After a conference with the president which extended far into last night and was resumed early today, National Chairman Cortelyou and Former Secretary of War Root left today for New York. At the station before their departure, they declined to discuss the details of their conference. A part of their mission to Sagamore Hill it was said was to look over the president's letter of acceptance. Mr. Root had not seen the letter before and as he expects shortly to leave on an extended trip, the president invited him to come to Oyster Bay at this time, considering that he might have the benefit of his counsel and suggestion.

TAFT GOES TO VERMONT.
Washington, Aug. 25.—Secretary Taft left today for Vermont, where he will deliver a campaign speech on Aug. 26. From there he goes to Portland, Me., to make another speech and hence for Canada for several weeks' rest.

KILLED IN A QUARREL.
Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Aug. 25.—At Walford Frank Seary has killed Michael Moynahan with a piece of iron pipe, following a quarrel over an alleged insult by Seary to a niece of Moynahan. Seary was arrested.

THE "MONK" HE PAY

Fine of His Master Paid By an Italian's Pet.

Clerk of Court Does Not Exactly Like Monkey's Methods.

What is probably the first case on record of a monkey paying a fine occurred this morning in the municipal court. It was not the monkey's own fine it paid, but that of its master, Antonio Degio, a swarthy son of sunny Italy, who was arraigned before Judge Winmon this morning on the charge of obstructing a public highway.

The monkey peered wonderingly about the court room from a perch inside Antonio's coat, when his master's case was called. He blinked his little black eyes at the judge and then gazed into Antonio's face with a troubled expression.

"You are charged with obstructing the streets," said the court. "What do you plead?"

"I gotta de monk. De monk ne dance. I gotta de monk," said the excited Italian.

"Did you gather a crowd about you?" asked the court.

"De men and de kids, dey come," said the prisoner.

"I'll fine you $5 and costs or five days in jail," said the court.

The prisoner accepted the sentence without a murmur but the monkey had an injured look and commenced to chatter excitedly until Antonio silenced him with his hand.

After the list of cases had been disposed of Antonio walked up to the clerk's desk to pay his fine, but the monkey anticipated him. Diving one paw into the man's vest pocket he pulled out a crumpled $5 bill and handed it to the astonished clerk, chattering volubly as he did so, evidently regretting the disappearance of many a hard-earned penny.

The clerk gazed at the grinning paw and hesitated, whereupon the monkey leaped to the floor and started to ascend the leg of the man's vest pocket, carrying the bill in his paw. This was too much for the peace and dignity of the law, and the clerk turned tail and fled.

At a word from the prisoner the monkey leaped to the desk deposited the bill and was back in the pocket in the fraction of a minute.

"He smarta monk," said the swarthy prisoner showing his gleaming teeth in a pleased smile at the admiration and astonishment excited by his pet, and he left the court with the little animal blinking farewell from his shoulder.

MALLORY-SHANNON.

Young People Wedded at the Cathedral Residence.

The wedding of Miss Sarah Mallory and John T. Shannon took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Right Rev. James McGoldrick. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. Corbett in the presence of immediate relatives of the young couple, after which a dainty supper was served at the bride's home on East Fourth street.

The bride's gown was of pale green tulle and she wore a large white picture hat and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Selden. Martha Shannon, brother of the groom, was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Shannon are both well known young people. Mr. Shannon has for several years been connected with the office of the Duluth Evening Herald.

The wedding took place at the home at 515 East Fifth street.

ARRESTED FOR AN OLD CRIME

Elmer Dahl a Fugitive For Two Years From Chokio.

Morris, Minn., Aug. 25.—Two years ago last June an employee of the state bank of Chokio, in this county, suddenly disappeared. It was soon discovered that he had robbed the bank of between $500 and $200. A relative paid the bank $500, and the case had almost been forgotten. Last March, however, the term of court held here, the precaution was taken to have an indictment returned.

Nothing more was heard of the matter until last week when it was discovered that Elmer Dahl, a resident of Chokio, had been in consultation with two business men from Chokio, to procure the use of the place soon authorized by the state of the alleged criminal. He denied his name, but the description was so good that the village marshal arrested him, and his friends then admitted that he was the person sought.

His name is Elmer Dahl, and he was formerly a resident of Granite Falls, this state. He was brought to this place, and is in jail here, awaiting his trial at the next term of court. He says that when he left he went by way of Duluth and the water route, and declares that he threw the keys of the bank into Georgian bay. The sheriff has an inquiry in regard to him from a town in one of the Dakotas, containing his picture. It came from a young man who says he met with forgery. Apparently, when the full story is known, Mr. Dahl is going to have a second.

AWAIT HIS WORD

Democrats Anxious to Hear Senator John A. Johnson's Statement.

Explanation of Stearns County's Instruction For Lind.

Duluth Democrats who are going to the state convention at Minneapolis next Tuesday are waiting anxiously to know the intentions of Senator John A. Johnson of St. Peter. It is reported that Mr. Johnson will make a statement within a day or so that will make plain his position on the matter. It is surmised that Mr. Johnson will make it possible for the delegates to nominate him as the Democratic candidate for governor. If he does so he will in all probability be nominated by acclamation.

The delegation from St. Louis county will be for Mr. Johnson. It is true that the delegation from Stearns county will be for Mr. Johnson. It is true that the delegation from Stearns county will be for Mr. Johnson. It is true that the delegation from Stearns county will be for Mr. Johnson.

Reports that Democrats have received from St. Cloud indicate that Mr. Bennett is at his old game of making himself conspicuous. He is being interviewed as the leader of the movement in Stearns county, and his opinions are represented as being open to much weight in consequence. As a matter of fact the delegates to the convention were entirely in the control of the men who opposed Mr. Bennett at the previous county convention and beat him out so badly.

Mr. Bennett had no particular voice in the preparation of the resolutions, nor in the selection of the delegates to the state convention, but was put in the list. He at once rushed off to St. Paul and tried to start movement that will compel John Lind to be the candidate. Mr. Lind's real friends know his wishes in the matter, and are respecting them, much as they regret that he will not consent to lead them.

As to the instruction to vote "as a unit for John Lind," the whole thing rests upon an "if." The truth of the matter is this: Mr. Bennett is making a point of his name in the Stearns county delegation being instructed to "vote as a unit for John Lind."

The Stearns county delegation is making in the Twin City a very strong case for Mr. Bennett. He is a great admirer of the president and he expressed indignation over the reports concerning Mr. Roosevelt and her familiarity with snakes.

While discussing the matter on the street in Goshen, belief in the story was expressed by men in the crowd and the crowd promptly offered to wager any amount that the newspaper stories were true. It was said that the doctor offered 5 to 1, and $1000 was promptly put against the doctor's certified check for $500.

It was agreed that Miss Roosevelt herself should decide the bet and Dr. Edmunds wrote to her calling attention to the stories and enclosing a newspaper clipping asking if the story was true. The letter was mailed and upon the reply depends the winning or losing of the wager.

Dr. Edmunds is confident that the story is a canard and he will be greatly surprised if he should find that Miss Roosevelt was really wearing a garter snake around her neck.

LODGE IS CONVERTED.

Senator Has Come Out Squarely For Reciprocity.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Some embarrassment on the subject of Canadian reciprocity has arisen in Republican circles since the publication of the congressional committee hand book. The list of reciprocity articles of common production in both countries is ridiculous. This publication in the text book was made before the remarkable speech of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge at Point Shirley, Mass., was delivered. In that speech Senator Lodge came out squarely for Canadian reciprocity, and said that when it comes it will not be limited to non-competitive products. Senator Lodge's conversion to reciprocity is the result of a continual agitation for the most reliable and the United States and the country across the border.

DOINGS IN MICHIGAN

Overdose of Medicine Kills Two-Year-Old Menominee Child.

Menominee, Mich., Aug. 25.—The two-year-old child of Edward Glanz died of poisoning from an overdose of laxative. The boy had been left within reach, and as soon as the stuff was taken the child died. The parents are under arrest, awaiting the verdict of the coroner. Hanson had recently inherited a large sum of money from an estate in Norway.

IN WOMAN'S SPHERE

Social, Musical and Art Circles

This afternoon Miss Winifred Holmes entertained at a musicale in honor of Mrs. E. D. Edison, of New York. The numbers were given by M. Herr Kraupner, of Cincinnati; Miss Fisher, of Minneapolis, and Mrs. James P. Walsh. The program was a delightful one. The hostess was assisted by Miss Mattacks and Miss Kerolene Crowley.

Last evening Jay Cooke Howard, of London road, entertained at dinner in honor of his guests, Mrs. A. G. Draper and Miss Constance Draper, of Washington, D. C. Covers were laid for ten.

Mrs. Lewis Ritz, of Lakeside, entertained at an informal tea yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Ragnarson.

Miss Irene Reau entertained Tuesday evening at her home, 1512 London road. The affair was in honor of her guest, Miss McLaughlin, who left last evening for her home in Chicago.

The wedding of Miss Blanche Richards and Thomas Marks took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hawkins, of 418 Fifteenth avenue east. The rooms were prettily decorated in roses and sweet peas and the ceremony took place under a large hall of roses. At 8:30 the service was read by Rev. R. J. Mooney. The bride was attended by Miss Margaret V.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the wedding of Miss Agnes I. McNulty and Roger M. Smith took place at the cathedral residence. The bride was attended by Miss Helen Fitzgerald and the best man was J. J. Higgins. Rev. Father Corbett read the service. The bride wore a gown of brown silk trimmed with ecru applique and wore a hat to match. After the ceremony an informal reception was held at the bride's home, 232 West Fourth street. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left last evening for a wedding trip and will return and be at home in Duluth.

Mrs. J. L. Weatherill and Mrs. F. Lindahl, of Minneapolis, are the guests of Mrs. E. E. Lindahl, of this city.

Mrs. John Owens and Miss Alta Owens, of Lakeside, returned today from a ten days' lake trip.

Mrs. F. H. Spotts, of Aberdeen, S. D., was in the city yesterday a guest at the wedding of her sister, Miss Louise Foglesong and Jean Aras, which took place yesterday afternoon.

A delightful lawn party was given by the Mesdames of the Grand Avenue at their home on Grand avenue, Lester Park, last evening. The lawn was beautifully decorated with Chinese and Japanese lanterns, which were suspended from the trees all over the grounds making a beautiful effect. The decorations in the parlor and dining room were of peonies and nasturtiums. Several fans

Mrs. Ruth W. Ingalls and her guest, Mrs. Augusta Kennedy, of Ashland, have returned from a two weeks' outing at Fort Winona and Isle Royale.

ON BEING CHEERFUL
Sunny Disposition Is a Work of Art.

New York Mail: A sunny disposition is a work of art, rather than a gift of nature. The raw materials for cheerfulness lie all around us like the colors the artist combines in his painting. It is for us to recombine them. To achieve a serene point of view is just a matter of selection. One becomes a poetical optimist in the same way that one becomes a profane pessimist. He selects and works over the things that produce the effect he desires; what conflicts with the effect he ignores or treats only as shading.

How anybody can deliberately elect to look on the dark side of things, except as a pose, an attitude, a sort of gloomy and repulsive story, and you come by it in somewhat the same manner. It is a matter of selection. A person who is a misanthrope gives his own life concrete embodiment by erecting a building designed to worry his neighbors through the sheer malice of its ugliness. There is as little justification for a sour disposition as there is for such a manifestation of it. It involves a degree of perverse premeditation.

There is a wealth of comfort in the old maxim, "the world is wide." That is simply to say that it offers limitless field for selection. If one fact is black, another is bright. If a friend is false, somewhere true friends are awaiting your coming. Do sit in a dark corner while bright life is everywhere about you; to brood over a sorrow, a slight, a privation, when a multitude of good and generous and hopeful deeds illustrates the daily life of the world; to rage at the limitations of your own estate when you can make your spirit sympathetically master of everything; this is to declare an independence of the world, and it is a form of voluntary servitude to the powers of darkness.

Not one woman in ten realizes the importance of ascertaining and making a list of her own particular color, most becoming to her and of always having a touch of it introduced in some part of her dress.

The yellow-haired girl can wear red. The greens, too, are delightful on her, also certain yellows and black. If she is becoming, but she must be brilliant in complexion or else most delicate as to tints to wear grays and blues to advantage. Blues, particularly the pale and cool blues, are best adapted to her complexion.

The woman whose hair is a dull brown and whose complexion and eyes lack brilliancy, may still be most attractive. She should wear a bright blue or a glittering hat. Dull browns, neither yellow nor reddish, should be selected for the satin straps. Take the dull

A jury relieved Mr. Pringle of any part of the transaction and gave Mr. Beare judgment against Wright and Bates for a little less than $10,000.

STOCK FOR JAPAN.

Blooded Animals Are Being Shipped to Orient.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Tokuya Hashimoto and S. Toshi, of Japan, are in Chicago preparing to ship to their native land for breeding purposes sixteen high-bred cattle and eleven blooded hogs, purchased in this country. The consignment includes two blooded Shorthorn bulls from the farm of Frank O. Lowden.

Mr. Hashimoto did not care to say from what port the shipment would be made. Cattle and hogs, he said, are not contraband of war, but one could not tell what the Russians might do. Mr. Hashimoto is a wealthy dairy farmer in his own country, and most of the cattle are for himself, the balance for other dairymen and farmers.

In regard to the war Mr. Hashimoto said: "Japan would not have entered the war without confidence as to the end. It has been a long war; indeed, it may be said the war is just beginning. My country will carry it to a successful conclusion."

ELIXIR OF LIFE.

Beecham's Pills cure Bilious and Nervous Disorders, Stomach Troubles, Female Ailments and hundreds of minor complaints. They have the largest sale of any patent medicine in the world.

Beecham's Pills are a true tonic, a harmless stimulant from which there is no reaction, a painless, effective laxative, and a specific for the cure of fifty per cent of all diseases. They probably come as near being an elixir of long life as anything created by human hands. The virtue of Beecham's Pills does not result from any lucky combination of standard remedies, but rather from some beneficent, occult power, inherent in itself.

The Ancient Order of United Workmen, of which there are five lodges in the city, with the Degree Honor, held a convocation at Lester Park yesterday afternoon,

A Cure for Asthma

The worst cases of Asthma in the world succumb readily to the one great cure that never fails. Dr. Rudolph Schiffmann's Asthma Cure almost performs miracles.

Mr. R. M. Spencer, 2350 Vermont avenue, Toledo, O., says: "Asthma has been growing on me for 3 years, until last summer the attacks became so severe that many nights I spent half the time gasping for breath. Doctors seemed to give no relief whatever, and I felt there was no hope for me, when a doctor clerk recommended your Asthma Cure. Its effect is truly magical and gives complete relief in from 2 to 5 minutes."

Not one woman in ten realizes the importance of ascertaining and making a list of her own particular color, most becoming to her and of always having a touch of it introduced in some part of her dress.

The Auburn-haired woman looks best in brown shades, the tone of her hair or in rich, dark green.

The yellow-haired girl can wear red. The greens, too, are delightful on her, also certain yellows and black. If she is becoming, but she must be brilliant in complexion or else most delicate as to tints to wear grays and blues to advantage. Blues, particularly the pale and cool blues, are best adapted to her complexion.

The woman whose hair is a dull brown and whose complexion and eyes lack brilliancy, may still be most attractive. She should wear a bright blue or a glittering hat. Dull browns, neither yellow nor reddish, should be selected for the satin straps. Take the dull

MEN afflicted with maladies peculiar to their sex should procure the best treatment to be had if these troubles are to be stemmed. For the past five years the specialists of the Progressive Medical Association of Duluth, have treated and cured thousands of cases of Kidney and Bladder troubles, Stricture, Rupture, Piles, Prostate, Nerve-Sexual Debility, Gonorrhea, Syphilis, Blood Poisoning, Hydrocele and Varicocele of the most obstinate and chronic character. We treat men only, and make a specialty of their private diseases. On account of the great number of cases of this nature we are continually seeing, it is reasonable to suppose that this extended practice, together with our persistent research of the afflictions of men, places us in a position to accurately diagnose and cure your case. Varicocele is a very common disease of men, and it is a very serious one, not only because of the pain and discomfort caused by the swelling of the veins, but because the hindrance to the circulation stagnates the blood and weakens the parts, causing loss of the powers of the body and mind. The use of the knife is dangerous and unnecessary. We effectively cure this disease without any operation. Do not waste your time and money in worthless experiments, but consult with us and learn your true condition. Consultation FREE and confidential. SENATOR NELSON

To Make Opening Address at State Fair Monday Morning.

Other Big Attractions For the Day Have Been Arranged.

Senator Knute Nelson is to make the opening address at the Minnesota State Fair next Monday morning. He will be introduced by Governor Van Sant, and other state officials and distinguished visitors will be present. The exercises will be held in the grand tent where Col. W. M. Liggitt will act as master of ceremonies.

Monday is "Opening Day" and besides the plans for the formal address there will be big attractions for the day. It is the custom of the state fair management to make the first day of the fair particularly attractive to the people and the year will be no exception to the rule. Last year Dan Patch was the opening day attraction. He was very satisfactory. Many people went to see the famous horse and he went a mile in 2 minutes flat which was the best he had done up to that time during the season. This year the speed feature of Monday will be the 2000 pace race—the fastest race of fair week and it is very likely that the winner will do the mile in very nearly as fast time as Dan Patch did last year.

Governor Van Sant Returns From Trip to Range.

National Committeeman Kellogg Comments on Coming Election.

Governor S. R. Van Sant, State Auditor S. G. Iverson and Frank Kellogg, of St. Paul, member of the Republican national committee, were in the city last evening on their return from a flying visit on the range in a special train provided by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company. Mr. Kellogg is general counsel for the United States Steel corporation. Joseph B. Cotton, secretary of the two range ranges, was also a member of the party.

The governor got back in Duluth just in time to exchange greetings with the members of the congressional committee, many of whom are personally acquainted. Before the congressmen left last evening for Henn and Grand Rapids, a number of the local politicians and friends of Governor Van Sant and Mr. Kellogg called at the Spaulding hotel last evening before they left for the range.

"I expect to go down the river with the congressional party," said Governor Van Sant, "and I am sure that the range will be a good place to take advantage of."

"There is nothing of special importance connected with this visit," Mr. Iverson said, "and I have been on the range looking after some of the state mining property. This is probably the last opportunity of visiting the range in my official capacity and I thought it would be a good idea to take advantage of it."

Governor Van Sant says that he was in the East recently and found an overwhelming sentiment in favor of Roosevelt. He does not believe that the Democrats will carry New York and predicts that the Republicans will sweep the West like a prairie fire.

"The governor and never seen some of the large mines," said State Auditor Iverson, "so he took this opportunity of going over the range. We have been up to look after some matters connected with the range, and I am sure that the range will be a good place to take advantage of."

Frank B. Kellogg, of St. Paul, the Minnesota member of the Republican national committee, who is on a mining trip, has recently returned from a trip abroad. He is a member of the English and English sympathies are all with the Japanese in the great struggle now going on in the far East. Kellogg has been in the range for some time and has been very busy with the range matters.

"The English people display considerable interest in the coming fall election. Over in England they have a pretty general idea that Theodore Roosevelt is made of the right sort of stuff."

"Kellogg himself is mixed up in a political campaign over tariffs at the present time, and he is very much interested in the coming fall election."

"The Republican party will carry the state," Kellogg said, "and I am sure that the range will be a good place to take advantage of."

SOME COMMON SENSE

And a Bottle of Paracamp Free.

Thousands

of suffering people fail to use even a little common sense when they take strong drastic opiate internal medicines for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sore Joints, Catarrh, Eczema and Piles. Such medicines as arule, only benumb the pain and afford temporary relief. They will not only fail to cure you but will upset your stomach, shatter your nervous system and often times form a dreaded drug habit which will destroy your general health.

Paracamp

is a combination of refined camphor and soothing, healing, antiseptic oils. The process of combining same is the discovery of a prominent Scotch chemist who spent many years in experiment and close study before perfecting the combination. His object was to combine camphor with certain medicinal oils so as to have a safe, effective treatment for all forms of congestion, soreness, swelling and inflammation by external application.

To Convince You

that Paracamp is a safe, pure, reliable remedy and one that will cure your ailments, we are willing to give you a bottle free, if you have never tried it. Thousands of people to-day are the victims of dangerous remedies which have been drawn to their attention by flaring advertisements. Don't join this class. It is dangerous. Paracamp is a scientific external remedy, which cures through the natural channels—the pores of the skin.

We Offer You

in Paracamp the only remedy known to medical science that will quickly and positively cure the most severe aches and pains by its peculiar actions on the pores of the skin. Paracamp, when applied, goes through the pores directly to the seat of the pain, removes the congestion by stimulating circulation, draws out all soreness, fever and inflammation by inducing sweating. For instance, in Rheumatism, it neutralizes the uric acid and by stimulation causes it to pass out of the system in the natural manner. It is the only remedy which heals wounds without leaving ugly scars. It is a sure preventive of blood-poisoning. Paracamp can be used internally with perfect safety for the treatment of Croup, Sore Throat, Sore Lungs, Asthma and severe pains in the stomach. It is soothing, antiseptic, healing and perfectly harmless even to the most delicate stomachs. It positively contains no morphine, opium, cocaine or any other dangerous drugs.

Common Sense

So why not use a little common sense. Just stop and think for yourself and you will realize that what we say is true. If we did not know that Paracamp would do what we claimed for it we certainly would not give you a bottle free, because we would be the only losers. We not only want to relieve and cure your aches and pains, but we want your friendship, your good-will, we want you to tell your neighbors what Paracamp did for you.

Paracamp Cures

the following ailments, whether recent or of long standing. It cures in a scientific manner and does not in any way affect the heart, injure the nervous system or upset the stomach. It works through the pores of the skin.

Do You Suffer From

Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Neuralgia, Hay Fever, Sore Joints, Asthma, Sore Throat, Throat Troubles, Eczema-Tetter, Piles, Catarrh, Itching or Bleeding, Burn, Cut, Bruise, Old Sore or any disease that begins with Fever, Swelling or Inflammation? If so, we offer you

BENOT IN TROUBLE WILL FILE BRIEFS FINDS IT MURDER

Mail Clerk Arrested on Complaint of Post-office Inspector.

Accused of Opening Letter and Taking Money From It.

County Courthouse Site Case Goes Over For Twenty Days.

Attorneys Argue Their Respective Views Before Judge Cant.

Coroner's Jury Determines Upon Manner of Charles Pavelka's Death.

Frank Skerlez Held Responsible For Deed—Will Be Pursued.

Charged with having opened a letter in transit and appropriating the money it contained, Frank Benoit, a railway mail clerk, was arrested yesterday at the instance of Postoffice Inspector Nathan Noile and arraigned before United States Commissioner T. H. Pressnell. The commissioner fixed the man's bonds at $3000. In default of bail he was taken to the St. Louis county jail, where he will remain until Saturday morning, the time set for his hearing.

According to the warrant under which Benoit was arrested, he opened a letter mailed at Carlton on Aug. 23, addressed to McKisson & Robbins, New York city, and removed three $1 bills and 50 cents in silver. The letter was a decoy, mailed by the postoffice official for the express purpose of tempting the thief. It seems that Benoit has been under suspicion for some time past, and that several valuable packages have been missed on his run, which was between Duluth and Grand Forks.

The money contained in the letter was marked, and when it was found missing, it was traced to Benoit. He was arrested at Duluth, Inspector Noile, who, as has been previously arranged, was on hand, kept a watch on the clerk's movements after leaving the train. Benoit was seen to enter a saloon and order a drink. In payment for this he gave a half dollar, and, receiving his change, walked out. The inspector examined the piece of money and found it to be the identical coin which had been taken from the decoy letter. The arrest followed. Benoit is a resident of Crookston.

STATE TREASURER

Borrowed Large Sum Through Influence of Office.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 25.—Governor La Follette sent State Treasurer John J. Kempf a letter yesterday giving his reasons in detail for ordering the treasurer to furnish a larger bond and fixing 12 o'clock of Aug. 30, for the time within which it must be furnished. The governor makes the sensational charge that the state treasurer has made personal loans from various banks which are state depositories upon personal notes and amounting to many thousands of dollars and that such loans were extended simply because Kempf was state treasurer, the banks not refusing the loans through fear that if they did, the state's money would be withdrawn from them.

The governor says that the legislature should prohibit such practices. The governor also states that he is informed that the surety company, which has furnished the present bond of the treasurer has refused to increase it to the amount desired.

IRATE FATHER

Swears Vengeance on Elopers In Kentucky.

Carrollton, Ky., Aug. 25.—After an all-night ride a horse, Owen Galois and Enola Mae Parker were married in Ghent, this county.

The father of the bride also rode all night chasing the couple. He got on the wrong road and for three hours just as the ceremony had been performed and to be informed that the bride and groom had lost no time getting away. The irate parent immediately began the chase over again, swearing vengeance.

NOMINATES TICKET.

Public Ownership Party In Lake County Convenes.

Two Harbors, Minn., Aug. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lake county convention of the Public Ownership or Socialist party was held here last night and the following ticket was placed in the field: County auditor, Ira W. Foote; county treasurer, C. G. Rothfuss; sheriff, J. W. Woodruff; judge of probate, Alex. Holliday; coroner, Dr. John Pearson; clerk of courts, R. E. Jones; county superintendent of schools, L. G. Rose; county commissioner, Fourth district, G. S. Fair. A county committee was appointed as follows: John Pearson, Holliday and L. C. Rose. Resolutions similar to those adopted at the recent congressional convention of the party in Duluth were adopted.

VILAS FOR GOVERNOR.

Madison Democrats Urge Candidacy of Former Senator.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 25.—A quiet movement is in progress among Democrats of Madison and vicinity for the nomination of ex-Senator William F. Vilas, of this city, for governor. Vilas, who will meet at Oshkosh, Wis., here, and, although on the face of the situation George Milwaukee seems to have the nomination already in his grasp, his success is not certain. Should Peck fail, Colonel Vilas has perhaps the best chance of the field.

TWO INJURY SUITS.

Two Companies Sued By Employees For Damages.

Two personal injury cases, asking for damages amounting to $12,325, were begun in the district court yesterday. The first one is brought by Matt Olson against the Chicago and North Western Railway company and asks for damages in the sum of $2705. Olson claims that while working as a lumberman he was employed by work that he was injured by the breaking of a frame on which he was working. He fell into the water and claims that a load of lumber fell on top of him, fracturing some of his ribs and severely bruising him.

The other case Hjalmer Eklund asks $10,000 damages from the Glan Grip Lumber company. Eklund is a Swedish-born, the secretary and manager of the company. The complaint states that Eklund was employed by work that he was not familiar with and through the carelessness of the company, he was injured by two of the fingers on his left hand and seriously injured the hand.

CHOUNARD MUST HANG.

No Effort to Be Made For New Trial.

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 25.—L. H. Bailey returned last night from Walker, where he went to confer with Chounard, the condemned murderer who has been at the state prison here since his conviction. Bailey says that no effort will be made to have a hearing, and the execution will take place on the day set by Governor Van Sant, Aug. 31. Father Murphy, of the Catholic church here, will remain there until after the hanging.

The preparations for the execution are going on steadily under the direction of Sheriff Hardy and everything will be in the case found to be the identical coin which had been taken from the decoy letter. The arrest followed. Benoit is a resident of Crookston.

ASSAILANT OF GIRL

At Buhl Held to the Grand Jury.

Buhl, Minn., Aug. 25.—Henry Johnson, a Finlander, aged 32 years, was arraigned before Alexander Renland, justice of the peace, yesterday, on the charge of assaulting Shonia Shunka, a girl 10 years of age, and uttering a threat to kill her. She would tell anything about it. Johnson was held to the grand jury and taken down to the county jail in Duluth in lieu of the payment of $250.

The defendant came to the United States 23 years ago and is said to have a wife and family in the old country. He is a laborer.

WOMAN RESCUED

Through a Window of a Burning House.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 25.—The house of Andrew Anderson, in Andover, burned in the night the domestic went down stairs and lit the lamp. About two hours later one of the boys went to her room and found her lying on the floor. She was dead. The smell of smoke, and he hurried down stairs and opened the door into the kitchen. As he did so a sheet of flames enveloped him, badly burning him. He was not yet old enough to help her, and the neighbors gathered in front of the burning house.

As they stood in the brilliant light they discovered that the mother was in the house. Unable to gain entrance through the door, they placed a ladder to the back window of her room and one of her sons mounted it. She was almost overcome by the smoke and was unable to help herself, but they at last succeeded in getting her safely to the ground. The building was a two-story frame and one of the best in town. It was insured for $700 and the furniture for $250.

BISHOP POTTER'S CRITICISM

A Protest Against Deceiving the Sick and Wrecking Lives.

Unusual comment has been caused by Bishop Potter's declaration that Maine's prohibition law is a failure when the sale of sarsaparilla and other so-called cures containing up to 50 per cent (over half) alcohol is unrestricted, while claret wine with only 10 per cent alcohol is barred out by law. As a matter of fact the majority of the wines of this, wine of that and other patent medicines sold in all states depend upon alcohol and stupefying drugs for their temporary effect. They lower the vitality, weaken the nerves, and often lead to an uncontrollable desire for alcohol and nerve-deadening drugs. This is one of the principal reasons why doctors are opposed to patent medicines, and it is why we have repeatedly stated that without the use of alcohol or injurious drugs Father John's Medicine is the best remedy ever prescribed for building up those who are weak and run down, and for all throat and lung troubles. It makes strength and flesh, by which each organ of the body is enabled to do its proper work and thus drive the impurities out of the blood. Dr. A. H. Straub, a noted physician of Brooklyn, N. Y., adds his indorsement to the above in the following letter over his own signature: "I have frequently prescribed Father John's Medicine for grip, colds and for bronchitis and other respiratory diseases and found that has cured when the regular pharmaceutical remedies failed. (Signed) A. H. Straub, M. D., 884 Bushwick Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. Fifty years in use and it is today. The money is refunded in any case where it does not do all that is claimed for it. Father John's Medicine is for sale by all druggists, the L. W. Leithhead Drug Co., wholesale distributors."

THE TWENTY-FIFTH CONFERENCE OPENS

Norwegian-Danish Methodists Begin Sessions of Annual Gathering.

Bishop W. F. McDowell of Chicago Presides—Proceedings of Morning.

The twenty-fifth annual conference of the Norwegian-Danish Methodist Episcopal church opened in Duluth last evening, at the local church, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, with eighty-six ministers, from points in Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Minnesota and North and South Dakota, representing three districts, in attendance.

At the business meeting this morning the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Secretary, R. F. Wilhelmsen, Hansine, Wis.; assistant secretaries, B. E. Carlson, La Crosse, Wis.; and M. O. Block, Neenah, Wis.; statistical secretary, J. O. Hall, Hillsboro, N. D.; assistants, A. W. Roan, St. Paul, J. J. Korsmo, New Ulm, Minn.; treasurer, L. C. Knudsen, Racine, Wis.; assistants, M. L. Klestad, Chicago, J. J. Peterson, Valley City, N. D.; and Editor Hansine, Duluth, reporter, Paul Haugen and O. Jacobson.

Almost the entire business of the conference, which will continue until next Monday morning, will be conducted in the English language, as was the case with the meeting last night. At the opening session, Bishop William F. McDowell, who was selected as head of the conference at the general meeting held at Los Angeles recently, delivered a brief address, speaking in most complimentary terms of the ministers of the Norwegian-Danish church and their work.

The address of welcome was delivered by Rev. H. K. Madsen, pastor of the West End church, and Rev. H. C. Munson, of Duluth, also made a few remarks of welcome, giving a friendly greeting to visiting ministers. The feature of the evening was a sermon delivered by Rev. M. Klestad, pastor of the Bethanien church, Chicago. His theme was "Perfection." Rev. Klestad is an eloquent and very interesting talker, and his sermon was a master effort.

A special musical program was rendered by the church choir, under the leadership of Alfred Anderson, and several selections were given by an

INSURANCE AGENTS

One Hundred From Twin Cities to Meet Here Saturday.

Duluth Agents Will Entertain Them in Handsome Style.

A large delegation of Twin City fire insurance agents will arrive in Duluth tomorrow evening to attend the annual meeting of the Minnesota Association of Local Fire Insurance agents, which convenes Saturday morning.

The Twin City men, about 100 in number, will leave Minneapolis in a special car attached to the Twilight limited of the Omaha road.

The session will begin Saturday with a business meeting, which will terminate at noon. The visitors will be the guests of the Duluth agents for the afternoon and evening.

President O. H. Clarke and Secretary Henry Nolte of the local contingent have promised the visitors enjoyable entertainments, concluding with a banquet in the evening, probably at the Commercial club.

In the invitations sent the Twin City men the local fire insurance agents asserted that "Duluth hospitality is a business meeting, which will terminate at noon. The visitors will be the guests of the Duluth agents for the afternoon and evening."

The excursion to Duluth will be in charge of A. W. Armataque, of Thorpe Brothers & Armataque, looking after the Minneapolis contingent, and Joseph Rogers, of St. Paul, to look after the details for the saintly city delegation.

CITY BRIEFS

Launched for rent, Patterson, 6th av. W. In the district court this morning, the Interstate Traction company made application for a writ of habeas corpus to release a car from the custody of the city.

Resolved, that we hereby extend to our visitor a most cordial and friendly welcome, and that we pray that this conference may promote the interests of Christ and his church, and that it may prove a blessing to all our churches.

The resolution was signed by a number of the ministers. Several visiting members were introduced to the conference, as is customary on such occasions. They were Rev. A. B. Calder, of the First M. E. church, of St. Paul, J. J. Peterson, of Valley City, N. D., and Editor Hansine, Duluth.

OIL WELLS ARE BURNING

New Orleans, Aug. 25.—A long distance telephone message to the State, from Jennings, La., gave the information that three oil wells, Morse Numbers 6, 7 and 8 are on fire and five other wells are in danger. The message bore the further information that at 1 o'clock there seemed to be little hope of saving the field from total destruction, although every effort was being made to contain the fire. It was stated that the fire was caused by friction in the pipes of Morse No. 6, and was discovered at 11 o'clock, when great sheets of flame burst heavenward. Almost immediately wells 7 and 8 caught fire.

TO FERGUS FALLS.

Tower Woman With Wandering Mind Is Committed.

Hannah Keane, a woman who was brought down from Tower last evening on a charge of insanity, was committed to the asylum at Fergus Falls.

The woman had spells of going away from home without saying word to anyone. Sometimes she would take her children with her and sometimes she would leave them at home. Her trips were of various lengths. Some of them would be two or three days, and some would be longer. She was violent at times but had recently given no trouble in the way.

The charge was made by the woman's husband, James Keane.

IN CHARGE OF BEES

Was the Home of John S. Casey of Sioux City.

Unable to Go to Bed Until Swarm Was Captured.

Sioux City, Iowa, Aug. 25.—The little busybee has been both too busy and too familiar in this town.

The other day John S. Casey, who lives at 2915 Nebraska street, escorted his wife to a morning train as she was leaving on a vacation visit. He went home in the evening, unlocked the door and went in.

There was the funniest noise inside. The whole place was full of a buzzing sound. Mr. Casey peered about and presently discovered that the house was literally full of bees.

A swarm of them had come down the chimney and through the fireplace and were figuring on how to adapt the interior architecture to the requirements of honey manufacturing. There were at least 11,000,000,000 of them, Mr. Casey avers, and he ought to know, for he learned a great deal about them in the course of the next two hours.

Not having entirely satisfied themselves as to how to settle down in the house, the bees were still buzzing angrily about, and the advent of the mere man from downtown was regarded as an unwarranted intrusion. Their greeting was warm, but not what could be called cordial. Mr. Casey rushed upstairs, shutting the insects off as he ran, threw a pillow case over his head, tied strings around the bottoms of his pants' legs, and put on some old baseball gloves. Not knowing much about bees, he tried building small fires in the different rooms, using his wife's best kitchenware for fireplaces. But the bees wouldn't be smoked out. They seemed to like it.

They were by this time getting in their work on his protective armor, and in mortal terror lest they find a vital spot and cut him out of action, the quondam head of the house fled precipitately.

A man down town told him to get a bee fancier who could give the bees for him. The man without a home hunted up the bee expert.

"About seven million bees have taken possession of my house; came down the chimney," he began.

"Lucky for you," replied the entomologist, enthusiastically. "They're worth $15."

"Not till they're dehorned; no, not to little Will," replied the amateur apiarist decidedly. "What I want is a bee cowboy that can round 'em up and lasso 'em; they've got to be caught, corralled, and put on some old baseball gloves. Might have known something 'd go wrong when my wife left town."

"You want 'em hived, do you?" demanded the apiarist.

"I don't know whether that's what I want or not," replied the discomfited householder.

"I want 'em hived," ordered off; and then I want a plank nailed over the top of the chimney. Say, suppose they make honey all over the floor and fill the grate with it?"

The beekeeper smiled.

"Do I get the bees if I get 'em out?"

"You bet you do; you'll get good and plenty of 'em, too, if they're collected as they did when I left 'em. You can have 'em if you'll agree to take 'em away far enough so they won't know the way back."

And so it was done. The beekeeper took a hive, set it up in the Casey place, made a few passes at the queen bee, and lugged off a $15 tribe of honey-makers. Mr. Casey didn't even regret their going, but he looked under the bed before he retired that night.

The linenmen for the telephone and telegraph companies have been having bees from the cable boxes around town all summer. There is no particular explanation of the unusual activity in the honey industry, except that it has been suggested that the increasing production of clover may have attracted them to this section.

People who raise them say they make an excellent output of honey and that there is a big profit in them. All that is necessary is to let them fill their hives with luscious hunks of honey and then swipe it in the fall, put the hive down cellar, and give the bees a little bee food.

The intelligent bee doesn't know the difference.

WANTS TO MAKE RESTITUTION

Old Northern Pacific Foreman Robbed Company at One Time.

St. Paul, Aug. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A letter addressed to President Howard Elliott, who is now in New York, was received today from a woman missionary in San Francisco, who works among the poorer classes. It tells of a robbery which occurred during the progress of which a roughly-dressed man was converted. So sincere was his change of heart that he has been converted to a life of rectitude and is now a firm believer in the Christian religion.

Among other things, the convert told the missionary that he was once a Northern Pacific foreman, and that during a certain time he had regularly reported time for one man more than the force allowed him. When the checks were issued, the foreman appropriated the money due the imaginary man and converted it to his own use.

The missionary quotes the law of Moses which prescribes that not only shall the thief be restored to the owner of the amount stolen, as a sign that he repents his action, but is also willing to do what lies in his power to rectify it.

The letter repeats that the old records be examined and that the Northern Pacific be reimbursed.

We are about sold out of Summer Clothes; what few things are left are being closed out for a mere song!

Today we are ready with new things—some of the handsomest Fall and Winter Clothes you ever saw!

We aim to be and are progressive! Never satisfied with our business or our goods! Always striving to make them better!

You know how attractive our clothes were this spring and summer! Nothing like them to be seen elsewhere in the Northwest!

Take our new fall suits—and coats, for example! The fabrics, the trimmings, the tailoring, the cut, the style, the general appearance—are all exquisite!

The variety in lengths alone is remarkable! Starting with the blouse suit, which is the shortest—then the coat suits, we have lengths in 24, 27, 30, 32 and 36 inches; then to the full length coats of 50 and 54 inches long!

Almost anyone's taste can be satisfied!

Besides, the assurance that your coat, suit, wrap, or whatever it may be is absolutely correct is another thing worth considering!

We haven't built a reputation for clothes selling such as we have—in so short a time, unless there's something to back it up!

THREE WANT TO BE GOVERNOR

Utah Republicans Having Triangular Fight at State Convention.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 25.—The Republican state convention met here today to name three presidential electors, a congressman and a complete state ticket. The fight for the governorship between Governor Wells, who desires a third term, John C. Cutler, of Salt Lake City, and Secretary of State James H. Hammond, has absorbed the attention of delegates to the exclusion of all other offices of state. Open charges of corruption have been made against the candidacy of Mr. Cutler, who is being supported by Senator Smoot and some exceedingly interesting debates were looked for on the floor.

State Chairman James H. Anderson pressed the restoration for a tie. This ancient code prescribes that not only shall the thief be restored to the owner of the amount stolen, as a sign that he repents his action, but is also willing to do what lies in his power to rectify it.

The letter repeats that the old records be examined and that the Northern Pacific be reimbursed.

RUSSIA WILL NOT REPLY

To the Statement of Japan Concerning Ryeshitleni Affair.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 25.—The Russian authorities decline to formally reply to the statement presenting the Japanese side of the Ryeshitleni affair given to the Associated Press, August 21. Nevertheless, the Russian view of the Japanese statement was reflected by an official of the foreign office to the correspondent of the Associated Press. He declared that the statement was an attempt by general assertion to cloud and distract attention from the issue raised by the Russian protest, namely, that Japan had directly violated the neutrality of China by entering the harbor of Chefoo and, in contempt of every principle of international law, committing a hostile act against a Russian vessel which had been disarmed by the power exercising sovereignty there, and the protection of whose sovereignty she was enjoying.

That, in a nutshell, the official declared, was the issue which Japan could not escape by unsupported countercharges that Russia was first responsible for the violation of Chinese neutrality.
